THE TANKER DETROIT was freed by the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew after she became trapped in an ice floe six miles west of the Mackinac Bridge Monday. The Sundew broke a path for her to open water.

Sundew Frees Ship Trapped in Drift Ice

CHARLEVOIX -- The Coast Guard Cutter Sundew broke its first ice of the season Jan. 2 when she was called to the Straits of Mackinac to free the tanker Detroit which had become trapped by drift ice.

LA JG II, L. Chris Immer, Sundew information officer, said the vessel became beset in two to three feet of ice about six miles west of the Mackinac Bridge. The ship was enroute from Mackinaw City to Chicago.

THE SUNDREW left Charlevoix at daybreak, arriving at the scene about 10 a.m.

After ice was broken around the stranded vessel, the tanker was free to follow the Sundew's path out of the ice field without further incident.

The mission was the first ice-breaking assistance call of the season for the Sundew crew.

THE VESSEL wound up her regular activities of the year over Christmas week, making a supply trip to Sault Ste. Marie. Just before the holidays the ship removed 24 men and their supplies from six major light stations in northern Michigan waters, including Gray's Reef and White Shoal lights in Lake Michigan and Poe Reef, Spectacle Reef and Thunder Bay lights in Lake Huron.

THE SUNDREW also is responsible for 133 buoys throughout the northern lakes. This fall the crew lifted 67 buoys, ranging up to 26 feet high and eight feet in diameter.

The ship is now on standby for search and rescue, training and ice operations.

Lt. JG Chris Immer

Ensign Immer Is Promoted

CHARLEVOIX -- Lt. L. (Chris) Immer, operations and information officer aboard the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Sundew, has been promoted from ensign to lieutenant junior grade.

Word of his promotion was received by Immer over New Years, although for pay purposes it is retroactive to Dec. 11, 1965.

IMMER, who has been in the Charlevoix area 18 months, is a veteran of 11 years in the Coast Guard. The Sundew is his first assignment since receiving his commission from Officers' Candidate School in 1965.

A native of Minnesota, Immer enlisted in Minneapolis and served on recruiting duty there until being assigned to the ice-breaker Sledge in Alaska. He has served aboard patrol craft in the Gulf of Mexico.

Immer and his wife, Esther, have three children: Ron, 8; Darlaine, 6; and Charmaine, 4. They live at 414 Dixon Ave.

THE TEEPEES Indians once built in the Charlevoix area are a distant relation to this teepee-like building constructed at the Medusa Cement Plant for raw materials storage. The plant is scheduled to go into operation in July.

Builder Lists Faults in Plumbing Code

CHARLEVOIX -- Builder James Fiedler raised several objections to the State Plumbing Code at the Dec. 27 Council meeting.

Charlevoix has considered adopting the code, which is mandatory for larger cities. It requires that all plumbing be done either by private homeowners or under the direction of a master plumber. Regardless of who does the work, the job is inspected by the state.

FIEDLER said the code would: --Raise building costs. He cited a recent instance in Petoskey, which automatically falls under the code because of its size. He said the plumbing materials on a home construction job came to $500, but the two bids submitted by master plumbers were $1,500 and $2,000 respectively. In addition to inspection fees, master plumbers usually charge more than general contractors, Fiedler said.

--Create a shortage of plumbers. Fiedler seriously believes there are not enough master plumbers in the city (no more than two or three) to handle the work that needs to be done. He added that it is difficult for contractors who have been doing their own plumbing to get licensed, since licensing requires apprenticeship under a master plumber.

--Give a monopoly in the plumbing business to master plumbers.

--Delay construction. He said inspectors may not be available when they are called for, resulting in unnecessary delays. He said the inspectors for this area would be located in Gaylord and Mt. Pleasant.

--Put the "squeeze" on private enterprise.

FIEDLER says that because of the press of business, most master plumbers must relegate a great deal of their work to subordinates.

He added that no one is aware of what a fine job of plumbing most of the unlicensed builders in the area have been doing. He suggested the Council appoint someone "like Jim Taylor" to make plumbing inspections for the city to see just what kind of work is being done at present.

Fiedler attended the meeting at the invitation of Mayor Bill Fochtman.

Nov. 28, John Keenan of the State Plumbing Board told the Council the advantages of adopting the Code.

THE CITY Council also:

--Denied a request by Dr. Walter Hoffmann to construct a 35-foot tower on the north bank of Pine River Channel west of the Weathered Inn. The Council acted on the advice of City Attorney John Michael who said the sight-seeing tower proposed by Dr. Hoffmann was not compatible with Commercial-1 zoning.

Hoffmann originally had planned to erect a 105-foot surplus fire tower on the site. He hoped tourists would pay to climb the tower for an aerial view of Charlevoix and its surrounding waterways.

--POSTPONED until Jan. 9 action on the proposed re-zoning of a huge tract of May Street property to Residential-1 and 2 from lower classifications.

--Authorized payment of bills totaling $45,807.22.

Dow-Corning Denies Rumor

MIDLAND -- The Dow-Corning Co. here has denied a rumor persistent in the Charlevoix area that the company plans to build a plant in the area.

Don Coultrip, manager of the company's administrative services department, said the company has no plans to expand its operations into the Charlevoix area.

"I'M IN CHARGE of all land purchased by the company and I'm certainly in a position to know," Coultrip said.

The most commonly heard report is that Dow-Corning is building a plant in the vicinity of the Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant.

Four Seek Election in 1st Ward

CHARLEVOIX -- Four candidates have entered the race for First Ward alderman, the only contest which has developed in the primary election Feb. 20.

Filing petitions before the 4 p.m. deadline Jan. 3 were James P. Ritchey, Marie M. Webb, Claire C. Martin and Thomas C. Martin.

THEY WILL contend for the First Ward chair on the Charlevoix City Council to be vacated by Alderman Bob Neff. Neff is not seeking re-election.

All incumbents filed petitions, according to Mrs. Ida Helise, deputy city clerk. They include:

Mayor Bill Fochtman, Clerk Hugh Mayne, Treasurer Annabelle Cunningham, First Ward Supervisor Kit Carson, Second Ward Supervisor Harold Totten, Third Ward Supervisor Lee Moerland, Second Ward Alderman Bob Gill and Third Ward Alderman Del Terrill.

To Work in Hospital

East Jordan Doctor Leaves for Nigeria

EAST JORDAN -- Dr. J. VanDellen left Tuesday for a two-month trip to Nigeria where he will serve as a doctor in a missionary hospital.

Sponsored by the Christian Reformed Church, he said he believed he would be serving in a 40-bed hospital.

Dr. VanDellen said he decided to go because he wanted to help out in the mission field where doctors are badly needed.

HE SAID, "Our church magazine has pointed out the need for extra doctors in foreign lands and so I decided to help if I could."

He said doctors are needed for short periods of time to release regular doctors for further graduate study or furloughs.

Death Ends Career of Veteran Druggist

CHARLEVOIX -- Funeral for Harley I. Ochs, a Charlevoix druggist for more than 50 years, was held Jan. 3 from the Winchester Funeral Home, the Rev. Lawrence Tompkins officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Most of the city's downtown business places closed during the committal services Tuesday afternoon.

Harley I. Ochs

MR. OCHS, 73, died suddenly New Years Eve at his home at 202 Clinton St. apparently of a heart attack.

He was born Nov. 3, 1893, in Crawford County and married the former Mildred Schockley of Charlevoix June 27, 1918. Mr. Ochs moved to Charlevoix 52 years ago and worked for the old Central Drug Store at the corner of Clinton and Bridge Streets. He bought the business in 1929 and erected a new building on the site in 1957.

HE IS A member of the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix and a life member of F&AM 282, Knights Templar, in Petoskey, and the DeWitt Clinton Consistory, Saladin Temple Shrine, Grand Rapids.

He also was a member of the Michigan Pharmaceutical Assn. and the American Pharmaceutical Assn., the National Retail Drug Assn. and the Leslie T. Shapton Post of the American Legion.

He is survived by his widow; two sons, G. Franklin of Charlevoix and J. William of Livonia and two grandchildren.

Draft to Call 6 in February

CHARLEVOIX -- The Charlevoix County draft call for February is six, according to Mrs. Ronald Balch, Selective Service Board secretary.

The February contingent will be chosen at the Jan. 17 meeting of the board. The group will leave Charlevoix Jan. 31.

In addition, 14 young men will take physical examinations Feb. 14. They also will be selected at the Jan. 17 meeting.

Hatchery Meet Set Tuesday

CHARLEVOIX -- Representatives of the Michigan Department of Conservation and the U.S. Dept. of the Interior, Fish and Wildlife Services, will be in Charlevoix next Tuesday, Jan. 10, to discuss the transfer of the local Fish Hatchery from the federal government to the state.

City officials will meet with the representatives at 2 p.m. At 8 p.m. the public is invited to hear a report on the proposed transfer in the City Hall's Community Room.

Plans call for turning the hatchery into a state-operated research center, specializing in lake trout, coho salmon and steelhead studies.

THAT BLACK spot on the drawbridge is a cocker spaniel puppy who was caught on the bridge when it began to open. The ride was fun until the span was almost verticle. Then the pup jumped to safety.

Four Issues Face Board

CHARLEVOIX -- At least four items of business will be on the County Board of Supervisors' agenda when they meet here in special session Jan. 11, according to County Clerk Pete Bulow and Lee Sneathen Jr., chairman of the board.

Among the questions facing supervisors will be:

--1. Appointment of a medical examiner to succeed former County Coroner James Stackus of Boyne City. Voters approved the hiring of a medical examiner at the November election.

--2. Discussion of a proposal by the East Jordan City Council that the city will maintain a sewer line to Grandview Medical Care Facility for ten years if the County will install it.

--3. DISCUSSION of ways to bring the County Jail up to state minimum standards. An architect is expected to present plans on remodeling the jail at the April meeting. County officers were

WHAT PRICE PEACE
Peaceful Pursuits and a Friendly Nature
That Breed Trust

No studying of war is indicated in the above scene. No wholesale atomic destruction is being planned here. Only traits of industry and that "Kingdom of Heaven Kindness" that breed trust and love show here. No sign of hatred or fear. What wonder then that the Prince of Peace chose humble fishermen for disciples. Those who possess that "Kingdom of Heaven Kindness," they who spread it, study peace and the Will of God.

If you would know God's Will go to church regularly and often.

None of us are too busy, or too tired, or too sophisticated to gain by regular Church attendance. In it may be found the answers to many of the problems which beset us all in times such as these.

Marcia Lynn Boss, Gordon Himebauch Wed

Miss Marcia Lynn Boss came the bride of Gordon L. Himebauch at the Charlevoix Community Reformed Church, Jan. 2, before an altar decorated with yellow and white mums trimmed with ivy leaves.

Rev. Ronald Van Der Werf of the Atwood Reformed Church performed the double ring ceremony before 120 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Boss of Charlevoix.

THE GROOM'S parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Himebauch of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Himebauch was accompanied by Mrs. John L. Boss, Charlevoix, "The Cause" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a four-length white satin gown fashioned with an empire waist and trimmed in lace featuring a yellow rose.

Sharon and Dale Himebauch, sister and brother of the groom, were flower girl and ring bearer.

BEST MAN was Nathan Himebauch, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Michael Johnson and Gary Loder, North Star, and Donald Kelly served as ushers.

The bride's mother chose a medium blue sheath with white accessories for her costume.

The groom's mother wore a navy and pink suit with matching accessories. Both women wore pink carnation corsages.

A reception was held for the couple in the church's fellowship hall decorated with yellow and white trimmings. The women's guild of the church took charge of the serving.

THE COUPLE left immediately after the reception for South Carolina where they will make their home in Charleston Heights. The bride was employed at the Charlevoix Hospital.

The groom graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1965 and is now stationed with the U.S. Navy in Charleston.

Wedding guests came from Detroit, Lansing, Charlevoix, Grand Rapids, East Jordan and Hindsdale, Ill.

I decided to enter the new year with one of those impossible recipes. About once a year I like to prove to myself that I can do it and this was that one.

I may not be Chef Boy-Ar-Dee, but I can whip a mean measuring spoon when I really want to.

So my project this year was an eight-layered, caramel covered, silvered almond trimmed cake. It sounds just as hard as it is to make.

IT TOOK THREE hours of mixing, scraping, beating and baking and being elbow deep in flour, chocolate and egg yolks before I got to stick all together.

Then I had to refrigerate it for 12 hours.

However, it was all worth it. It really tasted pretty good. At least it didn't dent the kitchen table where it dropped.

ONE WORD, if you plan to tackle this recipe, Don't begin unless you've got at least three hours for the mixing and glazing. Allow another six hours for resting.

EIGHT LAYERED, CARAMEL COVERED, SILVERED ALMOND TRIMMED CAKE

CAKE

8 egg yolks
3 cup sugar
2 egg whites
1/3 cup sugar
CHOCOLATE BUTTER CREAM FILLING

1 1/2 oz. package semi-sweet chocolate bits
2 tbsp. brewed coffee
4 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1 cup creamed butter
1 1/2 cups silvered almonds

TOPPING

3/4 cups brown sugar
1 tbsp. butter

IN A BOWL beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add the sugar until thick and fluffy. In another bowl, beat the egg whites and 1/3 cup sugar until stiff. Fold whites into the yolk mixture. Gradually fold in the flour. Pour batter into eight greased 9 inch cake pans and bake in a moderate oven for 15 minutes. Place layers on paper towels to cool.

Melt the chocolate and coffee in the top of a double boiler until smooth. In a bowl beat the egg yolks until lemon colored and gradually add the sugar until thick. Stir quickly into the chocolate. Cook until mixture is thick and smooth. Remove from heat and gradually add the butter beating rapidly after each addition. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is of spreading consistency. Spread the chocolate between the layers and on sides of cake. Place nuts on sides of cake.

Melt the butter in a pan with sugar for the topping. Stir over medium heat until golden brown. Remove from heat and quickly spread the caramelized sugar over the top of cake with a spatula. When cool, place cake in refrigerator for at least 12 hours.

This cake will stay fresh for a week in the refrigerator. If you keep it longer, you'll have a ninth caramel covered and spare tire trimmed 14th almond.

MRS. DAVE PATRIE (left) receives electric knife as first prize in recipe contest from Carole Walasky, Courier women's editor.

Mrs. David Patrie Wins Recipe Contest

Mrs. David Patrie of Charlevoix was chosen winner of the venison recipe contest with her entry, "Venison Sauerbraten."

Accepting an electric carving knife Friday as her award, she said it was the first time she'd ever won a contest.

She added that her recipe was one of her favorites and it evolved through many stages before she ended up with the one she sent in.

Mrs. Marion Pillsbury of East Jordan also won a prize because of her unusual recipe for "Big Paul Saus." To encourage her in further creative cooking.

THE COUPLE left immediately after the reception for South Carolina where they will make their home in Charleston Heights. The bride was employed at the Charlevoix Hospital.

The groom graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1965 and is now stationed with the U.S. Navy in Charleston.

Fem-Levity Charlevoix, 1st Time

By Grace Ann McDaniels

It's been nearly four years since our introduction to Charlevoix. I suppose you'd heard of the place but passed it off as a little town surrounded by deer infested woods—nothing outstanding.

New ideas began to form as we neared this area for the first time. As we approached Charlevoix I was becoming more excited. "Oh there's the lake again. Look at all that beautiful water!" I was all set for a mutual display of enthusiasm, but was put down with, "Certainly doesn't look like pollution's hit this part of the country!" I sat back and commented on the gorgeous scenery in general. The man with the controlled emotions said, "Not a bad stretch of highway. Seems they keep 'em in shape up here. Then we were entering the city limits and I glanced around quickly trying to evaluate this new community. I was anxious to write my first brag letter home. Then we were around the corner and heading for downtown. I unlocked my seat belt and grabbed the door handle. Then I remember uttering something about the lake again, the quaint motel and restaurant and a bridge right on main street—stop! It's going up!" It was evident his mind was scanning future summers when he commented, "That could be a real problem!" At 20 mph, I was ready to roll out of the car when I caught sight of the local dress shops. He reached over and locked my door with, "A very prosperous looking little community. We should be able to do all our buying locally." I could barely stand it. "Oh boy, a fudge shop and look at all those yachts!" Again from the living breathing computer, "Ah, great. Bring business into town!"

WE STOPPED and left the car to walk and get a closer look. After a while I began to sway to the side of the superior mild.

"Yes," I agreed, "A man in business should be able to take out a pretty decent living here." I almost fell into the channel when I heard, "Boy what a great place to raise the kids. We'll be darned proud and happy to live here!"

4. Discussion of uniform accounting procedures with Richard Dell and Frank Holmberg of State Treasury Department. The new procedures will soon be required of all counties.

The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. next Wednesday in the Courthouse.

FIRST BABIES of 1967 born at Charlevoix Hospital were Donna Jean (left) and Debra Jo Hinton, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Hinton of East Jordan. They were born Jan. 2. They have two sisters, Rose, 3, and Becky, 1. Mrs. Hinton is the former Emily Himebauch of Charlevoix.

Board Takes Options on N. Side School

CHARLEVOIX -- The Charlevoix School Board Monday night took options on three pieces of Division 8, property for construction of a proposed elementary school. The board also took action on the former Novotny Plumbing Shop on Clinton Street as an addition to the new library property.

Under option for the school are the following sites on Division Street:

--The Elliott Lewis property, $8,000.
--The Stanley Whitley property, $5,000.
--Six and 6 1/2 lots are behind the Ted Bergman home, $5,000.

The three parcels will cost a total of $19,000 and comprise 12.65 acres. The state requires a minimum of 10 acres for construction of an elementary school. The Lewis and Whitley property have dwellings which will have to be razed.

School Board member Dale Boss said the board will choose an architect to design the school before Feb. 1.

The board also put $300 down on an option to buy the Novotny property for $6,000. The option must be exercised on or before July 15.

THE BOARD ALSO:

--Agreed to purchase up to four new school buses. Michigan recently cancelled state aid for maintenance of buses seven years old and older. Under the decision, Charlevoix stands to lose $98 a year for each old bus in service.

--Accepted a Bess Furniture Co. bid of $500 for drapery for the new library.

--Postponed action on initiating a millage vote until new state regulations are fully understood.

--Took note of a $300 a month increase in the districts lighting bill this year over last, due to the lighting of "basement space and cubby-holes" as classroom space, according to Boss.

--Hired John McPherson, a January graduate of Central Michigan University, to replace Mrs. Florence Irwin who will resign effective Jan. 27. McPherson has 45 semester hours in English.

--Employed Mrs. Betty Inman as a teacher-helper in the training school.

Give Art Treasures to Charlevoix Library

CHARLEVOIX -- Art treasures valued at more than $8,500 have been donated to the new Charlevoix Library by Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Cummings of Chicago. The Cummings maintain a home and art gallery called The Anchorage on Lake Michigan.

The gifts include a bronze statue 50 inches high called "The Sower" by Chicago's foremost sculptor Abbot Patton. The work is the figure of a woman broadcasting seeds held in her skirt.

ARCHITECT Jack Degrow thinks the figure might make an ideal outdoor piece for the front of the library.

Other gifts from Mr. and Mrs. Cummings include a wood sculpture by the Italian Goli Colucci entitled "Two Human Forms." The abstraction is 21 inches tall and is mounted on a revolving base.

"It's fun just to spin it as you walk by," commented Mrs. Edith Gilbert who is working to raise funds to help furnish and equip the new library.

IN ADDITION to the sculpture, the Cummings have donated five ceramic collages and three paintings by Burton Dickerson, Philip Visson and Pierre Jerome to the library.

At least two of the artists are familiar with the Charlevoix area. Mrs. Gilbert said, Sculptor Colucci flew to the 4th Waterfront Fair from Paris in 1962 as a guest of the Cummings.

East Jordan Marine Is Killed in Vietnam

Mother Had Feeling He Wouldn't Return

EAST JORDAN -- Mrs. Allen Reich said when her son left for Vietnam in July that she had a feeling he wouldn't be back. Thursday morning a Marine officer brought the tragic news of his death to the Reich home.

Killed Jan. 4 by a bullet in his neck, Cpl. Donald George Reich served with the Marines as a radio operator. He was planning to work as a lineman when he returned, and thought training in communications would be valuable.

BORN in East Jordan Aug. 24, 1946, Donald was active in high school athletics. He played football during his four year at East Jordan High School and was a member of the FFA serving as their treasurer.

He graduated in 1964. Jan. 6, 1966 he was drafted and was sent to Vietnam with the Marines in July.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Reich, Donald is survived by one brother, Dale, and two sisters, Barbara and Sharon.

HIS BROTHER, a 1966 graduate of East Jordan High School, recently reported for his army medical and is waiting for an induction notice.

Mrs. Reich received her last letter from Donald the morning she heard of his death. "I don't know what to think of it all," she says sadly, reading the letter again and again.

Donald's body will be returned to East Jordan this week. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Ellsworth Seeks Levy

ELLSWORTH -- The Ellsworth School Board will ask the voters for a millage renewal Feb. 6.

The present millage, .17, was passed by voters in 1965. However, the school needed only .11 mills when the state came out with equalized valuation.

For the past two years, the school has taken .11 mills and left the other six to property owners.

THE BOARD -- It now needs 17 mills to meet operational expenses. They cited the need for a new school bus and an increase in salaries as the reason for increased millage.

School Board President Henry Ruts was requested to appoint a committee of five to study the school's present system including curriculum, building, and expenses.

The committee will report its findings to the board in the near future with suggestion based on the information.

Auto Bank Announced

CHARLEVOIX -- Plans for a drive-in bank, at the corner of Clinton and State Street were unveiled Monday night at the City Council meeting by State Savings Bank President Archie Livingston and Vice President Ed Shanahan.

Livingston said the bank has an option to buy the former city library and hopes to raise the building and erect a drive-in booth, probably by this summer.

SHANAHAN said eventually a new bank will be erected around the drive-in facility.

Bank customers will enter the facility from State Street and exit via Clinton Street.

Combined with the First property immediately adjoining to the west, the parcel would allow adequate parking for customers when the complete banking facility is built.

SHANAHAN said he had no idea how the present bank building on Bridge Street would be used. Nor would he set a target date for construction of the new facility.

Dickerson has a summer cottage in the area and has exhibited at the Fair for several years. The Dickerson painting donated to the library is called "Still Life with Head of a Young Girl."

The other paintings are a still life by Pierre Jerome and an abstraction by Philip Visson.

Cancel Exams

CHARLEVOIX -- All pre-induction physical examinations scheduled for January and February have been cancelled, according to Mrs. Ronald Balch, secretary of Selective Service Board No. 15.

Mrs. Balch said she understands physical examinations have been cancelled throughout the state. No reason was given, she said.

Sees Flaws in Jordan's Curriculum

EAST JORDAN -- East Jordan's high school curriculum isn't what it appears to be, Jim Shepard, vocational education instructor, told a 12-man curriculum study committee here Monday night.

"It looks pretty good on paper, but wait until we analyze it."

"Biology," he began, "is simply a lecture class. There is no equipment or materials to work with to speak of."

He said the students had to visualize what was going on instead of working directly with materials.

"Physics and chemistry are taught on alternate years," he said.

Shepard added, "In this time when physics and chemistry are so important in our lives, it's terrible when a student can't study them."

HE ADDED that many students don't decide what they want to do until their senior year. If it involves taking physics when it's not offered, it's "too bad."

He said that many students are taking two and three study halls a day because of lack of courses, teachers and room to handle them in classes.

HE CALLED junior high the "forgotten section" and said this is where the most attention is needed and where there are few classes offered.

Other shortcomings named were:

- No continuity in the language program.
- No general business course.

Bob Davis Due Monday

CHARLEVOIX -- Newly elected State Representative Bob Davis of St. Ignace will be in Charlevoix Monday, Jan. 16, to discuss legislative problems with Charlevoix County residents.

Davis says he will be in the Community Room at the City Hall from 1 until 3 p.m. to discuss problems in the language program and proposed legislation with individuals or groups.

HE IS particularly interested in hearing the views of local people on proposed tax reform.

Davis is holding similar person-to-person conferences throughout the 10th legislative district.

A county director by trade, Davis defeated incumbent Clarion Mayor for the Republican nomination in the primary. In the November general election he handily defeated Democrat Sidney Wizer of Gaylord.

MAN TO MAN

Children are people. This father knows that and treats his son accordingly. He realizes that his child has as much right to individuality as he has. He is chiding his son for "making up" an impossible tale, but he is a wise parent and has not made the mistake of an attempt at near perfection in bringing his child up right.

The child's story is as real as his sense of imagination, though he knows it never happened. The father is sure to not take the matter seriously. In their innocence children give their imagination free rein; this is never to be confused with falsifying. And the child whose life is filled with interest, usefulness, education and faith will never resort to untruths that are unwholesome.

Teach your children early the joy of faith in their Church—and as it matures child imagination will give way to a sound concept of religion and the good life.

State Police Want Dogs for Tracking

LANSING — Michigan State Police again are seeking donations of German shepherd dogs for use in the department's tracking program, Col. Frederick S. Davis, director, announced.

Donors in the Charlevoix-East Jordan area may contact State Police at the Potoskey post.

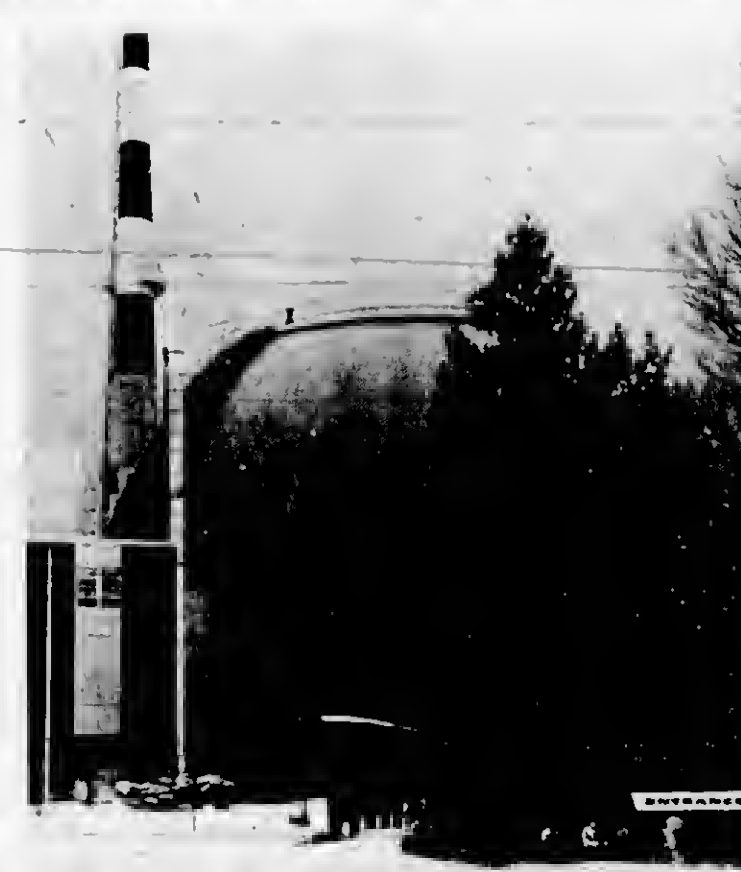

Dogs selected must be between one and two years old, large, big boned, and at least 24 inches tall at the shoulders, measured from the ground. Ears must stand up and there must be no noticeable scars or odd or unusual markings.

Donated dogs that are accepted will be used as replacements and for additional teams for assignment locations not yet determined.

A 14-week school for training handlers and dogs will begin about April 1. Most of the training will be done in the Houghton Lake area. The training will be under the supervision of Col. Richard H. Abbott of the East Lansing post who has headed this program since its inception.

THE DEPARTMENT first began the tracking program in 1960 and because of satisfactory results expanded it several times since.

Presently the State Police have 10 teams on active duty at East Lansing, Ionia, Flat Rock, Flint, Jackson, Paw Paw, Mt. Pleasant, Grand Haven, Houghton Lake and Marquette. One tracking dog was accidentally killed by an auto last year and several others were retired.

THIS PARTICULAR trail leads directly into the parking lot of Consumer Power Company's Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant northwest of Charlevoix.

Guild Plans Smorgasbord

CHARLEVOIX—The Little Flower Guild made plans for 1967 at their first meeting of the New Year Jan. 5 at St. Mary's School Hall. President Mrs. Frances Left and 19 members attended.

First event of the year will be a smorgasbord Sunday, Jan. 29, at the school hall from noon until 3 p.m.

Mrs. Valois Avery is chairman and Mrs. Bernard Schaner is co-chairman. The following committee members were named:

MRS. FRIEDRICK Frederick, in charge of dining room, Mrs. George Shearer, kitchen; Mrs. Josephine Hindi, coffee; Mrs. Willie Peters and Mrs. George Plumm, smorgasbord table; Mrs. Ralph Dean, bread and pies; Mrs. Jack Begrow, tickets; and Mrs. Robert Hoffman, posters.

Doing the dishes will be St. Mary's No. 2 bowling team, headed by Edward Buday.

Rock Club Meets

POTOSKEY—The Potoskey Rock and Mineral Club will meet Thursday, Jan. 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the Potoskey Episcopal Church, a new meeting place for the group. There will be a prize for the winning identification game and also a door prize. Plans will be made for 1967.

The United States had an average of 50.5 persons per square mile of land at the end of the 1960 census.

Fem-Levity Weight Loss, Lost Cause

By Grace Ann McDaniels

DIETING this time of year is almost as common as the Good Housekeeping Seal. Most of us have gained a good solid five pounds on canned and hors d'oeuvres alone. Add another five for egg nog and there's so much additional human flesh in town it looks like the population has doubled.

THERE are of course the old stand-bys. Cut out starches, sweets, drinks, etc. Let's face it. Anything that tastes good is out. That leaves you with the bland, colorless, and tasteless. And they leave you feeling like you just had your stomach pumped. You'll begin to lose weight, but your eyes will become so good it'll drive you mad.

THE doctor has some great little pills that remove your appetite but they have their drawbacks too. My hunger was completely gone and I forgot to prepare meals altogether. I was almost reported to the authorities when my kids started going from door to door for handouts. I also found myself blessed with an excess of energy. I was as wound up as the Roadrunner and found simple tasks almost impossible. The best never got made. Every morning in my anxious state I'd get carried away and strip them.

I would suggest T.V. exercises if I were a believer, but Ed Allen grinning at you at nine in the morning is too much. At that hour I haven't even had breakfast yet.

There are other means of exercise. Skiing is great but you should get your knees in shape first. Swimming is good too if you can afford to let your hair go. For a while I tried lunging rope in the basement. That's fun but try crawling back up the steps.

I don't suppose I've been very helpful but I know, I prefer Metrolux with my meals.

East Jordan Teacher Reports on Peace Corps

TEACHING social studies in East Jordan, Bill Gregory was as popular with his students as he is in Caracas.

BILL GREGORY wipes forehead in the hot Venezuelan sun. Serving with the Peace Corps in Caracas, he's pitcher for one of the city's ball teams.

A NATIVE of Traverse City, Gregory left for the Peace Corps in 1965. After taking an intensive course in Spanish and Venezuelan culture, he took his post in Caracas.

Being a social studies teacher, Gregory said one of his reasons for joining the Peace Corps was to visit the places he talked about.

Gregory came to East Jordan in 1963 after graduating from Central Michigan University.

HERE IS A QUICK rundown of the personnel. Orville "Chip" Peterson was graduated from the U. of Minn.

very friendly and speak a beautiful Spanish. The seniors on the tour—due no doubt to the fine university here.

SAN CRISTOBAL, our last stop in the Andes, was the most successful. This is the state (Tachira) that has produced most of Venezuela's diplomats. The people are proud, conservative, Catholic and avid sports fans.

I feel that I could be a little tepid for the fanaticism they show at basketball games. My boss referred to a game that when Tachira lost, he held up five hours with a police escort before he could leave.

OUR NEXT STOP, Punto Fijo, was a flop, but we were ready for a rest. We stayed in the bachelor's quarters of the Shell Camp and played a little golf.

The oil capital of Maracaibo got us back on the track and it proved to be a good site for the clinic. It is more of an American type city than Caracas which is quite European.

On the eastern swing for Puerto La Cruz and Tucupita, we had two extra riders. They were girl volunteers returning to their site at Puerto.

WE SANG all the way and I'm afraid I showed my age by the time I came up with and by remembering words to certain old refrains. I received my share of razzing about my advanced age (30).

They asked me about World War II, and I sent them into stitches when I told them about ration books, silver stars, gas stickers for windshields and practice city rallies—in Ellsworth no less.

(Look for other comments by Gregory on his activities in Venezuela in next week's Courier.)

Cabbages ... and Things

By Carole Waleksay

Remember my impossible recipe last week? Well, I wasn't kidding about it being impossible. Mainly because I forgot to include the flour. So if you want to give it another whirl, add one cup of sifted flour to the cake part. If it doesn't turn out now, you can't blame it on me.

Now maybe all those threatening phone calls and black spots I've been receiving will stop.

AFTER SPENDING 12 hours glued to the TV and New Year's Day, I don't care if I ever see a TV again. Sitting in front of the eye all day is hardly my idea of a wild time, but I had no choice.

If I wanted to see (?) my date—along with his 18 friends—that day, I had to play the good sport role.

It all started that morning with the Orange Bowl parade—where else could you see a male sunflower wearing glasses, dancing to "Tea for Two," or a 20 foot caterpillar wearing 10 pair of black socks and one pair of white PF Flyers?

The Orange Bowl parade was followed by the Rose Bowl parade, the Sugar Bowl game, the Rose Bowl game, and of course, the secret war up—couldn't miss that.

By 9 o'clock that evening I hardly noticed the cloud forming over my contacts. It was when they became glued to my eyeballs and my skin started

Firm Hopes Stack Will Trap Fly Ash

EAST JORDAN -- East Jordan Iron Works is experimenting with new devices to control fly ash from its new ash. Began over a year ago, the program has led to the recent erection of a new 100-ft-smoke stack.

The stack, costing about $10,000, is designed to keep fly ash from escaping with the smoke. Instead the ash will drop down the stack to the foundry roof where it will be swept up weekly.

CHIEF ENGINEER William Hauck said the stack was designed to push smoke higher over the city than the previous 80-foot one.

Hauck said, "Hopefully this will mean the smoke rises high enough to pass over the city with the wind."

He added that so far he has received favorable reports from residents previously bothered by the smoke.

HE SAID, "However, we can't be sure until spring just how well it's doing." If the stack acts as it is supposed to in variable spring winds and in changing conditions, then it should be satisfactory the rest of the year, he explained.

He pointed out that the smoke from the foundry cannot be eliminated, the Flag Etiquette Drive Begins

CHARLEVOIX -- The V.F.W.'s Auxiliary has launched a drive to acquaint Charlevoix with flag etiquette.

Americanism chairman Mrs. Kenneth Bailey says a great deal of ignorance and lack of respect for the flag is evident at football and basketball games when the flag is raised and during the playing of the National Anthem.

ACCORDING to the V.F.W.'s book of etiquette, all persons should stand at attention and face the flag. Those in uniform should give a military salute until the last note is played. Men wearing hats should hold them at their left shoulder. When the National Anthem is played, no flag is displayed, everyone should face the source of the music, Mrs. Bailey said.

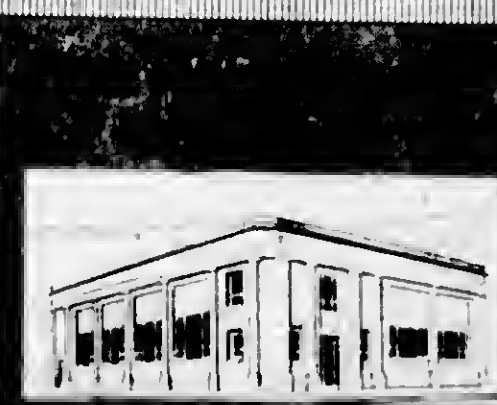

At the last Auxiliary meeting Jan. 5, a check was sent to headquarters for cancer research and another to the National home at Eaton Rapids.

Next meeting will be Nov. 19. Members are asked to bring gifts for GPs in Vietnam. Six packages already have been sent and replies received.

men argued that the bid price should have made allowance for such unforeseeable extras.

Indicated it was still interested in buying the Baptist Church property next to the City Hall at a reasonable price. The church originally offered to sell the property to the city for $25,000.

HE SAID they will continue experimenting and searching for new ideas. If necessary and possible, they will build a higher smoke stack.

The air pollution problem became apparent a year ago November when the foundry began using two furnaces at once. Before that time, it alternated furnaces using one at a time.

Denny Petitions at Ellsworth

ELLSWORTH -- One new name appeared on the petitions handed in for Ellsworth Village offices last week.

Earl Denny, an employee of Michigan Fruit Canners, filed for trustee. He elected Denny will fill the vacancy left by Maynard Alward who decided not to file this year.

Since the other open positions have only one person running, there will be no primary.

Other names to appear on the March ballot are Marvin Wynness, president, Nell Kruse, clerk, Anthony Shooks, treasurer, Henry Elzinga, assessor, Art Drenth and Walter Root, trustees.

Trustees Darwin Orcutt, Jerrold Drenth and Grant Hastings will remain in their positions for another year.

Will Speak

CHARLEVOIX -- Clifford Lindstrom, head of social work at Traverse City State Hospital, will speak at the quarterly meeting of the Potosky Area Child Guidance Clinic Dec. 16. The meeting will be held in the Community Room of the Charlevoix City Hall, beginning at 8 a.m.

The public is invited to attend. An expert in the fields of group therapy and counseling, Lindstrom will answer questions from the floor following his talk.

MRS. MAX SMITH of Potosky is program chairman. Mrs. Jay Rite of East Jordan and Mrs. Max Hosmer and Mrs. Robert Tolius of Charlevoix will serve refreshments.

The Child Guidance Clinic offers consulting free of charge for young people with mental or emotional ailments. All operating funds come from donations.

Flaws

No physics equipment.

No foreign language aids such as tape recorders.

No full time physical education for junior high.

THE GROUP decided to study these problems in depth by dividing into four groups (early elementary, late elementary, junior high, and high school).

The committee then took a tour of the school to look at equipment and rooms.

The group is a sub-committee of the citizens committee studying the school's deficiencies and needs.

Donald Peters, elementary principal, presented some problems that might be looked into at the elementary level.

Among them was the need for:

- Physical education in lower elementary
- Formal art or music training
- Special education teacher
- Materials center
- Money for more teaching aids
- Storage room
- Rooms for visiting teachers, testing and counseling.

He added that a central library located near the school is needed.

A TRIP to Marquette is planned for the next meeting where the group will compare East Jordan's facilities with Marquette's new ones.

They will invite interested members of the larger citizens committee to accompany them.

Correction

CHARLEVOIX -- Thomas Hanna, who has filed for First Ward alderman, was incorrectly identified in last week's Courier as Thomas Martin.

before taking on the maintenance job at the County Building. He belonged to St. Mary's Church.

He is survived by his widow, the former Irene McCann whom he married in Detroit in 1929, a daughter, Mrs. David (Marion Carol) Hardy of St. Clair, Calif., two sons, Michael K. and E. Brian, both of Charlevoix, and four grandchildren.

Arrangements were made by Winchester Funeral Home, where Rosary service was held Tuesday night.

Buys Shop

CHARLEVOIX -- William Ploch, owner of the American Motel, has purchased the Ye Ole Squire men's clothing store from Maurice Taylor Jr. of Ellsworth.

Ploch says he plans some changes for the establishment, among them a new name--as yet undecided--and a new location. He hopes to move the store from Olson's Shopping Center to one of Henry Hogan's shops near Park and Irtiga by March 1.

AMERICAN Legion members and servicemen carry Cpl. Donald G. Reich's flag draped casket into the cemetery chapel at East Jordan. Hundreds of persons paid their respects to the serviceman killed in Vietnam.

East Jordan Mourns Cpl. Donald G. Reich

EAST JORDAN -- Hundreds of persons turned out Saturday afternoon to attend the funeral of Marine Cpl. Donald G. Reich at the Watson Funeral Home here.

Cpl. Reich was killed Jan. 4 in Vietnam when he was struck in the neck by a Viet Cong bullet. He was drafted into the Marines from Charlevoix County Jan. 6, 1966.

Cpl. Reich was the second East Jordan GI to lose his life in the Vietnam war. William Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, was killed in a Viet Cong ambush in November, 1965.

THE FUNERAL home was filled to capacity with Cpl. Reich's family and friends. About 40 persons stood in the hallway outside the funeral home and spilled out into the street.

Members of the American Legion Post No. 227 and former servicemen marched from the funeral home to Sunset Hill Cemetery ahead of the hearse.

THE MILITARY stood at attention while the flag draped casket was taken into the chapel at the cemetery followed by about 40 members of his family.

After the committal ceremony, taps was played, followed by a pipe organ salute.

The family walked out of the chapel and the military marched silently back to the city.

CPL. REICH was born in East Jordan Aug. 24, 1946, and was active in East Jordan High School athletics. He played football and was treasurer of the Future Farmers of America. He was graduated in 1964.

After his discharge, the Marine radio operator hoped to find work as a lineman for an electric company.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Reich; one brother, Dale, and two sisters, Barbara and Sharon.

HE HAS SERVED in Sterling township as inspector of water lines and mains. There he attended council meetings for a year.

Hosler has also worked on road construction for two years.

Presently he is employed at the East Jordan Iron Works.

He lives with his wife and four children, Mary, 14, Margaret, 10, Ed, 5 and Nancy, 3, in East Jordan.

He is a member of the American Legion.

ALL OTHER incumbents, except Lyle Peters, councilman from the first ward, have filed.

Included is mayor Betty Robertson, Howard Stanek, alderman from the second ward, Thorla Kotoch, second ward supervisor, Barney Milsden, third ward supervisor and Joe Wilkens, constable, William Taylor, first ward supervisor has not yet filed, but is expected to.

Imagination Is King in Expositive Writing

EAST JORDAN -- The Inventors Congress of American Neophytes (ICAN) met at East Jordan High School last week. The congress, made up of members of the 11th grade expository writing class, was an exercise in expository writing.

Mrs. Watkins class brought in inventions made from articles from the bed-room, living room, kitchen and tool box and explained what they were in papers read before the congress.

ONE STUDENT brought in a jump rooster designed to motivate the lazy. She demonstrated it by standing on a wooden bar and putting a cord which brought up a shoe for a swift kick.

Various other inventions from automatic pill dispensers to swift and merciful mouse guillotines were on display.

Mrs. Watkins explained that the inventions along with the papers were to demonstrate the form of pure expository in writing.

Lake Charlevoix "Dying", Pollution Expert Claims

CHARLEVOIX -- Because of pollution, Lake Charlevoix is dying "a pretty bad death," Emmanuel T. Van Nierop told members of the Charlevoix Conservation District Monday night.

An assistant professor in the Department of Resource Development at Michigan State University, Nierop said the process cannot be halted, but it can be slowed down sufficiently so that the fresh waters of Lake Charlevoix can be enjoyed by unborn generations of Americans.

To do so, steps must be taken now to eliminate the disposal of nutrients in the water.

A NATIVE of Holland, Nierop says people living in the Lake Lakes region haven't given a great deal of thought to water since it is a part of their heritage.

He has tremendous amounts of water. Eighty-four billion gallons a day falls on Michigan. Some of it evaporates, but ward. A native to the East Jordan area, Hosler has served 22 years in the Air Force in various parts of the world.

Howard Hosler is filing from the first ward.

'Snow Day' Policy OK'd

CHARLEVOIX -- A new policy relative to school "snow days" was adopted last Monday by the School Board.

If buses can negotiate the main highways, school will be held.

If youngsters are unable to travel over unpaved secondary roads to meet the bus, they will not be counted absent at school that day.

It will be left to a driver's discretion whether he should attempt to travel a snow-clogged road.

Film of Area Will Be Shown

EAST JORDAN -- A new colored promotional movie of the area will be shown at the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday, Jan. 19, at 7 p.m. in the Goodwill Center.

The chamber sponsored movie was filmed last summer and fall by Milt Merlino and John Kiser for distribution to interested groups throughout the state.

The members will also discuss revising the dues structure to range from $25 to $150. Presently all members pay a flat $36.

The chamber will also elect new members to its board of directors.

Ed Boss

89 Candles Light Up His Birthday Cake

CHARLEVOIX -- There were 89 (count 'em) candles on his cake when Ed Boss celebrated his 89th birthday Jan. 13.

A retired farmer and lumberman, Boss makes it a point to walk from his home on Upright Street to the bridge every day, weather permitting.

LAST SUMMER he helped his son Lawrence, of Barabur, bring in his hay.

Boss has three other sons: John of Charlevoix, Jake of Southfield and Oscar of Clawson. In addition he has two daughters, Mrs. Stewart Smith of Birmingham and Mrs. John Essenberg of Altwad.

Martin Named to Medical Post

CHARLEVOIX -- The Charlevoix Board of Supervisors has officially abolished the office of county coroner and established the office of medical examiner.

Cites Sewage Problems at Boyne City, E. Jordan

35 billion gallons soaks into the soil. "Then, wherever you live in Michigan you are no more than 95 miles from one of the Great Lakes. Twenty percent of the fresh water in the world is located right around us," he added.

HE SAID the pollution problem is entirely man-made, but the blame doesn't lie so much with sewage and industrial effluent as it does with the timber barons who denuded the hills, upsetting the traditional pattern of run-off of rainwater.

There no longer is a constant source of water feeding our streams, instead we have periods of shortages and excesses.

He showed charts which showed that the Manistee River, which is still heavily forested, has a fairly constant flow the year 'round. The River Raisin in Monroe County, which has been cut over for 150 years, shows tremendous peaks and valleys in the amounts of water emptying into Lake Erie. It alternates between a flood and a trickle.

COMPLAINING the problem of the River Raisin and others is the fact that at times its volume can run as high as 50 percent pollution. This is also true of the Grand River in Jackson and other rivers in Michigan.

"The Kalamazoo, Rouge, Raisin and Saginaw rivers cannot take any more pollution or they will become open sewers," he said.

VAN NIEROP said he blamed the condition of Lake Charlevoix on not only the run off from former timber land but also the addition of pollutants from septic tanks, pleasure craft and municipal sewage treatment plants.

He said treatment plants at both East Jordan and Boyne City are "primary plants" which remove only heavy solids from the water and dump the rest in the lake.

"There's plenty of nutrients going into Lake Charlevoix every day from these two sources," he said.

Charlevoix has a secondary plant which not only removes all solids, but also induces bacterial action reducing them to a commercial-type fertilizer (which, incidentally, is used on the golf course).

VAN NIEROP said the "blooming" of algae in Lake Charlevoix last summer can be traced to the addition of nutrients to the water, combined with the unusually warm weather.

He added that one fourth of all the silt that has been deposited in Lake Erie since it was gouged out by the glaciers has accumulated since 1906.

NOT THE least of Van Nierop's concerns is that diseases are spread through contaminated water, especially hepatitis.

He cited a high school water-testing project in Presque Isle County which revealed many families were drinking water from polluted wells.

WHAT CAN John Q. Public do about water pollution? Quite a lot, Van Nierop says.

- Support bond issues for sewage treatment plants next time you are asked. (Less than one-quarter of them are now being passed by voters.)
- Check to make sure your community has an adequate sewage treatment plant. An overloaded plant is a common source of pollution.
- If you farm, check to see where silt may be entering waterways from your property. Much can be accomplished by strip crops, contour plowing, terracing and other traditional water conservation methods.
- Support public education of the pollution problem. (New York schools now offer a course in water pollution, he said.)

At its 18th annual meeting, the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District also:

- Re-elected John Wieland of Charlevoix as director.
- Announced awards to Mike Straw, Larry Matthews, Leo Burnett Jr., Emma Hindmold and the Barnard Grange for soil conservation work.
- Heard a report by Treasurer Pete Winkler that the group had a balance of $3,287 in the budget as of Dec. 31.
- Learned that a new plot book is being issued to replace the 1963 edition. It's due this spring.

Heard a report by schoolteacher Mrs. Anna Warner on a week's stay at the Higgins Lake Conservation School. She said there is a new strike in acquiring school sites. If a school district acquires more property than the minimum, the government will purchase a site of equal size for the school as a nature study site.

Guidance Group Told Family Therapy Works

CHARLEVOIX -- Progress in group therapy of emotionally disturbed children was discussed Monday night by Clifford Lindstrom, director of social work at Traverse City State Hospital, at the quarterly meeting of the Potosky Area Child Guidance Clinic.

Lindstrom, who spoke in the community room at the City Hall, said it is pointless to try to treat a child with an emotional problem without also treating his family.

"If any change at all occurs in the child, then it's the child who must do all the adjusting," he said.

He further said that in the past child guidance counselors have "been weak on fathers."

"We ignore fathers; we don't get to know fathers," he admitted.

LINDSTROM says there is mounting interest across the county in the family

Board OK's Pay for Widow

CHARLEVOIX -- In a special meeting here Jan. 11 and 12 the County Board of Supervisors:

- Approved two weeks' severance pay for Versal I. Seymour, former County Building superintendent, who passed away Jan. 8. The money will be paid to Mrs. Seymour's widow, Irene.
- Established a $500 fund for the Bureau of Social Services to be used at the discretion of the director in emergencies. The money will come from existing Welfare Department funds.

HEARD a LONG report by Richard Dell of the State Treasurer's office on new bookkeeping procedures which all counties must adopt. The Finance Committee was asked to look into the new regulations by chairman Lee Swanson Jr.

--Agreed to pay $38 to Gordon Wagonnet and $37 to Forrest Burke, both of rural Charlevoix, for chickens killed by dogs. They also were awarded court costs.

The only supervisor absent from the special Jan. 11 session was Art Speltz of Boyne City.

Obituary

Mrs. John Wolf
 CHARLEVOIX -- Funeral for Mrs. John Wolf, 82, was held Saturday from the Winchester Funeral Home, the Rev. Richard Nolte of Boyne City officiating. Interment was at Brookside Chapel.
 Mrs. Wolf died Jan. 12 at Charlevoix Hospital where she had been admitted for two days.

THE FORMER Josephine E. Moench was born in Detroit Dec. 14, 1884. She was married to Mr. Wolf in 1911 in Detroit. They moved to Charlevoix 20 years ago.
 She was a member of the Bethany Lutheran Church. Surviving besides her husband are one son, George, of Birmingham; one daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Schmidt, of Charlevoix; and three grandchildren.

Conservation Dept. Needs More Cash
 LANSING -- Checks totaling $806,000 have been mailed to 76 Michigan Counties by the Conservation Department as payment in lieu of taxes on some four million acres of state lands lying within their boundaries.
 Charlevoix County's share of the sum is $10,874.29. Antrim County's is $8,336.90; and Emmet's is $14,809.03. The payments were made last year. They were made at the flat rate of 20 cents per acre for such conservation holdings as state forests, parks, and recreation areas and game and wildlife sites.

THE COUNTRIES are responsible for distributing the conservation money among their townships and school districts, depending on the amount of state acreage within their units.
 Most of the payments covered purchased, tax-reverted, and gifted conservation properties in the northern two-thirds of the state.

Among the larger payments were Lapeer County, $37,516.04; Schoharie County, $56,922.46; Marquette County, $52,628.33; Chippewa County, $45,866.57; Dickinson County, $43,948.12; Roscommon County, $40,613.66; and Mackinac County, $40,439.82.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Foster have arrived at Laguna Hills, Calif., for the winter. Mrs. David J. Smith has arrived at Clearwater, Fla., for the winter.
 Mr. and Mrs. Rex Davis and Mr. and Mrs. John Schroeder spent the weekend in Grand Rapids.

CMU Offers Two Courses in Potoskey
 MR. POTOSKEY -- Enrollment is still open for students in the Charlevoix-Potoskey area wishing to earn university credit in off-campus courses through Central Michigan University's Off-Campus Education office. Registration is scheduled for Monday, Feb. 6, at 7 p.m., at North Central Michigan College, Potoskey.

Speech 430, Principles of Speech Correction, will be taught by Dr. Leslie Gruber of CMU's speech department. The course is designed especially for the classroom teacher who has had no previous introduction to speech work. The two-hour course applies on special education certification.

TEACHING Education 483, Principles of Guidance, will be taught by Dr. Donald P. Bortch. It provides an opportunity for students to work on their school problems related to guidance. The course earns two hours' credit. Michigan State University students should register for Education 8151.

NHA offers hunters technical and informative services. One of the informative services is the annual "Guns and Game" report, which presents factual information from 38 states and five Canadian provinces on the causes of hunting accidents. Another service is the "Hunter Safety Training Program" which has graduated more than three million students and has reached a point where 400,000 participants complete the course each year.

Brill!
 CHARLEVOIX -- Three inches of snow fell on Charlevoix in Monday night's blizzard, according to weatherman Lloyd Kuehler. Total snowfall for the week was seven inches. The Sunday Tuesday reported winds getting up to 35 miles per hour. The temperature was to drop to below zero Tuesday night.

Our last stop was by far the most unique. The city of Tucupita is accessible only by air or boat, so we flew there. It is located on a branch of the Orinoco River. In the delta formed by it as it flows to the Atlantic.

PRESENTLY, the river is dammed up by a flood control project. The water is backed up, overflows and enters the water system. The result is coffee colored water. One extra filtering and treatment the water needs. It is only available from about six to nine in the mornings and evenings.

With the stoppage of the river, the ocean has flooded the lower delta region killing crops and forcing the Indians, as after a hurricane, to leave their homes. The treatment they received leaves much to be desired.

WE CHATTED with a Baptist missionary and he told us about his village and the river in general. To all some time we decided to charter a boat (?) and travel to Perdomo on the Atlantic coast. It's 70 miles downstream and for those interested in

Gun Club Gets National Award for 'Sight-In'
 CHARLEVOIX -- The Charlevoix Fowl & Gun Club has received a Public Service Citation from the National Rifle Association for participating actively in the NRA's annual "Sighting-In Day."

Council Rezones May St. Tract
 CHARLEVOIX -- The City Council has rezoned a huge tract on the southeast side of city from A-2-Cultural to Residential 1 and Residential 2.
 The property is bounded roughly by May Street, Eaton Avenue, Street Road and the rear edge of the commercial property along Ferry Road.
 T.D. BROWN, who owns an electric shop on May Street on the affected area, originally wanted his property to be rezoned commercial. He agreed to a non-conforming rezoning after the Council agreed to let him build a 10-foot by 40-foot addition to his shop and remove two small buildings.
 The rezoning then passed unanimously as an amendment to city ordinance 203.

No Greater Love Hath Any Creature Than That OF A Dog For His Master!

And "no greater love hath any man than that he shall lay down his life for a friend" . . . or his country. In this last Great War, as in all other wars, thousands of brave and worthy men have laid down their lives on the altar of Freedom, and for Religious Liberty . . . that we may go on living in a land where there is still Freedom of Speech, Freedom of Press and last, but by no means least, Freedom of Religion.

Let us then not forget this lesson. Let us attend the Church of our choice regularly, for it stands as a symbol of that freedom . . . that way of life, for which our forefathers founded this great nation, and for which all the brave men, living and dead, have struggled so valiantly to maintain.

Cabbages ... and Things

By Carol Walsky

The other day I received a little number through the mail. It read "Thank you for the cabbage recipe." These parties seem to be most successful when they are not too elaborate and everyone gets into the action.

"THIS is one reason fondue is so popular. It's just right for small gatherings and everyone takes part. Traditionally, the first one to lose a bread cube in the fondue pays for the whole party."

I hate to be uncooperative, but after sking for six hours, the fondue and give me a big, fat hamburger.

IT'S NOT BAD enough that my fingers are frozen to my poles and my ears are half frozen from frostbite, but have to fight for my food in a fondue pot too.

And then the part about paying for the whole party. Forget it! I only attend parties.

However, I decided to be prepared. If I ever went to one of these parties, I was sure I didn't drop my bread first.

SO I MIXED up a batch of the stuff to practice with. After brewing it up, I decided to give on these parties. It was a sure way to get off pretty cheap - If I wasn't the first to stick my bread in it.

Not only did I lose the first

Teen's Choice

Here's a real teen favorite that will go over big at parties and after basketball games. Serve hot dogs withoney Island sauce.

CONY ISLAND SAUCE (12 SERVINGS)

1 lb. ground beef
2 medium onions, chopped
2 cloves garlic, chopped
2 8 oz. cans tomato sauce
1 cup chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon pepper

Brown meat in skillet. Add remaining ingredients and simmer for 30 minutes. Serve over hot dogs.

Fem-Levity

Mr. Clean Climbs Mt. Everest

by Grace Ann McDaniels

Out of curiosity I ventured into the laundry room this morning. I came upstairs skipping three steps at a time, I was in a cold sweat and trying to calm my pounding heart.

What should I expect really? I hadn't been down there since the beginning of Advent. Besides, I always said the only way to keep up with the ironing was to let the washing go.

I MANAGE to take a measure of solace in the fact that all normal women suffer from the same detergent syndrome. Actually it's not too difficult to stuff the dirties into the washing machine. The problem starts when the dryer begins shaking them out. Clean clothes suddenly appear all over everything. Their counterparts of behind the dryer leaving the overflow with no choice but the floor. The real nightmare energies in the form of a cotton M. Everest in the ironing basket. This one is hard to overcome. I've tried many things to give myself incentive. I wrote "congratulations" in the bottom of the basket in red letters. I remember seeing it once when it's contents were dumped on the floor and it became another car for the kids' train.

Most women too have discovered that if the ironing is checked out in mid-winter at least one fourth of the clothes are summer and can be neatly folded and stuffed into a box, and the young mothers who find that teenagers are clothes baby has out grown. Find another box. If I ever gave up all my boxes, the salvation army would have a victory party.

I'VE MANAGED to generously stock our closets with absolutely no-iron clothes. If somebody would only come up with no iron handkerchiefs it could plant certainties in the ironing basket.

Actually even no-iron clothes present a problem because of all the time I spend hiding in alleys waiting for first crack at new shipments. I might as well head for the basement like stouthearted men. On second thought, maybe I'll just ask that my groceries be put in boxes this week.

Glen and Ada Williams are all smiles as they are now great grandparents and had as their guest, Saturday, their great-granddaughter, Jacalyn.

Carol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Chanda of East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gilbert spent Saturday with their daughter Lois in Charlevoix.

Barnes Returns to Station

EASTPORT -- Marlene Pfc Bryce S. Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryce V. Barnes of Eastport, has returned to Camp Pendleton, Calif., after spending his first leave with his family.

Barnes was graduated recently from eight weeks recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego, Calif.

Under the supervision of veteran non-commissioned officers, he learned small arms marksmanship, bayonet fighting, and methods of self protection.

He also received instruction in military drill, history and traditions of the Marine Corps and academic subjects.

At the end of four weeks of individual combat training he was awarded the Expert Rifle Badge.

He will now have four weeks of basic specialist training before being assigned to a permanent unit.

LINSTRÖM admits that some of his boys are labled no worse than "problematic." "By the grace of God and a good probate judge," many of them have been helped, he said. Of one group of seven he is now working with (age 13 to 16), four have serious reading handicaps, so far he has managed to keep all his boys in school this year.

One thing Lindstrom insists upon is that each youngster be brought to therapy and taken home by a parent or other responsible adult.

"No therapist wants a boy to steal a car on his way home from a visit with the social worker," Lindstrom explained.

He said no recommendations are made except to the psychiatrist.

"Very often we find that the problem does not lie so much with the emotionally disturbed child as with some other member of the household," he asked.

PROBLEMS usually center around a lack of communication between members of the family.

"How many arguments could you avoid at home if you said what you meant and were understood?" Lindstrom asked.

Many families, he said, are caught in what he called a "double bind" and the child suffers.

"One day we may say: 'You're a big boy now. Do this and so.' The next day we say: 'No, you're a little boy. You cannot cross the street.'"

He said sometimes family sessions are taped and when tapes are played back members of the family can't believe what they said, going on to explain what they meant to say.

LISTENING is also a problem at first, Lindstrom said.

"Too many of us have open minds --- open at each end and everything goes through."

After two sessions, communication starts to improve. At this point, I find family members actually paying attention to what other members say. They start to think and communicate."

LINSTRÖM also is involved in another type of group therapy whereby he meets with a group of eight or nine pre-adolescent "problem" boys once a week and with their parents once a month.

"We have certain ground rules to live by," he said. "We always go on time and end on time (55 minutes later.) I never discuss a boy's problems with his parents unless I have his permission. We don't admit a new boy once a group has started. At least three sessions are wasted while he shows his stuff and establishes his place in the group."

If the parents agree, boys are allowed to smoke at the sessions. If not, smoking is forbidden.

Jordan Needs

EAST JORDAN -- "Rooms, facilities and long-range planning" was Superintendent Max Danforth's reply to what is needed at the school.

Answering questions posed by Citizens Advisory Committee President Mrs. T. J. Malpass and Secretary Mrs. Bro. Riley, Danforth said the School Board told them what some of the committee's goals should be.

DANFORTH SAID THAT "rooms and facilities are needed now, the committee should take a long-range view in planning for future school needs."

The board said it would prepare a formal list of goals for guidelines to be given to the committee at its next meeting.

MRS. MALPASS brought up the question of consolidation. She said since the committee supported the move almost unanimously, she asked the move that should be made towards it.

Danforth replied that the committee is free to do as it chooses since it represents the community.

However, he added that the existing facilities and curriculum should be studied with the idea that the best solution to the school's problems will be presented.

THE BOARD said no time limit has been placed on the committee for its findings and recommendations. However, it would be helpful to have them when planning for the 1967-68 school year this spring, the board indicated.

The committee also asked for financial aid and help in choosing personnel to conduct a socio-economic community survey.

THE BOARD said they would look into the matter further and suggested persons both local and from MSU of U of M that could handle it. They also suggested the survey conducted by the Charlevoix County Planning Commission may be helpful.

A request for an extra census to aid both the school and the committee was tabled for further study.

The committee's request for a budget was also tabled for study.

THE BOARD accepted the sole bid for two Atlas Lathes at $50 each from Leonard Colser.

They agreed to let bids soon for one, two or four school buses.

Girls Win Meet

EAST JORDAN -- The high school ski team walked off the slopes of Barn Mt. with smiles on their faces last Wednesday.

The girls' team won their meet against Harbor Springs along with taking two firsts, a second and a third. The boys' placed first in the boys' slalom.

Star for the day was Tina Malpass who placed first in both the giant slalom and slalom races. She was clocked at 77 seconds for two runs in the giant slalom and 32 seconds in the slalom.

CLOSE BEHIND Tina in the slalom was Julie Malpass with 32.7 seconds. She placed second with Pauline McKay taking third.

The girls' team won with 206.8 seconds. Harbor Springs girls had 217.3 seconds.

On the boys' team, Brian Green placed first in the slalom with 41 seconds.

One of their best skiers, Jack Yetlow, was disqualified when he missed a gate near the finish. This undoubtedly hindered the team's chances for the win.

COACH ED BURROWS said he was quite surprised and pleased with East Jordan's showing.

New Sander Is Due Soon

EAST JORDAN -- City Superintendent Russell Gee told the City Council last Tuesday night that the new road sander ordered from Miller Equipment Co. is expected to arrive shortly.

The City Council also voted to extend Jack Zoulec's dance permit at the teen center for another year.

IN THE BRIEF session, the Council

FIREMEN help remove the body of Harry Martin, 83, from the smoking ruins of his home on W. Lincoln Street. The victim was asphyxiated.

Says Fire Inspection May Have Saved Life

CHARLEVOIX -- A stovepipe running dangerously close to the ceiling may have been responsible for the death of Harry Martin, 83, according to fireman Jerry Whitely.

Mr. Martin died of asphyxiation before firemen broke down the doors of his smoking house about 9:40 p.m. last Friday. He lived at 407 W. Lincoln.

WHITELY, former fire chief and presently Third Ward Alderman, said the stovepipe is one of the fire hazards a thorough inspection of the premises would have revealed.

He suggested to the Council that fire inspections of some of the city's older homes be made periodically by volunteer firemen. No action was taken on his suggestion by the Council.

RITES for Mr. Martin were held Monday at the Winchester Funeral Home, the Rev. Cecil Drost of the Assembly of God Church officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Born in Mecosta County March 5, 1884, Mr. Martin lived in the Onaway area before moving to Charlevoix about 20 years ago.

He belonged to the Assembly of God Church.

SURVIVORS include a son, Walter, of Middleville, two brothers, Frank of Grand Rapids and Richard of California; a sister, Mrs. Gay Pearl of California; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mr. Martin was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Robert Martin, the new County Medical Examiner. Dr. Martin and many volunteer firemen were attending the basketball game at Charlevoix High School when the fire broke out.

The inside of the house was badly burned, although an adjoining apartment to the rear was not damaged.

Another history of Charlevoix -- this one by the late P.D. (Don) Campbell, former Bridge Street shoemaker -- will begin in next week's Courier, Feb. 1.

A native of Whitehall, Mich., Mr. Campbell moved to Charlevoix with his parents when he was a boy and had long memories of his adopted town. He died in Jan. 1963, at 74 years of age, after a long illness.

Mrs. CAMPBELL called his memories "History of Bridge Street and Harbor of Charlevoix the Beautiful, Michigan." Don miss his interesting account of Charlevoix of yesteryear.

FRED ECHLER, president of the East

Jordan Valley Archers Club is also interested in establishing the center.

Attorney Klevorn was instructed to take the steps necessary.

IN OTHER action the council agreed to reimburse Greg Boyson for damage done to his basement which he claimed was done by a backed up sewer.

The council also approved printing a spring election ballot giving the city permission to sell water outside city limits. The council also accepted the gift of a 66 foot street in the Pine Addition.

Urged passage of a county-wide sanitary code.

Mrs. ROBERT MARTIN outlined the group's goals Monday at the City Council meeting and asked for a meeting with the Harbor committee in the near future. (Jan. 30 or 31) were later suggested.

Working with Mrs. Martin on the anti-pollution committee are Mrs. E. D. Lawley, Mrs. Paul Olsen and Mrs. Greg Shadko.

Attending the meeting from East Jordan were Mrs. W.W. Rogers, Mrs. Ben Van Schenck and Mrs. Walter Thorsen. Mr. Arthur Folestad attended from Boyne City.

They intend to take up the pollution problem among civic groups in their own communities.

THE LIBRARY is being constructed by the Charlevoix Board of Education. The committee was formed to raise money for furnishings and refinements above and beyond the basic cost of the building. Located on Clinton Street, the building is expected to open in April.

U.S. Turns Down Bid for Area Planning Funds

Fochtman and Staley Flying to Washington

CHARLEVOIX -- An application for federal planning funds filed by the City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix Township and Marion Township has been denied, Kenneth Staley, chairman of the Area Planning Commission, told the City Council Monday night.

The denial puts the three governmental units in an awkward position since the Grand Rapids planning firm of Williams and Works has been meeting with representatives from the area for almost 14 months hammering out a master plan for orderly growth and development.

A GROUP from Charlevoix and the townships plans to fly to Washington D.C. Jan. 27 to protest the denial before representatives of the Housing and Home Finance Agency which had offered the funds. Rep. Phil Ruppe is arranging the meeting.

The total planning bill will come to about $34,568 of which the federal government was supposed to pay 75 per cent, or $25,926, Staley said.

With federal participation, the city's share of the tab was to be $4,964; Marion Township's $1,610; and Charlevoix Township's $2,968.

STALEY SAID he had no idea how much Williams and Works' bill would be for services rendered to date, but in his opinion he said most of the leg work for the project has been completed.

Under terms of the contract, a representative of W&W meets with Charlevoix area planners once a month for a minimum of 18 months. After that it's pay-as-you-go.

The Council agreed informally that the project should be continued, whether or not federal funds are forthcoming.

Staley said so far as he could determine, Charlevoix's bid for funds was rejected because there had been no "follow up" of planning activities.

He said it sounded as though the federal government were putting the cart before the horse, because there have been very few concrete recommendations to work on to date.

CHARLEVOIX Mayor William Fochtman was disturbed by the rejection.

CHARLEVOIX -- The Ninth Coast Guard District has no plans to equip the 180-foot Coast Guard cutter Simew with a sewage treatment plant or a holding tank, Chief of Staff Capt. Robert Waldron told the Courier last week.

Capt. Waldron was contacted by telephone after it was suggested at a meeting of the local Soil Conservation District that officers from the Simew might be partly responsible for the growing pollution problem in Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix.

Capt. Waldron said a trial treatment plant has been installed aboard a similar 180-footer at Cape May, N.J., but there are no plans to equip all the 180-footers.

The Coast Guard has adopted a treatment plant (digestor) which is being systematically installed aboard all 110-

Club Women Join War on Pollution

CHARLEVOIX -- The Charlevoix Club has launched a campaign to help combat the pollution of Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix.

At the Monday meeting, County Sanitarian John Reynolds told members their role could be two-fold.

Keep abreast of developments on the state level, particularly legislation governing control of sanitary facilities on pleasure craft.

Urged passage of a county-wide sanitary code.

Don't Allow Snow Shovel to Dig Your Grave

Smile the next time you have to shovel snow.
It may help you live longer.

Emotional frustration that results in anger at the prospect of shoveling can increase your chances of a heart attack, according to medical experts.

They point out that snow shoveling is dangerous in itself if you're over 40, especially if you have a tendency toward heart problems.

A TASK THAT requires sudden, intense exertion, shoveling may be the most physically demanding job you tackle all year. As you shovel, your heart requires more blood to work faster and harder. If the arteries to your heart muscle can't supply enough, heart trouble strikes.

THE JANUARY skies are worth watching for the constellations Gemini, Cancer and Leo. Castor, one of the primary stars in Gemini, is really two stars located close together.

A third star can also be identified by telescope in Castor. When light from each of these stars is analyzed by spectrograph, each is found to be a binary, or double star.

"50 Castor," says Prof. Losh, includes at least six components making up a system.

POLLUX is now the brighter of the Gemini twins, but it is believed that in earlier times Castor may have outshone his brother, he adds. Pollux, a yellowish star, is 26 light-years away from earth while the bluish-white Castor is 50 light-years distant.

Cancer is a fairly faint constellation forming an upside-down letter "M". A cluster of stars in Cancer was one of the first objects Galileo examined through his telescope, he said.

No Greater Love Hath Any Creature Than That OF A Dog For His Master!

And "no greater love hath any man than that he shall lay down his life for a friend" . . . or his country. In this last Great War, as in all other wars, thousands of brave and worthy men have laid down their lives on the altar of Freedom, and for Religious Liberty . . . that we may go on living in a land where there is still Freedom of Speech, Freedom of Press and last, but by no means least, Freedom of Religion.

Let us then not forget this boon. Let us attend the Church of our choice regularly, for it stands as a symbol of that freedom . . . that way of life, for which our forefathers founded this great nation, and for which all the brave men, living and dead, have struggled so valiantly to maintain.

Like to Run Eatery on Mackinac Isle?

LANSING -- Like to run a restaurant on Mackinac Island? The Mackinac Island State Park Commission says it is seeking bids from prospective concessionaires interested in operating the Fort Mackinac Tea Room on the island during the 1967 season. The Tea Room, which grossed more than $35,000 in 1966, will be leased for one year beginning not later than May 1. The successful bidder will be required to pay the Commission a fee of not less than 10 percent of the concessionaire's gross sales during 1967.

Seal Donation Reach 3,187 in County

CHARLEVOIX -- Contributions to the 1966 Christmas Seal campaign in Charlevoix County have reached $3,187 compared with $2,747 at the same time last year, reports the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Donations are used by tuberculosis and respiratory disease associations to help patients through continuing intensive year-round programs in the detection and control of tuberculosis. They also work toward reduction of air pollution and smoking and the control of other respiratory diseases such as emphysema, chronic bronchitis and asthma.

Late contributions to Christmas Seals are expected to raise the state campaign total to $1,500,000.

Cabbages and Things

By Carol Walsley

Snow can be very helpful at times. Like when you want to find out who's been nosing around your house when you weren't home. Like finding out which relative came over when you wouldn't answer the door because you were too busy hiding from them with your family in the basement.

All you have to do is wait until they drive away. Then rush outside and study the footprints.

"Him, size 14. Must be Aunt Tillie."

"And over here is Uncle Marvin's. I know those worn down heels anywhere."

"Hey, look over here. They had the nerve to bring Aunt Harriet with them. After what she said about my taste in drapes last Thanksgiving."

"She even brought those three brats of hers with her. They wouldn't had my house torn apart in thirty seconds flat."

WELL, PVE been studying footprints lately outside my door and what I've discovered is kind of spooky.

There's been a bear hanging around my place. At first I thought they were dog tracks, but a fellow track-studier said it would have to be a 900 lb. St. Bernard.

Well, bear, St. Bernard, or whatever it is, I'm not too keen about having an animal with tracks three feet in diameter hanging around my place. I don't mind feeding hungry animals, but when it comes to feeding them an arm, I draw the line. Having a wild animal grow on one of my limbs isn't exactly my idea of a groovy time.

I haven't decided quite what my defense will be if I meet up with this animal. About my only weapon is a pair of bent ski poles. I guess I could not be in the center, but it should be the focal point of the grouping.

Cut a piece of paper large enough to cover the grouping.

Draw around the pictures and remove them. Mark the paper where the hooks should go.

Then, paper to the wall lightly and drive hooks through the paper at marked spots. Remove the paper and hang the pictures.

Hanging Pictures? Read This First

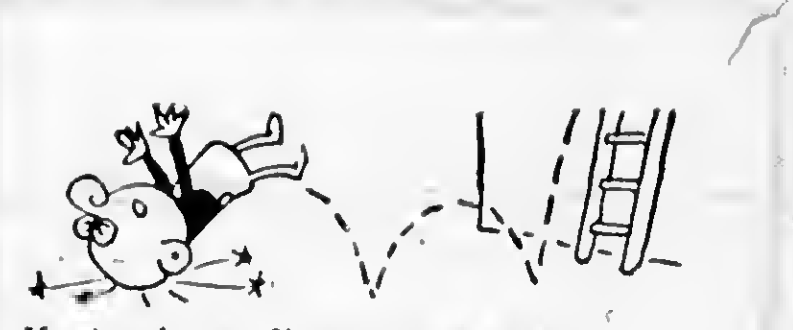

Having trouble arranging a picture grouping?

The key is to arrange the group around a "key" picture—the largest or most colorful one in the group.

Follow these steps for a pleasing arrangement:

Place the key picture on the floor first.

Using the other pictures around it, arrange them in a grouping which is pleasing to the eye and suitable to the wall space. The key picture need

Fem-Levity

The Impossible Dream Lady

By Grace Ann McDaniels

I'm looking for a baby sister. I'm always looking for a baby sister but this one is special. I don't wish to allude any of my present angels of mercy. It's just that during the past five or so years I've conjured up an ideal. It must have been great to be during the era when Grandma was a live in. I'd never admit that I need that much help but an occasional sister is a definite necessity. The outside calls to fill housewifely chores and sometimes simply to maintain sanity. So I'm waiting for her to walk through my door and say, "My dear, I'm here to serve you." This is the way she is in my mind.

She loves children. I'll make it more difficult. She loves my children only and understands them completely. She has an unlimited phone number and lives just 30 seconds from my house. She's on call 24 hours a day and has her own car which is at my disposal. (I may as well mention it, it's a new convertible and has its own credit card.) She can prepare always feed him one of my recipes.

MAYBE I don't even have to worry. He might be a friendly bear - like Smokey. Anyway I keep telling myself that while looking for my cat who hasn't been around for a week.

Just in case I do get him though, I'm preparing to fling him into my cooking pot and make a stew out of him. When you're making payments on a car, you'll out anything. So here's my bear stew.

BEAR STEW
(SHANK, FLANK OR NECK)
3-4 lbs. cubed bear meat
5 sliced carrots
5 cubed potatoes
5 whole onions
1 lb. oil, package frozen peas
1 tsp. celery salt
1 tsp. thyme
1 clove crushed garlic
12 whole cloves
2 tsp. Worcestershire
1/3 cup flour
2 cups water
1 tsp. salt
Coat the meat with flour and brown in large skillet over kettle. (Save remaining flour.)
When the meat is tender (2 or 3 hours) remove meat to a plate and stir salt, celery salt, thyme, garlic and remaining flour into pan dripping. Graciously blend in water and cook stirring until thick.

Add the meat and Worcestershire, cover tightly and simmer for 1 1/2 hours. Add the carrots, potatoes and onions along with the whole cloves. Cook until potatoes are almost tender (about 45 minutes). Add the peas and cook for 15 more minutes. Serve hot over biscuits.

(You can substitute beef stew meat for bear meat if you want to.)

Take Care of Leather, It'll Take Care of You

Since leather and suede is definitely in on the fashion scene, more and more women are buying leather articles. This applies to furniture as well as apparel and accessories. With a little time and care, leather will look like new and last longer.

Leather should be permitted to become badly soiled. If it does it may be impossible to clean.

Most leather should be regularly spot cleaned at home. Ask when buying the article what type of spot cleaner may be used.

Test Forms Ready

LANSING - State Selective Service headquarters announced today that application forms are now available at all Michigan local board offices for the Selective Service college qualification tests which have been scheduled for March 11 and 31 and April 8, 1967. Test scores are used by local boards in determining eligibility of registrants for student deferments. The test will be taken by any registrant who intends to request deferment as a student and who has not previously taken the test. Applications for the test must be postmarked no later than Friday, February 10.

THE THREE hour test administered by Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey, is intended to present a student's ability to do college work. The test will be administered at 15 colleges in Michigan located at Ann Arbor, Berrien Springs, Dearborn, Detroit, East Lansing, Flint, Grand Rapids, Irons, Kalamazoo, Marquette, Mt. Pleasant, Saginaw, Sault Ste. Marie, Traverse City and Ypsilanti.

About 42,000 Michigan students took the draft tests held during 1966. Test results are forwarded direct to the registrant's local board. About 20,000 Michigan registrants are deferred as college students compared with approximately 60,000 a year ago.

SPECIAL SCHOOL ELECTION ELLSWORTH COMMUNITY SCHOOL MONDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1967

Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of the Ellsworth Community School District, Counties of Antrim and Charlevoix, State of Michigan, that a Special School Election will be held in the kindergarten room of the Ellsworth Community School, on Monday, February 6, 1967.

At this election the following proposition will be voted upon: Shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in the Ellsworth Community School, Antrim and Charlevoix Counties, Michigan, for all purposes, except taxes levied for the payment of interest and principal on obligations incurred prior to December 8, 1932, be increased, as provided by Section 21, Article X of the Constitution of Michigan, by one and seven tenths percent (1.7%) (17 Mills) of the assessed valuation, as equalized, of all property in the School District for the years 1967 and 1968, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating expenses?

The Polls of said election will be open from 1:00 P.M. to 8:00 P.M. on said day of election.

Rayders Keep Fans Breathless - Again

EAST JORDAN cagers always put on a good show, but somehow they're on the short-end when the points are counted. Last Friday they lost No. 7 to Manelona by one point in overtime.

CHARLEVOIX -- The Red Rayders did it again Friday night.

They had their match with the Boyne City Ramblers practically sewn up for three quarters, then they played cat-and-mouse for most of the final period, leaving their fans gasping for breath.

BEFORE the final whistle, they managed to finish their lead to a safe 16 points, winning 64 to 46.

High scorer again for Charlevoix was capable Jack Bergman who chalked up 26 points--twice as many as Fred Wabaninkee, his closest runner-up.

Bergman, who got off to a slow start, made his point on light fieldgoals and 10 freethrows, the muffed five other freethrows when the pressure was on late in the game.

Wabaninkee had six fieldgoals and one freethrow; for 13 points; Larry Martin scored four fieldgoals and one freethrow for nine points; Brad Carey scored four fieldgoals for six points; Bernal Ward two fieldgoals and two fieldgoals for six points; and Allan Veenstra, one fieldgoal and two freethrows for four points.

In the third period, Boyne City came to life, narrowing the margin to an uncomfortable 36-35 at the bell.

IN THE fourth quarter, the impossible happened. Boyne City moved ahead--not once but several times--as the Ramblers jockeyed back and forth for position.

Tensions were high, and one of the Boyne City players was sidelined by the officials for a display of temper.

Finally the Rayders embarked on a scoring campaign, moving 18 points ahead of the Ramblers before the clock ran out.

CHARLEVOIX's game with Petoskey, which was cancelled because of the blizzard.

Roads Claim 2,270

Michigan's new all-time annual traffic death record has reached 2,270 for 1966 and is expected to go still higher before all delayed death reports are in, the State Police report.

The total cited is 95 or 4.4 percent worse than the previous high of 2,175 for 1965 and is 141 or 6.6 percent more than the 2,129 persons killed in 1964. Record keeping began in 1933.

AVAILABLE information on injuries and accidents indicates that earlier projections will materialize in a new annual mark of about 150,000 for injuries while accidents, an estimated 200,000, may be down three percent from the record 210,000 in 1965. Injuries totaled 155,258 in 1965. The estimated cost of accidents in 1966 was $410 million, a sharp rise of $25 million or almost seven percent greater than the $385 million cost reported for the previous year.

MICHIGAN in 1966 had 1,934 fatal traffic accidents, 93 more than 1,841 in 1965. Estimated travel mileage totaled 43.2 billion, six percent more than 1965. Registered motor vehicles increased slightly in 1966 to 4,121,750 and a gain also was expected in licensed drivers from the county of 4.5 million the year before.

Ellsworth Plants Sought

ELLSWORTH -- The Ellsworth Chamber of Commerce discussed ways and means of attracting industry to the area.

foot vessels. Progress also is being made to improve sanitary facilities at many shore stations in the district, Capt. Waldron said.

WHEN TOLD of the growing pollution problem in Round Lake and adjoining Lake Charlevoix, Capt. Waldron said he could understand the concern of the people in the area.

"You have the prettiest port on the lake," he said.

He added that when and if a sewage plant is developed for ships the size of the Sundew, he is confident the Sundew will be one of the first vessels to have one installed.

CAPT. WALDRON said he was unaware that the Sundew docks immediately adjacent to the city's municipal sewage treatment plant, he agreed that some kind of shore hook-up might be possible while the Sundew is berthed.

The Sundew has a complement of about 50 men, most of whom have no other quarters other than their bunks aboard ship.

ty-wide planning in the near future.

Norm Bartlett said there seems to be a lack of space for snow-cats and offered his garage for use as a storage area.

Chamber President Tom Galmore gave a long report on a snow-cat rally held at Ellsworth on Jan. 23 and thought the chamber might move to attract more snow-cat enthusiasts to the East Jordan area.

Board Hears Architects

CHARLEVOIX -- The Board of Education heard representatives of three architectural firms at its Monday meeting about plans for the proposed elementary school on the North Side.

They were Dale Suomela of Flint and representatives of Warren S. Holmes of Lansing and Davenport Associates of Grand Rapids and Tontsey.

Duane Bodak of Marquette was hired to take over some of the general science duties of Del Terrill. Bodak is a graduate of Bishop Baraga High School and Northern Michigan University, both in Marquette.

Legion Plans New Home on Garfield Ave.

CHARLEVOIX -- A new home for the Legion T. Shapiro American Legion Post No. 226 is on the drawing board, according to Post Commander Bob Nowakowski.

A preliminary sketch of the building (See Page 10) has been drawn up by Wayne Heiding of Charlevoix, a member of the post.

THE BUILDING is tentatively scheduled to be erected on the present American Legion property on Garfield Avenue, in front of the old post home.

Nowakowski said the building will cost about $65,000 and will be constructed largely of fieldstone, wood and glass.

He said that in addition to serving the needs of the Post and the Auxiliary, the building will be large enough (40 by 80 feet) to serve as an auditorium or ballroom for community functions.

THE LOWER level of the structure will house the Legion meeting room, offices for rental organizations, a large kitchen and lounge-servicing the second floor.

Nowakowski said there is a possibility a few rooms may be established in the building.

He said he hopes to start construction this spring. Local contractors will do the work.

PTA Fair Set Feb. 11

CHARLEVOIX -- Plans are under way for the annual PTA Fair Saturday, Feb. 11 at the elementary school gymnasium.

Co-chairmen are Mrs. Eugene Bergmann and Mrs. Paul Osterberg.

On their committee are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Powell, Ralph Dean, George Lusk, Ralph McRae, Mrs. Conrad Klooster, Miss Fran Miller, Mrs. Claire Martin and Mrs. Phil Martin.

Mrs. Dale Boss is consultant.

The fourth, fifth and sixth grades are making posters, the best of which will be displayed downtown. Sixth graders are in charge of ticket sales. The boy and girl selling the most will be king and queen of the fair.

Johnson added that probationary licenses may also be suspended if the driver fails to answer a traffic summons.

Licenses are returned after a period of time and re-examination of the driver.

Coach Returns

CHARLEVOIX -- Charlevoix High School ski coach Bruce Morgan returned to his classes Jan. 23 after being injured in a skiing accident at Boyne Mountain Jan. 18. Morgan injured in a collision with Alice Aene and was hospitalized two days.

Suomela Hired

CHARLEVOIX -- The City Council Monday night hired Dale Suomela of Flint to make preliminary drawings of a shower-toilet facility for jailmates in East Park.

He was told to keep the cost of the structure between $25,000 and $30,000. The State Water Resources Commission will help share the expense.

THIS IS Charlevoix's National Fish Hatchery which may soon be taken over by the State Conservation Department for research into the coho salmon and other species.

THE MITCHELL house on Park Avenue has fallen prey to the wrecking bar. Much of the debris was burned on the site. New owners have not disclosed plans for the property.

Michigan motorists who must collect from the new Uninsured Motorist Fund shouldn't have to wait too long for their money. A new employee is Napoleon Quick.

APPLE FANCER Mrs. Ruth Heiding hopes all the snow we've had will give us a crop of bigger apples next year. Snow apples should be particularly well.

WITH BASKETBALL getting so exciting, pretty soon you'll need a note from your doctor to attend.

Bandsmen Ready for Festivals

CHARLEVOIX -- Band students from throughout northern Michigan will attend Solo-Ensemble Festivals in Charlevoix and Mancelona on Saturday, Feb. 4, according to Clarence Odmak, Charlevoix High School Band Director.

The festivals are sponsored by the school band and Orchestra Association.

At Charlevoix High School, 115 different events will be heard by three judges, beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing until 4 p.m. at eight minute intervals. Judges are Kent Krive of Muskegon, Ross Van Nook of Marshall and Paul Williams of Lansing.

The public is invited to listen in. There is no charge.

Will Try Again for U.S. Funds

CHARLEVOIX -- Five representatives from the Charlevoix area will make another attempt this week to meet with officials of the federal government in Washington to have Charlevoix's bid for planning funds reopened.

Last Thursday, the group had to cancel plans to fly to the capital from Grand Rapids when the big downstate blizzard closed the Grand Rapids airport.

THEY WILL attempt to make the trip again this week, leaving from Traverse City this afternoon (Wednesday) and conferring with representatives of the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Washington tomorrow.

However, at press time Planning Commission Chairman Ken Staley said he had not received confirmation of the flight reservations.

Making the trip with him will be Charlevoix Mayor Bill Fochtman, City Attorney John Michael, Marion Township Supervisor Clyde Cunningham and Charlevoix Township Supervisor Clarence Rakach.

Everett Thompson of the Grand Rapids planning firm Williams and Work is expected to join the group.

The Planning Commission received word last week that a request for federal planning funds by the City of Charlevoix and the townships had been denied.

Local officials had been led to believe the funds were forthcoming and the area already is deeply involved in planning activities with the Grand Rapids firm.

The total planning bill will come to $34,566, of which the city and the townships were to pay one quarter.

Hardware Store Is Remodeled

CHARLEVOIX -- The completely remodeled Harbor Hardware store on Bridge Street will hold its grand opening Feb. 2, according to Don Kowbel.

The store has been outfitted with two new banks of display fixtures which run the length of the store, resulting in more useable floor space.

Toy displays are located both on the main floor and on the second story at the rear of the store.

Pegboard along the side walls also has resulted in more display area.

Kowbel and his employees did the remodeling themselves, with the advice of a merchandising expert. The store was open throughout the remodeling.

Jordan Plans Snowcat Rally

EAST JORDAN -- The Chamber of Commerce is organizing a snowmobile rally to be held here Feb. 18 and 19.

Chamber president Tom Galmore said a safari is being planned the 18th. He said it would be a family affair with lunch being served at a meeting place for the group.

RACES WILL be held the next day and are open to all types and classes of snowmobiles. Trophies will be given to the winners.

Galmore said anyone interested in the rally should contact the chamber.

THIS OUT-SIZED bobcat, weighing 35 lbs., was brought home from the annual Bear Hunting Assn. meeting in Gaylord last weekend by Art Christ of Charlevoix. From left are Nanette Christ, Jimmie Potter and Philip Christ.

Medusa Transferees Quiz Bill Fochtman

CHARLEVOIX -- Mayor William Fochtman was flown to Manitowish, Wis., Jan. 20 by the Medusa Portland Cement Co. to answer questions for employees who will be moving to Charlevoix later this year.

Fochtman, who went to Wisconsin armed with color slides of the Charlevoix area and a long list of facts and figures about the city, returned Jan. 21.

Before he left, he was given a list of questions most frequently asked by Medusa employees being transferred in Charlevoix. They included:

- Are there any trailers to rent?
- What is the maximum trailer length permissible on Michigan roads?
- How much money down is required on homes?
- How many new homes are being built?
- Are there any rental units available?
- How big?
- Is it possible for a group of employees to go in together on one piece of property for homesites, in order to save money on the price?
- How is the best way to contact builders?

THE AWARDS were announced Jan. 27 at the annual Michigan Press Association convention at the Kelllogg Center here.

THE COLUMN titled was "Clockwise" by Courier Editor Bob Clock.

The "advertising idea" was for a Farm Bureau Insurance advertisement featuring area representative Charles Elings, drawn up by Courier Advertising Manager Tom McDaniel.

McDaniel accepted the two awards at the conclusion of MPA's luncheon on Friday. Clock was showed out of the convention by the downtown blizzard.

Taking first place in the personal column division was Jim Fitzgerald of the Lapeer County Press. Third place was won by Dave Kraft of the Vassar Pioneer-Times.

First place in the advertising idea division among Class C newspaper was the Gladstone Delta Reporter. The East Lansing Towne Courier and the Northville Record tied for second and the Fenton Independent took third.

Ad for House Pulls 'Em In

"I don't need that ad any more," Clyde Warner said over the telephone. "I rented my house at Norwood within two hours after the paper came out. Had six calls. Take 'er out."

If you have property to rent, or if there's something you'd like to buy or sell, why not use the Courier classified page? You'll be surprised at the prompt results.

E. Jordan Weighs Sex Education

EAST JORDAN -- Finding a common ground morality is the most difficult problem in setting up a sex education program. The PTA was told here Tuesday night, Don Fuller, psychologist and special education diagnostician for the Emmet Charlevoix Intermediate School District.

Fuller said that while he cannot guarantee these problems will decline with sex education, he had reason to believe they would.

"At any rate, the problems aren't declining by not teaching it either," he said.

Fuller stressed the importance of gaining the support of the community and such agencies as the ministerial associations, community groups and school organizations.

He said the subject must be approached carefully, slowly and with public education.

Fuller added that the Intermediate School Board is presently applying for funds from the federal government to finance study groups for public education.

Shy French Artist Bucks Abstract Tide

By Edith W. Gilbert

The following article by Mrs. Julius Gilbert is about Pierre Jerome, one of the artists whose work has been donated to the new Charlevoix Library by Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Cummings.

"Jerome? Pierre Jerome? Never heard of him!"

The voice drifts up along the wall to the French artist's still-life painting, a sensitive composition of deep pink plaid and fragile yellow daisies in a ceramic vase -- and the voice wonders why a painter of his high caliber is not better known among art lovers?

The answer lies both in the man and his time.

JEROME's early artistic career started with the usual story of poverty. As a young man he worked by night designing jewelry for the shops on the Rue de la Paix and studied art by day at the French Art in Paris. Hard work and perseverance resulted in his winning the Grand Prix de Rome in 1934.

After four happy, productive years at the Villa Medici in Rome, he returned to turbulent, troubled Paris in 1939. There was barely time to complete two state commissions before the war broke out and he quickly joined the French army. Discharged in July, 1940, he found his studio burnt along with most of his paintings. As so many of his luckless generation he faced starting a career all over again at the age of 35.

DURING the German occupation, oil paints and canvases were as difficult to secure as commissions. Nevertheless, during the next few years he did complete several prominent portrait commissions, including one of the then U.S. Ambassador to France.

In 1944, he won the coveted gold medal at the Salon des Artistes Francais and this award was followed by further commissions by the State.

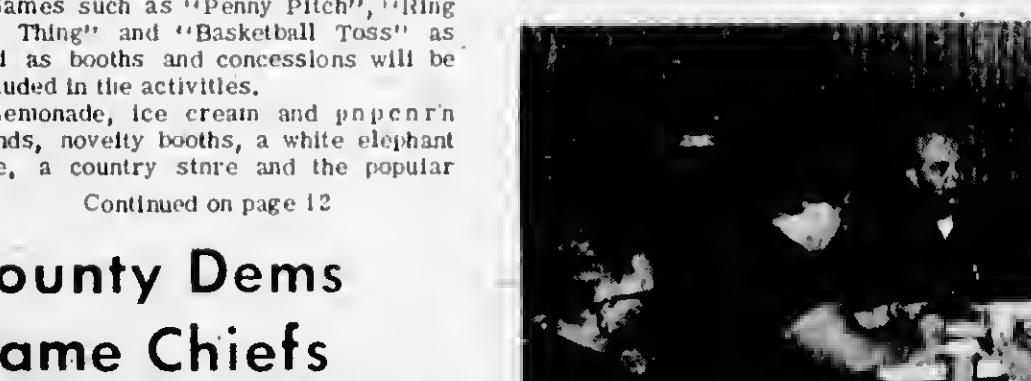

But it was not a propitious time for figurative art. After the liberation, the art pendulum veered (and veered back) to abstract art.

IN ORDER to support himself, his mother and wife, Jerome accepted a teaching position in 1946 at L'Ecole Polytechnique and the Academie Julian where he taught painting, drawing and composition. During this period he also exhibited paintings in various group shows around Paris.

In 1950, Jerome was given his first show in Canada followed by three one man shows in New York at the Galerie Homan - Vered in 1960, 1962, 1964.

The new officers installed were: Noble Grand, Mrs. George Whitley; Vice Grand, Mrs. Lawrence Swanson; Secretary, Mrs. Lawrence Swanson; Financial Secretary, Mrs. Edith Olinger; Treasurer, Mrs. Jerod Murdock; Warden, Mrs. Will Ager; Conductress, Mrs. Marie Halling; Noble Grand supporters, Mrs. Mae Stutzman; musician, Mrs. Edward Swanson; Chaplain, Mrs. Floyd Dens; inside guardian, Mrs. Flo Fox; outside guardian, Miss Lillis Flanders. Mrs. Lyla Johnson will hold the Past Noble Grand chair.

After the meeting a birthday cake was served honoring the birthday of Mrs. Ager and Mrs. Whitley.

Study Deer Report
Charlevoix -- Floyd Wagner said the Michigan Deer Hunters Association is weighing a report by Donald Mahoney of Escanaba who charges that Michigan's deer herd is being mis-managed.

Mahoney cites an article by George Shiras III in the August 1921 National Geographic Magazine which held that a "back law" protecting does and fawns is "first and foremost" in any game management program.

"When a buck is shot the number for the following year is lessened by only one, whereas he who kills a young doe destroys, by a single shot, potentially 151 bucks and 151 does. For it has been shown on a strictly scientific basis and by an accurate mathematical calculation, that a doe and her descendants in a period of 10 years, not counting out the natural casualties, will produce a total of 202 deer, and by the death of this one animal, mother the link is broken with the irreparable loss stated."

A Wonderful Ally

"On my honor I will do my best:
To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout law;
To help other people at all times;
To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight." — Boy Scout Oath.

A big order for a boy is a very worthy one. It would be difficult to estimate the value of the Boy Scout movement in building citizens. May the movement live forever.

There are times in many lives when super-human effort is needed to do one's duty to God and Country and to keep morally straight. Sometimes power that is beyond one's best is needed. If a Scout through regular attendance at church has learned how to contact that power—and the church does that for many—he has a strong ally that will help him keep his oath.

Corpsman Finds S. A. Like 'Geography Book'

(This is the fourth of a series of letters written by former East Jordan High School teacher Bill Gregory. He is now serving with the Peace Corps in Caracas, Venezuela.)

"LOUSY BREAKS" was the caption under this picture of Bill Gregory taken when he coached the Red Devil basketball team. When it became apparent the team was losing to Charlevoix, Gregory took his shoe off and pounded the floor.

and cool most of the time. The soles are valued at 26 to the dollar and like Ecuador, Peru is also after the tourist dollar.

We stayed in Lima only a short time as Machupicchu was our main objective. This is the site of the famous Inca ruins. (Next week Bill Gregory visits the Inca ruins.)

SATLEMEIER said doctor bill insurance is delayed one to three months if the application is not submitted before the beginning of the birthday month. If the application is not made within three months after the birthday month, the insurance may be delayed as much as two years.

The Social Security office is located in the old Pennsylvania Railroad station here. Hours are from 9 to 5 Monday through Thursday and from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. Friday.

James A. Lilak Ranks 'Expert' on M-14 Rifle

DARMSTADT, Ger. -- PFC. James A. Lilak, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Lilak Jr., 105 4th St., Route 1, East Jordan, fired expert with the M-14 rifle at Darmstadt, Germany, Jan. 13.

The expert rating is the highest mark a soldier can achieve in his rifle qualification test.

Pvt. Lilak is a carrier team chief for Company D of the 93rd Signal Battalion in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Kroen
Miss Patricia Penn
Wed Saturday Evening

Miss Patricia Penn exchanged wedding vows with Bruce Edward Kroen Saturday evening at the First Methodist Church in Charlevoix. Rev. Leon Winegrad officiated the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli and red carnations.

MISS PENN is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse W. Penn. The groom's parents were the late Mrs. and Mrs. John H. Kroen. Miss Denise McCormick of Pennington, Wis., played traditional organ music and Mrs. Lee Moorland sang "A Wedding Benediction." The bride wore a white gown with a long train and a single long-sleeved white rose.

GIVEN in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length satin gown with a white lace collar and a shoulder-length veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses arranged by her grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Penn of Sturgis.

The maid of honor, Miss Barbara Dohm, wore a floor-length gown of white tulle accented by a matching Dior bow headpiece. She carried a single long-sleeved white rose.

Bridesmaids were Miss Julie Ford of Grand Rapids, Miss Anita Santori of Crystal

Spiced Apple Loaf

Looks, Tastes Great

A freshly baked homemade coffee cake like this Spiced Apple Loaf is the nicest welcome for breakfast or for the coffee break later in the day.

With a crunchy cinnamon sugar crust, this taste tempting bubble loaf looks just as good as it tastes. The delicate pink marbled texture is highlighted by swirls of cinnamon and colorful pieces of spiced apple.

Difficult to make? Not at all. Just follow these directions.

SPICED APPLE BUBBLE LOAF
1 cup butter, softened
2 cups sugar
2 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup milk
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped apples
1 cup cinnamon
1 cup melted butter or margarine

Cut drained butter into rings into coarse pieces and set aside. Pour measured flour onto waxed paper. Sprinkle or crumble yeast into 2/3 cup warm water in large warm bowl. Stir until dissolved. Add warm milk, sugar, salt, margarine, eggs and three cups flour. Beat with mixer at low speed until smooth (about one minute). Then beat at medium speed two or three minutes until thick and elastic. Scrape sides of bowl occasionally.

STIR in spiced apple slices with wooden spoon. Then add remaining flour gradually. Use just enough to make a soft dough which leaves sides of bowl. Turn onto floured board and shape into a ball. Knead 5-10 minutes or until dough is smooth and no longer sticky. Cover with plastic wrap, then a towel. Let rest for 20 minutes. Punch down into two equal portions.

Combine 1 cup sugar and cinnamon. Divide and portion of dough into 24 equal pieces. Shape into balls and roll each in sugar mixture. Reserve remaining mixture for topping.

ARRANGE balls in 2 greased 9 1/2 x 5 1/2 x 2 3/4 inch bread pans. Correct pan size is important for best results. Cover pans loosely with plastic wrap.

Refrigerate two to 24 hours at a moderately cold setting. Uncover and let stand for 10 minutes, while pre-heating oven.

Brush surface of each loaf with melted butter and sprinkle with remaining sugar mixture before baking.

Bake at 375 for 35-40 minutes or until done. Bake on lower rack for best results. Remove from pans immediately and cool on racks.

Pabbages and Things

By Camie Walakay

Last Sunday started out normal enough. I dragged out of bed and headed for the bathroom to brush my teeth and wash my face (two hygiene habits pounded into me by the Girl Scouts).

Then I switched on the T.V. and ate my usual breakfast of fluff crackers and coke. Four hours later I was being wheeled into the x-ray room of Little Traverse Hospital convinced my leg was broken into about 30,000 pieces.

IT ALL BEGAN with my rather daring, and courageous attempt to return to skiing after three years.

I should have known when I left off the chair lift the first time up the hill, that I'd be in for an exciting afternoon. Being a rather conservative person, once up the lift I decided to try an easy trail down. Easy? It might have been for all those six-year-old kids whizzing past me. I didn't notice how easy it was because I was too busy doing trees.

ONCE I GOT stuck in some powder and it took me 15 minutes to get out, it's kind of like quicksand—the more you fight it the further down you go. In two hours I found myself at the bottom and ready to tackle something more difficult. I have this theory that I can make it to the bottom, the hill's too easy.

Tackling a bigger hill started off with a bang—I fell off the chair lift again. But with a little help and a lot of shouting, I soon found myself looking down the hill.

IT'S A GOOD thing my sunglasses were tucked up because my right might have turned to panic when I saw where I had to go.

The ski patrol guy told me "it's a good hill to learn on, but from what I saw, the only thing that could teach me was how to jump off cliffs."

By trying the mind-over-matter technique, I was soon off like a champagne cork. I was flying in the breeze, and skis crossing and crisscrossing.

I remembered hearing someone yell, "Put your weight on the downhill ski!"—I was looking off, but I couldn't be bothered with incidents.

Bodies, with both my skis heading straight down the hill, it was difficult to decide which one was downhill.

About 30 seconds later I found myself at the bottom.

"SKIDING SURE is easy," I told myself. "My foot can do it. All it takes is nerve." So back up I went again. This time I didn't look down at the hill before I started off.

I remember looking back at a little kid of 10 who I felt myself taking off. Flying through the air, I frantically tried to remember the correct way to fall. What a joke! The only way I fell was down.

My right leg wrapped backwards around my neck and the tip of my ski anchored in the snow, not to mention the pole was stabbing me in the chest, was rather painful. What made it worse was all these people pointing.

So I laid back and enjoyed the scenic view of the trees against the sky.

Society Installs

TRaverse City -- John Hughes, M.D., of Holland was installed as secretary of the Michigan Children's Aid Society in ceremonies here.

Other officers are Curtis Alward, president; Arthur Nienhaus, vice president; Jack E. Wally, M.D., treasurer; and Mrs. Jane Norton, recording secretary.

Ski Whiz!

by Grace Ann McDaniel

Keep your weight on the downhill ski Oh, that poor downhill ski. I remember when it all started. We came to Charlevoix and I noticed most women painted, knitted and said "I won't even mention brinks, playing." I've never been much of a rebel, so I joined the crowd.

MY PAINTING instructor turned coach gray when he saw what I was doing to a square, design" test. With the aid of our neighbors on both sides I managed to drop enough stitches to complete a sweater back. It looked like the model had already had a field day so I gave that up.

Skiing isn't so easy to quit. It becomes a monkey on your back as soon as you hand over a week's paycheck for skis, poles, boots, a car trip, rack, etc. There's definitely no turning back after the purchase of appropriate clothing. This turns out to be enough to clothe all of Europe.

We heard the rumor that the first lesson goes something like this, "Bend your knees, five dollars please." So the first time out we weaned the slope for someone who looked to us like a friendly pro. It seemed a happy face might also mean that our unsuspecting instructor would have a decent want to be in the snow. And patience it took just to get us to the rope tow, humor was the only requirement to see us to the top. Sometimes it's fun to see what's so funny about finding out nine

TRUE TO FORM, the Rayders continued their season-long winning streak Friday night, downing the Grayling squad 78 to 65 on the Grayling court.

The victory was the eighth straight win for the Rayders, against no losses. They stand at the top of the Northern Michigan Class 'C' Conference, followed by Gaylord with seven wins and one loss.

On his heels was Jack Bergman with 16 points on six fieldgoals and two freethrows, followed closely by Tom Webb with 15 on six and three.

The game marked Webb's first appearance on the floor in the country. He had been sidelined with an injury.

ROUNDING OUT the score sheet were Brad Carey, 14 points on six fieldgoals and two freethrows; Bernie Ward, eight points on three and two; Larry Martin, five points on two and one; and Allan Veeno, three points on freethrows.

Leading the scoring for Grayling was Nethers with 22 points, followed by Neal, 20; Dubois, 10; Slusser, six; Thompson, three; and Madsen and Bally, two each.

At the half the score was 46-30.

The Vikings rallied somewhat in the third period, scoring 21 points to Charlevoix's 14.

At the end of the game the score was 78-65.

The Lancers were in the final period of play 60-43 and walked away with a 87-59 win. Rich Russ was high scorer in the game with 11. Russ followed with 15 and Fred Taylor with 10.

The final quarter found the host Central Lake on Tuesday and Gaylord St. Mary's Friday night.

Jordan Loses Again
EAST JORDAN -- After leading the first quarter, East Jordan lost its eighth basketball game of the season Friday and remained in the basement.

Following the usual pattern of coming on strong and wearing down, the Red Devils lost the game to Harbor Springs 79-61.

East Jordan closed the first eight minutes holding the lead 15-14. However, Harbor Springs took the lead at the half 37-32 and stayed ahead the rest of the game.

The final quarter found Harbor Springs going in with a 18-point margin lead with 80-44. The final score found Harbor Springs the victors with 79-61.

East Jordan's high scorer for the first time was sophomore Ron Roberts coming up with 27. He was followed by Dave Reed with 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Gregory have returned from a two week visit with her brother and sister-in-law and family, Mr. and Mrs. Scott in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Your Letters Will Help

It is curious that the federal government which has taken such a deep interest in the pollution of the Great Lakes continues to allow one of her vessels to discharge raw sewage into Round Lake.

Last week Capt. Robert Waldron, Chief of Staff for the Ninth Coast Guard District, told the Courier that the government has no plans at present to equip the Coast Guard cutter Sundew with any kind of sewage treatment plant or holding tank.

He added that if any such plant or tank is developed for the Coast Guard's 180-footers, he is confident the Sundew will be one of the first equipped.

WE HAVE NO doubt that such would be the case, but in the meantime the 50-man crew aboard the Sundew continues to flush thousands of gallons of effluent into Charlevoix Harbor every day.

Pollution experts agree that it was the continual addition of such nutrients into Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix which caused the algae to bloom last summer, turning both bodies of water brilliant green. Growth of algae is one of the steps in the death of a lake, according to people to know about such things.

If providing the Sundew with an adequate sewage disposal system were a

HERE is what they used to call a "birdseye view" of Charlevoix, drawn in the late 1800's. Note schooners and tugs in Round Lake. You may be able to recognize several homes still standing, as well as the Methodist Church on State Street, the north side of Dixon Avenue was an Indian reserve.

by P.D. Campbell

The writer, being interested in compiling, as near as possible, a history of Bridge Street and surrounding places of business and the harbor of Charlevoix, is making this attempt by reading old Charlevoix histories and getting information from some of the older citizens that have spent most of their lives in this locality. A great deal of authentic information and dates have been taken from a volume entitled "The Travels of a Gentleman" printed by R. H. Page & Company of Chicago in 1880.

Blames Sundew for Pollution

25 January 1967

Dear Editor and People of Charlevoix:

I am stationed aboard the Coast Guard cutter Sundew and wish to comment on your article concerning the Coast Guard's contribution to Round Lake's pollution problem.

First of all, the local Soil Conservation District people were wrong when they suggested that the Sundew "might" be partly responsible. The Sundew is a major contributor and there can be no doubt about it. How can it be anything else when the raw sewage from an establishment of 50 persons is thrown directly into the lake daily?

son's and there was an alley way between Dodge's and the Barthelme House (formerly the Bridge Street House).

South of the hotel was a butcher shop run by Alcock and Jeffries and next door was the Chalmers Bros. saloon. This was in the north half of the Martha Avers building. Dave Hesser had a furniture store in the south half, and on the corner was Richards Bros. Saloon.

Down toward the Williams hardware and close to the lake (Round Lake) two brothers, John and Theodore Erickson, had a machine shop, and across the street from this was a cold storage run by a gambler old Civil War vet whose name now escapes me. On Capt. Collins.

About that time or a little later Leo Adams built a two-lane bowling alley between the cold storage and his saloon on the N.E. corner of Bridge and Clinton Streets.

I realize that this kind of detail would be of interest only to another whose memory may go back that far. But I set them down as a means of emphasizing how pleased I am with Page's list of your recollections.

Very Truly,

One of the most unusual legacies ever made was that of Conrad Canzen an old-time actor who died in 1945. Although Canzen died with just $11.85 in his pockets, he left a total of $26,000 for the sole purpose of seeing that actors would never have to look for work in run-down shoes. His bequest stipulated that any unemployed actor, by simple application to the Actors' Fund, could get two tickets a year for a one-way exchangeable shoe store in New York. The fund now pays for some 600 pairs of shoes a year.

Moms Net $620 in Dimes Drive

EAST JORDAN -- East Jordan mothers and their helpers collected over $620 last Thursday during the Mother's March of Dimes.

Children at the school also contributed almost $90 and sports fans attending basketball games helped in the march with $43.18.

The contributions are still coming in through canisters placed in business places in town.

Teenagers will donate this Friday by giving $50 to attend the dance at the center after the East Jordan-Charlevoix basketball game.

ONE SEES in Jerome's paintings the sensitive soul of a man, retiring, timid, sometimes unsure of himself, but never unsure of his powerful brush strokes. Those who know him will describe him as a man incapable of pushing himself into the "right" place at the "right" place. An impossible business man, yes, but an uncompromising artist in his work. Like his flowers, he blooms in the warm climate of recognition. He produces his best work when he has a goal and a deadline.

JEROME'S struggle in overcoming handicaps of poverty, war and disappointments and steadfastly continuing to paint his serene figures seated beside country fresh bouquets is an inspiration to all art lovers.

Today we find Jerome at the age of 62 at the height of his productive capacity, constantly experimenting, changing his palette, creating new visions. Through all the years he has stood resolute against the wave of abstraction (as surely will) to the figurative artist, Pierre Jerome, his figures and flowers will be there, waiting.

PTA Fair

"Cake Walk" will be featured.

A CHICKEN dinner served in the Elementary School cafeteria from 5 to 6:30 p.m. will open the event. No tickets will be sold at the door for the dinner, but reservations may be made to pick them up at the door by calling Mrs. Russell Lewis, Lt. 7-2425. Dinner tickets may also be bought from 11th and 12th grade students.

Mrs. Eugene Bergmann and Mrs. Paul Osterberg are fair co-chairmen. Mrs. Claude Pearsall is chairman of the dinner. The Kiwanis Club is in charge of the snack booths and the Lions Club is handling the advertising.

IN RECENT years, the PTA fair profits have helped finance these PTA projects in both the elementary and high schools:

- A complete kindergarten playground
- Dictionaries for home rooms in both schools
- Athletic trophy case
- Student council flag
- Partial blacktopping of Elementary School playground
- Money to Future Teachers Club
- Teat projector screen for the Elementary School
- Summer school scholarships in cheerleading, journalism and for interlochen.

These groups will attend lectures by professionals, study other schools where programs are in operation, review literature and write guidelines for the program.

HE SAID he hoped the program will get underway by July or August since it may take a year or more to complete. Fuller had a list of objectives that should be in the total program. Among the objectives are:

- Community support
- Trained teachers
- Consentors
- Teaching the subject in a positive way.
- Teaching boys and girls together, not in separate groups.
- Along with a factual, clinical approach, the subject should be approached on an abstract sociological level.
- Fuller added sex education should be an integral part of the total part of the total curriculum.

Jordan Ward Votes Feb. 20

EAST JORDAN-The first ward will hold a primary election Feb. 20 for aldermen.

Incumbent Lyle Peters, Howard Hosler and Ormond Winston have filed for aldermen and the two receiving the highest number of votes will run in the general city election April 3.

Poles at the city hall will be open for the first ward from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Ballots should be counted by 8:30 p.m.

Six Leave for Army

CHARLEVOIX--Six Charlevoix County men left for induction into the armed forces Jan. 31. They comprise the February draft call for the county, according to Mrs. Ronald Balch, draftboard secretary. They are: John H. McSweeney, Edward L. Holm and Robert R. Bergmann of Charlevoix; David A. Goike of Bay Shore; Stephen A. Bourgoin of Grand Rapids; and David C. Grutsch of East Jordan.

MRS. BALCH said the county will send two men for induction in March and three others will take pre-induction physical examinations. They will be selected at the Feb. 14 meeting of the Selective Service Board. No dates have been set for either induction or physicals.

Application blanks for college deferment tests are now available at the Draft Board office in the City Hall, Mrs. Balch said. She said the completed blanks must be mailed by Feb. 10.

The tests will be given at Traverse City March 11, March 31 and April 8. New hours also are announced for the Draft Board office. The office will open at 8 a.m. and close at noon. The office formerly was open until 2 p.m.

Mothers March Feb. 8

CHARLEVOIX--The March of Dimes will get underway next Wednesday with the Mother's March. Led by Mrs. Lita McKethan and Mrs. Thomas Carry, the march will continue through Feb. 11.

A March of Dimes buffet dinner at the high school cafeteria is also being planned. The dinner is Feb. 15 from 5 to 8 p.m. and tickets are $1.25 for adults and 75¢ for children. Mrs. Ted Wiedman and Mrs. Ed Vogler can be contacted for tickets.

OTHER ACTIVITIES include a blanket pitch at basketball games Feb. 7 and 17 and a coffee day.

Rev. Jack Harris is the March of Dimes chairman. Publicity is being handled by Mrs. Larry Warner. Dr. Robert Tollas and David Fowler are in charge of the blanket pitch. Glen Sider is in charge of the school contributions and Mrs. Robert Lieberman the coffee day.

Canisters were placed in stores by the Future Homemakers under the direction of Mrs. C. Omark and Mrs. Tom McDaniels is handling the Pin-a-Duck. Mrs. Edie Emmens handled the mail sent to the community and Mrs. Perry Smith and Mrs. Stella Rostenman are in charge of bowling contributions.

and David A. Goike of Bay Shore. They are expected to take their basic training either in Kentucky or Missouri. Missing from picture is Stephen A. Bourgoin who left from Grand Rapids. They make up the February draft call.

Women Plan Day of Prayer

CHARLEVOIX--Plans for the World Day of Prayer are being made by a committee of representatives from seven Charlevoix churches, according to Mrs. Dawson Way.

The world-wide activity is scheduled this year on Friday, Feb. 10, Mrs. Way said.

TENTATIVE plans call for a community service at 2 p.m. at the Assembly of God Church on East Upright Street. The Rev. Jack Harris of the Baptist Church will be speaker, she said.

Theme of the 1967 World Day of Prayer is: "Of His Kingdom there shall be no end." The event is sponsored by United Church Women.

Attending organizational meeting Jan. 31 at the Assembly of God parsonage were representatives of the Congregational, Baptist, Methodist, Community Reformed, Church of God, Episcopal and Assembly of God churches.

Some Tickets May Be Sold

CHARLEVOIX--High School Principal Ray Carr says a limited number of tickets for the Charlevoix - Gaylord basketball game may be available Thursday at the high school.

Bill Walker, principal of Gaylord High School, has promised to send 220 reserved seat tickets and 80 standing room tickets to Charlevoix for sale to students this week.

Carr said tickets will go on sale to students, parents of players and faculty members Wednesday.

If there are any tickets left they will be sold to the general public beginning at 8:30 a.m. at the High School office Thursday.

Father, Daughter Are Reunited After 38-Year Separation

CHARLEVOIX -- "Are you looking for a daughter?"

Those are the words -- spoken by Mrs. Kathleen Burlew of Anaheim, Calif., -- which reunited her with her father, Howard Griffin of Charlevoix, after a separation of 38 years.

The reunion took place at Traverse City airport Jan. 29 when Mrs. Burlew, 40, returned to northern Michigan for the first time since she left as a baby. She was supposed to have arrived four days earlier, but she was delayed by the century's worst snowstorm in Chicago.

WHEN GRIFFIN, now 62, and his first wife separated in 1929, Kathleen was taken by her mother to Virginia and later to California. Griffin, who was serving in the Navy, lost track of his daughter's whereabouts. Mrs. Burlew was never told much about her father. She wasn't even sure of her own last name. She knew only that she was born in East Jordan and that her given name was "Kathleen Jordan."

When her mother remarried, she used her step-father's surname.

WHEN HER mother died 20 years ago, Mrs. Burlew wrote to Michigan for a birth certificate. A few days later the Charlevoix County clerk's office notified her that her last name was "Griffin" and her father's first name was Howard. The family name actually is "Griffin" but it was misspelled on Kathleen's birth records.

Mrs. Burlew decided she would like to contact her father if he were still alive, but a private detective told her it was almost impossible to track him with the information available.

Through the years the father also wanted to get in touch with his daughter, but didn't know where to begin. Once, during World War II when he was serving in the South Pacific, he heard that Art Linkletter was tracing missing persons, and almost wrote, but he decided the effort would be futile.

THEN, IN 1961, a friend told Mrs. Burlew that he had known a Howard Griffin in the Navy, and was able to tell her the ship he served aboard and the year.

With this sketchy information, Kathleen wrote to the Navy Department where service records revealed that a Howard "Griffin" had retired from the Navy in 1953 and was living at 106 E. Lincoln St., Charlevoix.

Mrs. Burlew lost no time writing to ask if she were, by any chance, his daughter. Griffin answered by return mail, saying that he did, indeed, have a daughter born in East Jordan Jan. 28, 1927, and it was probably she.

THEY STARTED making plans for a reunion, but something always came up. In 1962, Griffin suffered a severe heart attack, and it began to look as though they might never be reunited. He recovered, but the years have a way of slipping away.

This winter, Griffin decided to offer his daughter a 40th birthday present -- an expensive paid trip back to Michigan.

"I'm going to become a grandmother in May," Mrs. Burlew explained. And my son is getting married in June. I decided I was ever going to make a trip to see dad this would be it."

SHE MADE her plans to fly back to be here for her birthday, without reckoning on Chicago's recent snowfall. When the plane landed in Chicago Jan. 26, O'Hare International Airport was getting ready to suspend operations for the duration. Griffin eluded the runway and was moving in or out.

Snowmobile Races Set This Weekend

CHARLEVOIX -- Snowmobile races will be held at the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 11 and 12, according to Ralph Hess, chairman.

Saturday's races will be under lights, with time trials beginning at 7 p.m. and races at 8 p.m.

Registrants can sign up at Jerry's Gulf Gas Station from 4:30 until 7 p.m. Thirty six trophies will be awarded Saturday.

Lights Burn for 'March'

CHARLEVOIX--Porch lights will burn throughout town tonight as Charlevoix mothers begin making door-to-door collections for the March of Dimes.

Headed by Mrs. Lita McKethan and Mrs. Thomas Carry, the Mothers' March will continue through Feb. 11.

Next Wednesday night, the annual March of Dimes buffet dinner will be held in the High School cafeteria. Mrs. Ted Wiedman and Mrs. Ed Vogler are in charge.

MRS. PERRY SMITH, chairman of the bowling division, reports net proceeds of $247.20 for the March of Dimes. Bowlers contributed $309, of which $61.80 was sent to Hillman to help finance the rollout.

Mrs. Smith was assisted in the drive by Bob Nowakowski, owner of the Capri motel.

The Rev. Jack Harris is March of Dimes chairman for the city.

Islanders Generous

ST. JAMES -- Residents of Beaver Island donated $225.21 to the March of Dimes. County Chairman Charles Robinson reports.

On a per capita basis, the island is head and shoulders above the rest of the county, Robinson says.

Drive chairman on the island was Mrs. Walter Wojan.

Mayor Cites Progress in Pollution, Planning

CHARLEVOIX -- Progress in the areas of pollution control and planning was reported to the Charlevoix City Council Monday night by Mayor William Fochtman.

Fochtman, who flew to Washington, D.C. last week in an effort to have Charlevoix's bid for federal planning money reconsidered, told the Council that:

-Officials of the Housing and Home Finance Agency have promised to re-evaluate Charlevoix's planning program and to come up with a firm answer within six weeks as to whether the area can bank on federal assistance.

-Adm. Willard Smith, Coast Guard Commandant, is deeply concerned over the discharge of raw sewage into Round Lake by the Coast Guard Cutter Samewick and has told his engineers to "get busy on the problem right away."

FOCHTMAN was accompanied on the trip to Washington by City Attorney John Michael, Ken Statler, chairman of the Regional Planning Commission, Clarence Rasmussen and Clyde Cunningham, supervisors of Charlevoix and Marlin townships, and Everett Thompson, a representative of the Grand Rapids planning firm Williams and Works.

The Housing and Home Finance Agency announced two weeks ago that the area's bid for federal planning funds had been denied.

FOCHTMAN said agency officials seemed impressed that the Charlevoix area is sufficiently interested in planning to send five representatives to Washington to have the bid reconsidered.

The group was told that the request was turned down simply because the per capita cost was too great.

However, the agency men seemed unaware that the area is rapidly changing

CHARLEVOIX--Charlevoix Boy Scouts received advancement pins and merit badges at the annual Kiwanis-sponsored Scout dinner Monday night at the High School.

Venison for the meal was supplied by Oleston Food Market and milk was donated by Maxbauer's Dairy.

Parents were called to the speakers' table to present awards to their sons.

JOINING the ranks of Tenderfoot Scouts were Walter Kroush, Richard Milligan, Scoutmaster Larry Pop and Marty Anders. They were announced by Scoutmaster Louis Edwards.

Scout Commissioner Don Anders presented 2nd Class pins to Paul Osterberg and Randy Gustafson.

FIRST CLASS pins were presented by Douglas Wilks. Receiving them were Gordon Skeel, Larry Sanford, David Gill, Kenneth Wilks and Jerry Lechman.

Merit badges were presented by David Arnold and Chuck Parson. David Gill received badges for rowing and swimming. Gordon Skeel for canoeing; Gerald Fochtman for mush and drafting; and Kenneth Wilks for cooking.

RAYMOND SHAW--the only Eagle Scout living in Charlevoix--presented the Star Scout award to Jerry Fochtman. The award is presented to Scouts for earning five merit badges.

John Winn, district Scout commissioner, presented a Life Scout award to Larry Anders. Ten merit badges are required for a Life Scout.

ARE YOU A SPONGER?

When you gaze at a beautiful church window, especially one with the image of Christ shining forth, does it mean anything in you other than a pretty assemblage of colored glass? Does the church and the window, which admits the sunlight, mean anything more than just another building with pretty windows?

As the autumn flag is more than a piece of colored cloth—a symbol of sacrifice made to secure liberty, so the Christian Church is a symbol of the greatest champion of human liberty, the advancement of the dignity and importance of the individual.

What would life in a community without churches be like? Did you ever stop to consider what your lot would be if that church, and the thousands of others that dot the land, were not in existence, or if the Master who founded the Church had not come to advance the cause of humanity and to save it from iniquity?

You surely will admit that you owe the lot that you and your family enjoy to the work of the Christian Church. If you admit that, then you owe it your support in both attendance and in a financial way. If you accept its benefits but do not support it, then you are a sponger. Attend and support your church! Don't be a sponger!

With the hope that it will, in some measure, foster and help sustain that which is good in family and community life, this feature is sponsored by the business firms and organizations whose names appear in the adjoining columns.

THE FIREBIRD, Pontiac Motor Division's new personal sports car, will be available in the convertible model with an optional 400 cubic-inch V-8 engine. The Firebird also may be purchased as a hardtop coupe. Other engines offered include the overhead camshaft six-cylinder standard and the 326 cubic-inch V-8.

Masons Ahead by 64 Points in Cribbage Meet

CHARLEVOIX—At the half-way mark, the Masons are leading the Oddfellows by 64 points in the annual inter-cribbage tournament.

The Masons forged ahead Feb. 2, winning by 184 points and wiping out the opposition's 120-point lead.

Masons F.A. Chamberlain and Erwin Betty took top honors for their team, each scoring 337 points.

JAN. 26, the Oddfellows won by 20 points, bringing their season's lead to 120 points. High Oddfellow was Alfred Bergmann with 934. High Mason was Ronald Geer with 943.

Pischner Takes Navy Physical

CHARLEVOIX—David Pischner, 18, left Charlevoix Feb. 6 for his pre-induction physical examination.

Pischner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Pischner, has enlisted in the Navy.

Pontiac Introduces Firebird Models

PONTIAC -- The addition of a new Pontiac sports car series—the Firebird—is announced by John Z. DeLoorean, a General Motors vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

Built to sports car proportions with a new approach to "long hood-short deck" styling, the Firebird will go on sale Feb. 23.

It will be available in two styles—a hardtop coupe and convertible.

THE FIREBIRD will offer a choice of five engines, including the Pontiac overhead camshaft six-cylinder engine as standard and up to the optional 400 cubic-inch V-8.

Standard equipment are bucket seats, three-speed manual transmission (with four-speed manual and two-speed and three-speed automatic optional), all-vinyl interior trims and the safety items previously announced on the 1967 Pontiacs.

"The personal sports car field is probably the most rapidly growing in the industry. With the introduction of the Firebird we hope to attract new car buyers who want to do something extra in styling as well as performance in this segment of the market," DeLoorean said.

BUILT ON A 108.1-inch wheelbase, the Firebird has an overall length of 188.8 inches, is 72.6 inches wide and 51.5 inches high.

The Firebird is named after a legendary Indian symbol which promised speed, power, beauty and youth. It was first used in 1954 on GM's dramatic gas-turbine-powered car, Firebird I.

THE PONTIAC identity is maintained with a wide peripheral front bumper and strong vertical center accent framing two deep grille openings.

Horizontally mounted dual headlamps are set in the outboard ends of the grille opening and chrome framed parking lamps are on the lower valance panel. Pontiac block lettering appears on the left grille face.

The side appearance includes a full width rocker moulding and six vertical louvers on the front of the rear quarter, rear of the door opening, and front of the rear fender in front of the wheel opening.

An engine designation emblem is on each side of the hood plateau.

FIREBIRD HEAD end treatment features a protective wrap-around bumper, wide lower style tail lamps with integral back-up lamps consisting of two long chrome edged slits on either side set in the painted rear end panel.

A Firebird emblem appears on the fuel filler door located at the center of the rear end panel and models with the 400 option will have 400 designation numerals on the right side of the deck lid.

Miss Sharon Russell Wed at St. Marys Church

St. Marys Catholic Church was the scene of the nuptial mass and double ring ceremony of Sharon Lee Russell and David D. Burzyk.

Rev. Father E. Francis DeMay officiated the rite Saturday afternoon before an altar decorated with red and white gladioli and white tulips.

MISS RUSSELL is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Russell of Charlevoix. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Burzyk of Saginaw.

Mrs. Frank Oleksy played traditional organ music and accompanied soloist Mrs. Frances Tolas who sang, "The Lord's Prayer," "O Lord, I am Not Worthy," and "Ave Maria."

GIVEN in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white chapel-style floor-length gown with an empire waist banded by a two inch strip of lace. The bodice featured a scoop neckline. Two rows of wide lace trimmed the hemline and the skirt flowed into a chapel train.

She wore a white mantilla for a headpiece and carried a bouquet of red and white sweethearts roses.

THE MAID of honor, Diann Phelps, wore a floor length sheath with a red velvet empire waist and a red velvet ribbon accented the empire style and trailed from a bow in the back.

Bridesmaids Shirley Stool and Helen Burzyk wore matching outfits. All attendants carried red velvet roses.

Thomas Rummel of Saginaw served as best man. Ushers were Dale Shipman of Grand Ledge and Gerald Courtz of Midland.

THE BRIDE's mother wore a two-piece pink brocade coat dress with rose pink accessories. She also wore an arrangement of white carnations with pink sweethearts roses. The groom's mother chose a royal blue-lace white outfit accented by navy accessories. Her corsage was of white and blue carnations.

A RECEPTION was held for the couple at St. Marys hall immediately following the ceremony. Assisting with the reception was Mrs. John Rann, Mrs. Ed Bradley, Mrs. Ronald Zednick, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Michael Hill, sister of the groom.

FOLLOWING the reception the couple left for a sking week at Traverse City and Grayling. The bride wore a two-piece blue checked wool suit and navy accessories for traveling.

The couple will live in Mt. Pleasant where they attend Central Michigan University. The bride is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and is now a senior majoring in elementary education. The groom is a senior in mechanical engineering and is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity.

ABOUT 25 persons attended the ceremony and reception. Guests came from Saginaw, Lansing, Grand Ledge, Mt. Pleasant, New Haven, Detroit, and Detroit.

The East Jordanians were among 65 racers from Detroit to Canada entering the contest.

Heading the list of prize winners was Jim Galtmore who walked off with a 30 inch first place trophy for placing first in the Australian pursuit. He also won a trophy for placing second in the lap race and a blue ribbon for finishing third in the time trials.

ALSO WINNING trophies were Mr. and Mrs. Ken Crawford, Mrs. Crawford took first in the powder puff race and her husband placed second in the drag race. Galtmore finished fourth in the drag race. Galtmore's 10 horsepower machine rapping in a modified B class will hit 50 m.p.h. in final conditions.

The cat-in-the-hat sturgeon seems headed for extinction. Its last stronghold are the Capitan and Black Seas, but even there fishermen have fished a heavy toll. Once the fish was common in the Thames, Seine, and Elbe rivers and Chesapeake Bay estuaries. In the Hudson River, sturgeon were known as "Albanian beef."

Cabbages and Things

Last week a woman with a pointed nose and white sneakers stopped me at a hardware store and asked me if I was Carole-what's-her-name. (I really ate Ritz crackers and drank coke for breakfast. "Really," I told her, "I really do.")

She asked me if I was afraid of dying of malnutrition or something. I said dying of malnutrition would be better than dying from eating breakfast—which explains exactly my sentiment about breakfast.

I HATE breakfast. To me there's nothing worse than getting up out of a nice warm bed and sitting down to a plate of cold cereal, eggs and buttery bacon. Waffles loaded with gooey, sweet syrup sting me in the face don't help much either.

I've always hated breakfast. When I was younger my mom had to hold my nose to make me open my mouth and I'd choke the food down—and I was 16.

Eating breakfast left-taking out the garbage or cleaning the bathroom sink—you don't have to do it, but it's an American not to. Therefore I compromise and drink a coke (to clear out the cobwebs) and eat a piece of toast or some crackers (weight me down).

I'VE TRIED everything from Coco Crisples to Fruit Loops but nothing helps. I just don't like breakfast.

The closest I ever came to eating breakfast was when my college roommate and I decided to go on diet. We remembered reading somewhere that your body doesn't burn up many calories after 7 p.m. So we decided to switch our meals around.

Our breakfast was our dinner, lunch was lunch and dinner was a cup of coffee. It lasted about two days. Did you ever get up at 5 a.m.?

Mrs. BURLINGAME's honors is a citation by the American Horticultural Congress and an honor membership in the American Scandinavian Foundation.

In 1961 the University of Michigan and Michigan State University with their respective presidents and boards held a special convention to honor her. This was the first time in history the two schools joined together to honor a member of the alumni.

Mrs. BURLINGAME graduated from the University of Michigan and attended the school of horticulture at Michigan State University. She is a member of the People-to-People program and uses her speaking engagements abroad to become better acquainted with persons of other nations.

For many years, the horticulturalist has written a garden column in the Birmingham Evening Post entitled "Down to Earth." Her articles frequently appear in national publications and she is a member of the world's costliest spice comes from the heart of the saffron crocus. It takes the orange stigmas of about 75,000 blooms to make one pound of saffron, used to flavor rice and curry.

Look, Ma, No Snow

by Grace Ann McDaniels

These mid-winter thaws are murder. Last week I caught a glimpse of our lawn after most of the snow had disappeared.

On the plus side the kids found five missing mittens and I was happy to report that the grass cutters were seen somewhere near our fallen fence.

I would have been ahead if I'd stayed inside but I had to go out to retrieve our long lost garbage can cover. (It could be a coincidence but I believe it was roughly the same time the wind carried it away that we had local reports of UFO's.)

WHILE I was out I was reminded of fall chores we somehow failed to get done. I rolled up the garden hose and stuck it in the basement. Well, actually I rolled up half of it. Frozen plastic hose has a tendency to break in two and there's a grant job to be done this summer.

The uncovered rose bushes stuck out their blue tongues at me and I heard the gladioli bulbs give their last gasp.

IT WAS A WELL rounded week weather-wise because we also happened to be in Lansing for a big snow job. We were fortunate to be in a warm hotel with windows facing some of the action.

News anchors and we were made aware of the circus going on outside. The air crazy were bundling up as though for a trek through the Arctic. One such type was seen stumbling through the pool.

Dollars With Sense

Saving food dollars makes sense to most women. Stretching the dollar takes a little planning before shopping and thought when shopping.

Make "check, compare and choose" your watchwords and come away from the supermarket with dollars instead of change.

Plan what you need before you shop. Make a list and use it.

Take time at the market. Ask "What is the cost per serving?" "Would another food cost less?"

Peace Corpsman Pants in Rarified Air of Andes

(This is the fifth of a series of letters written by former East Jordan High School teacher Bill Gregory. He is now serving with the Peace Corps in Venezuela.)

FROM LIMA we flew to Cuzco which was the jumping off place for the Inca ruins. The mountains were mighty and we were so high we were given auxiliary oxygen.

Cuzco is a pretty city with ten cathedrals for their 20,000 population. We did have some trouble breathing the rarified air there.

We boarded in the local markets for Alpaca rugs. They're beautiful—sorry the larger ones were out of range. We left for the ruins Monday morning at 11 a.m. The trip was not too bad. The weather was much great scenery it's difficult to keep properly oriented.

Machupicchu is also called the Lost City of the Incas. There are numerous legends concerning the history of this city which was discovered in 1911 by American Hiram Bingham. The most enduring is that when the Incas went out to fight pizarro they and their womenfolk here. Since the Incas lost the fight, the women were left alone and died out.

THE RUINS are fairly impressive and the location is awesome. They are perched on the peak of a mountain with a commanding view of the surrounding territory.

Four Owe Dues

CHARLEVOIX — Only four members have not paid their 1967 dues, the VFW Auxiliary was told at the regular business meeting Thursday night. State officers are seeking 100 percent paid-up membership by April 1.

Americanism chairman Mrs. Kenneth Staley said she contacted High School Band Director Clarence Omark on improving students' respect for the flag at basketball games. She said great improvement was shown at the next two games.

Notes were sent to Omark and coach Don Carey thanking them for their cooperation. Two packages were sent to C.R. in Vietnam.

A social meeting is scheduled for Feb. 16 at the home of Mrs. Helen Plum.

Cheboygan Will Host VFW Posts

CHEBOYGAN — District 13 of the VFW and Auxiliary, including Charlevoix, will hold their annual dinner meeting here Sunday, Feb. 12 at the Mackinac Straits home on St. 21.

A chicken dinner will be served at noon, with meetings starting at 1 p.m. District 13 auxiliaries will elect a new district commander.

NMU Receives Voc. Ed. Grant

PETOSKEY — North Central Michigan College has received a grant of $20,432 from the Vocational Education Department for occupational education equipment according to an announcement by A.D. Shankland, President of the college.

Shankland said that this grant was in support of a total equipment expenditure of $40,864.

This grant is to support three areas of occupational education, with $6,806 going to equip the existing nursing laboratory for conducting the registered nursing program, $7,779 to equip a new technical drafting laboratory for a program to start next fall with the completion of the new classroom building and $5,857 for equipping a new business education department consisting of three laboratories equipped with electronic teaching equipment also to be in the new classroom building to be completed this summer.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bingham left Friday and will spend the weekend in Detroit with their daughter, Mable, and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Bingham, and son. They expect to spend about a month with Mrs. Bingham's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fitch Tooley at Englewood, Fla.

40-Mile Snowcat Trek Mapped at E. Jordan

EAST JORDAN -- A 40-mile snowcat safari and race with 45 trophies for the winner are heading the events scheduled for the snowmobile rally in East Jordan Feb. 18 and 19.

Sponsored by the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce, the events are open to everyone with snowmobiles.

The safari will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday in front of the old E.J. depot. A chartered route through the Jordan Valley and along Pine River will be followed with visits to Dead Man's and Landslide.

AT NOON the group will be taken on a guided tour of the fish hatchery and will eat a lunch of chili and coffee.

When the safari returns to East Jordan, a bonfire will be built and coffee and donuts will be served.

CHAMBER president Tom Galmore said the trip should take around seven hours. He said sleighs attached to snowmobiles are welcome although he pointed out the trip may be tiresome.

Races will begin at noon Sunday for all classes. Both lap and trail races are planned. When the safari returns to East Jordan, a bonfire will be built and coffee and donuts will be served.

EVERYTHING'S free and everyone's welcome to attend the two-day rally.

Charlevoix, E. Jordan Share Ski Meet Honors

HARBOR SPRINGS -- Charlevoix and East Jordan skiers shared the bulk of individual honors while Charlevoix's girls' team took first in the ski meet Wednesday at Nub's Nod Harbor Springs was also in on the competition with Charlevoix's team placing first.

Taking first in the girls' slalom was East Jordan's Tina Malpass with 30.8 seconds for two runs. She was followed by Charlevoix's Julie Hill with 34.1 and Alice Anne with 36.1.

First in the girls' giant slalom was Julie Hill timed at 31.5 seconds followed by Tina Malpass and Charlevoix's Georgia Lusk tying with 32.8.

RHONDA KERR celebrated her third birthday Feb. 2. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kerr of Charlevoix. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kerr of Charlevoix and Mrs. Geoffrey McDonald of East Jordan.

To Assist Indians in Job Training

CHARLEVOIX -- An employment assistance specialist for the Bureau of Indian Affairs will be at the Community Action Program office in the City Hall Feb. 14 to discuss vocational training opportunities.

Miss Yvonne Walker, Neighborhood Youth Corps secretary, says any person of Indian descent interested in vocational training should contact her at the CAI office any time between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. prior to the 14th.

Not do have to be high school graduates to apply, she said.

The employment specialist is being sent by the regional office of the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Ashland, Wis.

Miss Walker recently was asked to represent the bureau in Charlevoix County and has attended an indoctrination seminar for the Indian Study Commission.

The daughter of Levi Walker of 208 W. Hurst St., Marquette, is a graduate of Charlevoix High School.

Pvt. Williamson Takes Course

FT. RUCKER, Ala. -- Pvt. Edwin R. Williamson, 20, son of Mrs. William R. Williamson, Route 2, East Jordan, completed an aircraft maintenance course at the Army Aviation School, Ft. Rucker, Ala., Feb. 2.

During the five-week course, he was trained in the repair and maintenance of Army helicopters and airplanes. He also learned the fundamentals of Army airfield operations.

His father, Robert G. Williamson, lives at 128 Glen-dale, Battle Creek, Mich.

The Forest Service is the only major United States government branch that regularly harvests a profit. In 1965, timber sales, grazing permits, and other fees yielded $149 million.

Shakespearians Lead the Way

We believe it is commendable that the Shakespeare Club has joined the Courier in a drive to solicit support throughout the county in the battle against pollution of Lake Charlevoix and her tributaries.

The problem is certainly a serious one, since it affects to a large extent the desirability of Charlevoix County as a place to live.

VISITORS from other areas who have learned to live with polluted water as a matter of course are apt to think that Charlevoixians are crying wolf over the pollution problem. Many have never seen water so clear and sparkling as we enjoy most of the year.

Yet the danger signs are there, and, as the Shakespeare Club has pointed out, now is the time to take action to prevent the situation from becoming worse.

THANKS to their efforts, and those of interested persons throughout the county, the awful lesson of Lake Erie need never be repeated here.

Our Mothers March Tonight

Tonight the mothers of Charlevoix will ring doorbells on behalf of the March of Dimes.

Since the days of the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the annual march has become a regular part of community life in America.

Contributions originally went toward the battle against the dread polio myelitis, which claimed so many lives and withered so many limbs annually across the country.

SINCE THE discovery of anti-polio vaccines, the March of Dimes has concentrated its efforts against birth defects -- 80 percent of which can be treated, and often completely corrected, through early diagnosis and treatment.

Your contribution to the March of Dimes finances more than 75 birth defect centers across the nation, bringing the best of care to those who need it most.

When a neighborhood mother calls at your house tonight, have your porch light on -- and give generously.

6 February 1967

Editor:
Charlevoix Courier,
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Sir:

I write in response to your editorial of 1 February 1967, "I first want to state both personally and professionally, that pollution of our local, state, and national water resources must be abated and controlled. Further, I agree with your editorial policy of keeping this important matter before your readers as usual your policy provides a significant public service to this community."

As to your editorial, I feel that I must positively support the Coast Guard, recent editorial comment and other articles make it appear that the Coast Guard is doing nothing about pollution, and that the SUNDUEW is almost single-handedly polluting Round Lake. This is far from the truth.

The Coast Guard, over the last several years, has been actively engaged in the development of a comprehensive waste treatment system for boats and ships. This has been in cooperation with other Federal and state agencies. Treatment systems are incorporated in the new construction of Coast Guard ships and boats. Presently several systems are in service operation for evaluation for use in present vessels, including SUNDUEW. Treatment systems have been, or are being, installed in our 110 foot Cutters on the Great Lakes. I can affirmatively state that we are not dragging for further, there is no breakdown in communication between the various levels of Coast Guard administration in this matter. Knowledgeable Coast Guard administrators are well aware of our efforts to provide waste treatment systems on our vessels, that reasonable progress is being made, and that installation of these systems over the next several years will be a matter of fact.

Further, I must take exception to your statement of our "flushing thousands of gallons of effluent into Charlevoix Harbor every day." It is in fact no more than a few hundred gallons of water, containing an equivalent of about 6.6 pounds of dry waste solids. This amounts to about one pound of waste solids per billion gallons of water.

In Round Lake, sewage from the city, even after being processed through the plant, disposes dry waste solids into Round Lake at a rate exceeding that of the SUNDUEW by over thirty times. If other sources of pollution are considered, it becomes apparent that the SUNDUEW is not a MAJOR contributor -- it is not even a significant one. It is apparent that your editorial was developed for the most part, on a "name without request" letter to the editor. You can see from the above that the writer of that letter is sadly uninformed. It is my sincere hope, that in the future, your editorials will be based on more authoritative sources.

Clockwise Angels on the Expressway

By Bob Clock

I've never put much stock in guardian angels, but after last weekend I'm not so sure.

We were among the unlucky ones who picked last weekend out of all the weekends of the year to make a trip "down below." Our destination was the Michigan Press Association convention in Lansing, with a stop in Plymouth. Thursday night to leave Kathleen with my sister. We also were going to pick up my niece, Mary, as a baby sitter for three-month-old Jennifer during the gala MPA banquets at the Kellogg Center. Jenny still isn't old enough to be away from mama too long.

WHEN WE LEFT Charlevoix Thursday afternoon the roads were dry and the weather clear. There wasn't even much snow on the ground, most of it having melted in the big January thaw a few days earlier.

Passing Boyne Mountain we noticed that the skiing looked pretty punk. When we stopped at Schlang's restaurant south of Gaylord, the proprietor was far from being his usual jovial self.

"No snow this weekend," he said dismally, looking out across his barren parking area to the mouse-colored banks of old snow which lined U.S. 27.

"Doesn't even smell like snow," I observed between mouthfuls of roast beef sandwich. (It did smell an awful lot like roast beef, but that was beside the point.)

"It's the cold front moving in," Mr. Schlang continued. "Pushing right down through the state from Canada. They're getting a little snow down below, but this cold front is going to keep it from coming north."

ALTHOUGH I had been listening to the radio all day, this was the first mention I had heard that the weather might be a little less than perfect for the trip. "Snow?" I asked.

"Oh, just a little around Lansing," he said. "We're not going to get any up here. And the skiers won't like that."

After Mrs. Schlang took Jennifer into the kitchen to show the girls, we piled back into the VW bus for the long trek south.

I was almost sorry I did. I wasn't sure I could get started again in such heavy snow.

"This is nothing," laughed the gas station attendant. "Radio just said they've have nine inches at Flint. Glad I'm not heading south."

I picked up some candy bars at the station "just in case" and we returned to U.S. 23 South. Our emergency supply of candy bars was gone by the time we reached the entrance ramp.

AFTER SAGINAW the going really got rough. Sometimes there was only one lane open. Sometimes none at all. The number of cars and trucks stopped along side the road was alarming, and most of the entrance and exit ramps were blocked by stranded vehicles. Occasionally you would see a snow plow, but they were all heading north.

When we passed Flint the outside world was a huge, white swirl through which we moved at speeds ranging from 20 to 25 mph.

THE RADIO all this while was urging motorists to stay home and above all, keep off the expressways. There wasn't a word about the fact that south of U.S. 16 the snow had turned to rain and the roads were virtually impassable even for the biggest semi-trucks and steel carriers. We continued on.

We left the highway at Ann Arbor Road and plowed through drifts that were up to our headlights at times, but the little VW kept slogging onward. She finally came to a stop and wouldn't go an inch further -- 100 feet from my brother-in-law's house in Plymouth. It was 2 a.m. We had to wade through drifts hip-deep to get to the front porch, but we had made it.

OF COURSE, we never got to Lansing. "Forget it!" the friendly voice at AAA replied when we checked with him the next day. Instead, we joined the government's big snow shoveling party and made a lot of wonderful friends. Naturally, we're going to write.

As for my guardian angel, I wish I knew for sure. I'd like to send him a box of candy next Christmas.

History of Bridge Street and Charlevoix Harbor

Chapter II

by P.D. Campbell

June 21 (no year given), but it was probably about 1870, the tug Minnie Warren was in the harbor. The tug was built by the help of lighters attached to the tug. The first tug to guide boats in the harbor was a lantern hung on the end of the wood dock by local fishermen. The harbor improvement committee was formed by Amos Fox, Esq., Rodington, J.S. Dixon, John Masson, Wm. Laster, E.H. Green, and Richard Cooper. These were the pioneers who started on the improvement of the harbor.

As time went on the tug dock gradually washed away, its demand having declined because the steamers were not burning wood and the harbor was going to be so that they could get up into Round Lake. When the production of the dock was gone, the month of the river started to fill up with sand. Then it was necessary for the citizens to clear it out with horse and oxen drawn scrapers.

One winter, nine woodcribs were constructed and put out on the levee and loaded with stone so that they would sink in place when the ice melted. This was the beginning of the north pier. A storm in the spring took out two of the cribs and washed them up on the beach. They were towed back into position and loaded more heavily with stone to hold against the storm. Parts of these cribs are now under the present north pier.

A CONTRACT was entered into with Calkins and Stickney to dredge the channel, probably using a steam-driven dipper dredge. A cut was made into Round Lake 55 feet wide so that small vessels and steamers could go up into the lake. This work including the dredging and the building of the north pier, was done by the first large steamer, the Fountain City, went up into Round Lake and navigated the region had started. It must have been a great victory for the pioneers who could see the possibilities for the region. Pine Lake was upon to traffic and the great timber resources of the surrounding country could be taken and shipped by water as there were no railroads at that time.

IN 1887 The Tug Commodore Nut was hauled over the entrance bar of the river and placed in deeper water about where the present water tower is located. In July the tug worked her way up through the upper channel into Pine Lake.

THE FOUNTAIN CITY house, our first hotel, was built on the north side of the channel sometime in the 70's or 80's. It was taken over by Richard Cooper. The hotel had quite a history as it was the only hotel gathering place in town for years. It was the headquarters for dances and all the activities and meetings that you can imagine took place in those days. Each room had an individual stove that burned two-foot wood and each guest had to get his own wood in order to keep warm.

EVEN IN THE VERY first days of the town there had to be a bridge over Pine River, or towns people would have to wade across, which many did. The first bridge was made by driving small piles with a nail by hand. The walk was four feet above the water and 20 inches wide. How could the fat people ever pass each other? A few planks were left removable so that they could be taken up to let canoes

FIRST IRON BRIDGE was also a swing type, operated by hand. This one was bought by East Jordan when it was dismantled in 1901 and served for many years as the Jordan River Bridge. Fountain City House may be seen through cables.

DRAWBRIDGE OVER RIVER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

THE FIRST DRAWBRIDGE was built in 1901, with a steam power plant built into house above the traffic lanes. The coal was hauled up in canvas bags. This bridge served until the present steel and concrete structure was built in 1947.

HERE IS THE first bridge across Pine River Channel over which you could drive a team of horses. It replaced a wooden footbridge only 20 inches wide.

LATER A hand-operated swing bridge was installed. On the river bank is the Argo Milling Co., the city's first hotel, stands on higher ground where the Weathervane Terrace is located today.

After waiting all day at the air terminal, Mrs. Burlew decided to try to make it the rest of the way to Charlevoix by Greyhound bus. However, the bus from Chicago was snowbound at Hammond, Ind., and she was forced to spend the night at the bus terminal there.

Friday morning she and other stranded passengers were told that the station bus terminal was out of fuel and the terminal building was about to run out of fuel, as were several buses which had been standing by with engines idling all night.

Then a snow plow sent to clear the way for a fuel truck became bogged down in drifts.

Eventually one of the buses with Mrs. Burlew aboard managed to reach a gas station for more fuel and received permission from the state to use the Skyway Drive to return to the Chicago bus terminal.

There the building was jammed with waiting passengers and Mrs. Burlew and others were allowed to spend the night on the bus.

Saturday she returned by limousine to O'Hare airport where she spent another night before being placed aboard a flight for Grand Rapids and points north, arriving in Traverse City at 11:45 Sunday night -- four days after she had reached Chicago from the west.

It was quite an experience for Mrs. Burlew, who remembers seeing snow only once before -- on a vacation trip to Colorado in 1959.

WHILE SHE WAS IN Charlevoix, Griffin took his daughter to see the boarded up house where she was born and to visit an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Conklin of Big Rapids, whom she had never seen.

There were plenty of family pictures to look over, and Mrs. Burlew had instructions from home to return with an up-to-date family tree. Mrs. Burlew has three children: Clark, 20; Mrs. Linda Stevenson, 18; and Molly, 15. Her husband, Paul, is production manager for Collins Radio Co. in Anaheim.

BEFORE RETURNING home last Thursday, Mrs. Burlew fell in love with Charlevoix, particularly the older homes.

"They have so much personality, so much history," she said, adding that most of the homes in her area of California are suburban "tract" homes. "They all look alike," she complained.

She hopes to come back to Michigan again, when she can spare time from her gift shop, the Nak Nak Nook, located at the corner of Euclid and Katella in Anaheim. She says the shop specializes in "wild stuff" and unusual gifts.

Ellsworth Defeats Millage

ELLSWORTH -- Ellsworth voters turned down the millage proposal Monday by a vote 123 to 99.

The school board said it would now have to wait until mid-March for the state equalization figures to come out. If the area is valued higher than now, the school could possibly operate without a millage increase. If the area stays the same in valuation, the board will consider another millage vote.

THE MILLAGE turn down will slow down teacher contract negotiations the board said since they can't promise a certain salary. However, Art Drenth and Doug Way were appointed to negotiate.

Board president Henry Hilt appointed Ray Wallack, Walter Chellis, Jerrill Drenth to study the present school system and building.

Russ said he wants the committee to survey and evaluate the system and to estimate the costs of improvement recommendations.

MAURICE TAYLOR who appeared at the meeting said he thought the school should consider building. Board member Marvin Elzinga cautioned against this saying if the school should follow the state trend of consolidation in the future, the community would be left with an empty building. High school principal Paul Bliss said the total enrollment is now 352 and the school has lost 29 students since September.

A bid for an international school to be delivered in July or August Store. The bus will cost $8,100.

In other action the board decided to advertise for a full time janitor.

to discuss what plans were filed to equip ships of the Sundew's size with sewage holding tanks. They said the project was about two years off.

The "Charlevoix delegation pointed out that the Sundew lives up adjacent to the city sewage plant and suggested the possibility of a connecting sewer line.

The admiral said he was concerned over the disposal of so much solid waste in Round Lake and told his engineers to "get busy on it right away."

FOCHTMAN said he also talked to Coast Guard people about the possibility of deeding over Coast Guard property on Pine River Channel near Lake Michigan to the Michigan Conservation Department. The department has been negotiating for the acquisition of the National Fish Hatchery immediately adjacent to the Coast Guard property, and would like to acquire both sites.

DURING THE business session, the Council agreed to ask for bids on 36 emergency water lights in the downtown section. Aldermen also:

Asked Jim Taylor to get more information from Deano Davenport on a plan to use Central Michigan University students in the city's recreation program. The students would receive on-the-job credit for the work.

Prayer Day

CHARLEVOIX -- The annual World Day of Prayer will be marked in Charlevoix with services at the Assembly of God Church, 303 E. Myrtle St., on Friday, Feb. 10 at 1:30 p.m. The Rev. Jack Harris of the Baptist Church will speak on the theme, "Of His Kingdom There Shall Be No End."

Cold Wave

CHARLEVOIX -- Northwestern Michigan was in the grip of a sub-zero cold wave Monday and Tuesday.

The temperature in Charlevoix reached -10 below Monday morning and -12 below Tuesday morning.

Inland at Boyne City and East Jordan, readings of -20 and colder were reported.

New Library to Wear Scandinavian Decor

CHARLEVOIX -- A county-wide campaign to complete and furnish Charlevoix's new library has now reached the $11,000 mark, according to Mrs. Julius Gilbert, campaign chairman.

All furnishings, colors and materials for the interior of the building, selected by the architect, Jack Begrow of Begrow and Brown, feature Scandinavian modern decor. A surprising open, airy effect has been achieved, particularly on the lower level by a wide rear garden exposure.

THE LIBRARY study and reading rooms are furnished with oiled oak desks and tables. Chairs are upholstered with naugahyde in three warm tones of antique gold, bronze green and marigold.

The library office doubles as the librarians' conference room. An abundance of plants between bookshelves and the reading room affords for an excellent view across both adult and junior sections. The junior section is designed with junior scale furnishings.

NEWSPAPER and magazine display cases are of walnut veneer and bookcases are made of birch stained to match the walnut finish.

The front entrance of the library features a warm white travertine tile floor while the rest of the rooms are carpeted with an all wool, green and aqua pin stripe carpeting which is conducive to a quiet atmosphere.

White lace drape draperies will be drawn at night to eliminate the empty, black glass void of wide picture windows.

All walls are painted off-white to accent paintings, sculpture and ceramic pictures. Ceilings are constructed of laminated dark brown timbers alternating with white textured tile.

THREE YOUTH rooms, located down one broad flight of stairs, feature gunstock plywood paneling, laid white acoustic tile ceilings and natural brick piers. All doors are accented by a sunny forsythia gold color, while the floor is white brick stone vinyl asbestos tile.

The special lighting effect, says Begrow, was achieved by a combination of cove valance and overhead fluorescent lighting.

Area Schools Close Friday

On Friday, Feb. 10 all public schools in the Charlevoix-Elliott Intermediate School District will be closed to allow teachers to attend a one-day Teachers' Institute at the Junior High School in Petoskey.

The day's program has been developed around the theme Education: International Awareness.

Five Survive Deadly Fumes

IRONTON -- Five persons were overcome by carbon monoxide fumes early Tuesday morning in their home at Ironton when the hot water heater leaked up.

The victims were Ralph Scott, 26, his wife Eleanor, 21, and their two children, Steve, 4, and Wendy, 2.

A baby sitter, Sue Miller, also was overcome.

Three Eye Vacancy at East Jordan

EAST JORDAN -- Voters in the first ward will elect two candidates for alderman Monday, Feb. 20 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., at the city hall.

The two elected will run for alderman in the general election in April.

Candidates in the primary include incumbent Lyle Peters, Howard Hosler and Ormond Winston. All three are natives of the area.

Three Eye Vacancy at East Jordan

PETERS, owner of the West Side Laundromat, has served on the council for three terms and is currently mayor pro-tem. He is also on the county's street, sewer and police committees.

Peters and his wife live at 203 S. Lake and have three boys, Donald, East Jordan elementary principal, Gerald, a graduate of Michigan State University now in the Navy, and Keith, a senior at East Jordan High School.

Three Eye Vacancy at East Jordan

HOSLER, after serving 22 years in the Air Force in various parts of the world, moved to Sterling township where he was inspector of water lines and mains. There he attended council meetings for a year. He has also worked with road construction teams for two years. He is currently employed at the East Jordan Iron Works.

Hosler lives with his wife and four children, Mary, 14, Margaret, 10, Ed, 5, and Nancy, 3, at 235 S. Lake.

He is a member of the American Legion.

Three Eye Vacancy at East Jordan

Winston served a term on the council in the 1940's and is currently employed summers at Michigan Fruit Cannery in Ellsworth.

A member of the Masons, he lives with his wife and three children, Nancy, Jerry and Cindy at 924 Water.

FOCHTMAN called the Sundew pollution problem to the attention of Coast Guard Commandant Adm. William Smith on a visit to Washington two weeks ago. (Jan. 25 the Coast Guard learned that the Sundew has no plans to equip ships of the Sundew's size with sewage facilities. At present, effluent from the Sundew is emptied directly into Round Lake.)

The lawmakers told Fochtman that the ship will use the holding tank even when she is under way, the effluent being pumped

Three Eye Vacancy at East Jordan

CHARLEVOIX -- The Coast Guard will install a sewage holding tank and pumps aboard the Cutter Sundew, probably by next August, Mayor William Fochtman has been told by Sen. Robert Griffin and Congressman Phil Ruppe.

Three Eye Vacancy at East Jordan

IN A PRESS statement, Ruppe said: "During my campaign, I pledged to work against water pollution. I was very much disturbed that a federally owned ship was dumping thousands of gallons of sewage into Charlevoix Harbor. Earlier this month I met with Coast Guard Commandant Adm. William Smith and discussed the problem of sewage disposal from ships of the Sundew's size with sewage facilities. At present, effluent from the Sundew is emptied directly into Round Lake.)

CHARLEVOIX -- Bids on four new school buses were opened and referred to the Transportation Committee by the Charlevoix School Board Monday night.

Low bidder was Erber Auto Co., which submitted a bid of $3,054 per chassis, or $11,719.68 for four chassis. Other bids were received by Charlevoix Oil Co., Brown Motors and the Boyne City Coop.

Low bidder for bodies was the McFadden Co., which makes Wayne buses. Their bid was $4,343 per body, or $17,372 for four.

A motion picture on school bus construction was shown by a representative of the Blue Bird Co.

THE BOARD also discussed acquiring more property on the north side as a new school site. Superintendent Rex Milligan said attorneys for Lloyd Arnold & Sons are checking on an option for the Reynolds property owned by the district.

The property adjoins a large tract already under option along Division Street. The board also is considering buying the Piek property in the area and the owners have asked the board to set a price. The one-acre parcel would give the district about 27 acres for the new school. Daverman Associates of Petoskey was hired as architect.

Three Eye Vacancy at East Jordan

BECAUSE of a reduction in state support of milk prices, the board agreed to raise the price of "special" milk, that is, milk not included in the school lunch, from 2 cents a half pint to 3 cents. The new price goes into effect next week.

MILLIGAN discussed plans for closing in the open courtyard at the high school for additional classroom and office space. The board decided to postpone any action until it is determined exactly what school

Four Run for Seat in First Ward

CHARLEVOIX -- Voters will go to the polls here Monday, Feb. 20, to elect one of their choice of candidates for city office.

A contest had developed in only one ward -- the First -- where four candidates have filed for the alderman's chair being vacated by Bob Jeff. They are Mrs. J.F. Webb, James Richey, Thomas G. Hanna and Claire Martin.

Four Run for Seat in First Ward

MRS. WEBB, 49, is a Republican and lives at 713 E. Dixon Ave. She is the widow of James F. Webb who was killed in the crash of an Air Force plane in California five years ago.

She was graduated by Charlevoix High School and attended Michigan State University. She presently is a substitute teacher in the Charlevoix system. She has one son, Tom, 16.

Mrs. Webb is a member of the Shakers Study Club, the Garden Club, the Congregational Church and the Order of the Eastern Star.

As a newcomer to politics, Mrs. Webb says she is running "because I am interested in civic affairs."

Four Run for Seat in First Ward

JAMES RICHEY, 37, is a Republican and lives at 805 Dixon Ave. He and his wife, Dorothy, have three children, Meghan, 9, Matthew, 7, and Andrew, 6.

A purchasing and cost coordinator for Freedom Aircraft Engineering Co., the Richeys have lived in Charlevoix 23 years.

Richey attended New Hampton Prep in New Hampshire, Bard College in New York and George Washington University in Washington, D.C., studying economics and business administration.

He served as co-chairman of the membership drive of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce last year and as industrial chairman for the United Way drive. He is secretary of the Great Lakes Region of the Forest Products Research Society.

He is a member of Christ Episcopal Church and belongs to two committees of the Western Michigan Diocese. He also is a member of the board of directors of the Charlevoix Assn. for Retarded Children.

From 1946 until 1950 he served as a hospital corpsman in the Navy.

Regarding his candidacy, Richey says: "In nearly three years as a resident of Charlevoix I have become aware of both the resources and problems of the community. I want to offer my services and experience to the city which I plan to make my permanent home."

"The entire north Michigan area is standing on the threshold of economic expansion and population explosion. Charlevoix can continue to lead the area with a municipal government dedicated to progress. Pollution of our lakes and the related problems connected with the growth of our city will require the City Council to make long-range plans which will have a definite effect on the future of Charlevoix."

"We must look five, ten, even 50 years into the future and try to plan for an orderly growth and still preserve Charlevoix the Beautiful."

Four Run for Seat in First Ward

THOMAS G. HANNA, 33, is a Republican and lives at 707 E. Dixon Ave. He and his wife, Ann, have two children, Timothy, 8, and Christopher, 7.

Death Claims Mrs. Glados

CHARLEVOIX -- Funeral was held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Tuesday for Mrs. George Glados, 80, whose name was synonymous with good things to eat in Charlevoix for more than 50 years.

The former proprietor of the Sugar Bowl restaurant died Feb. 12 at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey on the sixth anniversary of her husband's death. The Rev. Raymond McElaine of Boyne City officiated at the service. Interment was at Brookside Cemetery.

"LOOK AT THOSE FOOTPRINTS!"

"My how that boy grows! He can almost wear his father's shoes. And just look where those foot prints are leading—to the lake! He is making me prematurely gray. Everytime I turn my back he is playing around the water." Well Mother, don't worry too much about the boy swimming in the lake. Boys will go swimming, so just see that he is taught to swim properly and quit worrying. It is well to be concerned, however, about which way his foot steps are pointed in life—and a good way to get them going in the proper direction is to teach him the habit of attending church regularly.

Attend the church of your choice regularly and take the children with you!

With the hope that it will, in some measure, foster and help sustain that which is good in family and community life, this feature is sponsored by the business firms and organizations whose names appear in the adjoining columns.

Red Rayders Bow to Gaylord Squad

CHARLEVOIX'S Allen Veenstra and unidentified Gaylord player both seen to be vying for the same basket.

CHARLEVOIX--A tense Charlevoix squad lost its first game of the season Friday night, bowing to the Gaylord Blue Devils 51 to 44.

The game, played at Charlevoix, was a close contest. Charlevoix led to second place in the Northern Michigan Class C Conference. The Rayders had a chance last night (Thursday) of tying Gaylord for the first slot when they met the Pelston Hornets on their home court. Results were not known at press time.

The Rayders started true to form Friday, scoring only six points to Gaylord's 14 in the first quarter. They rallied somewhat in the second period, outscoring Gaylord 14 to eight for a halftime tally of 22 to 20.

But Charlevoix's offensive never really got off the ground. Too many basket attempts were missed, too many blind

Seal Campaign Nets $2,293 in County

CHARLEVOIX --- Christmas Seal Campaign contributions in Charlevoix County have reached $2,293 reports the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. This is an increase over last year's total of $2,875 reported at the same time.

J. Irvin Nichols, executive director of MTRDA, said late contributions are expected to help the Christmas Seal Campaign reach its goal of $1,500,000 which will give Michigan an increase of approximately $75,000 over last year's total campaign contributions.

PERHAPS Charlevoix has been too complacent in the matter, merely assuming that the ship will be based here once negotiations are completed for transfer of the federal fish hatchery property to the state.

Of course, there are many advantages in locating such a research vessel at Charlevoix.

--We already have hatchery facilities,

ready and waiting to be put to use. This would hold down construction costs to a minimum, easing the strain on Michigan's already tight budget.

--We are within easy commuting distance of the state's big hatchery at Oden where the Coho salmon are hatched. Undoubtedly there would be considerable liaison between the two units.

--We are closer to State Conservation offices in Gaylord and Lansing than in Manistique, without the bridge toll.

--We have adequate docking facilities.

--We have an ice-free harbor, with the Sundew and at least two other Coast Guard vessels standing by in emergencies.

--We have two commercial fishery operations stationed here permanently, not just on a "time to time" basis.

--We are as centrally located as any port on northern Lake Michigan. The only port more centrally located is St. James on Beaver Island.

CHARLEVOIX not only will welcome the new craft to our waters, but we will be happy to have the fish research team and their families join our community.

We trust our Chamber of Commerce and our City Fathers have made the Conservation Department sufficiently aware of these advantages.

THE MILL, manufactured White Rose and Iron Duke flour and bought and sold grains of all kinds. The Schoon, Lonnie A. Burton used to bring grain in by the shipload, landing in the channel beside the mill. Men wheeled the grain into the mill by hand. A horse pulled a small block (and tackle) attached to a large wooden bucket brought it up the mill. After the death of Dr. Swinton, Harry Craig, who was married to Ione Swinton, took charge and ran it for 30 years.

THE FIRST building next to the river is not known, but Dr. Levi Lewis built the Lewis Grand Opera House right next to the river. The opera house was built on the site of the present building. The river was made of close-driven pilings capped with timbers and backed up with old logs from the mill. It is not out of the question that the opera house started replacing this structure with concrete piers.

THE FIRST floor of the opera house was divided into two story spaces. The south half was occupied at first by Alex Rosenblatt who later went into business with his dry-goods store in Petoskey. Later on there was a bowling alley in this space. The north half was occupied by Messers-Saloon from which wafted a strong odor of beef and tobacco when the wind was from the west to bring the air out into the street.

The room was later made into a Nickelodeon theater where they had silent motion pictures for five cents. There was always piano music with the pictures and a girl by the name of Little Cohen was the musician for years. The theater was owned by Stoddard and Wallace. Later on Mr. Salen Musallam bought the building and made the upper floor into the Hotel Alhambra with rooms only. He was an Egyptian and always wore a fez. He turned the theater into an oriental rug store and sold Chinese jade and other curios. When the upper floor was the opera house it was the finest in the north. Many a stock company and vaudeville (troupe) came there to perform. One time the Episcopal Church put on Gilbert and Sullivan's opera "Pirates" and it was a great success. A lot of us boys were in the show as sailors. It was a real success here that the thought it was time to put it on in East Jordan, so they hired the steamer Beaver River transport the company up there. It was a flop. When

ONE TIME Mrs. J. S. Baker, owner of the beach hotel talked of putting up some store buildings and a theater on that location. In the early days there was a small shack at the end of the bridge where the bridge tender stayed. Then just west of that was the Argo Milling Co. The mill was built by Ivarn Riffenburg and was under the supervision of Prof. Enos and John Burns. The mill was first called the Charlevoix Roller Mill. It was a four story frame and lumber, iron-clad building. Dr. Swinton bought into the mill with his father, Andrew Swinton, who came here from the Copper Country where he was employed in the copper mines as a boss of the lumbering for the mines. After the death of Dr. Swinton, Harry Craig, who was married to Ione Swinton, took charge and ran it for 30 years.

In the early days there was a small shack at the end of the bridge where the bridge tender stayed. Then just west of that was the Argo Milling Co. The mill was built by Ivarn Riffenburg and was under the supervision of Prof. Enos and John Burns. The mill was first called the Charlevoix Roller Mill. It was a four story frame and lumber, iron-clad building. Dr. Swinton bought into the mill with his father, Andrew Swinton, who came here from the Copper Country where he was employed in the copper mines as a boss of the lumbering for the mines. After the death of Dr. Swinton, Harry Craig, who was married to Ione Swinton, took charge and ran it for 30 years.

THE FIRST building next to the river is not known, but Dr. Levi Lewis built the Lewis Grand Opera House right next to the river. The opera house was built on the site of the present building. The river was made of close-driven pilings capped with timbers and backed up with old logs from the mill. It is not out of the question that the opera house started replacing this structure with concrete piers.

THE FIRST floor of the opera house was divided into two story spaces. The south half was occupied at first by Alex Rosenblatt who later went into business with his dry-goods store in Petoskey. Later on there was a bowling alley in this space. The north half was occupied by Messers-Saloon from which wafted a strong odor of beef and tobacco when the wind was from the west to bring the air out into the street.

The room was later made into a Nickelodeon theater where they had silent motion pictures for five cents. There was always piano music with the pictures and a girl by the name of Little Cohen was the musician for years. The theater was owned by Stoddard and Wallace. Later on Mr. Salen Musallam bought the building and made the upper floor into the Hotel Alhambra with rooms only. He was an Egyptian and always wore a fez. He turned the theater into an oriental rug store and sold Chinese jade and other curios. When the upper floor was the opera house it was the finest in the north. Many a stock company and vaudeville (troupe) came there to perform. One time the Episcopal Church put on Gilbert and Sullivan's opera "Pirates" and it was a great success. A lot of us boys were in the show as sailors. It was a real success here that the thought it was time to put it on in East Jordan, so they hired the steamer Beaver River transport the company up there. It was a flop. When

Manistique Eyes Fish Ship, Too

Apparently Charlevoix isn't the only northern Lake Michigan community seeking to be the home port of the Conservation Department's new fish research vessel.

The Manistique Pioneer-Tribune revealed Feb. 9 that the Top O'Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce is launching an all-out drive to have the 60-foot conservation ship stationed at Manistique.

The Conservation Department says only that its new research facility, now under construction at Escanaba, will be based "somewhere on northern Lake Michigan."

David Kelly, president of the Top O'Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce, believes Manistique is the best choice because of its central location, its ice-free harbor and the large number of commercial fishermen who make their headquarters in Manistique "from time to time."

PERHAPS Charlevoix has been too complacent in the matter, merely assuming that the ship will be based here once negotiations are completed for transfer of the federal fish hatchery property to the state.

Of course, there are many advantages in locating such a research vessel at Charlevoix.

--We already have hatchery facilities,

ready and waiting to be put to use. This would hold down construction costs to a minimum, easing the strain on Michigan's already tight budget.

--We are within easy commuting distance of the state's big hatchery at Oden where the Coho salmon are hatched. Undoubtedly there would be considerable liaison between the two units.

--We are closer to State Conservation offices in Gaylord and Lansing than in Manistique, without the bridge toll.

--We have adequate docking facilities.

--We have an ice-free harbor, with the Sundew and at least two other Coast Guard vessels standing by in emergencies.

--We have two commercial fishery operations stationed here permanently, not just on a "time to time" basis.

--We are as centrally located as any port on northern Lake Michigan. The only port more centrally located is St. James on Beaver Island.

CHARLEVOIX not only will welcome the new craft to our waters, but we will be happy to have the fish research team and their families join our community.

We trust our Chamber of Commerce and our City Fathers have made the Conservation Department sufficiently aware of these advantages.

THE MILL, manufactured White Rose and Iron Duke flour and bought and sold grains of all kinds. The Schoon, Lonnie A. Burton used to bring grain in by the shipload, landing in the channel beside the mill. Men wheeled the grain into the mill by hand. A horse pulled a small block (and tackle) attached to a large wooden bucket brought it up the mill. We Welcome Inquiries From Modest Employees

If you thought Pontiac was coming out with just another sports car, you don't know Pontiac!

Pontiac announces not one, two, three or four, but five magnificent new Firebirds for every kind of driving.

Now you can choose from five new Firebirds with the same advanced Pontiac styling, but with five entirely different driving personalities. And they all come with supple expanded vinyl interiors, wood grain styled dash, exclusive space-saver collapsible spare, bucket seats and wide-oval tires.

Firebird 400. Coiled under those dual scoops is a 400 cubic inch V-8 that struts off 325 hp. It's connected to a floor mounted heavy-duty three speed. This could be called the ultimate in grand touring. After this, there isn't any more.

Firebird HO. HO stands for High Output. As a split second behind the wheel will attest to. The Firebird HO boasts a 285-hp V-8 with a four-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts and sport striping. Standard stick is a column mounted three-speed. Naturally, all Firebird options are available.

Firebird 326. Is there room for a family in a sports car? There is now. The excitement of a sports car with the practicality of a 326 cubic inch V-8 that delivers 250 hp on regular gas. Standard suspension is an all-synchro three-speed, but you can order an automatic.

Firebird Sprint. Now you don't have to go to Europe for a sophisticated road machine. This is the 215-hp version of our eager Overhead Cam Six. It's mounted on a special suspension that practically welds it to the road. (Any road!) With a floor-mounted all-synchro 3-speed.

Firebird. This is our economy Firebird—with the same exciting options and interiors as the more exotic ones. It's Overhead Cam Six. It squeezes 165 hp from regular for inexpensive fun driving. See them all at your Pontiac dealer.

The Magnificent Five are here!

THE HOLY BIBLE WAS HER TEXT

The daily life of the Pioneer Woman was a full and busy one. Danger was ever present—and a matter of providing food and clothing, while carving a new home out of the wilderness, was a stupendous problem.

The pioneer woman, however, had time for training her children and the Holy Bible was her text. It was through her influence that a church soon followed the building of a new settlement.

Although faced with tasks each and every day that would swamp the modern woman she had time to go to church and she took her family with her.

She bore and trained sons and daughters who produced a mighty nation. If she could and did find time to take her children to church, it is doubly important that the parents of today do so, that their children may learn to maintain and preserve that heritage gained at such great odds.

Fourth Graders Get Ice Cream for Ticket Sales

EAST JORDAN -- Mr. Smith's fourth grade East Jordan class was treated to ice cream and cookies Friday afternoon as a reward for selling the most tickets to the old timers-faculty game Wednesday night.

Tom Krake sold the most for the boys ($18.75) and Cheryl Vallance was first for the girls ($10). Both children were given a dollar prize money.

Although the faculty lost 89-71, the teachers thought it was a close game and are challenging the old timers to another game later this month.

Jordan Collects $1,000 in Drive

EAST JORDAN -- Over $1,000 has been collected for the March of Dimes, reports Mrs. Richard Hamerski, city March of Dimes chairman.

Although the final figures aren't in yet for the pancake supper, it's reported the Rotary grossed $200 for the March.

Tenagers contributing at the D-2 Den dance Friday, Feb. 3, gave $43 to the march.

EAST JORDAN mothers and their helpers collected over $620 in the Mother's March Jan. 26 and school children gave almost $90 to the charity.

Almost $42 was collected at basketball games.

A few merchant's canisters have yet to be counted. However, the ones coming in have pushed the 1967 March total over $1,000.

75 Turn Out for Snow Safari

EAST JORDAN -- Over 75 snowmobiles turned out for the Chamber of Commerce's snowmobile safari Saturday. An estimated 125 persons followed the route through the Jordan Valley stopping at the fish hatchery for a guided tour and lunch at noon.

The races on Sunday attracted 50 racers and 46 trophies were given out. Racers came from as far as Lansing to participate.

Life's a Bowl of Leather, Food, Fish and Fun

GEORGE WELLS cuts out one of his designs for a leather purse. His articles take anywhere from 10 hours to three days to finish.

Did you ever reach in the refrigerator crisper and pull out a hunk of leather instead of lettuce?

Probably not unless you're a leather craftsman.

George Wells, a new resident living in fronton backhand toiled leather for 18 years and says the crisper is the best place to store leather before tooling it.

WELLS, a new East Jordan Iron Works foundry superintendent, said he first became interested in the craft when he was laid up for a year in Oak Knoll Naval Hospital. He was suffering from wounds when a bomb exploded near him.

He was serving with John Kennedy in the same PT Squadron when the incident occurred.

After being transferred to the California naval hospital, Wells learned the craft from a Gray Lady.

"WHEN YOU'RE lying on your stomach for a year in the hospital, you get kind of bored," he explained.

Wells let the craft slide for five years while farming and doing foundry work in Albion.

"Then I discovered I had time on my hands and so I picked it up again," he said.

SINCE THEN he has turned out over 2,000 hand tooled leather articles of every size, shape and kind. They range from wallets and key cases to bow quivers and even shoes.

His $1,500 collection of tools include a knife with a ribbed blade and a specially designed Mason insignia.

Displaying his case of knives and stamps he said, "I need all of these different tools to create the effect I'm after."

WELLS also pointed out the difference between handcraft and machine-made leather. He said he charges anywhere from $5 to $30 for his articles depending on the cost of materials and the time involved.

While taking private orders now, he hopes someday to open his own shop.

ALONG WITH working at the foundry and tooling leather Wells is also an avid fisherman and an excellent cook.

"I love cooking and I'm always coming up with something. I don't use a cookbook because it's more fun not to even though it can be dangerous at times," he laughed.

Wells explained that he was a "cook of sorts" for the PT Squadron and has been dabbling with it ever since.

He said he had time for all of his activities because, "I make time and it's fun. And that's what life's all about—having fun."

The earth's magnetic field protects the human race from cosmic rays. These rays have greater energy than other known forms of radiation. Some scientists fear that the magnetic field is weakening and may actually collapse in perhaps 2,000 years. Periodic collapses in the past might explain the disappearance of certain animal species and the appearance of others, since cosmic rays can create new genes as well as destroy existing ones.

Cabbages... and Things

By Carole Walekay

I've been putting off writing this particular column for weeks hoping my ostentatiousness would recede somewhat. But it's no use. I just have to bring out my trumpet and say a few words about my new car.

It's not that I didn't like my old '50 Chevy. Not at all. The "green dot" was as faithful as a dog. It took me everywhere through rain, snow or hail with never a complaint.

When I saw the new owner drive it away, I felt like I had to shoot my favorite horse or something.

Every now and then I get this little pang and wonder how the old jet is doing. However, I remind myself that it has a good home with plenty of food and a roof over its head. And at least it's still alive.

I HAD a friend in school who's car died one day. Right in the middle of Michigan.

WHEN he finishes the decoration, Wells does the piece and then takes it up. He spends anywhere from 10 hours on a key case to three days for a large purse.

Wells charges anywhere from $5 to $30 for his articles depending on the cost of materials and the time involved.

Displaying his case of knives and stamps he said, "I need all of these different tools to create the effect I'm after."

Fem-Levity Found-One Pen Pal

by Grace Ann McDaniel

I just finished reading an article entitled "I'm scared to death of my sewing machine". Now here's a woman I can identify with, I'm dying to strike up a pen pal relationship with her so we can share our fears.

One of my greatest fears is getting wrapped up on my wedding day. It was tough to write a thank you for "the gorgeous pressure cooker" and I'm not even sure I did. If I'd had enough foresight I could have mentioned how it would be just the right size for mixing the dog food.

I HAVE a great lady friend who keeps voting the merits of the pressure cooker. When she told about tender cooking I began to add up the extra hours per week I could spend at the neighbors and over a cup of coffee. I asked about its dangers and she explained about the safety plug that lets loose under too much pressure. I lost interest however when she mentioned how many times she's blown her plug. "It's no problem really, I just run the mop across the ceiling."

Another little item I'm afraid of is electricity. I realize if you understand something well enough it ceases to be fearful but where do I begin? I'd rather sit in the dark than open the door to the circuit breaker. From the day I tried to pry an English muffin from the toaster with a live fork, Reddi Kilowatt and I have been mortal enemies.

I'LL NEVER forget the time adventurous son stuck a hairpin into an outlet. I ran around with my loose ends showing wondering whether to knock him loose with a block of wood or change into my rubber slud above.

The day I decided to fix the television I went about it with utmost caution. I let the electric bill slide behind the refrigerator and waited for them to shut off our power. Even at that when I pried the backoff and saw "danger high voltage" branded all over everything I went to pieces.

The sewing machine lady might be interested to know my letters to her are being penned from the closet. In here the only things I need worry about are an act of God and the bomb.

Recipe Exchange

The first recipe exchange dish is from leather craftsman George Wells.

MACARONI AND HAMBURGER

CASSEROLE

1/2 lb. elbow macaroni
1 cup chopped green pepper
4-6 slices bacon
8 oz. can of tomatoes
1 medium sized onion, diced
1 lb. hamburger
1 cup grated sharp cheese

Boil macaroni for five minutes and drain. Brown green pepper, bacon, tomatoes and onion in frying pan. Brown hamburger separately. Add macaroni and mix. Bake in casserole alternately in baking dish.

Bake in moderate oven for 5 to 10 minutes. Remove from oven and sprinkle cheese on top. Bake again for about 35 minutes at 400.

(If you have any recipes you wish to share send them to the Courier.)

A one-armed right-handed pitcher, Hugh Daly, won 74 games and lost 86 between 1882-87. He pitched a 1-0 no-hitter for Cleveland against Philadelphia in 1883.

America is finer than its headlines

You can get deathly sick at heart, reading any issue of any newspaper — mob violence if the mob doesn't happen to like something; rape, stabblings, murders; cowards screaming that they won't fight for their country; courts pampering criminals; teen-age animals.

As a nation, as a community, we should be desperately ashamed. But let's not lose sight of some of the things we can still be proud of, too:—

Church and Sunday School attendance is at an all-time high.

Nurses' aides and Red Cross workers doing menial work, with no pay — when they could be having a good time.

The finest fighting men in the world, proud to wear their U.S. uniforms, proud to represent us well, around the globe.

Individuals and business contributing more to charity and education than ever before and more per capita than any other nation dreams of.

Millions of mothers doing the unglamorous job of running a home economically and raising their children to be decent citizens.

Millions of men working long hours at not very interesting jobs but doing them the best they know how, and cutting down on lunches, perhaps, to save money to pay Junior's way to college — and not demonstrating for "rights" or something "free".

And these same Americans hoping their politicians will wake up to the fact these are the true Americans who want what's best for their country, not what will get the most votes come November.

Yes, the screaming headlines are sickening, but the silence which is America going about its business quietly — that's pretty wonderful.

Hospital Chief Attends Meet

CHARLEVOIX --- Miss Anne Baumgartner, administrator of Charlevoix Hospital, attended the 10th Congress on Administration in Chicago, Feb. 9 to 11.

The conference was one of the largest hospital administrative meetings in the United States.

Miss Baumgartner was among 1,400 hospital officials from the United States and Canada taking part in the Congress.

The annual three-day management meeting was sponsored by the American College of Hospital Administrators.

Leading figures in the fields of business, government, education, and communication discussed the latest developments in the world of administration.

Marie Loder Attends Show

CHARLEVOIX --- Mrs. Marie Loder, operator of the Wal-Mart Coffee Shop at Oleeson's Shopping Plaza, has returned to Charlevoix from the annual North American Beauty and Fashion show in Detroit Feb. 12 to 14.

Mrs. Loder, who was accompanied by her husband, Wally, attend all of the hair styling and treatment classes offered at the show.

The Loders stayed at the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel.

TENDER, LOVING care has paid off for Mrs. Harry Gebeau of W. Lincoln Avenue in Charlevoix. An amaryllis she planted shortly before Christmas recently brought forth four giant, deep red blossoms. "I've always wanted to have a flowering amaryllis," she says happily.

East Jordan's most recent scholarship winner was Mna Fisher who was awarded a $2,600 grant in 1965 to attend Lake Forest College in Illinois. She is currently enrolled in their independent study program.

On the Olympic ski jump at Lake Placid, Ford passes a rugged test of strength and durability. A regular-production 1967 Ford plunges down a 45-degree slope... soars 53 feet through the air... lands hard... and rides away still quiet, still strong. Strong enough, in fact, to take the same jump again and again. What's the difference between this car and the Ford you buy? Only a skid plate was added for driver protection. And you don't need that... unless you're planning to take some ski jumps of your own.

Timber Wolves Sing Woes to Wilderness

The timber wolf doesn't howl—it sings. Wildlife researchers report that "howl-songs" produce regularly spaced overtones, like those sounded by human vocal cords and musical instruments.

At intervals, there are chummy duets, melodious arias, and rambling choruses. A mass chorus of hair-raising splendor highlights a wilderness performance.

TWO BIOLOGISTS described the impact of a memorable timber wolf concert on Isle Royale, Michigan. "For us," Durward L. Allen and L. David Mech wrote in National Geographic, "it was a thrilling fulfillment of the wilderness setting—the grand opera of primitive nature."

Such concerts in the United States are rare. Traps, bullets, and poisons have indiscriminately slaughtered the timber wolf (Canis lupus).

Professional hunters once thrived on bounties paid by counties and states for the animal's pelt, ears, or tail.

IN NORTH AMERICA, the first wolf bounty was posted only 10 years after the Pilgrims landed. After pioneers opened the West, both the Government and settlers waged all-out war against wolves and coyotes. As late as 1915, a Colorado stock grower's association paid $7,000 to a trapper for 140 dead wolves.

Wolves are among the most intelligent of the carnivores. At least one member of the family is always on guard to warn of danger. Wolves often risk their lives to protect one another.

Without hesitation, four wolves took on four grizzlies which threatened their pups. Through blood and sweat, forest rangers looked on in amazement as the wolves repeatedly flung themselves on the grizzlies, until the badly slashed bears abandoned the field.

On the growl, a wolf pack exercises close teamwork. Before the hunt, animals rush together, touch noses, and wag tails in what appears to be a form of communication. Upon reaching their prey, they seem to take prearranged positions before the attack.

FEW FAMILIES are more devoted. A wolf usually makes for life and is a loyal parent and provider. In spring, litters of six to twelve are born in dens among rocks, or in hillside burrows.

Death Claims Ex-Islander, James Pooler

ROYAL OAK — Funeral for James S. Pooler, 63, a former Beaver Islander, was held Feb. 21 from St. Mary's Church here with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Mr. Pooler, a Detroit Free Press columnist for many years, died Feb. 19 at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

A NATIVE of Sheboygan, Wis., Mr. Pooler grew up in Lake Park around Michigan while his father was skipper of a fishing tug.

One of the places he called home was St. James on Beaver Island where he lived as a boy. Many of his columns dealt with his life on the island and island lore.

His "Day Walling," a story of his early days on the island, was an award for radio scripts.

IN 1923 he joined the Free Press where he worked until his death. In 1927 he shared in a Pulitzer Prize for his part in covering the American Legion convention and parade in Detroit.

One of his last pieces dealt with the annual migration of domesticated turkeys on Beaver Island to the south end of the island during the mating season.

SURVIVING are his widow, Marie, a son, Patrick J.; three daughters, Mrs. Jerome T. Tamm, Mrs. Peter Greverath and Mrs. Gerald Sparbeck, seven grandchildren; and his mother, Mrs. Siranée Pooler.

Safety Gets Hand From Law Violator

ELLISWORTH — Levi Donaldson, better known as Mr. Safety, has proved again that safety consciousness pays off.

A short time ago Traverse City resident traveling through Ellsworth unknowingly committed a traffic violation involving a school bus.

Donaldson, an Ellsworth Community School bus driver, wrote down the driver's license number and notified the violator by mail. The violator contacted Donaldson and admitted the risk he had taken.

THE DRIVER turned out to be John H. Dingman, owner of the Dingman Advertising Agency in Traverse City.

He praised Donaldson for his constant safety efforts and the excellent safety record of his bus drivers.

Dingman also commended Ellsworth on being known as a community providing the largest safety program north of Lansing.

A few weeks later, Ellsworth received a traffic safety billboard from Dingman in honor of their program and its chairman, Levi Donaldson.

Dingman also said he would provide either money or materials to help out with the community's annual safety program in April.

THIS IS the house occupied by the widow of Maj. Edward H. Green following his death. It stands at the junction of Antrim Street and Park Avenue and is occupied today by the Frank Oleksys. Photo was donated by Mrs. Florence Zabel of Melody Gardens, a step-granddaughter of Major Green.

HERE IS the same view today. The house has been drastically remodeled, new neighbors have moved in and the roads have been hard surfaced. The water tower, clearly visible in the old photo, is almost hidden by trees today.

Anyone for a Dip in Round Lake?

THE speed with which Coast Guard Commandant Willard Smith acted, in approving a holding tank and pumps for the Cutter Sundew speaks well for the federal government's earnestness in coping with the nation's growing water pollution problem.

The fact that the Sundew was dumping raw sewage into Round Lake had scarcely been brought to the admirals' attention when word arrived from Sen. Robert Griffin and Rep. Phil Ruppe in Washington that the federal government had earmarked funds to remedy the situation. If everything goes according to schedule, pollution from the Sundew should no longer be a problem by this August.

COMBINED with the city's move to build shower and toilet facilities for yachtsmen in East Park, the pollution problem in Round Lake appears well on its way toward solution.

The task, as we see it, is now mainly one of legislation, education and assiduous inspection of sanitary facilities by county health officials.

By the time the toilet facility is completed in East Park (probably next spring), Charlevoix should have drawn up an ordinance prohibiting the use of any shipboard toilet facilities which empty directly into the harbor, yachtsmen who refuse to lock their heads upon tying up in Round Lake will not be welcome in Charlevoix Harbor. The harbor master should have printed copies of the ordinance ready to hand out to his customers--and enforce it strenuously.

Lake Shipping Held Cheapest

To the Editor: Large petroleum on the perimeter of a nation tend to be isolated from the primary continental arteries of land transportation, but water portation is still the cheapest, and slowest, of all forms of transportation. The development of cargo containers that are interchangeable on all land and water transportation systems, automated cargo handling facilities, freighters that are designed to have flexible, and adaptable, carrying capacity for passengers with cars and general cargo, and freight lines that service all of the Great Lakes port cities charging rates on a weight plus mileage basis, may give a transportation cost advantage to Northern Great Lakes cities over those cities that are dependent solely on land transportation systems for moving nonperishable goods. If practical ice breaking techniques are developed, the advantage could be year around instead of eight or nine months.

Clockwise

All the Better to See You With

By Bob Clock

It's surprising the information you can pick up on a trip to the eye doctor.

Did you know, for example, that Dr. Bob Anderson wears contact lenses? He has for years and wouldn't go back to conventional eye glasses on a bet.

"I've almost got myself convinced I don't wear glasses," he says, adding that he finds himself doing things he wouldn't have dreamed doing with a pair of spectacles on.

Dr. Bob is not pushing contacts, however. He says he wouldn't recommend them for me because in another five years or so I'll need bifocals, and although contact bifocals are on the market their "success" ratio has been running only about 30 percent. A new design reportedly has a 60 percent success ratio and he predicts that in five years--when I could go over to them--they'll be perfected.

A HUNTER and outdoorsman, Dr. Bob says he likes his contacts in foul weather and I can sympathize. There's nothing more aggravating than trying to find your way out of doors with your glasses streaked with rain water or speckled with snow flakes.

Contacts also increase peripheral vision, that is, what you see out of the corners of the eye. In fact, the peripheral vision of people who wear contacts is greater than that of people who wear glasses at all, since the lens in effect offends the eyeball.

The peripheral vision of people who wear conventional eyeglasses is reduced by the frame and the fact that the glasses covers only the front of the eye.

I'LL NEVER forget the day I was fitted with my first pair of glasses. It was at a Charlevoix jewelry store on Grand River near 14th Street in Detroit. All the way home on the streetcar I stood right up behind the mirrorman taking in the sights. I never realized things could be so bright and clear, particularly the two ribbons of steel which glistened in the sunlight in front of the car.

The glasses themselves were pretty unattractive by today's standards. The frames were gold, with thin, spring wire temples that hurt the ears. The tint in those days was to have the glasses tinted pink, which gave everything a cheery, rose color. Undoubtedly that was the era which gave birth to the expression "looking at the world through rose colored glasses."

UNFORTUNATELY, those glasses were like iron, and I'd probably still be wearing them if my myopia didn't get progressively worse. In time I wound up in the office of a bonafide eye doctor and had regular changes of prescription and frames from then on.

A LOT OF strange things happen to the person who wears eye glasses. I hadn't been in the Army a week when the guy next to me in my squad broke my glasses frame with his rifle while we were doing the manual of arms. Stumbling over to the orderly room to get some Scotch tape I saluted three corporals and a man from the Red Cross. Better safe than sorry, I thought.

Another windy August afternoon I was standing in the surf at Sauble Beach on the Canadian side of Lake Huron when a gigantic wave broke over my head, taking my glasses with it. Blind luck (or God's expression) must have been with me. I figured the water was pulling south, took a couple of steps, down the beach reached down in the roily water--and came up with my glasses intact.

OF COURSE not all pollution results from human waste. Every apple core, banana skin and melon rind thrown into the lake by careless boaters aggravates the problem. This is where education comes in. The public must become aware of water pollution as it is of fire and traffic hazards.

Anyone dumping garbage or any waste into the lake should be severely penalized, the same as litterbugs are on land. Once yachtsmen become pollution-conscious, they may be expected to give the drive their whole-hearted support. After all, water is their element. They among all people should abhor any kind of water pollution.

BECAUSE OF land contours in the City of Charlevoix, it is not possible for every home and business to be connected with a sewer line. Septic tanks are the rule rather than the exception for buildings located on the south shore of Round Lake. Until some practical method is devised of hooking them into existing sewer lines, we believe the County Health Department should make yearly inspections of such facilities to make sure there is no unusual amount of seepage or overflow into Round Lake or Lake Charlevoix.

IT IS TIME that all industries in the area took stock of their role in keeping our lakes clean. If they are discharging nutrients or any unhealthy effluent into the lake, now is the time to stop. This can often be done quite economically through settling ponds, filters, baffles and other devices.

Time was when industry could snub its nose at anyone who cried "Pollution," asking which is more important, jobs or pure water. Enlightened manufacturers today know it is possible to have both.

RURAL RESIDENTS, farmers, and others with flowing streams running through their property should check to see if too rapid run-off is carrying fertilizer and topsoil into Lake Charlevoix. If so, County Extension Agent Ed Hebmann will be able to suggest plantings and other soil conservation practices to release the water at a slower rate.

The earliest settlers and visitors to this area often commented on the unusual freshness and purity of the water in Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix, witness P.A. Campbell's article in this week's Courier. It is high time we determined not to settle for anything less.

History of Bridge Street and Charlevoix Harbor

Chapter IV

Here we must mention "The Battle of Charlevoix."

A band of Mormons came over from Beaver Island in sailboats apparently to do harm to the fishermen living along the beach just south of the pier. The fishermen stood their ground and some shooting was done. The fishermen took after the Mormons with their sailboats but did not catch the culprits before the fleeing Mormons intercepted a schooner called the Morgan and got aboard and were taken to St. James. The pursuing fishermen gave up the chase and returned to Pine River. Thus ended the "Battle of Charlevoix." There were no casualties. There is an historical marker of the battle in the park near the Beaver Island dock. Another marker commemorates the battle at the top of Coast Guard Hill.

EARLY in 1867 a mill route was established and mail was brought in from Traverse City by foot. Nelson Anstee had the job and moved his family here that year. The Village of Charlevoix was platted by J.S. Olson, and at a small place it was, only a few blocks, Philo Beers was postmaster and Richard Cooper was his deputy. The post office was in the Fountain City House. Philo Beers died in 1872 and Willard Smith was made postmaster. He was editor of the Sentinel, which we will mention later.

In 1867, A. Fox and Co. contracted to have the tug Commodore Nut built in Buffalo, N.Y., to be used to tow wood across down Pine Lake for supplying wood for the big dock in Lake Michigan where the steamers fueled up. Scows were built in Northport and by July 1, 1867, they were able to get the scows and tug up the river into Round Lake. Robert Miller built the Redington and Nelson mill in 1868. He also built a blacksmith shop on the north side of the river about where the Westhorne now stands.

REGARDING the revetment first replaced with 12 by 12 pine timbers before concrete was used. On the north side leading out from shore along the pier to the lighthouse was a road tram with a boardwalk. This was so that the light keeper could get to the lighthouse in stormy weather without getting wet. This tram was replaced with a steel tram when the lighthouse was moved to the south pier about 1907. The tram was dismantled. On the end of the north pier was constructed a tall steel tower at the top of which was placed a white electric flashing light and it is there today. (Large stone for the north pier was picked up along the beach by a government crane about 1895.)

In 1865 Professor Winchell, a state geologist, came here, landing at the mouth of the river. Along the beach were a few cabins and a boarding house. The traveled up the sandy slope which led to the forest above the beach. It was a pleasant October morning, so he wrote, and they followed a freshly cut path through the forest for about a mile or so and came out on a bluff overlooking Long Lake, as lovely a sheet of water as the sun ever shone upon.

"YOU ALMOST feel a transport of delight emerging so suddenly from the depths of the forest into a prospect so glowing in the sunshine of a fair October morning," he wrote. "Far away to the south-east for 15 miles stretched the placid, smiling surface of the water, its white pebbly shore adding to its attractiveness. The verdant ridges rise on every side from the shimmering shoreline which holds

Charlevoix's Bands Will Play in Festival

CHARLEVOIX -- Almost 200 student musicians from Charlevoix will participate in the Pelee Island Music Festival this Saturday in the District Band and Orchestra Festival at Pelee Island Junior High School auditorium.

The festival is held annually to screen groups for participation in the State Band and Orchestra Festival which will be held in April. Bands receiving a 1 rating in the regional will be eligible to participate in the state meet.

One of the problems Richey is up against is having a city sewer line extended to the tract. He said a subcommittee is ready to start work immediately as soon as approval is granted by the city, the County Health Department and the state.

ALDERMEN deferred action on a request by Bay City to support a bill which would require the state to give municipalities financial assistance in the construction of bridges over navigable waterways within their limits.

"We'd better stick to our own problems," Mayor Fochman suggested.

COUNCIL ALSO:

—Transferred from the Charlevoix State Savings Bank to the Charlevoix County State Bank the city's checking account for a period of two years. It has been the practice to alternate business with both banks in town.

—Agreed to ask its insurance carrier to reimburse the city for the services of Attorney John Michael in the lawsuit brought by William Supernaw against Fire Chief John Curtis and the City of Charlevoix. Supernaw claimed the fire truck damaged his car at the scene of the Sunday fire last summer. Bay City Justice Lyle Green recently ruled no cause for action in the suit.

—Made reservations for Nathan Boss, Bob Gill, Jack Mol and Hugh Mayo to attend a meeting with State Highway Department officials at the Dilworth Hotel in Bay City March 1.

—Heard a report by Mayor Fochman that some people in town believe the proposed street lights for Bridge Street are too bright. "They're objecting to a great white way," he said. The council has authorized for bids on new street lights which will be opened at the next meeting.

—Heard a report by the mayor on the action the Coast Guard plans to take regarding disposal of sewage aboard the Sundew. He said a holding tank and pumps will be installed by next August.

—Transferred $3,000 from the general fund to the fire reserve fund toward the eventual purchase of a new fire engine.

The meeting was attended by members of Mr. Max Novak's government classes.

Pair Win in Jordan

EAST JORDAN -- Howard Hosker and Lyle Peters won the primary Monday in the first ward.

Hosker polled 52 votes to Peters' 43. The other candidate, Ormond Winston, had 23 votes.

The two winners will run against each other for alderman in the April general election.

Ted Tunison Dies on Trip to Lake Orion

CHARLEVOIX -- Funeral services for Theodore (Ted) G. Tunison, 46, Hayes township resident and retired Peon Dite employee, will be held at the Stone Funeral Home in Peoteky at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Mr. Tunison died unexpectedly early Monday at the home of his son, Theodore Jr., at Lake Orion where he had been spending the weekend.

BORN in Hayes township April 15, 1900, Mr. Tunison had been employed in Grand Rapids and Detroit before returning here in the early 1930's to make his home in Hayes township. He was employed at the Peon Dite-Fordland cement Co. plant at Peoteky for 20 years prior to his retirement in 1963. He was a member of the Maple Grove Grange.

Surviving are his widow, the former Martha Detwiler whom he married Mar. 14, 1943, a son, Theodore Jr., of Lake Orion; three step-daughters, Mrs. Lawrence (Kathleen) Kline and Mrs. Richard

Press Asked to Vacate Ed Meeting

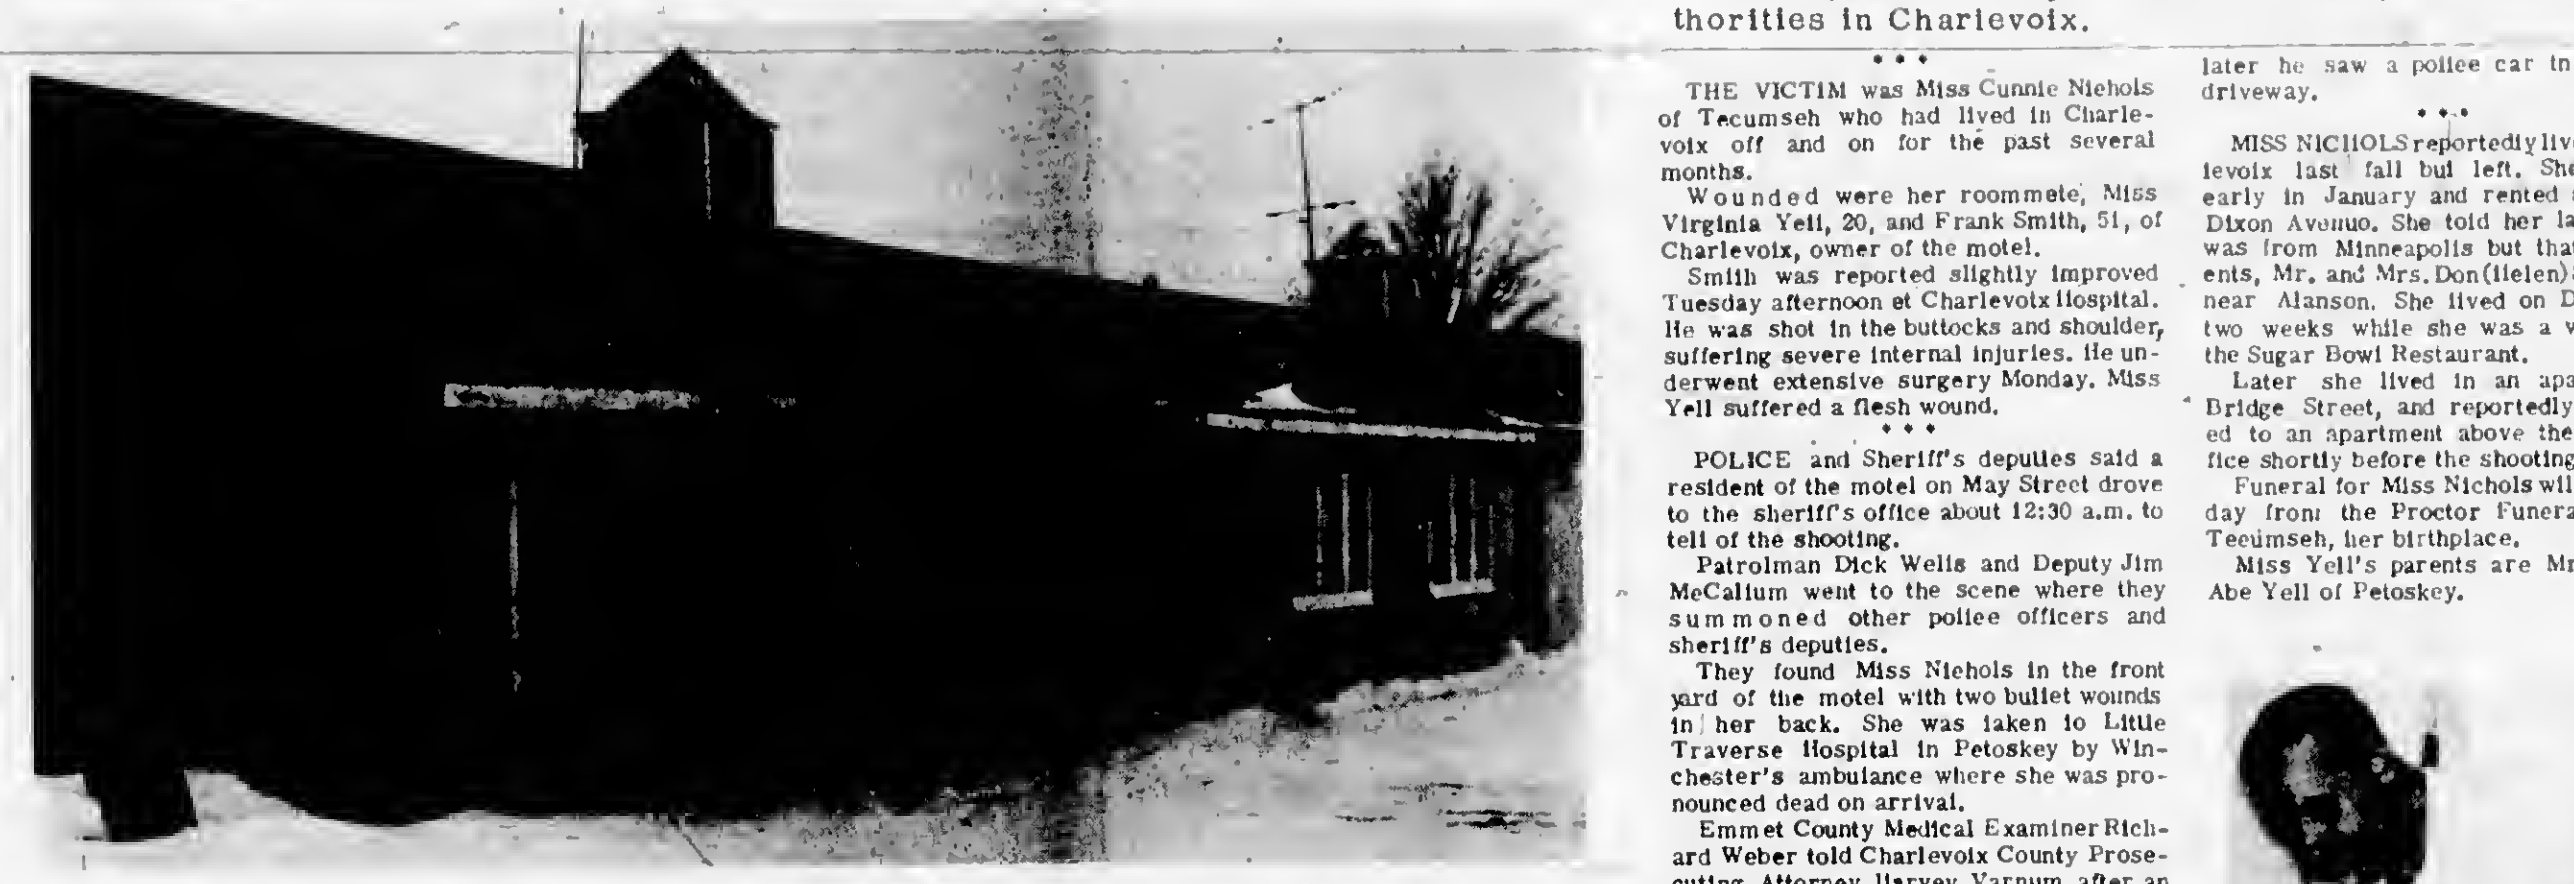

CHARLEVOIX -- Two reporters were asked to leave a "discussion" meeting of the Charlevoix Board of Education in the High School Library Feb. 21 by Board President Darrell Dinwiddie.

They are Glen Shepherd of the Peoteky News Herald and Bob Clock of the Courier. They had attempted to attend the meeting not only as reporters but as Charlevoix taxpayers.

DINWIDDIE said it is in the public's interest for the board to conduct "discussion" meetings in private.

When Shepherd refused to leave, the board adjourned to the home of Board Member Glenn Kenney on Mercer Boulevard.

It is not known what was discussed at the meeting, but it is believed Ellsworth's petition to join the Charlevoix School District was on the agenda.

CHARLEVOIX Police Chief Joe Smith uses tape measure to determine distance bullets traveled in wild shooting spree at Charlevoix Motel early Monday. One person was killed.

Ellsworth Petition Studied Charlevoix May Vote on Annexation Bid

CHARLEVOIX -- The Charlevoix Board of Education may take the issue of Ellsworth annexation to the public, it was indicated at the meeting of the board Monday night.

The meeting was attended by members of the Ellsworth Board of Education who earlier had presented a petition to the Charlevoix Board seeking annexation.

Under the Michigan School Code, it is the prerogative of the annexing board to decide whether to accept another district. The question can be taken to the voters, however, if the board chooses.

THE POSSIBILITY was suggested by Board President Darrell Dinwiddie and endorsed by Glenn Kenney.

"We'd have a surprised group of people if Charlevoix didn't vote," Kenney said.

"A vote would give the isolationist type of person a chance to do a lot of work," he said.

Dale Boss said a vote "would take the responsibility off our shoulders."

CHARLEVOIX BOARD members seemed most concerned whether the people of the Ellsworth would support bond issues and millage votes if they do become a part of the Charlevoix District.

Ellsworth Board Member Bill Armstrong said that judging from past performance, the people of Ellsworth are behind their schools. "We have never minimized on schools, until our last millage vote was turned down."

Dinwiddie said that a good curriculum is necessary, but that the schools must have the support of the community.

CHARLEVOIX School Superintendent Rex Milligan had marshaled facts and figures on the proposed annexation for the two boards to examine.

Charlevoix has a total of 1,306 students and Ellsworth 291 which would result in a combined school district with 1,597 students.

—The average grade size after consolidation would be 123 for kindergarten through sixth grade and 122 for the High School.

Charlevoix's state equalized valuation per student before annexation is $17.

THE CHARLEVOIX Kiwanis Club gave Beante its good citizen award and the Courier launched a drive to replace his worn out motorbike. Dozens of subscribers chipped in.

Last summer Beante paid more than 2,000 miles on his new Honda 90. He kept it shiny and in good repair.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON, wiring in the basement of Beante's pin-neat house on Newman Street shorted out and started a fire.

The only object in Beante's house to get damaged was the seat of Beante's motorbike. It was charred to cinders.

Fire is no respecter of prized possessions.

Newberry Junior High received a III rating and Onaway High School a IV rating.

CHARLEVOIX Band Director Clarence Oimstad said the Reserve Band was awarded a II rating, but this year received a III from all four judges.

What About Your Rights?

A discussion of the people's right to sit in on public meetings conducted by their elected representatives appears on page 13 of this week's Courier. The Courier tells its views and members of the Charlevoix Board of Education theirs.

Charlevoix, E. Jordan Bands Place First

PEOTEKY -- The Charlevoix Junior and Senior Bands and the East Jordan High School Bands all received first division ratings last Saturday in the District Band and Orchestra Festival in Peoteky.

The occasion marked the 20th time in 21 years that the Charlevoix Senior Bands earned the distinction of placing in the first division.

THE SENIOR Bands are now eligible to compete in the State Band and Orchestra Festival in Grand Rapids April 29.

The Reserve Band last year was awarded a II rating, but this year received a III from all four judges.

NHS Welcomes Students

CHARLEVOIX -- Twelve Charlevoix High School students were inducted into the National Honor Society at ceremonies at the High School Wednesday night.

Students joining the society were elected by their teachers for excellence in scholarship, leadership, character and service.

NEW MEMBERS include Ellen Arvilla, Erin Arvilla, Constance Currie, Susan Daseleer, Angela Epshel, Kathy Milligan, Hannelore Mueller, Virginia Ochs, Janet Pease, Joy Pierce, Millie Sherwood and Tom Webb.

Inducting members were Carol Annis, Kathy Arbuckle, Jack Bergmann, Linda Boss (secretary - treasurer), Larry Frink, Constance Geer, Ron Henley, Paul Martin (acting president), Joyce Matchett, Cindy Ouderkirk, Andy Peters, Gary Plum, Janice Sundberg and Donna White.

MASTER of ceremonies was Paul Martin, with Carol Annis, Ron Henley, Linda Boss and Gary Plum.

Paulette Hansen and Ted Wetman, who were graduated last June, told the new members what membership in the National Honor Society has meant to them.

Speaker was John MacPeters who told the young people they are the "anguard of a new intellectual development." Because of television and better communication, he said young people today "know what is going on around the world."

HE PAID particular tribute to the advent of "paperback" books, which have given students an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the world.

THE HOLY BIBLE WAS HER TEXT

The daily life of the Pioneer Woman was a full and busy one. Danger was ever present—and a matter of providing food and clothing, while carving a new home out of the wilderness, was a stupendous problem.

The pioneer woman, however, had time for training her children and the Holy Bible was her text. It was through her influence that a church soon followed the building of a new settlement.

Although faced with tasks each and every day that would swamp the modern woman she had time to go to church and she took her family with her.

She bore and trained sons and daughters who produced a mighty nation. If she could and did find time to take her children to church, it is doubly important that the parents of today do so, that their children may learn to maintain and preserve that heritage gained at such great odds.

Fem-Levity An Otherwise Bearable Evening

by Grace Ann McDaniel

People will do daring things on a dreary winter evening to keep occupied. When you're longing for the company of friends, it's a sure bet they'll show up if you ask them to bring their family slides or home movies.

"Trips we've taken in upper lower Michigan," "Vacation Festival 1959," we also worried a little when they kept their motor running. We figure an eye for an eye and we have a few hundred slides of baby's first steps ourselves. Obviously they were planning on a quick get away.

THE SCREEN was buried behind summer jackets in the closet and we discussed the possibilities of hanging a sheet in the kitchen. It turned out I only had one clean one with yellow roses all over it which failed to do justice to their excellent photography.

We tried blowing them up on the side of the neighbors house but that meant one of us would have to be left out while waiting for patrol cars. We decided if it was worth doing at all, we should go all out. So the four of us proceeded to spring house clean the closet and set the screen.

Mind you we love their children but it's a little unnerving to spend ten minutes trying to decide which child we were viewing from behind the hospital nursery window. Somebody took a stab in the dark and we were off to a new show box. This one was entitled "Pictures of Christmas". After looking at a good 15 years

By Carole Walasky

I tried something new last week-end. Some people call it ice fishing. I call it a lot of other names.

Living in the mood for some fresh fish Saturday, I decided to pack myself up and head for the high seas of South Arm. I'm hardly amused by the idea of frostbite and frozen toes so I took my penicillin along to do some serious fishing. (This is where the shanty complete with boat and a June copy of the Free Press came in handy.)

WE WAITED and waited. Waited and waited. And waited. Did you ever stare at a rubber band eight inches in front of your nose for two hours just waiting for it to move? Not only do your eyes cross and become glassy, but you get these terrible cramps in places you didn't even know you had.

So for a change of pace I read the paper. (Whoever said there's nothing as old as yesterday's newspaper was never ice fishing.)

ONE HOUR LATER I pulled my line up to see what was happening. Nothing. The minnows just sat there staring back at me. Swiss. Gosh. I sent them back down again and waited another hour.

When I couldn't stand it any more, I headed out of the shanty and back across the ice to pick up some reinforcements—more candy bars and Sunday's paper.

It was on my return to the shanty that I got a brilliant idea. I figured that maybe fish get tired of eating other fish all the time.

So I pulled up the line, had my friend unhook one of the minnows and stuck a Mounds bar on the hook.

And you know what happened? Nothing.

STILL SITTING there as the sun went down with not even a nibble I refused to believe all the fish in Lake Charlevoix had died. I simply told myself there were never any fish there to begin with.

So I picked up the bucket, candy wrappers, the can of half dead minnows and headed back home. I left the papers there for the next fisherman. Now that my leg is better, I think I'll go back to skiing.

HERE'S WHAT I had planned for my fish that never showed up for dinner:

CREAMED FISH—SERVES 4 OR 5
2 cups steamed flaked fish
1/2 cup green pepper
1/2 cup fat
4 tbsp. flour
1 tsp. salt
2 cups milk
Dash cayenne
2 cup chopped cooked mushrooms

Cook onion and green pepper in fat for two minutes. Blend in flour and seasonings. Add the milk slowly and cook until thick. Add the mushrooms and fish carefully.

The first airplane flight of the Wright Brothers at Kitty Hawk, N.C., lasted only 12 seconds and the plane traveled 120 feet.

Try lining drawers with adhesive backed paper. It's easy to clean with a damp rag and will last indefinitely.

CHEER FOR THE RAYDERS
TRADITIONALLY, NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST!

Pellston and Petoskey Bow to Rayders

Charlevoix Plays St. Francis Tonight

PELLSTON -- The Red Rayders romped through their last conference game of the season Friday night, defeating the Petoskey Hornets 75 to 38. But the real action of the evening was supplied in the Jayvee game which went into overtime. The young Rayders lost 11, 62 to 59 after leading most of the way.

IN THE MAIN event, Charlevoix had no trouble playing all around the fumbling Pellston squad. At the end of the first quarter the Rayders were ahead 22 to six; at the half, 36 to 15 and at the three-quarter mark 57 to 27.

Coach Don Carey called on his reserves in the final quarter, giving almost the entire squad a chance to play.

HIGH SCORER for Charlevoix was Jack Bergmann who made eight fieldgoals and four freethrows for 20 points.

Following were Bernie Ward and Tom Webb with 10 points each on fieldgoals; Brad Carey and Fred Wabaninkee, eight points each; Wabaninkee got his on three fieldgoals and two freethrows and Carey on five fieldgoals. Steve Smith, who played only in the second half, racked up seven points on three and one. Lee Cross and Terry Blissett each made four points on fieldgoals; Aaron Brock scored two points on a fieldgoal and Allan Lusk and Allan Veenstra each scored on freethrows.

HIGH MAN for Pellston was lanky Jim Ball who scored 15 points on five and five. Also scoring were Larry Burkhardt, Tom Lillner, Ken Schmidt, Rusty Scott and Dan Schmalzried.

CHARLEVOIX'S high man on the Jayvee squad was Don Ward, who made six buckets and 11 freethrows for 23 points. His closest competitor was Chuck Pease with 13.

points on three fieldgoals and seven freethrows.

Kraus Lieberman scored 10 points on three and four; S. Coleman six points on two and two; Ken Harris, five points on two and one; and Don Livingston two points on a fieldgoal.

The Jayvee were neck and neck with the young Hornets all the way, although Charlevoix managed to keep a slight scoring edge throughout most of the game.

Then in the final seconds, Pellston's Hotdick made good on two freethrows while the crowd held its breath. The game was tied 53 -- all and went into three minutes overtime.

CHUCK PEASE made a fieldgoal and two freethrows and Lieberman a fieldgoal, but it wasn't enough to offset Pellston's two fieldgoals and four freethrows.

CHARLEVOIX'S next game will be a tournament match against Petoskey St. Francis at Boyne High School gym Wednesday, March 1, at 7:30 p.m.

ELLSWORTH -- The Lancers are the 1967 Northern Lakes Class D Conference winners after beating Central Lake Friday in a close game.

The Lancers were behind from the start giving Central Lake a one point lead at the end of the first period, 1-21. Central Lake again held a one point lead at half-time with the score 27-26.

Ellsworth pulled a head in the third period 42-53 opening the way for their 62-53 victory.

High scorers for Ellsworth were Rich Rulis with 19 followed by Fred Taylor with 15 and Harold DeYoung with 10.

RAYDER TOM WEBB fends off Hornets on Pellston court. Charlevoix won 75 to 38.

ALTHOUGH THE East Jordan-Gaylord game was a lopsided one Friday night, there was still plenty of action.

Obituary

Bob White Sr.

CHARLEVOIX -- Funeral for Bob White Sr., 76, will be from the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Wednesday, March 1, the Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen officiating. Burial will be in the Urdine.

A retired Petoskey Portland Cement Co. employee, Mr. White died Saturday at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey where he had been a patient for two days.

BORN in Newaygo Dec. 29, 1890, Mr. White came to Charlevoix as a young man. In 1921 he married the former Thelma Simons at Bay Shore. He farmed and worked for the cement company for 20 years before his retirement in 1953.

He is survived by his widow, three sons, Paul of rural Charlevoix, Bob Jr., of Petoskey, and Wesley of rural Boyne City; 15 grandchildren, a brother, Claude, of Ellsworth, and a half-sister, Mrs. Rachel Almon of Grant.

CHARLEVOIX -- An expert in removing unwanted hair will give a demonstration at Mill's House of Charm on Bridge Street at 7:30 p.m. March 7.

 Pete Bennett is a surgical patient in Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey. He has the very best wishes of his local friends.
 After this morning Church Service everyone went to the dining room for coffee, cookies and donuts, honoring 2nd Lt. Peter, Kunson, son of Douglas and Thelma Knudson who will be leaving soon on a new assignment in Vietnam. Mrs. Pete Zimler and children from Charlevoix spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Lewis McDonald, who had her 81st birthday on Saturday. We all extend her best of everything for this coming year. We really have been having our share of snow the past two weeks, along with below zero weather. The snow plow crew should be commended on the fine work they did to keep the roads open.

Clockwise
 By Bob Clock
 Just when you start thinking the people's so-called right-to-know is as well established in this country as Plymouth Rock, someone upsets the apple cart. This time it's the so-called Charlevoix Board of Education.
 "I WAS ONE of the two reporters who was asked to leave a 'discussion' session of the board last Monday night. The other was Glen Sheppard.
 Not that I actually would be asked to leave the meeting. There is nothing like an outright confrontation with the pomp of elected officials to stoke the smoldering fires of righteous indignation. It certainly kicks in the teeth any sense of complacency you may have picked up.
 Wasn't that a nice picture of our new, post mistress, last week?
 Our summer friends and neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Ole Observe and Walter and Helen Keating are vacationing in Phoenix, Arizona and other points of interest through the western states.
 AT LEAST one animal doesn't mind the heavy snow Charlevoix has had this winter. Blizard, a Husky owned by the Josh Barnes family on West Dixon Avenue, enjoys an early morning walk.
 I HAVE no idea what the board was discussing Monday night when we walked in. The meeting stopped abruptly as we entered. I do know that the last meeting I was asked to leave a few weeks ago involved a presentation by Architect Jack Begrow on furnishing and decoration of the new library on Clinton Street. Really top drawer stuff, as you can imagine.
 According to the by-laws under which the board operates, two meetings are held each month. The first meeting is Mondays. The first meeting has been designated as the "official" meeting. However, with all the business the board has to handle, meetings are often held more frequently, sometimes once a week.
 The board has the idea that only "business" meetings, that is those meetings at which a vote is taken, should be open to the public. All other meetings--when the hard work is done, when issues are picked apart, when the real decisions are made--are closed.
 I THINK the board clings to a too narrow definition of the word "business". Yet there are nights when we do have someone available when the board is meeting but the press, and, incidentally, the public is not welcome. Charlevoix teachers, who are as intimately tied with education as any group I can think of, are not even allowed to have a voice of their number sit in. Not even the principals are permitted to attend.

 PERHAPS the board feels many matters it discusses are too private for the ears of the public and the press and the educators. Perhaps old Miss Hickory-stick has grown too senile to conduct classes any longer, she picks her belly button in the classroom and has lost control of her bladder. If the School Board thinks we are going to regale our readers with such intimate details of Miss Hickorystick's personal life we are badly mistaken. I think the Courier staff has as great a sense of propriety and decorum as any member of the School Board. We'll be happy to run a story on Miss Hickorystick's retirement and even take pictures at her retirement dinner. We may even throw in an editorial hailing her long years of devoted duty.
 BY THE SAME token, if Mr. Applejack, the chemistry teacher, turns up in the classroom morning after morning smelling strongly of something besides sulphuric acid, we trust the superintendent will take corrective steps without a great deal of fuss and feathers and backroom gossip by the School Board. In fact, having members of the public and the press present may prevent many sessions from degenerating into personality feuds.
 I can't see why any meeting of the full board should not be open not only to the press but to any member of the public who cares to see his elected representatives in action. After all, isn't that what democracy is all about?

THE BEACON JOURNAL decided to take the question to court, suing on behalf of itself, all other news media and the public at large.
 In the Common Pleas Court, the newspaper won a split decision. The court said that only a small number of agencies created by state statute fell under state law, but those that did not could not have executive sessions.
 The newspaper then took the issue to the District Court of Appeals which handed the press an unqualified victory. The appeal judges ruled that "independent" agencies as well as state agencies, were required to hold the city's open meeting law. They also affirmed the lower court's decision that executive sessions are outside the law.
 HOWEVER the city appealed to the Supreme Court which reversed the lower courts, ruling that under certain circumstances "executive sessions" are legal in Ohio.
 SO THE BEACON JOURNAL went to work to have the laws changed.
 "We knew that the only way to get an effective regulation against closed meetings of city agencies was to put it in the charter, the city's supreme law. The way they would be no question of the effect on any city agency," McIntyre declares.

Ohio Paper Fights Closed Meetings
 CHARLEVOIX -- The people of Charlevoix are not alone in their fight for the right to know what goes on at public meetings.
 Two area reporters were kicked out of a meeting of the Charlevoix Board of Education last week on grounds that the meeting was an "executive session" and not open to the public.
 The city of Akron, Ohio, has been experiencing the same highhandedness from its city officials. Led by the Akron Beacon Journal, the people have launched a vigorous campaign to have their right-to-know restored.
 A REPORT on the drive by Bruce McIntyre, assistant to the executive editor of the Beacon Journal, appeared in the January issue of "Quint" magazine, published by Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalistic society.
 Entitled "Take a Second Look," the article points out that many states have "high sounding open meeting laws," but many of them have so many loopholes that elective officials are free to conduct most of their business in secret.
 Charlevoix Schools apparently are operating under such a law. The state insists that all meetings be open to the public, but then turns around and says that "executive sessions" may be held without specifying whether they should be open or closed. The Charlevoix School Board has ruled that no one is welcome at "executive sessions" except board members and invited guests.
 "We know that the only way to get an effective regulation against closed meetings of city agencies was to put it in the charter, the city's supreme law. The way they would be no question of the effect on any city agency," McIntyre declares.

Human Impact Changes Habits of Deer Herd

By Lee Smiths

A deer was killed in traffic the other day inside the Detroit metropolitan area, in Royal Oak.

Deer vanished from Wayne County shortly after the first railroad was built, some 130 years ago. A century later they came back. Within the last 10 to 15 years deer have popped up in Detroit suburbs and urban subdivisions. Deer, pheasant, raccoon, quail, rabbit seem to know that they are safer within city limits than they are out in the country.

HUMAN IMPACT has brought about spectacular changes in the ways of wildlife. Northern Michigan has more ravens than old settlers ever heard of, perhaps because of highway-killing and provide an abundance of raven food. Cottontail rabbits, moving northward, are being almost impossible to take by trap or poison.

Education in warless extends to fish. Trout fishermen generally agree that it is much harder to take trout from a Michigan stream than from remote waters in northern Ontario. Animals also quickly learn when men's intentions toward them are friendly.

Around the head of Detroit River are several hundred mallards that have come to depend on people for feed. When a car stops near the Detroit Yacht Club lagoon ducks scramble up the bank for hand-outs.

Petoskey Bows to Rayders

CHARLEVOIX -- The Charlevoix Red Rayders squeaked past Petoskey Northern Feb. 21 in a non-conference game. The score was 62 to 55.

The two teams were close all the way, with Charlevoix leading by only one point at the end of the first quarter (13-12) and trailing by two points (27-29) at the half.

IN THE THIRD PERIOD, Charlevoix pulled ahead with six fieldgoals and seven free-throws for a total of 19 points. Petoskey racked up only 12, for a score of 46 to 41.

In the final period, Charlevoix again outscored Petoskey, with 16 points to Petoskey's 14.

Boosters Serve 500

CHARLEVOIX -- Some 500 persons were served at the second Band Boosters dinner of the season Thursday night at the High School cafeteria, according to Mrs. Elmer Gibson.

The tables were decorated in red, white and blue in honor of George Washington's birthday.

Chairman and co-chairman, Mrs. William Parsons and Mrs. Don McGillon, said the following organizations contributed:

MaxBauer Creamery, milk; East Jordan Canning Factory, cherries; Ellsworth Canning Factory, green beans; Top O' Michigan Rural Electric, place mats and napkins; Michigan Milk, napkins and hats. The hats were worn by the boys and girls who served.

The ham dinner was one of two meals served annually by the Band Boosters to raise money for Charlevoix High School band activities and equipment. The group also holds a candy sale in the spring.

The Band Boosters Club presently is attempting to raise money either for new replacement uniforms. They also help pay expenses to the spring band festival and supply two scholarships each summer to Interlochen National Music Camp.

School Board Denies Your Right-to-Know

Every other week, members of the Charlevoix School Board meet in session so secret that not one of their fellow citizens is permitted to sit in on their deliberations.

These are not members of any secret society. They are your friends and neighbors, people YOU elected to represent YOU on the School Board.

AS A GROUP they are enormously powerful. They control the spending of more money than any other governmental unit in the area, including the Charlevoix City Council.

They must weigh the qualifications of the men and women who will teach your sons and daughters.

They have the last word on what your children study in school. In many cases, whether Johnny can read or not can be traced directly to how well your School Board does its job.

The health and safety of your children also is in their hands. Their responsibilities range from deciding what Johnny and Susie will have for lunch to determining how effective are the brakes on the school bus taking them to and from school.

IT IS HARD to think of a job that is more important to more people.

It is also difficult to imagine one in which secrecy should have a smaller part. We are entrusting the health, education and welfare of our children to these people. What do they have to talk about which is outside the concern or comprehension of the people who elected them?

WE ARE SURE that every member of the School Board is vain to the point that they feel the voter made a wise choice in electing him. What then, may we ask, has developed the superior attitude that the voting public has suddenly become too dumb to understand what they are trying to do to benefit our school children?

We, the people, have never asked that our neighbors be infallible. We have never in judgement.

Do the board members feel that the voters would withdraw their support if they had a chance to observe them thinking aloud?

WE KNOW BETTER. At the Courier we have learned the people of Charlevoix are extremely perceptive and understanding, have a highly developed sense of justice and are unselfishly dedicated to our community and schools.

Given an opportunity to weigh all of the pros and cons of an issue, the people of Charlevoix have demonstrated unfailing intelligence and fairness in making decisions.

Why hasn't the thought occurred to the board that its job could be a good deal easier and a lot more efficient if the public were completely informed as to their objectives in providing better education.

WITHIN THE NEXT few months, the people of the District are going to be asked to approve additional millage for a new elementary school on the North Side.

The School Board, through its secret meetings, has placed the electorate in an untenable position. We are told that a new school is needed. Yet we are welcome at only half of the School Board's deliberations. The background sessions when the serious thinking and talking are done might just as well take place on the moon, so far as the tax-paying public is concerned. We are not sure a new school is absolutely needed--and neither are you.

WHAT CAN THE people of Charlevoix School District do to have their right-to-know restored?

--First, a group of public spirited citizens might attend the next board meeting and suggest a resolution be passed opening all meetings to the public. Adoption of the motion will solve the problem so far as Charlevoix is concerned.

--Failing this, our next recourse will have to be an appeal to the State Legislature. As a Fourth Class School District, Charlevoix schools are operated under the State Education Code rather than local laws. One additional line in the present code specifically opening "executive sessions" to the public--or outlawing them altogether--will turn the trick.

In the meantime, voters should keep their right-to-know in mind at the school election in June, supporting only those candidates who run on a platform of complete honesty with the public. If we can come up with two board members who refuse to attend secret sessions, our right-to-know will be on the comeback trail.

Board Defends Stand on Closed Meetings

Burr Blanchard
Marion Township Farmer

"A person should be allowed to think out loud without being quoted. Take the present consolidation talks, for example. At this point a reporter's opinion, stated in the wrong direction, could upset everything. Don't get me wrong. There are times when you people and members of the public should be around here more."

Mrs. Frances Hooper
Health Dept. Employee

"There are some things we can't discuss publicly, personalities and some issues. We can't have our first thoughts, our questions quoted as fact. Many of us wouldn't speak up for fear of being quoted. We must have discussion without being quoted. Some people may not be able to handle the information."

Clarence Kotesky
American Mold Employee

"I believe when personal matters are handled they should be discussed in an informal way. There are many times when the president asks us for our suggestions. It's up to us to offer them and it behooves us to listen to others. This is in the public interest. Of course, all of our decisions should be reached at formal meetings open to the public."

Dale Boss
Insurance Man, Milkman

"I think a lot depends on the good judgment of reporters covering a meeting. Take land acquisition, for example. A premature disclosure might send prices sky high. Many times in the past we have had school board projects ruined because information got out too soon in the papers."

Darrell Dinwiddie
CPA in Petoskey
Board President

"The regulations the press would like to impose upon us would make it impossible for two board members to have a cup of coffee together without calling in a reporter. If all meetings were open to the public, no effective action could be taken. I think you'll find that committees, caucuses and groups of any government at body find it necessary to hold closed meetings, and they're all for a purpose. I'm not trying to advance anyone's journalistic career. It's just that nothing could be done if the public were welcome at all meetings. Our board members work long hours. Their objectives should not be limited to one or two choice comments in the press."

Glenn Kenney
Owner, Kit Carson Lumber Co.

"The less said about it the better. One and one-half years ago before I came on the board I would have been in sympathy with the feelings of the press. But to operate most effectively, we have to be able to let our hair down and talk privately. It's very seldom we're actually concerned about sensitive matters being made public, but there are times when closed meetings are needed."

Owner, Petoskey Oil Company part of the Ellsworth School District, including Norwood and Atwood, would prefer to come to Charlevoix.

Nelson Spelman, Ellsworth Superintendent, said the roads to Charlevoix are better, and that East Jordan's curriculum is not much better than Ellsworth's.

JACK MCPHERSON of the Ellsworth Board wanted to know the difference between consolidation and annexation. The voters defeated a proposal last November which would have consolidated Central Lake, Ellsworth and East Jordan.

Ellsworth said that if Charlevoix annexed Ellsworth, the Ellsworth Board would "disappear."

He pointed out that if Ellsworth is annexed, people from the Ellsworth District could be voted to the board as vacancies open up.

Before the Ellsworth people left, both boards agreed to appoint two members to work together to determine how the annexation would affect the two districts. Charlevoix representatives will be Mrs. Hooper and Blanchard.

IN OTHER BOARD BUSINESS, four school buses were purchased. Dale Ross held out for Bluebird bodies, Burr Blanchard for Superior, or a combination of Superior, Bluebird and Wayne. The board voted to buy two Superiors and two Bluebirds. They will have Ford engines.

The board also listened to a presentation by Bill Carey, agent of record for Insurance, on a Public and Institutional Property (PIP) insurance package now available. Carey said the trend is away from "limited perils" policies to "all risk" policies. No action was taken.

Jordan Mulls Income Tax

EAST JORDAN -- Employees may be paying a city income tax here if voters approve it at the April 3 election.
Proposed by Alderman Harry Watson, the proposal calls for a one percent income tax from residents employed in East Jordan. Persons living outside the city, but on East Jordan payroll will pay a percent income tax as called for in Michigan state statutes outlining city income taxes.

WATSON said while employees will be paying a city income tax, the money received will be deducted from property taxes.

He said, "The city income tax will result in a net cut of four mills levied on property. We can drop back the present millage (16) by two mills, and we won't have to levy the extra two mills we're presently allowed."

(Although the present millage is 16, the city has the right to raise it to 20 for meeting expenses.)

HE ADDED that the tax will equalize money collected by spreading it over both property and income.

"The purpose of the measure is to redistribute taxes. Property owners will benefit from a reduced millage and those living outside the city but working here will also be doing their part," he said.

Watson said that persons living on fixed incomes will benefit most from the measure since their millage will drop and they won't be paying the city income tax.

He added that the city income tax is a "hedge against inflation." As the income goes up, so will the tax received. The millage collected on property taxes is a relatively fixed amount and doesn't allow for rapid changes in the economy.

WATSON estimated $25,000 will come from city residents under the plan and $12,500 from non-residents.

The Council unanimously approved the proposal. An official proposal will now be drawn up by city attorney Robert Klever and residents will vote on it April 3.

Plan Candy Sale

CHARLEVOIX -- The Band Boosters will kick off their annual candy sale March 31. It was decided at the Feb. 22 meeting.

First sales will be made at the annual Spring Concert. George Hutchinson was named general chairman, to be assisted by Robert Peral, Robert Hamilton, Mrs. Arthur Fritz, Mrs. R.E. Mitter and Mrs. Wayne Woods.

They will be in charge of deciding what kind of candy to sell and organizing the drive.

The candy will be packed for delivery to band members at the next meeting March 29.

EIGHTEEN members attended this meeting, an increase over previous sessions. George Hutchinson was in charge in the absence of President Don Meggison.

Mrs. William Lusk was appointed second vice president, to serve in the absence of the president and vice president.

Election of officers will be held at the May meeting.

Devils Lose to Gaylord

EAST JORDAN -- The Red Devils gave Gaylord their share of the Northern Michigan Class C Conference title Friday night by losing to Gaylord 87-40.

Gaylord sank the first basket of the game and from then on it was theirs all the way.

EAST JORDAN, on the losing end of the first period score 20-10, saw the margin widen to 47-18 when the half-time whistle blew.

The third quarter ended with Gaylord again outscoring East Jordan. The teams went into the final quarter with a 74-28 score and Gaylord finished it all off 87-40.

Dave Reed was East Jordan's high scorer with 10 points.

Red Rayders, Blue Devils Square Off

CHARLEVOIX--The Red Rayders were to meet the Gaylord Blue Devils last night in the first game of Petoskey Class C Regional basketball tournament.

All the tournament games are scheduled in the Petoskey Junior High School gymnasium.

Charlevoix is rated 5th in the state and Gaylord is in the top 20. The two teams have met twice this season, each winning one.

THE WINNER will play Frankfort Friday, March 10, at Petoskey at 7 p.m.

Elk Rapids and Harrison will play tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30. The winner will play St. Ignace Friday, March 10, at 8:30 p.m.

The final game will be Saturday at 8 p.m., with the winner going to the state quarter finals, a week from Wednesday at a site to be selected.

Street Light Bidders Are $15,000 Apart

CHARLEVOIX--There was a range of $15,000 between high and low bids opened at the City Council meeting here for 36 mercury vapor lights to be installed on Bridge Street.

A variety of bids was asked, including the completed job, materials only and for 1000 watt and 700 watt luminaires.

Low bidder for the completed job, 1000 watt, was Clifton Engineering of Three Rivers. Clifton's bid was $27,604.43. High bidder was Davis Electric with $42,604.

The bids were turned over to City Superintendent James Taylor for tabulation and evaluation. They will be considered by the Utilities Committee before the next Council meeting.

COUNCIL also discussed ways of extending a sewer line to Meadow Park subdivision which is being planned on the former Edward's Greenhouse property east of May Street by James Richey.

The alternatives appear to be constructing an extension of the May Street sewer or trying to with the right-of-way sewer line in Meadow Lane.

Mayor Fochtman read a report from John M. Holland of the engineering firm McNamee, Porter and Seelye which has made a survey of South Side sewer needs to the effect that no federal aid funds are presently available for the type of sewer project Charlevoix has in mind.

Fochtman asked City Attorney John Michael to check with Congressman Phil

Ruppe's office in Washington, D.C., to find out exactly what funds are available. The possibility of floating a bond issue to finance the project was discussed.

MELVIN SAUNDERS attended the meeting to inquire what the possibility of extending sewer line to a housing project he has been considering on the south side of Garfield. He was told the prospects are not good.

THE COUNCIL also named Taylor as official "street administrator" to deal with the State Highway Department on all road problems.

MAJOR FOCHTMAN, City Attorney Michael and several Council members appeared irritated that the Planning Firm of Williams and Works seem to be dragging its feet in coming up with recommendations on two problems facing the Council, namely rezoning of the west side of State Street and a city building code.

About six weeks ago it was learned that the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission's application for federal funds had been turned down. Williams and Works is the commission's planning consultant. A month ago, city and township officials flew to Washington to request that the application be reconsidered. No further word has been heard on the matter.

ALDERMEN also approved a contract with the State Waterways Commission covering construction of a restroom and shower facilities for yachtsmen in East Park. The state will pay 38 percent of the cost, up to $19,000.

Girl Scouting 55 Years Old

CHARLEVOIX -- Mayor William Fochtman has proclaimed March 12 through 18 as Girl Scout Week in the city of Charlevoix.

To celebrate the 55th anniversary of Girl Scouting, all Girl Scouts in the city will attend church in groups March 12.

Catholic girls will attend the 8:30 mass at St. Mary's and all others will meet at the Baptist Church at 10:45.

THE GIRL SCOUT movement in the United States was started in 1912 when 12 young girls gathered at the home of Juliette Low in Savannah, Ga. They became the first Girl Scout troop in America.

Two Added to Draft Call

CHARLEVOIX -- Two additional men have been added to Charlevoix County's draft levy for March, according to Selective Service Board Secretary Mrs. Ronald Balch.

They are Stewart L. Manzer of Boyne Falls and Ronald D. Russell of Charlevoix. They will leave for induction March 21.

John C. Tuomela and John A. Kortan, Jr., both of Charlevoix, left March 7.

Parents Invited to Visit Classes

CHARLEVOIX--The Student Council will be in charge of tonight's meeting of the PTA for students in the Junior and Senior High School, according to PTA President Rev. George Majors.

After a school orientation program in the cafeteria, parents will be allowed to go through their child's complete class schedule, attending each class for 10 minutes before a bell rings and they move on to the next.

Teachers will be on hand in each classroom to explain the curriculum and answer questions.

The meeting starts at 8 p.m. and must be over by 9:30.

St. Marys Set for Pat's Feast

CHARLEVOIX--Plans have been completed for the annual St. Patrick's Day dinner to be held at St. Mary's School Sunday, March 12, from noon until 3 p.m.

Corned beef and cabbage--an Irish favorite--is on the menu, along with ham, roasted Irish potatoes, vegetables, salad, home made rolls, bread and pie.

Family tickets cost $7. Individually, adult tickets are $1.75 and child 17 and under tickets for children under 10 cost 75 cents.

Rev. Albert F. Mansen

To Install New Pastor

CHARLEVOIX -- The Rev. Albert F. Mansen will be installed as pastor of the Charlevoix Community Reformed Church Thursday, March 9, at 8:30 p.m.

The Rev. Raymond Schapp, president of the Muskegon Classis, will be in charge of the service.

Rev. Mansen comes to Charlevoix from the Jamestown Reformed Church near Grand Rapids.

A NATIVE of Edinville, Iowa, Rev. Mansen attended Northwestern College at Orange City, Iowa, and Hope College and Western Seminary in Holland, Mich.

In addition to the Jamestown church, he has served as pastor of churches in Martin and Hamilton, Mich., and Friesland, Wis.

HE AND his wife, Donna, have three children: Albert James, 25, is with the Air Force in Texas; Julian is a nurse living in Charlevoix; and Thomas, 16, is in the 11th grade at Charlevoix High School.

Church dignitaries expected to attend the ceremony are the Rev. James Bos of Lucas, Mich.; the Rev. A.G. Van Zandt of Glen Lake, Mich.; the Rev. Lambert Olgars of Falmouth, Mich.; the Rev. Jacob Just of Traverse City, Mich.; and the Rev. Ronald Van Der Werf of Atwood, Mich.

Hearing Resumes in Fatal Shooting

CHARLEVOIX--A hearing to determine whether Probate Court or Circuit Court shall have jurisdiction over a 16-year-old boy involved in a fatal shooting in Charlevoix last week was scheduled to resume this morning.

The hearing started March 3, but was recessed for four days by Probate Judge John Makel.

THE BOY was taken into custody early Feb. 27 after Miss Connie Nichols, 17, of Charlevoix was found shot to death outside the Charlevoix Motel on May Street.

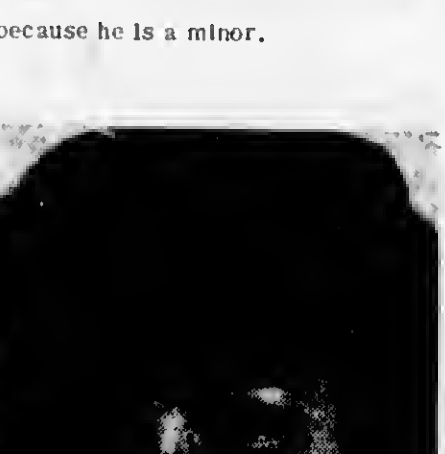

Motel owner Frank Smith, 51, and Miss Virginia Yell, 20, are being tried at Charlevoix Hospital for rifle wounds.

The youth is being held in Charlevoix County Jail pending outcome of the jurisdictional hearing.

CHARLEVOIX County Prosecutor Harvey Varnum, who has petitioned Judge Makel to waive jurisdiction in the case, said he has talked to Miss Yell and hopes to get a statement from Smith this week.

He said he can't tell what actions may be taken in the case until all the evidence is in.

The boy's name has not been made public because he is a minor.

Connie Nichols

FUNERAL for the victim was held March 2 from St. Elizabeth Catholic Church in Tecumseh.

She was the daughter of Mrs. Helen Nichols Smith of Alanson and the late Charles Nichols.

He died in a traffic accident July 23, 1957.

Miss Nichols was born in Tecumseh July 19, 1949, and attended St. Elizabeth Catholic School there. She also attended Clinton Public School.

She moved to Alanson from Tecumseh about a year ago.

Miss Nichols was last in Tecumseh Feb. 4 to attend the funeral of her grandfather, Henry McKenzie.

She was a member of St. Elizabeth Church.

IN ADDITION to her mother, she is survived by her grandparents, Mr. Mabel Nichols and Mrs. Henry McKenzie both of Tecumseh; a sister, Bonnie, of Alanson; and two brothers, Ronald of Tecumseh and Donald of Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Rosary was recited at the Proctor Funeral Home in Tecumseh Feb. 28 and burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Consolidation Gains Favor, Group Told

By Carole Walasky

EAST JORDAN -- Favorable reports on possible consolidation moves fell on receptive ears Monday night at the Charlevoix Advisory Committee meeting.

Sounding out Boyne City and Charlevoix on the matter, Keith Amear, Clayton Maloney and Ted Malpass said there appeared to be interest by the school boards in merging.

Healey, who contacted Boyne City last month, said, "I found considerable interest there in a merger."

SUPERINTENDENT MaxDamoah added that East Jordan and Boyne City school boards will meet soon to discuss consolidation.

Amear, who went to Charlevoix, reported that they were "not disinterested" in merging.

Malpass, who polled the school faculty and administration for their opinions on consolidation, said both groups supported a merger of some sort unanimously.

Strengthening Malpass's finding was a show of hands taken at the meeting which found the committee favoring consolidation 32 to 6.

HEALEY CITED needs of the present school system which could be met through consolidation. Among them was the need for:

- A comprehensive vocational education program close to area residents.

- Special facilities to handle both mental and physical handicapped children.

Pre-School Registration Is March 17

CHARLEVOIX--Enrollment of children who will enter kindergarten next September will be held March 17, according to Elementary School Principal Glenn B. Snider.

Snider said the enrollment is being held early to determine what the school needs will be next year. A large enrollment is expected because of the incoming Medusa Cement Plant families.

PARENTS of children whose last name begins with any letter from "A" through "K" are asked to register preschoolers between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. All others should register between 1 and 3 p.m.

The child's birth certificate and immunization record are required.

MRS. JEANNE MILES, school and community nurse, will be present to confer with parents and begin school health records.

The 1960 Michigan Immunization Law requires proof of vaccinations, triple shots (including diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough) measles shots, tuberculosis testing, and polio shots or vaccine. The record should be signed by a doctor and will become a part of the child's permanent school health record.

TO BE ELIGIBLE for kindergarten in the fall, a child must be five years old by Dec. 1, 1967.

No kindergarten classes will be held March 17 to allow teachers to assist with the enrollment.

Future Tool, Die Men Crack Books at E.J.

EAST JORDAN -- After 2,500 hours of algebra, trig, blueprint reading and tool and die work, only the hard core remains in East Jordan's Tool, Die and Machinist Apprenticeship School.

The end is not in immediate sight of 168 hours of school a year. If he doesn't attend classes related to his shopwork, he can be removed from his job on the recommendation of local vocational education officials.

Local Firemen Helped Battle Petoskey Blaze

CHARLEVOIX--Eight firemen and one fire truck from Charlevoix kindred men and equipment from throughout the area in battling the fire in downtown Petoskey Sunday evening, according to Fire Chief John Curtis.

Charlevoix firemen who answered the call for help from Petoskey were Al Hergmann, Pat Martin, Dan Genett, George Lusk, Jack Moll, Ren Gill, Don Meggison and Dewey Bruch.

THE FIRE destroyed the annex of the Medusa Cement Plant Store and the Gidley Drug Store.

Damage estimated range up to $250,000. Flames from the spectacular blaze climbed 120 feet in the air and were visible for miles.

EAST JORDAN Tool and Die now has about two-thirds of its workers enrolled.

HOME ECONOMICS teacher Nancy Anderson helps Eleanor Scott set a sleeve in last Jordan's Wednesday night sewing class. The class is part of the adult education program.

Fem-Levity These Are a Few of My Favorite Men

By Grace Ann McDaniel

I've been nuts about Leonard Bernstein for years and not just because he's so musical. I love Senator Dirksen because he makes me feel so secure while I'm begging for my rightful place in the bass section. I wish Harry Reasoner lived next door. It would be great to have him stick his head through my kitchen window and tell me what in the world is going on.

I've always had my little ever-changing list of favorite men. It all started in kindergarten and was then pretty limited to the roll call. It fluctuated daily depending on who pushed me the hardest or stole my lunch.

ABOUT THE WILD age of 12 I found myself setting through double feature Roy Rogers movies and hating to go home. I kept telling myself that Dale Evans was really his mother. Television became big just in time to see me swooning on the living room carpet over Hopalong Cassidy. I have you ever been joyous over a horse? Forget it, it's not very flattering. There was a Jon Hall who had my mind in a vice for about two weeks. He was the star in a movie entitled "Atadn and His Lamp" and I've never heard of him since.

I went through a six year blue period when my failure in school could largely be traced to my devout interest in my male teachers. The big spouts in the letter sweaters weren't any help either. I acquired a nautical crush on a golden glow lighter but it dwindled when I met him up close and he turned out to be a nice guy. There were a few weird and rather shady characters which appeared during this time, too, which I've rationalized as having made my life a little more colorful.

NOW MY LIST is somewhat more sophisticated. At least I've eliminated the cowboys and the Disney characters no longer do much for me. I must mention Prince Phillip. I couldn't tell you the color of her hair but I know all about how he walks with his hands behind his back. My mother instinct is responsible for my interest in Jack Lemmon and Anthony Perkins. Paul Newman and Sean Connery have nothing whatsoever to do with my mother instinct. I could go on and on but the dirty dishes are stacked in the sink and who am I trying to fool?

I'd like to do a column on my favorite women but I'm having difficulty getting past Phyllis Diller.

It seems like everyone I know is going to the dentist these days. I don't know if there's a two for one sale on or what, but everyone I see with teeth lately has a frozen jaw.

Last week I was feeling left out since I haven't seen my dentist yet this month. So in the semi-privacy of my bathroom I share with my cat, you know I opened my mouth and examined the contents in the mirror.

Everything appeared to be in working order. At least everything was as when I last remembered leaving it.

IT'S NOT that I was looking for trouble. Not at all.

No matter how painless my dentist tells me he is, I still break out in a cold sweat thinking of him and his tools. I think he has every known tool to mankind from a silver toothpick to a monkey wrench in his office. And he has to arrange them all so neatly in front of me on that little round table while I sit helplessly in the chair.

And cotton. I think my dentist has a corner on the world cotton market. He shuffles at least 18 pounds in my mouth in one sitting.

What bothers me most is the way he smiles as he zooms in for the attack with his super-sonic-high-powered drill.

THEN, of course, there's the picking. The endless pick, pick, pick. Sometimes I think my dentist is a frustrated Colton the way he picks and chisels. I'm sure one of these days I'll get home and find another "David" in my mouth to rival Michaelangelo's.

However, I really can't complain that much. My dentist is really a nice man—I think. At least he has good magazines.

IF you happen to visit my dentist, the first thing he'll ask you is "Have you been eating candy again?" (Don't know why I bothered mentioning it because you'll never visit my dentist. No one knows he exists but me. He operates out of a dingy, dark cubicle two floors above a laundromat down street. The only other person I've seen there is the mailman when he delivers the magazines.

HOWEVER, I got tired of being picked on everytime I went there because I eat candy, so I concocted some candy that sounds like some sort of health food that helps grow teeth. Actually it's terrible on the teeth. It also doesn't taste very good, but anyway it sounds healthy.

— Sesame Seed Peanut Brittle.

Since I told him all the candy I ever eat is sesame seed peanut brittle he's only been stuffing 16 pounds of cotton in my mouth.

SESAME SEED PEANUT BRITTLE

Two cups sugar
1 cup cream of tartar
1 cup water
Two tbsp. molasses
Two tbsp. butter
1 tsp. salt
One cup salted peanuts
1 tsp. soda
1 cup sesame seeds

Cook the sugar, cream of tartar and water in a heavy skillet without stirring to 280 degrees or until a drop of the mixture cracks in cold water. Stir in molasses, butter and salt and cook to 300 degrees or until a drop of the mixture, becomes brittle in cold water.

Remove and add the nuts and soda. Pour into a buttered shallow pan and sprinkle with sesame seeds. When cold, break into pieces.

This makes fifty pieces or enough to really decay your teeth.

Facial Sauna Available Here

Fashion and beauty experts around the world are calling this the era of the "natural look." The clean, fresh, glowing complexion is replacing the "made up" face.

Helping women to clear up their complexions and achieve that natural look is the Sauna Facial, now featured at the Wal-Mart Center, Oleon's Shopping Center.

A semi-portable beauty appliance called the Sauna Facial Sauna, it is first used to create a comfortable, controlled warm "beauty mist" around the face and throat. Then, with opening pores and gently washing away impurities leaving the skin clear, the heat relaxes facial muscles.

After this treatment, beauty preparations especially made to use on warm, moist skin are applied to close pores and add moisture, tone and sensitize to the skin.

Expanded curriculum.

He said that all of these needs could be met through consolidation.

Healey added, "Let's face it. The power in the legislature lies in the cities and they want us to consolidate, it's either reorganize by ourselves or be pushed into it."

He added that in 1959 area rural schools combined to create the present East Jordan school.

"The idea of reorganization is nothing new. It worked out in 1929 and there's no reason why it can't work out now."

REPORTS from sub-committee members were given.

Bill Bennett, of the building sub-committee, said his group found a lack of science, shop and business class equipment.

"The library also lacks shelving space. The shop needs an extra room. There are not enough elementary rooms. There is a serious lack of storage space," he reported.

Joe Hammond said his curriculum group is compiling its findings and hopes to complete a list of recommendations and costs involved by April.

ALDERMAN Del Terrill told the Council of a Mott Foundation program under which the city and the school district would be able to hire a full time, year-round recreation and adult education coordinator. The foundation will train the man and pay up to $5,000 a year toward the program.

Terrill said the Charlevoix Board of Education was going to discuss the program. The Council decided to wait and see what recommendation the board makes.

Board Looks Ahead at Ellsworth

ELLSWORTH -- Although annexation and millage issues have the school board tied up in knots, members went full steam ahead planning for next year at Monday's meeting.

The board is presently waiting for a reply from Charlevoix on annexation. Once they know one way or the other, the board will be able to plan next year in detail.

"Keep digging," he added.

IF ANNEXATION is turned down by Charlevoix or the village voters, the board will have to come up with another millage proposal. Presently there are no funds for next year.

However, the board agreed to continue planning as best they could for next year. And plan they did.

THE BOARD approved the tenure of Mrs. Litsen, Miss Veenstra and Miss Dickerson.

A recommendation to continue teacher negotiations was approved.

The board moved to accept $256,40 worth of science equipment purchased through the National Educational Defense Act. The equipment includes coffee glass plates, weights, pulleys, electrodes and a portable atom chart.

Superintendent Nelson Spedman said the government would finance about 50 percent of the cost, putting Ellsworth's bill at $126. The board closed their meeting with tentative agreement to continue the summer athletic program.

City to Swap With Bellaire

CHARLEVOIX -- The City Council agreed informally to swap mayors with Bellaire during the annual Mayor's Exchange May 22. The occasion is a part of Michigan Week.

Mayor William Footman and other city officials will visit Bellaire, while Bellaire officials give Charlevoix the once-over.

ELLSWORTH -- Pay raises for village trustees and the president were voted in by the council Monday night.

The council decided to raise their pay from $7 to $10 per meeting. The president will continue receiving $100 extra per year.

Increased incentive for holding a council position was given for the reason of the pay hike. (In Monday's general election, all trustees ran unopposed.)

Village Clerk Neil Kruse read the election results:

President, Marvin Wynsma, 42 votes; Clerk, Neil Kruse, 40 votes; William VanderArk, one write in vote; Treasurer, Anthony Shooks, 42 votes; Trustee, Walter Root, 42 votes; Trustee, Arthur Dreth, 41 votes; Trustee, Earl Denney, 41 votes; Assessor, Henry Elzinga, 42 votes.

Earl Denney replaces Maynard Alward who declined not to run for trustee.

IN OTHER action, President Wynsma read Kruse's resignation. Kruse, who has been the clerk for five years, said he is moving to Fenville and his resignation will become effective March 31.

Walter VanderArk was appointed to fill the vacant position.

THE COUNCIL decided to hold its annual dinner honoring the new and old council members March 23 at the Rowe Inn.

Levi Donaldson appeared recommending one hour parking on the south side of the business district. He said many business owners tie up their own space all day making it impossible for shoppers to park.

The council approved the recommendation.

Fire equipment including six lights, six sirens and four pairs of boots were purchased. Estimated cost to the village was put at $130. The council will ask the voters to pay another $130 toward the cost.

Council members agreed to contact business owners and request they close their establishments from noon until 3 p.m. on Good Friday.

Bills totaling $2,466.21 were approved.

City to Host Quarterfinal

CHARLEVOIX -- Charlevoix High School gym has been selected as the site of the quarterfinal between Cheboygan Catholic and Ewen United (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m.

The selection was announced Monday by Charles Forsythe, State Director of Athletics.

Superintendent Rex Milligan says Cheboygan has asked for 800 tickets and 300, leaving about 400 tickets for Charlevoix area residents. Admission is $1.

Ewen is located in the western Upper Peninsula in the Porcupine Mountains area.

E. J. Income Tax Would Overshoot Goal

(The following analysis of East Jordan's proposed city income tax was prepared by Courier Reporter Carole Walasky.)

East Jordan's proposed city income tax involves much more than just taking one percent out of every resident's paycheck earned in the city.

Besides dipping into corporate profits and possibly scaring away industry, the tax may also increase employee shortages by a large number.

Council members unanimously approved to receive enough revenue to fill a deficit created by a two mill decrease on property tax. A simple look at figures reveals millage would have to be cut by much more.

AN AVERAGE East Jordanian employed in the city will pay almost 25 percent more in taxes if the tax is adopted and he receives a two mill decrease.

Mr. Doe is continuing his investigation. He is being assisted by Charlevoix Police and the County Sheriff's Department.

A witness reported seeing Mr. Washegic walking in the street not more than three minutes before he was discovered by two neighborhood boys.

Funeral was Saturday from St. Mary's Church, the Rev. Francis Denay officiating. Interment was in Brookside Cemetery. Born on Beaver Island May 27, 1913. Continued on page 14

Board Votes to Accept Pupils From Ellsworth

CHARLEVOIX -- The Charlevoix Board of Education voted unanimously Monday night to approve the annexation of Ellsworth schools to Charlevoix schools, pending approval of the Ellsworth voters.

Under the law, the board could have asked the people of Charlevoix to vote on the issue, but the final decision would be left to the board.

The board apparently acted on its own in order to expedite the annexation without further delay. Ellsworth must act promptly on the issue, since all of its school operating millage expires with the school year.

ELLSWORTH Superintendent of Schools Nelson Spedman attended the meeting and said that a vote will be taken in Ellsworth "as soon as possible."

Charlevoix Superintendent Rex Milligan reported that a study during the past two weeks revealed there would be no serious roadblocks to the annexation. He said if the annexation goes through, some elementary school children living in the Charlevoix District probably would attend the school in Ellsworth since it is closer to their homes.

At the last open meeting of the board, Milligan said that the annexation would mean an additional $3.49 in state aid for Charlevoix students and a decrease in tax revenue per pupil of $11.05.

TV TEACHING has come to Charlevoix. Above, students in Mrs. Frank Cleary's third and fourth grade room stand to sing during Central Michigan University music program. See Story on Pg. 11.

Motel Slaying Await Ruling Today on Juvenile's Status

CHARLEVOIX -- A decision is expected sometime today by Probate Judge John Makiel on whether he will retain custody of a 16-year-old boy involved in the fatal shooting of 17-year-old Connie Louise Nichols at the Charlevoix Motel Feb. 27.

Judge Makiel is acting on a petition by County Prosecutor Harvey C. Varnum asking that the boy be turned over to Circuit Court to be tried as an adult.

TWO OTHER persons were injured in the shooting incident. They are Frank Smith, 51, owner of the motel, and Miss Virginia Yell, 20.

Smith is recuperating at Charlevoix Hospital from a severe abdominal wound. Miss Yell has been released from the hospital to the custody of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Yell of Petoskey.

A 15-HOUR hearing on Varnum's petition was concluded at midnight March 8. In a statement after the hearing, Makiel said:

"Testimony has now been obtained from all available witnesses at the various Donkey Game Is March 25

CHARLEVOIX -- A donkey basketball game between the Charlevoix Junior-Senior High School teachers and other males in the community will be held Saturday March 25 at the high school gymnasium at 7:30 p.m.

The two teams will compete against each other on the backs of live donkeys. Referees will be equipped with electric prods to make sure there's plenty of action.

The animals will wear rubber shoes and diapers to protect the gym floor, according to Del Terrill who is arranging the game.

Howard Otis Joins Scheid Kusina Adds Two to Staff

CHARLEVOIX -- Howard Otis of Charlevoix has joined the sales staff at Scheid Realty.

Otis is a graduate of Farmington, Mich. He has spent his summers in Charlevoix for the past 20 years and has been a permanent resident for two years.

HE IS a graduate of Culver Military Academy, Kalamazoo College, the University of Michigan and the Detroit College of Law.

Wynsma is general sales manager and Empey is general service manager.

Wynsma presently is Ellsworth village president. He plans to move to Charlevoix as soon as he can find a home here. He has been in auto sales work all his life.

Empey formerly worked for Kusina and has operated his own auto service business.

Kusina Motors, owned by Ed Kusina, sells Pontiacs, Cadillacs and Ramblers and used cars.

Suggest Hours on Good Friday

CHARLEVOIX -- The Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Ministerial Association suggests those stores and businesses of Charlevoix able to do so close from noon until 3 p.m. on Friday, March 24, for Good Friday services.

Property in the City Will be Taxed

Dividends, interest, commissions, stock pay, and vacation pay will be taxed.

Add all of these taxes to the payroll tax and the city will receive far more than deficit created by a cut of two mills.

RESIDENT PROPERTY OWNERS AND EMPLOYEES

To illustrate the effect of a city income tax on resident property owners and employees and mythical person, Mr. Doe, has been created.

Mr. Doe is an average person. He pays average millage taxes. He earns an average income. He has an average family of four.

Mr. Doe paid $70 in millage this year. (East Jordan collected $84,624 in millage for the general fund. Divide this amount by 1,200--the number of property descriptions on file--and average millage of $70 is found.)

Islander Wins Radio in Contest

DEARBORN --- Michael Crawford of Beaver Island has won a Philco transistor radio in Ford Motor Company's "Safe Driving Incentive Program for Young Americans."

More than 3,200 young drivers across the country received awards to the program. Winners qualified for awards by driving without accidents or moving traffic violations from July 1 to September 30 of last year. They also answered a quiz on driving rules and practices, and wrote brief essays on personal programs for safe driving.

"It was gratifying to learn that so many young Americans share our concern for traffic safety," Henry Ford II, chairman of the board, said.

The company awarded 15
Mercury Caliente hardtops, 15
Mustang hardtops, 200 Philco portable stereo phonographs and 3,000 Philco transistor radios in the competition. Under a similar program, 10 cars, 30 phonographs and 200 radios were awarded to members of families who work for Ford, its subsidiaries, dealers and advertising agencies.

Cadillac has an entry in every price range.

High-price.

Medium-price.

Low-price.

No matter what price car you are planning to buy, you owe it to yourself to consider Cadillac. First, there is the great new 1967 Cadillac. Noticeably more agile in its handling, smoother and quieter in its operation, more luxurious in its appointments... it is by far the finest Cadillac in history. However, if a new Cadillac is presently not feasible, your authorized dealer now has a wide selection of previously owned Cadillacs at just about any price you wish to pay. And that price will buy more luxury, distinction and motoring pleasure than a similarly priced car of lesser stature. For example, both the 1965 and 1964 models shown provide you with a big 340-horsepower V-8 engine... Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission... power brakes and steering... cornering lights... and many other conveniences. So when you think of your next car—think of Cadillac. New or previously owned, in whatever price range you choose, Cadillac is sure to reward you with unsurpassed motoring enjoyment.

THE HOLY BIBLE WAS HER TEXT

The daily life of the Pioneer Woman was a full and busy one. Danger was ever present—and a matter of providing food and clothing, while carving a new home out of the wilderness, was a stupendous problem.

The pioneer woman, however, had time for training her children and the Holy Bible was her text. It was through her influence that a church soon followed the building of a new settlement.

Although faced with tasks each and every day that would swamp the modern woman she had time to go to church and she took her family with her.

She bore and trained sons and daughters who produced a mighty nation. If she could and did find time to take her children to church, it is doubly important that the parents of today do so, that their children may learn to maintain and preserve that heritage gained at such great odds.

Cabbages and Things

By Carole Walasky

About the only time my apartment ever really sees the light of day is when my parents visit me. Then I go into action—the beds get moved and swept under, the bathroom gets cleaned to death, and the refrigerator gets defrosted, the toaster gets defrosted and my wooden box gets out of his spear glued back in place—poor Don loses his spear everytime I go whirling past the coffee table and knock him off.

I'm not really a sloppy person—I just live comfortably. If I take my shoes off and don't feel like putting them away, I don't bother. I know I'll get around to putting them away eventually—about as soon as I find it easier to navigate around my closet than inside my living room.

I'm also a door knob hater. Belts, sweaters, gloves—they all find their resting place on the nearest door knob. My dad says when I build a house I won't need any knobs, just a wall of door knobs.

However, my door knob appears like the shoes, eventually gets taken care of. When it becomes something of an obstacle race to reach the front door, everything goes back where it belongs.

Last week my parents called and said they were coming up for the weekend. So I made the necessary adjustments around my place and waited for their arrival Saturday morning.

Up they came armed with my annual Easter basket (that's another story) and assorted tools for repairing anything that was broken—four-fifths of everything I own. They started in on my pole lamp. It's a strange looking thing with three lights that only shine in one direction—down. Everything above the three foot level is in total darkness.

So I had my dad disassemble it and set it back up with the lights shining on the ceiling. It looked fine except now everything below three feet was in total darkness.

My mom insisted it was more useful shining down since I could read by the light.

I insisted that it stay pointed up (atmosphere, you know). Besides, the darkness would hide all of the shoes I'd have laying around a week after they left.

My sister, who always takes my side, suggested if I wanted to read with the lights shining on the ceiling, I should fashion a shadow cage to my shadow cage to my shadow cage. Then I could hang by the ceiling and read.

The only two persons who didn't care to comment on the situation was Buckles—our poodle who looks like he's human—and my dad.

Buckles was too busy trying to figure out what to do with a jelly bean he found on the floor.

My dad, who follows a policy of containment with three women around, was preoccupied with assembling and disassembling operations. However, my dad solved the whole crisis by simply hammering one of the lights down and leaving the other two up. (I guess the rest of us were too busy talking to think of that.)

Anyway, we made it through the pole lamp conflict with no casualties.

We also survived the weekend quite well with foot supplies my mom brought along. (After the stuff I passed off as foot the last time they were here, they decided rather to be safe than sorry.)

As a result, I now have a refrigerator full of ham, hard boiled eggs, rolls, cake and

Spring House Cleaning Fever

by Grace Ann McDaniel

The doorbell rang and I tore myself away from the laundry room to answer it. I opened the door slowly and was delighted to see my neighbor. "I'm so glad to see you. My spring house cleaning is long overdue and I'm afraid a man from the Board of Health will be coming around to take a condemned sign on our front door."

She followed me back down to the basement. "I see what you mean. It looks like something out of Edgar Allan Poe down here."

"Well the cobwebs add so much atmosphere. I figured a wine cellar would be a good idea."

"I was wondering if we were liable as she crawled over lumber and summer screens to find a place to sit. I know what you're going through and I might be able to give you some advice," she purred. "It would improve your outlook if you'd start with the windows, but you'll have to stir around down here plenty to find the step ladder and chisel."

"I made sense to me so I asked if she'd kindly follow me through the rest of the house for additional suggestions. When we hit the kitchen landing I grabbed a pad and pencil to make notes. I said I thought a fresh coat of paint should pretty well spruce things up."

"Nonsense, my dear, all it needs is a pall of hot soapy water and a little elbow grease."

family living, the exchange students live with families native to the country. Classes are taught within a college preparatory curriculum.

Beginning with the summer of her sophomore junior year, Linda will study in Mexico City for three months. The following year she may study in South America, Europe, or Japan for the summer or 18th year high school work after graduation in one of these places.

ALTHOUGH Miss Maurer is excited about the trips, traveling is nothing new to her, since her father's government work involves moving, her family has traveled and lived throughout the country.

She moved with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Maurer, to East Jordan from Newberry two years ago. Prior to that, she lived in California and Detroit.

THE PROGRAM is under the Youth for Understanding program which also includes international students to the U.S., American Students to Europe, Mexico, South America, 15th Year Abroad, Youth for Understanding Curale and the Mexican Exchange.

The inter-racial program is jointly sponsored by the Michigan and Ann Arbor Council of Churches. Miss Maurer is a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in East Jordan.

STUDENTS are chosen for the exchange on the basis of maturity, scholastic record, and activities in school, church and community.

Participants are also requested to have at least two years of Spanish for study in the Latin countries.

TV Teaching Comes of Age

CHARLEVOIX—The television screen is more than a means of entertainment for youngsters at St. Mary's Parochial School.

Several times a week it becomes their instructor as well as their entertainer in such fields as art, music, science and social studies.

The TV experiment at St. Mary's is only seven months old, according to Sister Martin Forre, school principal, but already it has won the enthusiastic support of the school faculty.

"TAKE MUSIC, for example," she says. "Our youngsters are getting an opportunity to see and hear musical instruments it would be impossible for the school to own."

Furthermore, the instruction is handled by experts in their fields, programmed in a way to create a wealth of material into a short span of time.

SISTER MARTIN is particularly enthusiastic about the art program which is picked up from Central Michigan University via channel 10 at Sault Ste. Marie. Her first and second graders listen in once a week.

Entitled "Art and You," the program is conducted from CMU by Mrs. Linda Binkley who projects herself into TV equipped classrooms around the state.

One recent class was on a subject she called "elicitery," her synonym for "embroidery." Although Mrs. Binkley appeared only on the screen, the rapport she established with the youngsters was amazing.

"How many of your mothers sew," she asked, peering from the screen. A dozen small hands flew in the air. Just as though Mrs. Binkley were in the room with them.

She went on to explain how to thread a needle and make several simple stitches. She then suggested that the youngsters try some "elicitery" themselves using burlap and yarn.

"WE ALWAYS follow up

ST. MARY'S students in the first and second grades receive art instruction via TV from Central Michigan University every Thursday morning. Friday, the youngsters put their new learning to use with art projects of their own. The program has been in effect since last September.

type of material offered on television is limited. She doesn't believe it would work well in the teaching or reading or phonics.

But for group-type instruction it is excellent.

Church Plans Easter Play

CHARLEVOIX—The young people of the First Baptist Church of Charlevoix will present a play entitled "The Shadow of Peter" March 26, Easter, at 7:30 p.m. at the church.

"The Shadow of Peter" is a biblical drama directed by Richard Baker. It centers around the crucifixion and a young man who denied Christ and followed the Romans.

ST. PATRICK'S Day was celebrated early by members of St. Mary's parish. The annual Irish dinner was served Sunday in the school cafeteria.

RESOLUTION FOR DISCONTINUATION OF (STREET) ADMINISTRATION
Alderman Robert Gill offered the following resolution and moved its adoption.

Whereas, Section 13 (c) of Act 51, Public Acts of 1961 provides that each incorporated city and village to which funds are returned under provisions of this section, that "the responsibility for all street improvements, maintenance and traffic operation work shall be coordinated by a single administrator to be designated by the governing body who shall be responsible for and shall represent the municipality in all negotiations with the State Highway Commission pursuant to the provisions of this Act."

Therefore, be it resolved, that this Honorable Body designate James Taylor as the single (street) administrator for the City of Charlevoix in all transactions with the State Highway Commission as provided in Section 13 of the Act.

Motion adopted by the following Yeas and Nays: Yeas: Aldermen Gill, Mol, Terrill and Boss; Nays: None. Absent: Aldermen Neff and Whitley.

RESOLUTION
That the City of Charlevoix does hereby accept the terms of the Agreement as received from the Michigan State Waterways Commission, a Division of the Department of Conservation, and that the City does hereby specifically agree, but not by way of limitation, as follows:

1. To appropriate the sum of FIFTY-ONE THOUSAND ($51,000.00) DOLLARS to make the grant authorized by the Waterways Commission and to appropriate such additional funds as shall be necessary to complete the project.

Coast Guardsmen Help Fire Victims

PETOKEY--Two men assigned to the Charlevoix Coast Guard station helped remove valuables from two apartments on Mitchell Street here during the fire which destroyed the McLeellan Store annex and the Gilday Drug Store March 5.

They are FA Craig Richards, 20, and SA Steve Anonon, 19.

The Coast Guardsmen were driving in the downtown section about 4:30 p.m. when they noticed the building was on fire.

They parked in front of the Sears Store and helped apartment residents remove TV sets, radios, a tape recorder, a sewing machine, an electric piano, clothing and money from two apartments.

ONE OF THE residents, an unidentified woman, told them she was terrified. They let her sit in the car while they made several trips upstairs into her smoke-filled apartment to remove valuables.

They wrapped T-shirts over their mouths to keep from breathing the smoke. They also ached water from the bathtub on the smoking floor and walls.

THEY LATER moved the woman's belongings to the home of a friend on N. Mitchell Street.

Anonon has spent most of his two years in the Coast Guard at the Charlevoix Station. Richards has been at Charlevoix about six months. He enlisted in the Coast Guard last year.

Anonon is a native of Minneapolis, Minn. Richards' home is in Akron, Ohio.

Elaine Martin Is Working as Student Teacher

KALAMAZOO -- More than half of Kalamazoo College's seniors are spending the winter quarter away from the campus in Kalamazoo.

Among them is Elaine Martin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Martin, 304 E. Dixon Ave., who is student teaching German at Hillsdale Junior High School in Kalamazoo.

As part of Kalamazoo's plan for year-around education, each senior is required to spend either the fall or winter quarter doing research for a thesis or practice teaching.

Congratulations, Mrs. Webb

A new era in Charlevoix's city government may be dawning with the nomination of Mrs. Marie Webb to the City Council.

So far as our records go, Mrs. Webb is the first woman in the history of Charlevoix to try for a seat on the City Council. Her election on the April ballot is a virtual certainty, since she is running without opposition.

And judging from the overwhelming primary vote she garnered, North Siders feel they have a strong candidate.

WE BELIEVE it's high time the staff members of the community began taking a more active role in civic affairs. Judging from their excellence in other fields, Charlevoix undoubtedly has an untapped wealth of talent waiting to serve the public in its female population.

East Jordan already is benefiting from the services of her able mayor, Mrs. Bette Robertson. We are confident that the election of Mrs. Webb augurs well for city government in Charlevoix.

Watch Those School Buses

Mrs. Leo Drewa thinks that drivers and children may be suffering from a case of spring fever now that warmer weather has arrived.

Twice in the past week she has noticed cars falling to stop for the school bus while it was stopped in front of her home on U.S. 31 to let off children.

Complicating the problem are the towering snowbanks which hide children from the driver's view and incoming traffic from the eyes of youngsters -- particularly around curves.

STATE LAW requires that all traffic -- coming and going -- stop when the school bus stops to pick up or discharge passengers. The buses are equipped with flashing lights to alert other drivers when the bus is about to stop.

Spring-like weather and dry pavements are an invitation to open up the old buggy and take the winter kinks out of her. The distractions of spring also might cause some youngsters to forget what they know about traffic safety.

As important as traffic safety is the year 'round, spring is a good time to brush up on safe driving -- and safe pedestrian -- practices.

WE CAN'T Let It Happen Again

History of Bridge Street and Charlevoix Harbor

Chapter VI

By P.D. Campbell

On the corner of Park Avenue and Bridge Street which is now part of the Hess business is a brick building built by Ed Burnett and occupied by the A. T. Burnett drygoods store. Burnett had a fire about 1906 or '07 which cleaned it out pretty well.

Then the First State Bank started there by a Mr. Terrell who lived upstairs. The next afternoon we have it that Len Adams bought the place and put in a cigar store and card room. Adams also had an ice cream parlor and made his own cream. About 1916, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wojciechowski opened a restaurant on the site. Hess Furniture followed.

THE SMALL building at the rear of Adams was used as a residence for years and an Allard family lived there at one time, and also a family named Seibel. A Miss Elsie once had a tea room there. She later had a tea room on Clifton Street where the Christian Science Church now stands. That place was the old First Meyers home. The first mention house was occupied by a Harrington family.

BACK TO THE Hess Building on the corner. In the very early beginning we find that Lottie Martin and Effie Berdan had a drygoods store there. Effie Berdan married A. E. Clayton and they had a drygoods store in the E. H. Green Building on the east side of Bridge Street opposite the County Bank. Lottie Martin married Judd Markham. The building is now occupied by the H.P. shop. (At present Hess has moved into the building and connected it to his own.)

STARTING the next block South, the corner building was the L. D. Bartholomew Building built in the '90s. It was a two-story building in 1963, Mr. Bartholomew had this as a hardware store and had his partner Forrest Blanchard. The main floor was made into two store rooms and Mr. F. E. Frazier had Frazier's Shoe Store in the south half and John McCann had a bakery in the north half. The writer purchased the store from Mr. Frazier, who was a brother to the governor of North Dakota. I had the store for a year in 1959 until I bought my present Campbell Book Shop. McCann moved out and Mr. F. L. Fessenden went in there with a drug store called "Pills and Thins". This store was the whole main floor. Mr. Fessenden had a building which caused him to move to the Masonic Temple Building. Charlevoix's first five and ten cent store was operated in this building in the 1930s by Dahlquist. Abe Mahan had it for a few years and then Ray Massey. The upper floor was composed of offices occupied mostly by doctors. Roy Harney, D.D.S., W. W. Mitchell, D.D.S., G.B. Stantonall, M.D.; Fred Young, D.D.S.; and others. The main floor was made into two store rooms and Mr. F. E. Frazier had Frazier's Shoe Store in the south half and John McCann had a bakery in the north half.

THE ODDFELLOWS building is next in line and of brick construction. It was probably about in that neighborhood that the first Sunday School was located. We are told by the history books that it was held in a fisherman's shack and called it a public meeting. It was cleared out to make a school by putting in some windows and wooden benches. The main floor of the Oddfellows Building was Lutes Drug Store, then Dugbee and Deenan Drug Store. The upper floor was owned by Frank Metcalf. He named it because he had a huge toy plant that ran along the wall clear back to the rear of the store. The Oddfellows had their lodge room upstairs. The next building was the brick building occupied by the Frank Wood Barber Shop. Frank was there for a long time and in the rear room did some tailoring work as a hobby. His son, Forrest Wood, had an electric shop back there as well.

NEXT TO THE Barber Shop was a wood structure that housed the heavy hardware and a tin shop run by Morris Stockman and Robert M.A. Johnson. It seems that during the great depression, when the barber shop was a large waiting rough for barbers, Frank's barber was Frank Hill and his porter was the only colored man ever employed by the Charlevoix Police. The Barber Shop was on the street (this spring).

Income Tax Will Be on East Jordan Ballot

EAST JORDAN -- Voters will have the chance to vote their opinions on the city income tax at the general election April 3.

The City Council decided in its meeting Tuesday night to retain the power to enact an ordinance creating the tax without calling for a general vote.

The ballot at the spring election will only request opinions on the tax. The Council said it would consider the results before it goes ahead with the tax.

Tax

City, these citizens are looking for good employees and an East Jordan city income tax may send them looking for work closer to home.

A city income tax may do nothing more for the employment scene than to substantially increase the number of help-wanted ads put out by businesses and industries.

ADMINISTRATION OF TAX

The Council hasn't yet decided how it will administer the tax.

However, the suggestion that the city let the state administer it was not opposed by the Council. To do this, East Jordan must give the city tax before Michigan comes up with a state income tax. The state will then administer and collect the city income tax on behalf of East Jordan. (This service in no way lessens the amount an individual has to pay in state income taxes.)

THIS COLLECTION and administration service is not free. East Jordan will pay two per cent of the city's tax for it. Using the conservative figure of $36,000 expected from payroll taxes only, East Jordan will pay $720 for the state's services. Therefore, $720 of payroll taxes alone would be going for service charges. Looking at it another way, by not paying the city income tax, East Jordan would be saving itself $720.

Even if the city doesn't go through the state, someone somewhere will have to be paid for administering the tax.

SPRING ELECTION

A proposal asking for resident opinion on the city income tax will be on the April 3 ballot. Voters cannot vote down or in the City Council will decide to pass an ordinance or not creating the tax.

The ballot is simply asking for voter opinion--their approval or disapproval. The Council said it will take these opinions into consideration when it acts on the proposed city income tax.

Fluoride Program to Resume

CHARLEVOIX -- Topical fluoride applications will be offered in May to area youngsters who have not previously had fluoride treatments or who have lived in areas where the drinking water is not treated, according to Mrs. Jacqueline Klooster, chairman of the fluoride program.

Research shows that fluoride tends to discourage tooth decay.

Mrs. Klooster said youngsters eligible for treatment include those who have moved to Charlevoix since fluoridation began and children living outside of Charlevoix. Charlevoix's water is fluoridated.

TOPICAL applications are being offered to children in specific grades and according to residence as follows:

1. Children drinking water from private wells who are in 2nd, 5th and 8th grades and pre-schoolers over three years of age.
2. Children who have moved to Charlevoix and have not previously been drinking fluoridated water.

Each child who participates in the program will have a series of four appointments. A fee of $3 per child is charged. The clinic is scheduled to be held in May. A complete schedule will be released later.

AN APPOINTMENT card will be mailed to parents in a few weeks, giving the location of the clinic, the time and dates of each child's appointments.

Parents wishing their children to take part in the program should contact Mrs. Klooster at 117-2970 or contact the child's teacher if they have not yet received a survey letter.

CHILDREN who have previously taken part in the program will be treated again as they reach one of the grade levels being treated. Mrs. Klooster said. These grades have been selected because they represent a cross section of the population.

CHARLEVOIX County Supervisor Kit Carson appeared on behalf of the county presenting a contract for the sewer construction project to Grandview. The county agreed to furnish $30,000 for the project. In turn the county will use the sewer line for five years. After that period, the county will pay sewer tax to East Jordan.

Mr. Washigess served in the Army during World War II, moving to Charlevoix after the war. He was a commercial fisherman.

He was married to the former Mary McSaba Bolton Nov. 1, 1947. He lived at 406 W. Lincoln St. in Charlevoix. Surviving are his wife, two children, Janice, 16, Robert, 14, and Donna 12; and three stepchildren, Richard, Glenda and Gerald.

The Gospel According to St. Matthew Chapter 28

In the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow: and for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and, behold, he goeth before you into Galilee: there ye shall see him: lo, I have told you.

And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy; and did run to bring his disciples word.

God.

A duet will be sung by Donald Bogart and Ruth Ann Bogart. Mrs. Naomi Clark will sing a solo. Mrs. Charles Bellinger is organist.

All members of the community are invited to the Union Service.

Holy Week services also have been scheduled by St. Mary's Catholic Church. Communion will be held Holy Thursday at 7:30 p.m., Good Friday at 8 p.m., and Holy Saturday at 7 p.m. Easter masses will be held at 8:30 and 10:30 a.m.

BETHANY Lutheran Church will hold services Monday through Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Easter service will be at 8 a.m., followed by a breakfast at the church.

THE BOARD set its tenure meeting for March 27 at 5 p.m. Since all of the members were not present at Tuesday's meeting and a unanimous vote is required, the new meeting was set up.

The board hopes to have the policy completed by the end of this school year.

HE BROKE DOWN figures for the five rooms as follows:

"Two kindergarten rooms now meeting in the Presbyterian Church will have to be given some thought."

"One room for special education is needed."

Good cooking is still a touch of this and that.

You can't beat a woman's intuition when it comes to the art of cooking. That's why so many prefer Gas. Only Gas gives the instant control of heat. Only Gas gives the infinite variety of settings, from keep warm to sear. Gas burns clean, too. And it's economical. For the cost of one meal cooked electrically, you can cook four meals with Gas. There's a wide selection of beautiful and modern Gas ranges on display at dealer or Gas Company showrooms. Many special values if you buy now. Easy terms. One look and you'll know why smart women cook with Gas.

GAS MAKES THE BIG DIFFERENCE. COSTS LESS, TOO.

Cabbages and Things

By Carole Walskay

Last week I was merrily marching along the street of East Jordan when I heard a voice call out behind me, "Hey you!"

Used to being called all sorts of things, "hey" one of the milder names, I turned around.

A small gray-haired man bundled up in a navy blue jacket and red plaid scarf came walking up to me.

"Hi," I said eyeing him carefully trying to make out if he was a man from the phone company trying to collect on my over due bills.

"YOU WRITE that column, cabbages and junk or something, don't you?" he asked.

Rather relieved I said, "Cabbages and things. Yes, I write it. Do you want to give me a recipe?"

"No," he replied, "I just have a complaint. So far I've only seen a lot of 'things' in that column, and most of them sound absolutely terrible."

Now I'll admit that I never won a badge in Girl Scouts for cooking, but I don't think my 'things' are that bad.

"Why don't you put a cabbage recipe in?" he asked.

"After all, that's the title of your column."

I guess he had a point. So here it goes. Every sort of cabbage recipe I could dig up along with a few original ones.

JAPANESE-STYLE CABBAGE
BY BOB CLOCK

Are you ready for a new taste in the vegetable line? Try boiled cabbage with soy sauce.

Long a favorite with the Japanese, the dish is easy to fix for hurry-up lunches and suppers.

The Japanese normally boil the cabbage whole, place it in a bowl in the center of the table, and then take turns pulling off leaves with chop sticks and dipping them in shallow bowls of soy sauce. Americans may prefer to cut the cabbage in quarters or smaller. It cuts cooking time and lets each guest have a wedge of his own. Cabbage should cook from seven to 15 minutes, depending on toughness.

There's no need to salt the water. The soy sauce provides plenty of tasty seasoning.

Fem-Levity

Dinner Through Desperation
by Grace Ann McDaniel

For the few women who plan their menus a week in advance (there must be some) this column will offer nothing of value. For the normal homemakers who put it off and begin racking their brains a half hour before the dinner bell, I may have some workable hints.

1. Start early in the afternoon by making a pot of coffee. That all done and call your friends. If it's been a good day perhaps one out of six has given dinner some thought and you can latch on to her ideas. Chances are they'll ask what you have in the house and someone might be able to suggest something clever to do with two cans of sauerkraut and a frozen meat pie. I was told once to score a can of Spam and spear it with cloves. I think she was grinning when she said, "Your family will think you've fussed!"

2. BUNDLE UP and head for the back of the deep freezer. You might be surprised to find something like a choice sirloin purchased last July. Lots of garlic will help cover the hint of freezer burn. If you just keep the freezer plugged in for day old bread slices like I do, I'm sorry.

3. Head for the grocery store and observe closely. I find myself buying the same four pounds of hamburger and six pork chops every week. It's a great eye opener to find out what other women are doing. I discovered chicken and pot roasts this way. Once I saw a confident woman buy strawberries out of season and decided to be so daring. My family still considers the dinner with the November shortcake to be my finest.

4. INVITE out of town guests on the sly. It's important to make a good impression and the only safe way is to eat out.

5. Go to extremes and join a cook book club. The books are so expensive you'll only be able to afford hot dogs and your problems will be solved. As an added attraction, when they eye the volumes on your kitchen counter, the milkman and paper boy will think you're a gourmet.

6. As a last resort get back on the phone. With the right kind of whimper, your real friends will invite you over to share the spoils.

By Mrs. Anne Osterbaan

Mr. and Mrs. Harn Stizema are spending several weeks vacationing in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Essenberg and Mrs. Larry Essenberg spent a few days with their son and husband, Larry, who is stationed with the reserves in Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Fire destroyed the home and all the personal belongings of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith northwest of Ellsworth near the Charlevoix county line Sunday noon. The Smith family was attending church services at the Eastern Baptist Church at the time. The Ellsworth firemen responded to the call, only to find they had arrived too late. The Smith children, attended Ellsworth Community School. Mrs. Bill Armstrong have opened their farm home in Antrim for a place for them to live.

Jack Kloster accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Veldkamp ten Friday for a visit with their children in and around Grand Rapids.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Van Dellen left Wednesday to attend the funeral of his aged father in Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Osterbaan and children left for a weekend guests of her parents, the Nathan Carpenters and Mrs. Anne Osterbaan.

The Harry De Groot and Fred Van Stedens were the program committee for the Ebenezer P.T.A. March meeting. It was held in Ellsworth, with Marion Stizema, President, in charge. A large crowd attended to see pictures taken by Dr. Van Dellen while he was in Nigeria. He also told of the customs of the people as well as their excellent medical facilities and the aptness of the native doctors and nurses. Musical numbers were given by Harvey and George Drenth on the harmonica and John Koojer, harmonica and guitar. They were accompanied by Mrs. John Koojer on the piano. An Am-

Obituaries

Merle Thompson — Services for Merle Thompson, 65, who died unexpectedly Friday, March 17, at Stodgett Memorial Hospital in Grand Rapids after being stricken enroute here from a Florida vacation, were held Monday, March 20, at the Watson Funeral Home.

Rev. Dale Mitchell of Suttons Bay officiated and interment was in Sunset Hill Cemetery.

BORN in East Jordan Sept. 17, 1901, Mr. Thompson married the former Blanche Wright April 10, 1926. He was employed at the East Jordan Iron Works for 43 years. When he retired last year, Mr. Thompson was supervisor of the machine shop.

He was a member of the East Jordan Fire Department from 1930 to 1955 and served as Fire Chief from 1948 to 1953. He was also a member of the city council and the Evangelical Lutheran Church of East Jordan.

Surviving is his widow, Blanche, a sister, Mrs. Gladys Wilson of East Jordan and several nieces and nephews.

Charles J. Cole — Services for Charles J. Cole, 71, a Township resident, were held Friday, March 17, at the Winchester Funeral Home. Rev. Leona Wiegarden officiated and Mr. Cole was buried in Brookside Cemetery.

He died Wednesday at Charlevoix Hospital where he was a patient for six days.

BORN Feb. 7, 1896, at Brant, Mr. Cole served in the U.S. Army during World War I.

He married the former Fern Beebe in 1913 at Rogers City where they lived until moving to Hayes Township in 1930.

SURVIVING besides his widow are four sons, Robert, of Charlevoix, Leroy and Harvey, of Pontiac, and Lavern, of Petoskey; three daughters, Mrs. Roy Thornton, of Taylor, Mrs. Paul Ratliff, of Warren, and Mrs. Josephine, of Petoskey, and 26 grandchildren.

LT. ROBERT ALBRIGHT

Lt. Albright Cited in Overhaul of Sub

bury, N.J.

PHILADELPHIA — A Charlevoix man has been cited by the commander of the U.S. submarine Endeavor for his role in refurbishing the submarine at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard.

He is Lt. Robert Albright, son of Mr. Frank Craigs of Charlevoix.

Albright was one of four men cited by Lt. Cdr. P. E. Kiluff, commander of the Endeavor, in a letter to the Shipyard Commander.

KILUFF wrote: "Lt. Albright, Ship Superintendent, was perhaps the main responsible for the coordination of the efforts of the Shipyard and ship's force to ensure that the repair schedule was met. He also monitored the quality of the work performed by both the repair activity and the ship so that later repeat of defective work would not delay the completion schedule."

Lt. Albright maintained direct contact with every repair shop, and was available for knowledgeable consultation or inquiry on any job, during many additional overtime hours, including Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. His invaluable advice formed the basis of many of the ship's work schedules, thus obviating task conflicts between yard and ship personnel.

Lt. Albright was graduated by Charlevoix High School in 1955. He married the former Roberta Mayne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mayne, in 1958. They have two children, Shelly and Rickie.

Jordan Court

EAST JORDAN — The following cases were heard by Justice Charles Landers through Friday, March 17.

Michael Felix, East Jordan, was arrested by East Jordan police for a stop sign violation. He was fined $5 and $3.70 costs.

Paul Wilson, East Jordan, was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail for disorderly conduct. East Jordan police made the arrest.

At Adrian Study Team Raps Secret Meetings

CHARLEVOIX — Another Michigan School District has reported trouble with its Board of Education holding secret meetings.

A special survey team told Adrian educators last Thursday night that "the work of the board of education should be conducted in public."

A board of education which holds secret or executive sessions leaves itself wide open to charges and suspicions which are undoubtedly unwarranted, the team report said.

Bible Baptists Plan Service on Good Friday

CHARLEVOIX — A Good Friday service is scheduled by the Bible Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. March 24.

Theme of the service will be Christ's crucifixion. Featured will be the Musical All-stars from Alanson. The Rev. Ron Allen will give the gospel message, while members of his family sing as a quartet.

There also will be singing by the congregation and a period of personal testimony.

The Rev. Jim E. Leghibl, pastor, says the public is invited.

Kindergarten Tally Hits 106

CHARLEVOIX — A total of 106 pre-kindergartners were registered at Charlevoix Elementary School March 17, according to Principal Glen Silder.

Silder said the pre-enrollment is "about the same" as last year's. There presently are 141 children in the kindergarten class.

He expects an even larger class next fall after the families of Mexican workers arrive.

NOTICE NORWOOD TOWNSHIP ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting for Norwood Township will be held Saturday, April 1 at 8 p.m. in the Norwood Township Hall. The meeting will be held as required by law, for the presentation of the proposed budget, proposed road program and for any other business that should be brought before the meeting.

TIME, of course, is an important factor. All of Ellsworth's operating millage expires with the present school year and a millage vote was turned down by the electorate at the last school election.

While the Ellsworth Board was pondering its next move, a group of citizens petitioned to annex Ellsworth schools to the Charlevoix system. Approval of the Charlevoix Board was required before the issue could be taken to the voters of Ellsworth.

The decision is now up to them.

IF A VOTE had been taken in Charlevoix, a great deal of time would have been lost and the future of Ellsworth School District probably would have remained uncertain most of the summer.

Individual members of the Charlevoix Board have expressed uncertainty about the wisdom of their move, although they voted unanimously to accept Ellsworth.

There are still many questions about the annexation which have not been answered: Namely, how much will it cost the people of Charlevoix and Ellsworth and what positive results can we expect in terms of better education.

ALL CONCERNED would feel better if more information about the annexation had been made available to the people of Charlevoix.

We also would feel better if Charlevoixans had been given an opportunity to vote—regardless of the time factor.

THE SUNDUE agreed to make the trip through ice-clogged waters to St. James. The equipment arrived from the telephone company's headquarters in Chesaning and was hoisted aboard the Sundew, some by hand, some by boom.

Once aboard, it didn't make a very impressive pile on the buoy dock.

Foster had the three major units measured and estimated the weight. He decided the job could be handled just as well by commercial carrier—namely air-craft. He ordered the equipment put back on shore.

THE RULE - OF - THUMB the Coast Guard applies in such cases is to stop aside if the job can be done by private interests. It is not an easy rule to apply. Taxpayers should be happy it is adhered to so conscientiously by our local Coast Guard units.

THE BARNUM & Bailey-Ringling Bros. circus on television stirred memories of things past for a good many people last Thursday night. Although fads in entertainment change from generation to generation, the circus is still pretty much the same seaward and grassward extra-

AS A KID, I was fortunate enough to live within walking distance of Olympia Stadium in Detroit. If the Roller Derby wasn't in progress, chances are one circus or another would be setting up shop in the big oval arena. And they always shot a man out of a cannon.

Once a cousin of mine, Dorothy Winter, took her new motion picture camera to the Olympia tent of capturing this one feat of derring-do on film for the edification and enlightenment of all posterity. It was always the finale to the program, and no one was ever known to leave the Olympia before The Amazing Blotto, or whatever he called himself, emerged like a bullet from the muzzle of the cannon.

THIS PARTICULAR night the lights dimmed dramatically and the ring master in his top hat and frock coat asked the audience for absolute silence while Blotto in a spangled suit and crash helmet climbed a ladder in the smoky spotlight and slid into the ominous mouth of the cannon feet first.

He always paused momentarily before disappearing to blow kisses to the crowd and wave a fond farewell. I frankly never expected him to come out of his ordeal alive, and was always a little disappointed when he did.

AS SOON AS he was out of sight, absolute quiet prevailed. On the night my cousin was there with her camera she rose to her feet and moved out into the aisle to get a better view. Moments later Boom! And almost at the same time Crash!

The boom meant that Blotto was on his way either to eternity or the rescue net at the far end of the arena. The crash meant that in the excitement my cousin had dropped her camera on the floor. She had several feet of excellent film showing the shoes of people sitting in her row. There was not one frame of old Blotto flying through the air.

EVER SINCE I lived in Holly, I've had a warm spot for the Barnum and Bailey branch of the circus business. In fact, for two years I had an apartment in an old house in Holly that the late James A. Bailey built about the turn of the century.

WHEN I FIRST moved into the house it had been unoccupied for some time. A family in Highland Park, the Gordon Bates, had purchased it but had never gotten around to moving in. The paint was peeling in the living room and the oriental rug was being carried away threatened by mice.

Moreover, I was thoroughly convinced from my first night alone under that roof that the place was haunted. The wind howled in the chimney flues. In many chimneys flues.

NONETHELESS, my friends found the apartment charming, if old and quaint. What fascinated them the most was the fact the house had been built by Bailey himself and they pumped me for details.

Well, I could point to the foundation of the old circus barn out behind where the B & B circus used to winter, but that was about all I know for sure. So the rest I made up.

"Now, this room here," I'd tell them opening my closet door, "is where Tom Thumb used to stay when he came to visit."

This information was always greeted with startled o's and ah's and a closer inspection of my closet.

"And those Siamese twins—you know, the original Siamese twins that Barnum and Bailey brought from Siam? What a time they used to have squeezing into the old circus wagon to work on the house. Their painstaking attention to detail is evident from basement to plate rail in every room."

Life here at Fort Knox isn't too bad. We run a mile and do 25 to 50 pushups before every meal. We also learn military drills and customs and have demounted drill with the M-14 rifle. Dismounted drill is the practice of the manual of arms.

We have a barracks inspection every day and a plaque is awarded to the best-looking platoon each week. We have won that plaque every week so far.

I am now in my 4th week of Basic Training. I have not found it too difficult so far. There is a lot of harassment to take but it's all in the way they teach you the fundamentals of Army life.

I plan on going to Officer's Candidate School when I finish my Basic Training. This is 23 weeks of rigorous training and much more harassment than when I graduated from OCS. I will become a 2nd lieutenant in the Armor Division of the Army. I really must be going now as we have to go to rifle range this afternoon. So again, thank you very much for sending me the Courier.

Sincerely,
Robert Nergmann

"And those Siamese twins—you know, the original Siamese twins that Barnum and Bailey brought from Siam? What a time they used to have squeezing into the old circus wagon to work on the house. Their painstaking attention to detail is evident from basement to plate rail in every room."

Life here at Fort Knox isn't too bad. We run a mile and do 25 to 50 pushups before every meal. We also learn military drills and customs and have demounted drill with the M-14 rifle. Dismounted drill is the practice of the manual of arms.

We have a barracks inspection every day and a plaque is awarded to the best-looking platoon each week. We have won that plaque every week so far.

I am now in my 4th week of Basic Training. I have not found it too difficult so far. There is a lot of harassment to take but it's all in the way they teach you the fundamentals of Army life.

I plan on going to Officer's Candidate School when I finish my Basic Training. This is 23 weeks of rigorous training and much more harassment than when I graduated from OCS. I will become a 2nd lieutenant in the Armor Division of the Army. I really must be going now as we have to go to rifle range this afternoon. So again, thank you very much for sending me the Courier.

Sincerely,
Robert Nergmann

...that's who!

THE BARNUM & Bailey-Ringling Bros. circus on television stirred memories of things past for a good many people last Thursday night. Although fads in entertainment change from generation to generation, the circus is still pretty much the same seaward and grassward extra-

AS A KID, I was fortunate enough to live within walking distance of Olympia Stadium in Detroit. If the Roller Derby wasn't in progress, chances are one circus or another would be setting up shop in the big oval arena. And they always shot a man out of a cannon.

Once a cousin of mine, Dorothy Winter, took her new motion picture camera to the Olympia tent of capturing this one feat of derring-do on film for the edification and enlightenment of all posterity. It was always the finale to the program, and no one was ever known to leave the Olympia before The Amazing Blotto, or whatever he called himself, emerged like a bullet from the muzzle of the cannon.

THIS PARTICULAR night the lights dimmed dramatically and the ring master in his top hat and frock coat asked the audience for absolute silence while Blotto in a spangled suit and crash helmet climbed a ladder in the smoky spotlight and slid into the ominous mouth of the cannon feet first.

He always paused momentarily before disappearing to blow kisses to the crowd and wave a fond farewell. I frankly never expected him to come out of his ordeal alive, and was always a little disappointed when he did.

AS SOON AS he was out of sight, absolute quiet prevailed. On the night my cousin was there with her camera she rose to her feet and moved out into the aisle to get a better view. Moments later Boom! And almost at the same time Crash!

Alderman Del Terrell said he wanted to do "some serious thinking" about the building if it is going to cost in the neighborhood of $50,000.
"I don't think it's going to solve our water pollution problem," he added.
Plans call for demolition of the present toilet facility in the park after the height of the tourist season, with construction of the new facility starting sometime after mid-August.

THE COUNCIL ALSO:

—Agreed to let the Coast Guard use the city water tower as a standard for radio antenna. A letter from L. Dave Smith, commanding officer of Coast Guard Charlevoix, explained that the present tower at the Coast Guard station is not tall enough to send signals to all CG stations under his jurisdiction, including a new unit at Lake Superior.
—Took under consideration a recommendation from the planning firm Williams and Works to zone the west side of State Street "commercial III." The classification would permit doctor's offices, insurance offices, banks and other similar structures.
—Took under consideration a building code proposed by Williams and Works.

Daveport said students taking part in the program "learn by doing."
"Instead of studying in text books how a recreation program works, they learn by being a part of a successful program and by being exposed to its complexities. They earn college credit and at the same time help the city upgrade its program by having a competent staff of college students as leaders."
Anyone wishing more information about the program should contact Daveport at the Physical Education Department, Iowa Wesleyan College, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa.

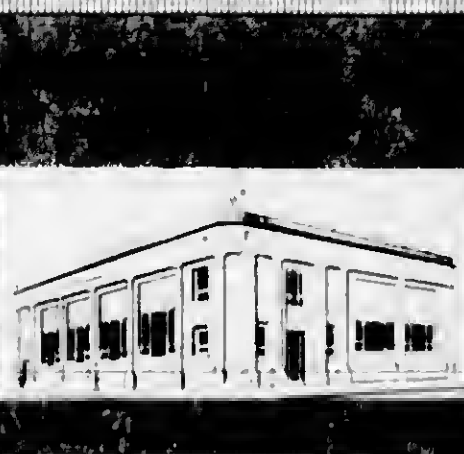

Lights to Open April 3 and 4

CHARLEVOIX -- Coast Guard Group Charlevoix has decided to postpone for one week the opening of the lights in northern Lakes Michigan and Huron.
The new date for opening the Lake Michigan lights is April 3 and the Lake Huron lights April 4.
Originally, the Sunday was to have taken men and supplies to the lights Feb. 27 and 28.
CWO James Sedl, deputy commander, said heavy ice conditions forced the postponement.

CHARLEVOIX--Clarinetist Carol Annis received an unprecedented 100 percent in proficiency in competition at last week's weekend, according to Charlevoix Band Director Clarence O'Connell.
The rating was only one of the many honors Charlevoix students brought home with them from the State Solo-Ensemble Festival, sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Assn.
Thousands of students from throughout northern Michigan took part in the last.

Hit-Run Driver Eludes Police

CHARLEVOIX--The search continues for the driver of the car which killed Archie James Washigette, 53, of Charlevoix March 7, according to Police Chief Joe Smith.
Smith said every lead had been tracked down without success and the search is at a virtual standstill.
He said it was unlikely that much damage was done to the car.

WASHIGETTE was found lying in Antrim Street in front of the Charlevoix County Sheriff's office by two school boys. He was taken to Charlevoix Hospital where he died the next day without regaining consciousness.

An autopsy at Munson Hospital in Traverse City revealed that the cause of death was a severe skull fracture. The victim also suffered two broken ribs. Det. Avery Goudich of the Cheboygan State Police post has been assigned to the case.

Details of the plat will be taken up at a later meeting of the Council.

ALDERMAN also studied plans for a proposed South Side sewer project drawn up by the engineering firm McMeekin, Porter and Seelye, Chief concern at present is extending a sewer line to Ribbey's subdivision, although all South Side needs were taken into consideration.
The firm was represented at the meeting by John Hoffman, Holland said a new sewer line from Belvedere south under May Street is needed to serve the area.
Mayor Bill Fichtman and Council representatives were to meet Tuesday noon with bonding agent Robert Hammett of Detroit to determine how the sewer could be financed. Hammett represents Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone.

C.M. Bice Dies in South

CHARLEVOIX -- News of the unexpected death of C. M. (Mike) Bice, 59, former Charlevoix County Prosecutor, at an Ormond Beach, Fla., hospital early Tuesday was received here Tuesday.
Funeral will be at the Woodward-Lambert Funeral Home in Ormond Beach Thursday. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery there.
Mr. Bice who had lived at Ormond Beach most of the time since suffering a stroke in December, 1962, died shortly after being admitted to the hospital early Tuesday. He spent the summers in Charlevoix.

BORN at Clatsop, Ore., Aug. 2, 1907, Mr. Bice was a graduate of the University of Detroit Law School. He practiced briefly in Detroit before coming to Charlevoix County in the early 1930's and opening an office in East Jordan. In 1934 he came to Charlevoix to practice law. He served as Charlevoix County prosecutor for a total of 15 years. He was a member of the Charlevoix-Emmet County Bar Association and the Michigan Bar Association.

Surviving are his wife, the former Joan Jurgens whom he married in 1933; two daughters, Mrs. James (Barbara) Capolongo of Oak Park, Michigan, and Mrs. Gary (Garlyn) Farmer of Taylor, Michigan; three grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Greta Williams and one brother Gar Elicebeth of Detroit.

Begow will call upon community leaders throughout the area to assist in a network of city beautification organizations.

ONE of the initial steps in the drive was a meeting of 400 young people at Michigan State University March 11. The group represented 1 1/2 million youngsters involved in Scouting and other youth activities.

Spencer was Waldo Gray of Detroit, president of Keep Michigan Beautiful.

IN ADDITION to beautification projects, Keep Michigan Beautiful is dedicated to fighting air and water pollution, controlling the area to assist in a network of city beautification organizations.

Crank Calls Reported Here
CHARLEVOIX -- Several crank telephone calls were reported over the weekend to Police Chief Joe Smith.
One resident said an unidentified caller asked for a rendezvous at 7 p.m. Saturday night at Brookside Cemetery.
"Bring a shovel and newspapers," the caller advised. All of the residents identified the voice as that of an older woman.
Judging from reports, most of the calls suggested the cemetery rendezvous.

Supervisors Drawing Up Reapportionment Plan

CHARLEVOIX -- A committee of Charlevoix County supervisors was to meet last night to hammer out a reapportionment plan for approval of the County Board April 10, according to County Clerk Pete Bulow.

The reapportionment means that representation on the Board of Supervisors will be reduced from the present 25 members to not more than 15. The change will probably take place in January, 1969.

BULOW says the reapportionment committee probably will come up with two plans, one dividing the county into 15 districts and another dividing it into nine or ten.

Working on the reapportionment plans are Lee Swaenher, chairman of the Board of Supervisors from Hayes Township; Lee Moreland, Charlevoix Ward III; Forbes Thompson, Boyne City; and Don Garsen, South Arm.

THE DEADLINE for submitting a proposed reapportionment plan to the state is April 10.

If the board is unable to agree on a plan, the task will fall to Bulow, Prosecutor Harvey Varner, Treasurer Anah Potter and the chairman of the county's Republican and Democratic committees.

THE REAPPORTIONMENT bill was passed by the State Legislature last year and signed into law by Gov. George Romney in July. It makes it mandatory for counties to limit the number of representatives to no more than 15 representatives on the board. It presently has 25, one from each township, four from Boyne City and three each from Charlevoix and East Jordan.

IT IS UNCERTAIN how the reapportionment bill will affect the present structure of township government. Bulow believes that each township will continue to elect its own supervisor, with larger consolidated districts electing representatives to the board of supervisors.

He doesn't see how it would be possible for one man to serve both a township or ward supervisor and as a member of the board of supervisors.

"Instead of 25 men, we'll end up with 40," Bulow said.

Antrim Will Reapportion

ELLISWORTH -- Antrim County supervisors are hoping to come up with an acceptable reapportionment plan at their meeting April 10 in the county courthouse.

Presently there are 15 townships in Antrim County each with one supervisor. Banks township with 1,215 persons has the same representation as Wargers township with 225.

Since the state is requiring a one man, one vote reapportionment, Banks township's representation will increase over what it has been.

THE STATE has also requested that Antrim County reapportion itself into no more than five districts. The supervisors will work out how many representatives each district will have and where the district lines will be drawn at their meeting.

The legislature has given April 10 as the deadline for outlining the reapportionment plan. If the county doesn't have a plan or the state finds it unacceptable, Lansing will make up a plan for the county.

WILD Ride Ends in Living Room

CHARLEVOIX--Two Central Lake boys have been turned over to the custody of their parents pending juvenile court action after they drove a half-ton pickup truck into a home under construction on Carpenter Street early Sunday morning.

The boys, whose names were not released because they are juveniles, "borrowed" a truck owned by the father of one of them late Saturday night. The father was asleep and the mother was working.

The sliding was splintered and the wall joints loosened, according to police. The house is being built by Ralph McFar.

Witnesses said the truck was heading south on May Street when it slipped short and backed up. Then it swung around the corner, careening wildly. It jumped a snow bank, bounced across the front lawn and did considerable damage to the front of the house.

Police Hunt Boy Missing From City

CHARLEVOIX -- A state-wide search has been launched for 15-year-old Thomas Parsons of Charlevoix who has been missing from his home at 102 Robinson St. since 10 a.m. Monday morning.

Charlevoix Police describe Thomas as five feet, one inch tall with blond hair and blue eyes. He is wearing olive green trousers, an olive green corduroy jacket and a blue shirt.

A MOTORIST notified the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office Tuesday morning that he had picked up a hitch-hiker answering the boy's description on Monday.

He said the boy asked to stop to see a friend at Elk Rapids. The driver said he stopped in front of the house while the boy went in, returning shortly.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parsons, told police that the boy has no relatives or friends downstate. They have never heard of his having any friends in Elk Rapids.

Thomas is a Seventh Grade student at St. Mary's School. His father is stationed with the Air Force at Bay Shore.

NAMED TO THE Northern Michigan Class "C" All-Conference team were Jack Bergmann (left) and Tom Webb of Charlevoix High School. (Story on page 9.)

County Health Officer Dies at Boyne City

BOYNE CITY--Funeral for Dr. Albert F. Litzemberger, 63, county health officer for 27 years, was Tuesday at the Stacks Funeral Home, the Rev. R. M. McFarlane officiating. Burial was in Maple Lawn Cemetery.

Dr. Litzemberger, who gave Charlevoix athletes their pre-season physical examinations for many years, died suddenly Sunday night of an apparent heart attack.

HE WAS BORN in Detroit Dec. 25, 1903, and was graduated from Eastern High School. He took his undergraduate work and graduate work at Wayne State University, where he received his M.D. degree. He later received a masters degree in public health from the University of Michigan.

He moved to Boyne City in 1938 to start a private practice and shortly after accepted appointment as district health officer, pioneering in the immunization field.

He is survived by his wife, Mary; two sons, Seberon, a Petoskey attorney, and Albert F., a Boyne City teacher; two daughters, Louise, a Boyne City teacher, and Mrs. Doris Peckham of Farmington, and three grandchildren.

IRONTON
By Mrs. Ross Alexander

It was wonderful having a full house for the Easter Service Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Lyndall and daughter, Mary, from Detroit spent this holiday weekend in their summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fiske and family returned to their home in Alina Monday after enjoying the long holiday weekend in their local home near the ferry.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Emdin returned to Kalamazoo Sunday afternoon after spending this weekend with the latter's parents, Tom and Mary Nelson.

Russell, small son of Mr. and Mrs. "Sonny" Williams, is a medical patient at Charlevoix Hospital. He has an infection.

Rev. and Mrs. William Harmon were Easter dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Neilsen.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bartlett have moved from Charlevoix to their new home which they built last fall on the east side of the north beach road. We welcome them to our community.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sullivan and daughter Karen from Detroit were guests Sunday at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Deene.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Christenson were Sunday guests of the former's sister Mrs. Mary Elliott in Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Landon from Detroit spent this weekend with Evelyn and her children, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Alexander.

Mrs. Ada Williams entertained several local friends last Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pearl and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pezarsall from Charlevoix were guests Sunday afternoon at the Douglas Knudson home.

We have a new street light in front of the church, which has been needed for some time. It will be on from dusk until dawn. We wish to thank Pete and Don Bennett for their efforts and time spent in the installation last week.

Poll Results Listed

LANSING -- Representative Robert Davis (D-10th District) reported the results this week of a questionnaire sent to his constituents concerning fiscal reform.

He reported that 74 per cent of those answering would be willing to pay a sales income tax if it gave tax relief on property taxes, sales taxes on food and drugs, intangible tax and eliminated the business activities tax.

HE ALSO said that 67 per cent support additional revenue from nuisance taxes on beer, cigarettes and soft drinks, plus adding sales tax to cover all services.

A gasoline tax hike of 14¢ with 1¢ earmarked for road construction and maintenance, and 4¢ for reduction of the Mackinac Bridge tolls was supported by 78 per cent.

(Passenger cars crossing the bridge would be reduced to 50¢ and all other vehicle tolls would be reduced about 85 per cent.)

Davis said 95 per cent favored complete fiscal reform for meeting future needs.

Don't Say It!

Resort to sucking the thumb that has been hit by a hammer may serve to alleviate the discomfort that follows the blow. Even calling the hammer names may take the mind off of the pain, caused by the blow, until the momentary pain subsides.

In time of heavy pain or affliction, or in times of deep sorrow one needs a more permanent comforter — a more sustaining protection. Even friends can render only a small amount of aid in such cases. It is on such occasions that previous and regular attendance at church renders immeasurable help. It is a never failing support in a dark hour of trial.

Girl Scout News

CHARLEVOIX — Girl Scout Troop 255 welcomed a new Scout, Tina Black, to the meeting last Wednesday. Bob Clock of the Courier played the piano and taught the girls some antique Girl Scout songs.

Cookie orders were turned in to Mrs. Leonard Dubey. Mrs. Alex Moore will give the three girls who sold the most cookies ten free baton lessons.

Mrs. H. Kroush should have been listed among the leaders listed in last week's paper. The troop also wished to thank Mrs. Darrold Dinwiddie for all she has done for our troop.

Second Barber Coming to Jay's

CHARLEVOIX — Joe Martin of Cheboygan will go to work at Jay Ferguson's barber shop on Bridge Street early in April.

Martin formerly was with the Town and Country barber shop in South Lyon, Mich. He and his wife, Linda, have one son, Joseph, 18 months old.

Eighty percent of the people of the northeastern United States now live in cities.

Tooth Fairy Strikes Twice

It's been some time since I've had anything to do with the good tooth fairy and now she's suddenly making regular visits to our house. She'd better lay off pretty soon or make a trip to the bank for a loan.

I should welcome her really because our six year old has had three uncollectable losses. The first tooth came out last summer in a bicycle accident somewhere around the Chicago Club acreage. Another was loosened to the point where a bite of whipped cream could have pulled it to the bank for a loan.

I should welcome her really because our six year old has had three uncollectable losses. The first tooth came out last summer in a bicycle accident somewhere around the Chicago Club acreage. Another was loosened to the point where a bite of whipped cream could have pulled it to the bank for a loan.

TWO MORE were returned by a dentist who needed the extra room to get to the real problems in the back. In our haste to get to the car, we forgot the tooth and saved the good fairy another fifty cents.

With the aid of Dad's vice like thumb and forefinger (while I looked the other way) another one was pulled and dropped into a magic glass of water to be replaced later with a coin. This child of ours grins suspiciously with one side of his mouth at talk of Santa Claus and the Easter Bunny so it wasn't too surprising when he stared at the ceiling and yawned when we explained the wonders of the tooth fairy. I was a tooth-under-the-pillow kind myself and was surprised to learn that some fairies come equipped with water wings. Probably in hopes of staying afloat in the middle of the night, made him sit straight up and listen to a story. Twice. It's tough trying to find a yellow tooth somewhere among the yellowed sheets but tooth fairies need all the help they can get.

It seems like quite a bit for everyone to go through so Mom and Dad can have their fun. It must have paid off. Not morning a little creature with a jack-in-the-box smile bragged about his shiny quarter.

Don't be surprised if you see me wearing a strange looking necklace and trying to explain it as a trophy from my last hunting safari.

Two Ellsworth Graduates Go Back to Classes

Two 1965 Ellsworth school graduates are still hanging around the school, in fact, they haven't missed a day this year.

The graduates, Janet Gibbs and Louise Kirby, are teachers' aides. Originally hired last September in connection with the Neighborhood Youth Corps Project, the girls are now on the school's payroll.

SUPERINTENDENT Nelson Spoonman said he contacted the girls because he thought the school could use their help.

"Since then we've found them almost indispensable," he said.

The girls do everything

from correcting papers and drilling children in spelling to shelling beans.

Spoonman's job offer was also beneficial to the girls who did odd jobs around Ellsworth for a year after graduation.

Janet said she didn't do "much of anything for a year."

"I baby sat here and there, but not much else," said Louise.

Since working at the school the girls have found some direction in life.

"I love working with children," said Louise. "Before I started work here, I never thought I would. Next year I plan to go to Owasco College for a four year elementary education course."

"I'm saving what I earn here for college," she added.

TWO MONTHS ago the girls received a disappointment through the mail and thought their jobs were finished.

They were notified by the program that they were being dropped since they were high school graduates.

Speedman, however, asked the school board to keep them on, paying them from the school payroll. The board agreed they were needed and so gave its O.K.

Besides relieving teachers of mechanical duties, the girls also help with the lunch program, giving teachers a break in the day.

Louise who helps out in the elementary school has found many students who have benefited by reading and spelling drilling.

She takes the children out of class to listen to them individually—something one teacher could not do alone.

Spoonman said many children who were poor readers and spellers in the fall have caught up with their class through this method.

Janet works in the library cataloging books and keeping it in shape.

"Although the girls have proved to be more than capable of their duties, they are under close teacher supervision and comply with right rules."

The program seems to have worked well for both the girls and the school.

At least Spoonman said, "The girls have gained a lot of confidence in themselves since they've been here, and the teachers and students have been helped greatly by them."

Miss Malpass Reigns Over East Jordan

KATHY MALPASS, 19, was chosen as Miss East Jordan of 1967 Monday night at East Jordan High School.

Miss Malpass was chosen on her beauty and poise as well as her talent. She played the flute, piccolo, piano and harp. Judges for the contest included Commander J.R. Foster and Carolyn Rader of Charlevoix and Joan Kennedy of Manalapan.

Miss Malpass will reign over East Jordan for a year representing the city in various East Jordan Chamber of Commerce activities.

MISS MALPASS, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Malpass, is a senior at East Jordan High School. She was on the homecoming court in 1966 and has participated in the band, pep club, ski club, FFA, and the junior play. She is also a member of the National Honor Society.

She plans to attend Albion College in the fall to major in liberal arts.

Miss Malpass, 1966 Trout Festival Queen and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Malpass, represented East Jordan in chamber activities last year.

Miss Linda Neff

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neff of Charlevoix announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Neff, to David Edward Ziegler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Ziegler of Detroit.

Miss Neff is a 1963 graduate of Charlevoix High School and a graduate of Michigan State University.

Her fiancé is a 1962 graduate of Redford High School and Michigan State University. An October wedding is planned.

Cabbages...and Things

By Carole Walasky

Last week I went to Interlochen to see the king and I performed by the academy students.

There are just not enough superlatives to describe their performance. The acting, singing, and playing was so beautiful and convincing that I heard no less than eight noses blown during the last scene when the king of Spain dies.

The interpretive dance, Uncle Tom's Cabin, showed not only superior dancing and grace, but also great imagination.

CLAUDIA Polley as Lady Thring completely entranced the audience when she sang "Something Wonderful." I suspect she'll be with the New York Met in about four years. The total performance was so professional that it was hard to believe these artistic geniuses were only high school students.

IT'S EQUALLY hard to believe that I studied there once—twice to be exact—during the summer.

The first summer was a breaking-in period for me. By the second year I was just another musician. As much as I wanted to return the following year, it was academically impossible—I was in school during the summer of the equator. (Since the seasons were switched around in Interlochen, I was living, living in the U.S. for awhile. And so I said, "I love America and Americans," she said.

It was so easy to become an American and to pick up your way of life," she said.

"Of course I missed my family and Finland at first, but I soon made so many good friends that I became very involved with what was going on around me in this country."

Unlike many American students, Solvi has nothing but praise for our school system. "In Finland everything is done under the Youth for Understanding program and will study here until June."

Solvi spent her first semester at Houghton Lake and moved here last week. She is staying with the Clifton Sundberg's on Bridge St.

Although she's been here only eight months, Solvi has assimilated easily into American culture.

TEACHER Joy Baker opened the class saying, "Hello.

I expect an original composition from you all in eight weeks."

While Linda's eyes lit up at that, I sat there trying to figure out how I could drop the class. The only thing I'd ever composed up to that point were "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

However, I stuck with it and after eight weeks of studying keys, point and counter point, I whipped off my little ditty overnight. It was called "Fugue in B Minor and sounded suspiciously like parts of Bach's Concerto in C Minor for Two Harpsichords and Orchestra. About the only difference was mine was for one piano and orchestra.

LINDA, on the other hand, handed in the first movement of her symphony along with an outline of three other movements. (There's always one in every class.)

Well, it was a good thing that a student lost worrying about his class. Otherwise I might still be sitting there.

I guess it's also good that there are a few Linda Bernsteins populating the musical world.

Well, enough of this nonsense and on with the cabbages recipes I began last week.

CARAWAY CABBAGE SERVES 4

1 small head cabbage, cut into wedges
2 cups boiling water
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
1/2 cup vinegar
1 tsp. caraway seeds
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
1 cup sour cream

Cook cabbage in the boiling water and salt for ten minutes in a covered saucepan. Drain. Heat butter, vinegar, caraway seeds, sugar, salt and pepper in a small saucepan until blended and hot. Stir in sour cream. Pour over the drained cabbage wedges and serve at once.

Move Up Date to Open Lights

CHARLEVOIX - Opening of the Lake Michigan and Lake Huron lights has been moved up to March 30 and 31, according to L. Dave Smith, commanding officer of Group Charlevoix.

The Sunday will transport men and equipment to the lights, Smith said. The first ship is scheduled through the Straits of Mackinac March 28, although heavy ice conditions still exist. Thirty inches or more of ice is reported in the Straits by the Coast Guard Cutter Mackinac.

CAROL A. MOORE of Route 3 Charlevoix, a stenographer in the House of Representatives in Lansing, takes notes at a conference between northern Michigan legislators, Rep. Robert Davis of St. Ignace (center) and Sen. Thomas Schweigert of Petoskey. Miss Moore, a graduate of Charlevoix High School, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil McClure and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stokes of Oden. She is secretary to Rep. Charles H. Varnum of Manistiquette, who works closely with Davis and Schweigert on legislation affecting northern Michigan.

PAINTERS and other workers have been remodeling the old East Jordan depot for a month now. Sheem Thomas of the East Jordan Co-op bought the building as a distribution center for auto parts and accessories. It will open shortly.

TOOMELA Takes Basic Training
 FT. KNOX, Ky. — Army Private John C. Toomela has been assigned here in the United States Army Training Center, Armor (USATCA), to Company B, 15th Battalion of the 4th Basic Combat Training Brigade, for his initial eight weeks of military training.

He will spend the next two months learning all the fundamental skills of a soldier in today's modern, action Army, and will fire more than 500 rounds of live ammunition under simulated combat situations, including those encountered at night, during a three-week course with the soldier's basic weapons—the M16 rifle.

He will also be taught protective measures and first aid for chemical, biological and radiological attack and close-in combat, and will be schooled also in the use of hand grenades, bayonet and hand-to-hand combat.

Much of this instruction will be vividly illustrated by the latest visual - aid techniques and live demonstrations, and by living under actual field conditions for several days.

Interpreted with constant emphasis on proper physical conditioning, diet, rest and health habits, will be ample opportunity to utilize USATCA's many and varied recreational and religious facilities.

Following the completion of his basic training, PVT Toomela who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Toomela, 109 E. Garfield, Charlevoix, will receive at least an additional eight weeks of either advanced instruction or the job training to qualify him in a specialized military skill.

C of C Drive Starts

We are all aware of the different proclamations made by the President or Governor of certain states set aside to recognize various organizations. April 2-8 has been so designated as Chamber of Commerce week. It seems fitting that this is an opportunity to have a membership drive for your local Chamber and acquaint you with its functions.

Why a Chamber of Commerce? What are its functions? Why should it exist? Primarily it is a central agency handling the many tasks that one person alone could not do. It is an association center for local, out of town, out of state and foreign countries who request information on everything from housing for a night, a time schedule, a newspaper, a plant site, tax and medical information or a prospective market for their product. It ranges from school children who assisted a certain task in history, civics, geography or science to a foreign country who seeks a market for their product (Japan). Any individual or corporation seeking information knows that the majority of towns throughout the United States and foreign countries have a Chamber of Commerce. All they have to do is to send a letter or ask the operator for the C of C of any certain town. They do not call a drug store a dress shop or a hotel. They call the C of C. Many companies will not move into a town that does not have a C of C and the first act of the majority of companies when moving to a town is to become a member of the C of C. Chambers of Commerce work on parking, urban renewal, pollution, legislation, education, beautification and industrialization, anything that will advance the economic welfare and progress of a community.

It is financed by membership dues which are recognized by the United States Gov't. as being tax deductible. The money is used for salaries for personnel, postage, rent, utilities, membership dues to related organizations, advertising, promotions. How much money does your local Chamber receive each year? How is this money spent? 1966 - Memberships $7,030.00

Noticed by the City $450.00

1966 - Expenses $12,483.00

Salaries 8,900.00

This does not include money paid on the 1966 Souvenir Book $72.17. There were no expenses or paid vacations. Social Security payments and Mich. Employment Security Comm. payments are not shown. With expenses greater than income, how do we do it? By borrowing money and paying interest. Incidentally the Chamber books are open to any one who wishes to check them.

There are many business men in town who will willingly donate $25.00 or more for a one day promotion three or four times a year and attitudes which will fall on a Sunday, when stores are closed. Yet there are many who do not feel that they can afford to join the chamber and get service year around.

You will note that the Chamber has paid $350.00 to help bring the Michigan Amateur Golf Association here. This year we are obligated to donate $1,000.00. It is doubtful if there is any other single event that brings more people in for a sustained period or contributes more to the economy for that length of time. There are 240 entries accepted. The majority bring their families and stay for at least one full week. It is estimated that this group leaves better than $100,000.00 in this area. We cannot meet these obligations if we do not have the money.

Throughout the year thousands of requests for information on Charlevoix are received. All these are answered and ninety five percent of them are from vacationers who want accommodations here. It takes money to get these mailed out. Approximately 18,000 county maps have been mailed out to individuals or taken to sport and boat shows in Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis and Cleveland since the first of the year. This ordinary routine work will be kept up. In addition to this we are making a parking survey for the city. We are co-operating with Mr. Jack Brown on city beautification. The Waterfront Fair and Venetian Festival will soon be upon us. We want to get a new brochure in color on the city. We need a new industrial brochure. Maps for the fall color survey must soon go out, a survey made last October showed no vacancies between the Straits of Mackinac and Traverse City. An up-to-date photograph file is a necessity for

What Kind of Lights Do You Want?

What kind of lights would you like to see on Bridge Street?

This is a question that the Charlevoix City Council has been wrestling with for some time now.

The council at present is toying with the idea of powerful mercury vapor lamps which will be installed about 28-foot-poles. There is little doubt that this proposed lighting system would make Charlevoix one of the best-lighted towns in northern Michigan.

HOWEVER, not all Charlevoixans favor turning Bridge Street into a "great white way." Representatives of several women's clubs and civic groups reportedly have contacted individual aldermen protesting the plan.

Last week, Josh Barnes of Lexallite Corp. presented an alternate lighting plan to the council. Barnes would utilize the existing concrete poles and install lamps of smaller wattage than the council has in mind. The cost would be about the same, since more lamps would be required.

EACH PLAN, of course, has its merits. The lamps the council seems to favor would be strictly 20th Century and bath the entire downtown section in a daylight glow from dusk until dawn. These are the lights that big cities install over expressway interchanges and in shopping center parking lots. There is no question that they would provide, Bridge Street with all the light it needs.

The lamps Barnes suggests would not be so bright, nor quite so tall. A two-foot extension on the present poles would bring them to the proper height. And although the wattage would be considerably lower, there would be more of them. Barnes says they should prove about four times brighter than the feeble incandescent lights we now have.

WHAT BOTHERS us is why the exponents of a more subdued lighting plan have not been more vocal in the matter. Barnes is the only Charlevoix citizen who has openly expressed an opinion one way or the other, aside from individual Council members.

WE'D like to know what other groups and individuals have to say about Charlevoix's downtown lighting. In fact, it might be a good idea if they'd send a representative or two to the next council meeting.

One thing is for sure: A decision on street lighting is coming fairly soon. If there are any objections to be raised --or suggestions to be made--next Monday night is the time to do it.

Another Killer Is on the Ropes

Sometime during April one of your neighbors will knock on your door asking a contribution to the American Cancer Society.

Half of the money you donate will be spent locally providing transportation and other services for cancer sufferers.

The other half will be used for cancer research in medical laboratories and hospitals across the country.

Whatever you give will go a long, long way toward the eventual control of this dread disease. Killer cancer already is on the ropes. A knock-out punch is all that is needed.

GOV. GEORGE Romney has proclaimed April as Cancer Control Month in Michigan. His proclamation reads in part: "There are some 1,400,000 living witnesses to the fact that cancer can be cured despite this dread disease being an alarming national killer.

"The American Cancer Society has contributed greatly to the never-ending battle against one of society's prime destroyers, and thanks to increasing knowledge in the biological and medical sciences we are nearing a solution to the problem of cancer. But the battle has not been won."

PUBLIC donations were largely responsible for development of the Salk and Sabin polio vaccines which have virtually eliminated the dread polio-mycellitis in America.

The dimes and dollars you donate in April will help in the eventual conquest of another killer--cancer.

Clockwise Sheep Ahoy---for Poland

By Bob Clock

I see by the papers that America is still busy improving the breeding stock in farmyards around the world.

The latest effort -- and undoubtedly a worthy one -- is the brainchild of Miss Isabel Russell, 49, secretary for a Detroit electronics firm.

It seems Miss Russell sent a gift not long ago to an old family friend from Kentucky, Capt. Robert Henderson, an Army doctor stationed at an evacuation hospital at Vungtau, Vietnam, a city of 50,000 persons.

Capt. Henderson wrote back thanking Miss Russell for her gift. He told her about Vietnam, mentioning the large number of cows roaming the streets of Vungtau. With a pasteurizer, he thought, perhaps these cows could supply milk for orphans, soldiers and civilians.

NOW MISS RUSSELL must be quite a gal. With only that to work on, she got in touch with Detroit's tireless World Medical Relief organization which maintains a vast storehouse of medical wares in the Motor City--all of it donated. Did Will have a spare pasteurizer lying around?

It sure did, and it was soon on its way to Vungtau.

But Miss Russell's problems were only beginning. It seems that Vungtau's cows are rangeland bred and not suited for dairy purposes. So Vungtau now has a pasteurizer, but no milk to pasteurize.

As a result, Miss Russell has organized project called "Cows for Vungtau."

"I'm scared to death," Miss Russell told the Detroit Free Press. "I don't know the first thing about cows and I've never done any milking before. But I hope for Vungtau to have the cows and be in production by mid-summer. I have great faith in the generosity of the American people."

$1,000 in her cow fund, $500 donated by the Protestant churches in Vungtau and the rest kicked in by friends.

"We're only just getting started," Miss Russell says. "We want to buy a piece-to-people project. We haven't asked the government for any help and we don't intend. Our goal is 120 cows, that's 2,000 quarts of milk a day."

MY FIRST contact with the inestimable American desire to restock the farmyards of the world came shortly after World War II.

The girl who sat next to me in Latin was of Albanian extraction and between conjuncts of Latin verbs she begged me to go to Europe and see her kintfolk in the old country. I have heard of professional Irishmen and even professional Frenchmen, but never a professional Albanian. However, there is such a creature, she was it. Albania loomed at the end of her ambition like some mystical "land of o'z" where all her problems would be over.

ONE DAY she came to class panting and wild-eyed. I thought she had forgotten her Latin book.

"Look!" she fairly shrieked, thrusting a grimy brochure under my nose. "Look! They want people to go to Poland!"

"But you don't want to go to Poland," I said. "You want to go to Albania."

"Never mind," she said. "It's close enough. Just read this. We'll go to Poland together."

I gave her a long, searching look, realizing for the first time that her interest in me may have been more than linguistic or even geographic.

It would have to go awfully close to a whole bunch of other European countries in order to reach Poland--England, France, the Netherlands, Denmark, and Norway. The chances seemed pretty good that we might go around near one of these more attractive countries.

Furthermore, my sister-in-law herself had suddenly become more alluring. For some reason she had started combing her hair and using toothpaste. Our friendship blossomed.

TOGETHER we wrote for applications and when they arrived we filled them out together seated at her dining room table. It developed that her plan was to jump ship once it reached Poland and high-tail it down to the promised land on the Adriatic--Albania.

This part of the scheme didn't appeal to me at all, since I didn't want to go to Albania any more than I didn't want to go to Poland. But I was flattered by her many little attentions and fell in step with the files.

AFTER we mailed our applications, I realized that I didn't know any more about animal husbandry than Shirley Temple, so started boning up on all the livestock books and pamphlets I could find at the Detroit City Library.

Believe it or not, I couldn't find a single word for cow in Polish. I was sick sheep. Not a word, my mother suggested hot tea and soda crackers, but that was her remedy for just about everything.

QUI CATTLE boat was to sail about mid-June, and as the summer wore on Miss Albania and I became the best of friends, checking with each other every day to see if one or the other had heard from Baltimore.

Finally about the middle of May I saw a very distressing little article in the Free Press. A church-operated cattle boat on route from Poland to Baltimore had hit a shoal and the men were stuck with all hands. Two days later word came from Baltimore that the whole project was off.

That was the summer I came north to Traverse City to pick cherries.

History of Bridge Street and Charlevoix Harbor

Chapter VIII

By P. D. Campbell

Next to the State Bank is the Campbell Boot Shop. Originally this was a vacant lot until Mr. George VanPelt built the building in 1918. The construction is solid brick with full basement. The writer purchased it from Mr. VanPelt in 1920. I moved in that year and it has been a shoe store ever since. Myrtle Young and Son were in the place up until 1920. The front part was an office and Earl Young and his mother lived there back half which was partitioned off from the front. They used to sell Today Bear Brand as a side-line. The writer had Bert Beaudoin build shelving for shoes and Jim McCoach put on two back additions and added 1939 a new front. When Earl Young lived there he did film developing and finishing.

NEXT TO CAMPBELL'S is the Town House Bar. This building was originally put up by Niles & Butters at the County Bank. When they built the bank on the corner they sold this old building back half. Ernest Madison closed it out in the '20s and went up to the Lake of the Woods for a few years. Mrs. Louis Bourisau had a restaurant there for a while and then Jim Wiers rented the building as a cigar store. The building changed hands several times before a Mr. Monard bought it and operated it as a bar for a few years and then sold it to the present owners, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Welsch. A cement block addition was put on the rear, two stories high, with William Wallace as contractor. The addition made the lower floor larger and provided living quarters upstairs.

THE FIRST County Bank building on the corner was built in the 1900's. Before this was built there was a wooden building on the corner. It was occupied at one time by Van-Albany and Mackay. One old timer tells me that there was a pop corn stand back from the corner. I can remember a wooden dance platform built about where Joe Williams store is now.

The building was a lively place during a Fourth of July celebration. The bank building was a three story building, the second floor occupied by offices. Art F. Richard and Shanahan were attorneys on that floor. The third floor was used by the K. of P. Lodge and also the famous Bank Hall dance floor. Many lively times were held up there. When some of the men dancers got too much liquor, there was usually a fight and someone got thrown down the stairs, probably for dancing with someone else's girl friend. The north part of the building was a wood yard.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

I came that they may have life, and have it abundantly. --John 10:10

Let's forget the past with its failures or sorrows. The dark clouds of limitation fade away. Enjoy the present, so that we may be filled with life, love, wisdom, peace and prosperity. Let's live abundantly for God's blessing flow to us from His bounty. Live in the awareness of God's presence and know that we are forever one with Him who is all abundance, from whom all blessings flow, through whom all needs are met.

Spring Concert Slated Tonight

CHARLEVOIX -- More than 200 students in three separate groups, a part of the Music Department of Charlevoix High School, will combine talents to present the Annual Spring Concert tonight (Wednesday) in the Charlevoix High School Gymnasium, at 8:00 p.m.

The concert this evening will mark the kick-off of the Annual Band Boosters Candy Sale, sponsored by the Charlevoix Band Boosters Association. Association President, Don Meggison, will sell the first boxes of candy to Mr. Omark during intermission, and then teams of Band Boosters will circulate throughout the audience giving everyone the opportunity to buy. The candy, chocolate pecan fudge or peanut brittle, is supplied to the group by Holiday Fudge Shoppe of Petoskey, owned by Leon Fosse, himself a member of the Band Boosters Association.

FEATURED tonight will be the Charlevoix Reserve and Senior Bands, and the Charlevoix High School Mixed Chorus. Program appears on page 10.

CHARLEVOIX -- The SS South America will visit Charlevoix from 7 a.m. until noon May 10.

The luxury cruise ship will call on Charlevoix during a trip sponsored by the Lansing Chamber of Commerce.

Proposals, Officials on Ballot

EAST JORDAN -- Next Monday's general election will include two proposals along with election of city officials.

One proposal will be asking the electors for a yes or no on the city income tax. If the city imposes the tax, residents working in the city will pay one percent of their income. Non-residents will pay one-half percent. Corporations and financial institutions will also be taxed.

THE OTHER proposal will ask for authorization of the sale of city water to non-city residents.

A document drawn up by city attorney Robert Klivorn stated the city was in a position to supply and furnish water to persons living outside the city limits. It added that the council believed city revenue obtained from the sale would be "desirable and advantageous."

CITY OFFICIALS to be elected include aldermen from all three wards, the mayor and the constable.

Running unopposed for re-election are Mayor Betty Robertson, Alderman Gerald Olson from the Third Ward and Constable Joseph Wilkins.

Howard Foster is challenging incumbent Lyle Peters for the council seat in the First Ward.

Guy Vallance is running against incumbent Howard Stanku for the council seat in the Second Ward.

Leo Taylor's request for a class C liquor license was approved by the council.

Bill Huckle appeared requesting the council to contact the State Highway Department about the 1967 official highway map. The South Arm of Lake Charlevoix was eliminated. Mayor Robertson said she would call the State Highway Commission and she asked the aldermen to contact Senator Schweigert in Lansing on the problem. Archie Dayton, president of Charlevoix's Chamber of Commerce also contacted the Highway Department.

Police Chief Joe Hammond reported that a number of dogs are running loose and suggested that the county should think about employing a full-time dog warden to catch the dogs.

New Druggist at City Store

CHARLEVOIX -- Pharmacist Bob Swartz of Petoskey has joined the staff at Central Drug Store.

Swartz worked at the Gilday Drug Store in Petoskey for five years until it completely gutted the building March 5.

"In fact, I was one of the 'teenage boys' who the papers claimed reported the fire," Swartz said.

He said he was about to open the store at 4:30 Sunday when he noticed smoke.

ALTHOUGH Swartz lives in a house trailer, he had approximately $6,000 in uninsured books, furnishings stored on the upper floor of the Gilday Building. Everything was lost.

"Now we'll have to start from the ground up," he said.

A native of Olean in western New York state, Swartz attended the University of St. Bonaventure in Olean and graduated from Ferris State College in 1961 as a licensed pharmacist.

HE AND HIS wife Barbara have three children: Michael, eight; Michele, five; and Matthew, 16 months.

Swartz was one of three pharmacists employed by the Gilday Co. The firm does not plan to re-open.

At present he is commuting to Charlevoix.

Ellsworth Will Pay 17 Mills for Schools

ELLSWORTH -- Taxpayers here may have to shell out a record 17 mills next year to barely meet school expenses.

At their meeting Monday night, the school board approved a $161,862 up $21,000 from last year.

To meet the budget, almost $100,000 will be needed from tax collection based on an anticipated evaluation of four million dollars. (The present evaluation is $3.5 million.)

IT IS ANTICIPATED that the 17 mills will bring in $83,852, almost $6,800 is forthcoming from delinquent taxes and interest, and an additional $1,200 from miscellaneous revenues.

State Aid and driver education funds will bring in another $69,925, with another $185 coming from the federal government under the National Defense Education Act, for a total of $181,862.

If the annexation vote doesn't pass May 1, Ellsworth voters will go back to the polls to vote on the 17 mills.

If the annexation passes, village taxpayers will share Charlevoix's millage. Last year Ellsworth collected the highest millage in the area with 11 mills. Charlevoix taxpayers paid three mills. East Jordan paid nine.

Most of this year's budget increase is due to a raise in salaries. Elementary salaries will increase almost $5,000.

However, final salary figures will not be known until teacher negotiations are over.

AT $43,530 for secondary salaries last year, Ellsworth paid its teachers a starting salary of $5,200.

Manuelina is starting its teachers at $5,800 this year. Johnnaburg is at $5,800 and Wolverine is at $5,500.

Ellsworth teachers are requesting their salaries be raised to $6,000.

THE event will be held in the high school gymnasium and start at 8 p.m. Friday, April 21.

ALSO ON the agenda for the annual meeting will be two proposals to amend the Community Chest Constitution. The first is to change the fiscal year from one which runs from April 1 to March 31, to a fiscal year beginning Jan. 1 and ending Dec. 31. The second proposal changes the time of the annual meeting from April, as presently specified in the constitution, to January.

Ray Hartorn in Vietnam

DA NANG, Vietnam -- Seaman Apprentice Gordon Ray Hartorn, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hartorn of Rural Route 1, Ellsworth, has reported for duty at the Naval Support Activity in Da Nang, Vietnam.

The activity was established to meet increased requirements for combat logistic support of operations in Vietnam. Approximately 7,000 Navy officers and men are being assigned to the activity.

His tasks will include off-loading ships and handling supplies from razor blades to roadgraders, aircraft fuel and lubricants, and provisions of all kinds, through the port of Da Nang and over beaches from the demilitarized zone in the north to Chu Lai in the south.

Your Church Symbolizes A Wholesome Philosophy -- A Gracious And Commendable Way Of Life.

Your Church Is The Greatest Force For Good

There is something inspiring, something majestic about a church that at once sets it apart from other buildings.

You sense, as you enter its restful confines, that no other institution ever evolved by man, through Providence, holds so great a force for good.

Although the church is a human institution, insofar as membership and organization are concerned, and therefore not perfect, it is a very good place to frequent. Men do not go there to fight, to rob or to harm. Here you will be inspired, comforted and imbued with that most commendable of all virtues: Charity for all; malice toward none.

A Last Futile Look at Winter

by Grace Ann McDaniels

Spring arrived, and it seemed logical that we might not have snow too much longer. So the other day I told the kids to bundle up because we were going outside to look some exploring.

"I'll be warm outside soon and the snow will be all gone. Let's go out and look at it closely," I could tell they could hardly wait by the way they hugged the television set, smiling and tried to look excited. "You know, plants and trees and flowers have been asleep all winter and they'll soon wake up and start moving again." Their eyes widened. "Kinda like you, huh mom?" I grabbed the largest volume of the Book of Knowledge and we made a couple of passes through the house. We were soon standing in the driveway with our hands full of snow.

"HAVE YOU ever looked at snowflakes close?" I thought I was off to a good start but I'd lost them already. The four year old was eating her snow with a great deal of indifference. "They sure look all alike to me," I tried again. "Let's go into the back yard. Have you noticed the way the wind has drifted the snow?" I showed them how to make a frame with their hands. "When you look at it this way you can see many different pictures. Now the drifts look like snow covered mountains. Look at the beautiful shadows." They had become quiet and thoughtful on something.

I decided to give up and summarize. "Isn't this been fun kids? Can you tell me what you've learned?" For a second here they looked interested. "We learned that this dumb snow will be all gone pretty soon and we can go to the beach."

I consoling myself with the thought that their attention spans probably weren't very developed yet and headed for the kitchen to make cocoa. While I stirred I planned my revenge. One of those days they'll ask me about the birds and the bees then they'll really learn a thing or two about being ignored.

Cabbages

... and Things

By Corole Walaskay

Someone recently asked me if I played the piano. Do I play the piano? Just lead me to those letters and I'll show you how "Rock of Ages" should be played.

Miss. BAUCH didn't give a damn about piano technique, although somewhat competent, assortment of piano teachers.

It all began when I was about seven with a teacher named Joanne—the last name just plain Joanne.

Don't remember much about Joanne except she was the most normal one of the bunch and she gave groovy Christmas parties for her students. We'd all have to play a little number on her Spinet for the other kids. (That was the worst part of it.) After wards though, we'd get to play all sorts of games like "Piano to the Board on Santa Claus" and "Hot Candy Cane"—a corruption of "Hot Potato."

Then Joanne would give us all a present and a candy cane, and we'd all go home and practice our next number in the following year.

AFTER JOANNE came Mrs. Bauch—from Germany no less. Mrs. Bauch didn't have a first name.

She was a wrinkled, bumpy woman in her late 30's who wore a blond wig (when they weren't fashionable) and had a crush on Liberace.

I was the first to discover her wig and the word quickly spread throughout her clientele. It all happened one afternoon when I was merrily tripping along her piano keys and the pedal started squeaking. The louder I played, the louder the pedal squeaked.

FINALLY Mrs. Bauch picked up her chair and threw it across the room.

"How can you play with that racket?" she asked in her heavy German accent. (If she knew that our piano at home hadn't been tuned in eight years, she would have known.)

So off she went to her garage to fumble around for a can of grease. When she brought it back we crawled down to repair the pedal. It was then I accidentally hit her in the head.

I took from her two months when she asked my mom to stand up for her wedding. Since the only time my mom ever saw her was when she wanted to be paid, my mom thought her request was rather weird.

She thought it was even weirder when after two months, the teacher said she was filing for divorce. The teacher said she couldn't get rid of her mother-in-law.

Her husband said if his mother went, he'd go. She went. He went. And so did the piano teacher.

She just faded off somewhere in the Brazilian jungle, (probably eaten by a big green plant or something.)

There were others too, but the stories are so fantastic no one would believe them.

Miss Glenda Knudsen Weds John Ferguson

MISS GLENDA Knudsen became the bride of John Ferguson Friday, March 31 at 8 p.m. Rev. William Harmon of the Ironcongregation Church performed the double ring ceremony at the home of the bride's parents in East Jordan. The immediate families were present.

MISS KNUDSEN is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Knudsen. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferguson of Charlevoix.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a blue brocade suit.

The maid of honor, Toni Cole, wore a pastel orange knit dress.

Mark Bourgon served as best man.

THE BRIDE is a graduate of East Jordan High School and Muskegon Business College.

Hospital Guild Notes

We are temporarily calling this column "For Ladies Only" because only ladies are permitted to attend a Hospital Guild meeting and because everyone knows—women are the only ones who accomplish anything anyway! Also we are reasonably certain that the men will read the column and become so enthusiastic about our projects that they will insist that their wives join the guild and become active members.

It's a good thing that the guild meetings are held in the hospital, because the guild has been ailing and limping along this past winter. Not nearly enough members have shown up.

Beauty Group Plans Projects

CHARLEVOIX -- The second meeting of District 10 of the Keep Michigan Beautiful committee was held March 22 at the home of chairman Jack Begrow.

Attending were Bill Ploch, Ralph Dean, Maurice Foster, Mildred Ochs and Mary Goddard.

Plans were made for planting trees around the library during Arbor Week, cleaning up the beaches, providing redwood trash containers for the downtown section and entering Charlevoix in state-wide contest as the cleanest town in Michigan.

Let's all help to put the Guild back on its feet—and have a good time doing it!

SUPERINTENDENT Nelson Spiesman read a report from District Superintendent of Health stating sanitary deficiencies found in the school.

Among the improvements called for were annual TB tests for students working in the cafeteria, outside ventilation in the cafeteria, formaldehyde fumes in the cafeteria working room and the bathrooms, and the installation of a new toilet in the girls' room.

When the board hired him, he was told he would work about 47 hours a week. "I put in 47 hours in four days," he told the board.

Board members talked about hiring one full-time custodian and another part-time custodian to handle the work load. However, no agreement was reached.

THE BOARD approved the senior class's spring trip to Expo '67 in Montreal. The group will travel by bus and spend six days on the trip.

DICK WIELAND was appointed chairman of the election inspectors for the annexation vote May 1. Art Dreth and Cyril Wynnsa were also appointed to serve.

Medusa Elects Loomis, Poole

CLEVELAND --- Worth Loomis and James E. Poole were elected directors of the Medusa Portland Cement Co. at the annual Board of Directors meeting here March 28.

They were elected to fill vacancies left by the resignation of W.J. Worth, retired Medusa vice president, and the death of Robert D. West, president of Manitowoc Shipbuilding, Inc., of Manitowoc, Wis.

POOLE, 43, is vice president-marketing for Medusa, a position he has held since joining the company in 1965. He has had long experience in the cement industry and lake shipping. He also is a member of the General Promotion Committee of the Portland Cement Assn.

LOOMIS, 43, is vice president-administration and secretary of Medusa. Before joining Medusa in 1958 he worked for Clevis Corp. He is a member of the Area Industrial Committee of the National Association of Manufacturers and is president of the Cleveland Heights-University Heights School Board.

TEN OTHER Medusa directors were re-elected.

Ninety percent of the shareowners were represented either in person or by proxy at the shareowners' meeting.

Atom Plant Hits Output Milestone

CHARLEVOIX --- The Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant here produced its one billionth kilowatt hour of electricity at 1:30 p.m. March 30, according to Russell B. DeWitt, plant superintendent.

One billion kilowatt hours is enough to power a city of 10,000 persons for 20 years.

DeWitt said the next billion kilowatt-hours should be produced in two years, instead of the five he has taken to generate the first five.

The nuclear station on the Lake Michigan shore five miles northeast of Charlevoix began to generate significant amounts of electricity in December, 1962.

FOR THE FIRST four years, the plant served as a research and development project for the United States Atomic Energy Commission, General Electric Co. and Consumers Power Co.

During this time there were long periods when no electricity was generated while various studies and fuel changes were made.

The nuclear plant has been generating a steady 70,000 kilowatts a day recently, and probably will function at that rate in the months ahead, DeWitt said.

THE MEN interviewed school personnel, board members, members of the Citizens' Committee and community residents to evaluate administrative effectiveness.

The survey revealed the community felt it had a sub-standard school system, teacher morale and effectiveness were low, and both students and faculty were concerned over the lack of discipline and school spirit.

Referring to the student survey taken last week, (see box) the report said, "The implications are serious. Students did not indicate an appropriate level of school pride. They were concerned with the general one of the school and the curricular offerings."

"TEACHERS said that discipline is poor and they receive less than adequate support of follow-up of discipline problems," it added.

The team found inadequate faculty supervision and evaluation.

They reported, "Disatisfaction with lack of leadership has led to many examples of low faculty morale and unethical practices by faculty members."

IN SURVEYING business and finance, the men complimented the board and superintendent for "substantial improvement in financial support of education this year."

(The 1966-67 fiscal budget increased 29% from $346,640 to $449,670 from the previous year.)

The team was "utterly aghast at the very inadequate office space of the superintendent" and felt the situation "may well be the seat of many of the communication problems within the school."

They also found the superintendent's time occupied by many menial tasks and clerical duties.

THE REPORT suggested the superintendent be relieved of these duties "to devote his time and energy to the more important need of giving leadership to the instructional program, staff and board relations, and communications."

It added that "an additional one-half time professional person be employed to assume purchasing and requisitioning operations and federal programs."

Clapp said that a large number of federal programs are being phased out.

What Annexation Means to Ellsworth

by Carol Walasky

In 1945 Ellsworth voters decided to combine six area school districts to create the Ellsworth Community School. The move was made because people thought they could offer their children expanded curriculum and educational facilities for less money.

Two months ago almost 25 percent of Ellsworth's voters presented the school board a petition to annex to Charlevoix. The reason for the petition was essentially the same as in the 1945 mortgage--expanded curriculum and educational facilities for less money.

How those people arrived at this conclusion is examined below.

LAST YEAR Ellsworth residents paid the highest millage in the area to keep their school running. They paid 11 mills compared to Munson's seven, Elk Rapids' four and Central Lake's eight. Charlevoix residents paid three.

Next year the school will need at least 17 mills from taxpayers to keep it operating. (This figure was reached at the last school board meeting and was based on an anticipated increase in evaluation from $3.62 million to 4 million.)

WHAT WILL taxpayers get for this increase?

A new elementary teacher and a new school bus accounts for 80 percent of the increase. The bulk of the rest will go for salary increases which presently are the lowest in the area.

The budget does not allow for a language lab, a full or part-time nurse, any noticeable expansion of shop facilities, a vocational education program or any expansion of curriculum.

In short, students next year will receive about the same education they got last year--only it will cost more.

While the cost per student last year was $502 ($140,561 budget divided by 280 students) next year it will be $550 ($141,862 budget divided by 258 students).

The following year the cost per student may be higher for there is no foreseeable reversal of the trend--salaries and other costs will increase, but the student population will stay where it is. Five years ago there were 100 students in grades 9 to 12. Last year there were 100 students in 1-12 based on present and anticipated enrollment.

LAST YEAR Charlevoix's cost per student was $392. It will probably stay about the same next year.

What will the Ellsworth student receive for the $588 paid to educate him?

Along with English, math and history, he will receive alternate years of chemistry and physics, alternate years of German I and II (the only language taught), one year of home economics, drafting I and II, and metallurgy I and II.

It also has three bands, a co-op program, participates in the Petoskey vocational education program, employs a full-time remedial reading teacher and a part-time nurse.

Charlevoix does all this with a tax collection of three mills, or $392 per student.

IF ELLSWORTH votes to annex with its neighbor, Ellsworth students will share these opportunities and more, since Charlevoix hopes to expand its present curriculum if Ellsworth comes in.

Ellsworth's 17-mill tax levy also will drop considerably if it votes to annex, since tax collections will be spread between the two communities.

Ellsworth voters also will be asked for more money soon for a new school building, many people in town pass, the present structure is a half-century old and it lacks many modern facilities. It also fails to meet the state fire marshals standards in some respects.

By creating one school district out of the two, the cost of construction will be shared by taxpayers in the combined district.

Residents are presently supporting a $147,000 bond issue with four mills. The cost of remodeling the old school was paid $117,000 by Taverman Associates. The cost for a new building would be considerably higher.

CHARLEVOIX residents also are supporting a bond issue, paying 3.5 mills on $865,000 bonded indebtedness.

If Ellsworth accepts annexation, the existing school will be remodeled or torn down to build a new junior high school. Senior high students will go in Charlevoix.

$306,392 Higher Salary Demands Boost Proposed School Budget

Dog Attacks Housewife

CHARLEVOIX --- A Charlevoix woman was reported in good condition at Charlevoix Hospital Tuesday after being savagely bitten on the arms and legs by a malamute-German shepherd dog in the yard of her North Side home last Friday morning.

She is Mrs. Anselme Price, a native of Germany whose husband is stationed with the Air Force at Bay Shore. The Prices live near Mercer Blvd. and U.S. 31.

Mrs. Price was attacked when she went into the yard to untangle her own dog from its leash. The Price dog is a female and was in season. The malamute is male owned by the Crover Genetics who live on the Boyne City Road.

WHICH LAMPS do you prefer? Above are 1,000-watt mercury vapor lamps installed along Nathan Blvd. in Sheffield, Ala. This is the type of lamp the City Council voted to install on Bridge St. at its last meeting. Below is the carriage style lamp which many people in town seem to prefer. Petitions are circulating asking the council to reconsider its lighting plans.

$20,000 for Supt.

CHARLEVOIX --- A record school budget--one which would give the superintendent a salary of $20,000, the principals salaries of $15,000 and $17,000 and the teachers wages substantially higher--has been presented to the tax allocation board by the Charlevoix Board of Education.

The proposed budget is $306,392 higher than the budget for the 1966-67 school year, with most of the increase earmarked for higher salaries for school personnel.

SUPERINTENDENT Rex Milligan emphasized that the School Board is still negotiating on teacher salaries and the budget may not go as high as the proposed figures indicate.

However, he said the teachers' salary proposals must be taken into consideration, since failure to do so would leave the board open to charges of unfair labor practices.

SALARY negotiations to date have held behind closed doors, but the Michigan Education Association announced earlier that it is seeking a beginning salary of $20,000 a year for teachers in northern Michigan.

The proposed budget calls for expenditures of $875,564. Of the total, $143,785 is earmarked for operating expenses, $714,326 for salaries of teachers and administrators, and $116,453 for operation of the library.

Milligan said he figured the salary budget on the scale asked by Charlevoix teachers, increasing the salaries of principals and the superintendent in proportion.

Under the proposed budget, Elementary School Principal Glen Snider would receive a salary of $15,000. High School Principal Ray Carr a salary of $17,500 and Superintendent Milligan $20,540.

The salaries of non-certified employees would be raised accordingly.

TO MEET the budget, the school would require an additional 14 mills above the estimated allocated millage of 8.5. Total tax levy to meet the budget would be 22.5 mills. The operating levy for the 1966-67 year was 11.5 mills.

THE COURT'S decision came after supervisors had spent the day mulling three plans drawn up by the reappointment committee.

Monday was the deadline for submitting reappointment plans to the state under the new state law.

IRONICALLY, the Charlevoix board went through the motions of reappointing under protest.

The final proposal drafted by the board incorporated a statement that it was "opposed not only to the Act but to its intent, purpose and effect upon local self-government."

THE SUPREME COURT'S action was in response to a request for a decision on the constitutionality of the new law asked by Gov. George Romney. The governor apparently suspected that the law might be unconstitutional, since it conflicted with a constitutional guarantee that every township supervisor shall have a birth on the county board, regardless of township population.

Although the court's decision lacks the force of law, it is a strong statement.

Court Kills Twp. Law

CHARLEVOIX---A plan to reappoint Charlevoix County into 15 supervisor districts died aborning Monday when the Michigan supreme Court ruled that Charlevoix state reappointment law is unconstitutional.

Slim Chance of Survival in A-Attack

CHARLEVOIX---Only about six percent of this county's residents would survive in present shelters in case of a nuclear attack the board of supervisors was told at their meeting Tuesday.

Philip Wheeler, state radiological defense instructor, said out of the county population of 13,500 there are only 1,590 spaces in shelters or about enough for 11 percent of the population.

OF THESE 11 percent, he said, only eight percent would survive because of "insufficient food and water supplies."

He added that the shelter would die from lack of proper supervision, natural causes and communicable diseases.

He said the need for adequate shelters will double or triple during the tourist season.

Wheeler was one of the speakers at a meeting to discuss the need for better shelters.

Davis to Speak in City Friday

CHARLEVOIX --- State Rep. Robert Davis (R-St. Ignace) will discuss fiscal reform at a meeting of Charlevoix Republicans Friday, April 14, at 8 p.m. at the Charlevoix County courthouse. The public is invited.

Following the discussion the executive and county committees will hold a joint meeting to check on progress of the present membership drive, according to County GOP Chairman Oscar Strobel. Strobel said the drive is near the half-way mark.

Jordan Students Give Views on Education

Students polled last week at East Jordan High School indicated they want a broader curriculum with academic subjects taught by qualified teachers with a major, or at least, a minor degree in the subject.

Of the 140 students polled, 117 said subjects now offered were not adequate. Almost all of them (94 percent) said they felt all subjects now were necessary.

Specifically, the students want courses in foreign languages to be offered at least two consecutive years, chemistry and physics offered every year, art, economics, first aid, more vocational subjects, sex education, home and family living, and space age courses.

STUDENTS also favored consolidation by 120 to 32. Eight had no opinion on the subject.

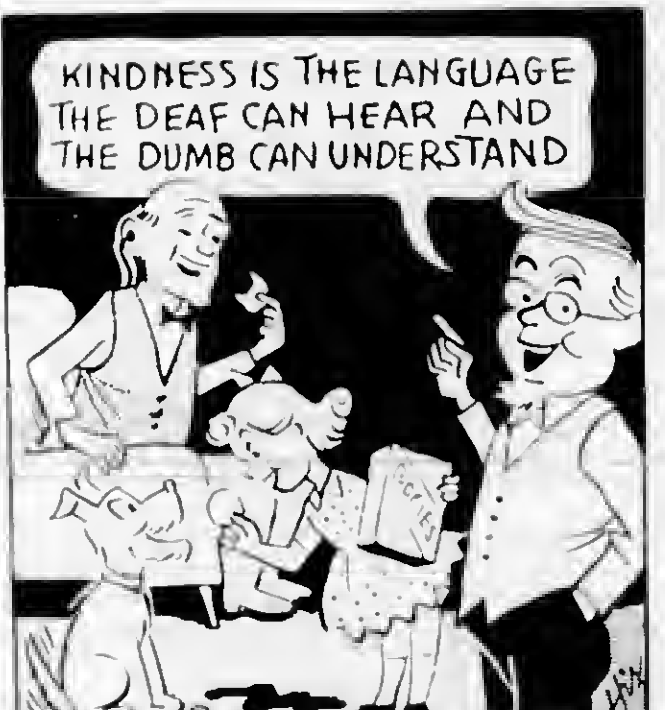

Walter Goebel, Citizens' Committee member working with the survey, said "Student interest in a more adequate education with better facilities, more qualified teachers and better equipment through consolidation was placed first."

He added, "We of the curriculum committee have been surprised to discover school facilities are no better, and in some instances worse, than old, more vocational schools, 15 or 20 years ago."

BILL ALDRIDGE, 23, is the new operation officer aboard the Coast Guard cutter Wabaw. A native of St. Paul, Minn., Aldridge is a graduate of Officers' Candidate School. He succeeds 2nd Lt. Chris Immer, who has been named personnel officer of the Coast Guard academy in New London, Conn.

family moved to Indiana when he was a boy. In 1879 they moved to Michigan, settling in Hayes Township.

The trip north was made in a covered wagon, with Mr. Chew and his father walking most of the way because there wasn't room for everyone to ride.

Almost a century later, Mr. Chew was still walking. In 1901 and 62 he took part in the annual Labor Day trek across the Straits of Mackinac Bridge.

HE WAS MARRIED to the former Mary Thune July 4, 1900. She died in 1948, and he continued to live at his farm home until recent years, spending the winter with his daughter, Miss Alice W. Chew, in Bay City.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church in Charlevoix and the Glenora.

He is survived by two daughters, Miss Chew of Bay City and Mrs. John E. (Gale) Ross of Charlevoix; two sons, Gale C. of Alma and Milo K. of Flint; 14 grandchildren and 42 great-grandchildren.

Also surviving are a brother, Archie B. Chew of Tampa, Fla., and two sisters, Mrs. Melville Vansteenberg and Mrs. Daisy Penney, both of Flint. Two daughters preceded him in death.

Boys Visit Ontario Scouts

CHARLEVOIX -- Ten Charlevoix Scouts from Troop 11 have returned from a spring visit with scouts at Preston, Ont. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Doug Wilks and Louis Edwards.

The Scouts were the houseguests of Preston Scouts and stayed one night at their Golden Eagle Scout Camp.

THE BOYS also visited Niagara Falls, traveling to the top of the 520-foot Skylon Tower in beetle cars which run on tracks on the outside of the building.

There is a revolving dining room at the top of the tower.

The Charlevoix boys attended church with their hosts, attended movies, went horseback riding and sight-seeing before returning to Charlevoix.

$5 Fee Asked

Snowcat Licenses Proposed by Solon

CHARLEVOIX -- Snowmobile owners - who are growing in number in Charlevoix County - will pay a $5 registration fee under a bill introduced in the State Senate recently by Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert (R-Petoskey).

The bill to require registration of snowmobiles is designed to identify the machines for protection of the public and the vehicle owners themselves, Schweigert said.

He emphasized that it is not a device to raise revenue for the state.

Schweigert said that, although many snowmobile dealers had expressed approval of the bill, some dealers had expressed objections to it.

"There is no intention to provide additional revenue for the state so far as I am concerned. Rather, a fee is suggested to reimburse the costs involved in registering the machines. The fee can vary readily be adjusted downward if a lesser amount is necessary," Schweigert suggested.

He suggested that if the fee is adjusted downward if the costs of administration, the excess could be "used for trails and bridges."

Lilak Heads Housing Group

EAST JORDAN -- James Lilak, former East Jordan mayor, was chosen to head the city's housing commission at their first meeting Tuesday night.

Other members include Vern Whitford, vice-president, Jack Zoulek, acting secretary, Lyle Johnston and Roman Dumas.

The commission will appoint a non-member to serve as secretary at a later date.

After being sworn in, the members set a permanent meeting date as the first Monday of each month. They also decided to contact a representative of the Federal Housing Commission to explain the details in setting up housing for the elderly and low-income groups.

Presently the commission is involved in locating a building site and applying for federal approval.

It's Complete Understanding That Makes For A Happy Father and Son Relationship

Fishing is an ideal recreation for maintaining and strengthening the bonds of love and affection between father and son. It provides a common playground and a common interest for both. It is a recreation that helps make close pals of "Dad" and son and may often prevent that indescribable "something" from coming between them --- that "something" that places them in two different worlds.

The wise father, however, will keep the recreation within reasonable bounds. He will not let it interfere with the family's regular attendance at church services --- for here, where His word is spoken, closer associations and good guidance are gained for both father and son.

ERICKA SCHOOL, who recently came to the United States from Germany, teaches adult education class in German at Charlevoix High School. Exchange student Hannelore Mueller assists.

Adult Education Growing, Kiwanis Club Is Told

CHARLEVOIX -- Charlevoix's growing adult education program was the topic for discussion at the April 5 meeting of the Kiwanis Club. Speaker was Del Terrill, adult education coordinator for Charlevoix High School. Terrill said the program started last year with physical education programs for men and women.

HE SAID both programs have proven extremely popular, particularly with members of the armed forces stationed near Charlevoix. Detachment 12 of the 104th Radar Bomb Squadron even pays tuition for participants out the units' recreation funds. In all, 30 airmen are taking part in the program, 15 attending each week as duty schedules permit. Terrill said about 50 women are taking part in the women's physical education program.

Another popular course is interior decorating, which is being conducted in cooperation with Hess Furniture, Interiors of Charlevoix and Bartlett Place Covering. The three firms take turns handling classes, with groups meeting at their business places. Sharing instruction duties have been the owners and employees of the participating companies, covering such topics as floor covering, drapery and furniture arrangement.

TERRILL said he has attempted to learn what type of programs people would be interested in through a questionnaire in the Courier. One course being offered this winter came about quite by accident, Terrill said he overheard Miss Ericka School and Miss Hannelore Mueller talking in German at Schroeder's drugstore. Miss School came from Germany this winter and works at the store. Miss Mueller is an exchange student from Germany living with the Dale Boss family.

TERRILL asked them if they would like to teach a class in German and they readily agreed. The group meets every Wednesday night at 8 p.m. at the high school. One student comes from as far away as Gaylord.

After preforming skills for Maynard, the students presented him with a broom and wished him a happy retirement.

Cathy Wieland

Chosen as Queen

MISS CATY WIELAND, a senior at Ellsworth Community School, was chosen as Ellsworth's Safety Queen this year.

Miss Wieland plans to attend Michigan State University this fall to major in home economics. She has been active in many extra-curricular activities and is editor of this year's yearbook.

She will reign over the 17th Annual Safety Meeting in the Ellsworth High School gym April 21.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. and will feature a play by Marc Groder, chair artist from the Detroit Police Department, award presentations and speakers.

Door prizes and refreshments will be given out. There is no admission charge.

Ancient Adolescent on a Windy Day

by Grace Ann McDaniels

It was a perfect day to fly a kite and an ancient adolescent was on hand to help. I watched from the window as he and the program headed for the open field next door with great expectations and five miles of kite string.

I imagined him giving a sketchy lecture on updrafts and the like then he took off on a short sprint across the field. The moment of truth proved favorable and the kite, which was airborne, it had its ups and downs for a while until it was decided which of the two, maneuvering six hands on the string would remain in control. After everyone had a turn, they decided the kite flying was a waste and left it tied to a fire hydrant while they took off for another pastime.

AS I WATCHED them leave I tried to remember the last time I'd flown a kite. I was itching to get out there and give it a try without attracting a laughing crowd. I put on my sneakers and a head scarf. A little make-up covered the dark eye circles and I had hopes of passing for at least an old hag.

I reached the fire hydrant and found it of its burden. Right away I realized what constituted a good kite flying day. It's when the wind is so strong the string cuts through your hand and I'm left with a red mark. I tried edging back to the house for a pair of gloves but there were too many telephone wire obstacles. I decided to stick it out by switching hands often.

Passing cars were slowing down and sometimes coming to a complete stop. The kite has been made of a cheap plastic material and was nearly impossible to spot without binoculars. They'd shake their heads and drive on, obviously concluding that it was a divine power holding my kite so taut.

AFTER WHILE, a sports loving neighbor pulled up and popped out of his car with another kite. We discussed the weather and updrafts (what else) and I noticed he kept shading his eyes and searching in the direction of my point. I told him it was a kite and he was a divine power. I turned his back I started hauling it in. I was just past the hydrant when he came in. I told him it was a kite and he was a divine power. I turned his back I started hauling it in. I was just past the hydrant when he came in.

It had been me and for a while there I had my kite. I was just past the hydrant when he came in. I told him it was a kite and he was a divine power. I turned his back I started hauling it in. I was just past the hydrant when he came in.

Cabbages

By Carol W.

A couple of weeks ago I began some of my cabbage recipes since then I've gotten off the beaten path writing about all sorts of nonsense.

Therefore, this week I'll be quiet and let the recipes speak for themselves—which may or may not be an improvement.

PAN-FRIED CABBAGE
2 tbs. fat
Dash of salt
5 cups shredded cabbage
Blend and heat fat, beef extract and salt in skillet. Add the cabbage. Cover tightly and cook over very low heat until tender, about ten minutes.

SOUTHERN SAUCED CABBAGE

1 firm head (1 1/2 lbs.) cabbage
4 cups boiling water
2 tsp. salt
1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup mild vinegar
1 tbs. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
2 eggs
Wash and trim cabbage, but don't remove all the core. Cut into eight sections leaving enough core to hold leaves in place. Place carefully, cut side up, in a wide saucepan. Add the boiling water to depth of two inches. Cover tightly and cook until tender (about 10 to 15 minutes). While the cabbage cooks, heat the butter, vinegar, sugar and salt in a small saucepan. Beat the eggs slightly in a bowl and the milk. Slowly pour in the mixture stirring until thick over simmering water.

Drain the cabbage well and serve with sauce.

MON LA HINGVO (Burmese Cabbage Soup)

Serves 6-7
3 tbs. oil
1 cup chopped onions
3 minced garlic cloves

Pair Injured in Auto Crash

CHARLEVOIX -- Two Charlevoix men were taken to Charlevoix and Little Traverse Hospitals following a car accident March 31 which demolished their 1964 Tempest.

The single-car crash occurred at 11:29 p.m. on Boyne City Rd., half a mile south of Horton Bay.

Donald Sutton, 26, identified by the sheriff's department as the driver, was taken to Little Traverse Hospital where he was listed in critical condition.

PASSENGER Maurice Dixon, 23, was taken to Charlevoix Hospital where he was listed as fair. He has a concussion and possible skull fracture.

According to Sheriff Phil Sumner, Sutton was apparently driving to Charlevoix when the car went off on the shoulder.

Go to Church - whoever preaches

If the statue of Benjamin Franklin should suddenly come to life and that fine old American patriot step down and take a look about him, would he be amazed at what he saw? Perhaps not as much as we might be inclined to think.

Dr. Franklin possessed vision—a vision that might have given him an insight into the future of his country. He possessed a scientific mind and might possibly have realized some of the future wonders of science. Moreover, he possessed wisdom and knowledge of fundamentals — the truths that never change.

Many people offer as their excuse for staying away from church — they "do not like the pastor" — they "do not like" this or that. "Listen" to what Franklin said in a letter to his niece:

"GO CONSTANTLY TO CHURCH, whoever preaches. The act of devotion in the Common Prayer Book is your principal business there and if properly attended to will do more toward amending the heart than sermons generally can do. . . yet I do not mean you should despise sermons, even of the pastors you dislike, for the discourse is often much better than the man — as sweet and clear waters come through very dirty earth."

Scott Crandall Takes Training at Ft. Knox, Ky.

FT. KNOX, Ky. — Army Pvt. Scott E. Crandall has been assigned, here in the United States Army Training Center, Armor (USATCA), to Company E, 13 Battalion, of the 4 Basic Combat Training Brigade, for his initial eight weeks of military training. He will spend the next two months learning all the fundamental skills of a soldier in today's Army, and will fire more than 500 rounds of live ammunition under simulated combat situations, including those encountered at night, during a three-week course with the soldier's basic weapon—the M14 rifle.

HE WILL ALSO be taught protective measures and first-aid for chemical, biological and radiological attacks and close-in combat, and will be schooled also in the use of the hand grenade, bayonet and hand-to-hand combat.

Much of this instruction will be vividly illustrated by the latest visual-aids techniques and live demonstrations, and by living under actual field conditions for several days.

INTERSPACED with constant emphasis on proper physical conditioning, diet, rest and health habits, will be ample opportunity to utilize USATCA's many and varied recreational and religious facilities.

Following the completion of his basic training, PVT Crandall who is the son of Mrs. Edna Crandall of Charlevoix, and the late Mr. Crandall will receive at least an additional eight weeks of either advanced instruction or on-the-job training to qualify him in a specialized military skill.

Pvt. Candalaria Studies Engines

FT. DIX, N. J. — Army Pvt. Sixfred L. Candalaria, 26, husband of Carol Candalaria of East Jordan, completed a light vehicle driver course at Ft. Dix, N. J. March 31.

During the course, he was trained in the operation and maintenance of military vehicles up to and including 2 1/2-ton trucks. He also studied internal combustion engines and chassis assembly.

East Jordan Wins 1st Tennis Match

ALPENA — East Jordan won its first tennis meet of the season here Friday afternoon. In the singles was Dave Reed, 6-1, 6-1, against Alpena's Jerry Lancour, Brian Sturgell, 6-2, 7-5, against Cary Jorgenson, Don Gee, 6-3, 6-1, against Bill Mowden, Sophomore Terry Bond's match, 7-5, 1-1, was called because of rain and awarded to Alpena's Jerry Johnston.

East Jordan won all of its doubles with Doug Raymond and Al Grauel beating Dick Tritle and Howard Haagens, 6-2, 6-2, Jerry Schenck and Gordie McDonald beating Chris Barrow and Ken Kesterke, 6-3, 6-3, Roger Lilak and Charles Fisher were awarded a 6-1, 3-3 match over Doug Erickson, Lee Tiedorf's match called because of rain.

COACH ED BURROWS called the meet a "decided victory" since it was almost a clean sweep and Alpena has always been a formidable opponent. Commenting on the team's potential Burrows said, "I think it's really something when these boys who have had such a bad season in football and basketball turn out all full of energy for the tennis season. It seems like nothing can keep them down."

"They'll go a long way this year. We've got some of the best players in the state here and they're not afraid to let other schools know it," he added.

He said, "It's not too often sophomores can make the team, but these boys really have it."

East Jordan meets Leelanau this week at home. Saturday the freshman will host Gaylord freshman.

Senior Citizens Plan Pot Luck

LANSING — Republican State Rep. Robert W. Davis of St. Ignace is offering free of charge to the senior citizens of the 10th District a booklet outlining state programs of benefit to Michigan's senior citizens.

The handbook was prepared by the Michigan Commission on Aging and is available by writing Rep. Davis at the State Capitol in Lansing. It gives general information on County Councils on Aging, recreation programs, educational and employment opportunities, health care, financial and housing assistance, legal aid and the many other programs conducted by the State.

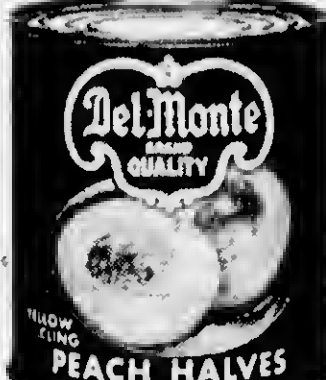

Rep. Davis said that Michigan now ranks among the leaders in state services, facilities and opportunities offered to senior citizens and is striving to become first in this field. He added that the state services to the elderly are beneficial only if senior citizens utilize them. Representative Davis urged all senior citizens of the 10th District to become familiar with the programs available by writing to him at the State Capitol for the handbook.

THE PURIST
Designed for the discriminating individual who looks for perfection, in a casual manner, in his button down shirt. This is achieved by a blend of fine fabrics, detailed tailoring, and a properly balanced collar, with the correct flare.

Cabbages and Things

By Carol Walaskey

One of the worst things about spring is the clothes I put out of storage. On the way they look like they were never worn. It's just the way they look.

All last winter I hid my extra pounds under baggy sweaters and skirts. When spring comes I find myself looking like a little girl who has been through a war.

The first night I read it, I became thoroughly exhausted just looking at the pictures. How could that Miss P.S. 5 look so cheerful doing 20 sit ups, 30 pull ups and 5,000 leg kicks, (I can barely walk 10 feet to the refrigerator without having to sit down and rest.)

Now you can get extra protection in drapery cleaning at no extra cost! We return your drapes folded and pleated, ready to hang. They'll look better and stay neat longer. DON'T DELAY... DO IT TODAY!

Women What They're Doing

By Mrs. C. S. Coffin - Los Angeles

Recipe Exchange

GRAHAM CRACKER CAKE
1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 cups very fine graham cracker crumbs
2 tsp. baking powder
1 cup chopped walnuts
Cream together butter and sugar until well blended and smooth. Add the eggs and beat until light. Beat in sour cream. Combine graham cracker crumbs with baking powder and walnuts. Stir into batter until just blended. Spoon into buttered 8x8x2 inch baking pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes. Serve topped with whipped cream. Or cream or Spiced Cream Cheese icing.

SPICED CREAM CHEESE ICING
1 1/2 oz. package cream cheese
2 to 3 tbsp. cream or sour cream
1 tsp. rum
1 cup powdered sugar, or to taste
Whip cream cheese with fork until smooth. Blend in cream, rum and sugar. Spread over top of cake while it's still in the pan. Sprinkle with additional rum if desired. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

Senior Citizens Offered Booklet by Bob Davis

CHARLEVOIX—The Charlevoix Senior Citizens' Area Group will meet at the Community Room at the City Hall for a 6:30 p.m. potluck supper Thursday, Mrs. George Whitely, president of the organization, has announced.

Everyone is to bring a dish to pass as well as their own table service. Anyone interested in coming is invited to do so.

Plans for the event were made at a recent meeting held at the city hall at which Mattia Stone, nutritionist with Michigan Health Department, was the guest speaker. She showed a film entitled the "Medicine Man" which illustrated how health habits prey on older people. She also spoke on diet needs for senior citizens and distributed pamphlets.

At the business session, Mrs. Gay Smith volunteered to serve as secretary, serving out the unexpired term of the late Mrs. Leslie Evers. Refreshments were served at a table covered with an arrangement of forsythia flowers by Mrs. Anna O'Brien. Refreshments were furnished by Mrs. Henry Sants.

Fem-Levity Morning! What a Way to Start the Day

By Grace Ann McDaniels

I wonder if it would be possible for me to gear my life so I could live at night and sleep all day without working the third shift. This would eliminate the worst part of my day which happens to be getting up in the morning.

The shur of mankind who thrives on hopping out of bed at the crack of dawn to face the glowing East can't imagine what a traumatic experience morning is for someone like me, I have a need to waken gradually and with two children in the same house it's impossible.

What I find is enough to make a grayer swear-off food. Every box of cereal has been dumped in the middle of the kitchen table and they've made enough toast to stuff a turkey. An egg has been smashed on the runway from the table to the cupboard. It's so well ground into the floor the only way I know it's an egg is out of habit. The son is popping corn and the daughter is cutting into her favorite cheese.

But for now, reality, I have a hick of a messy bedroom to take care of.

New Learning Method at Jordan PTA

Two experts in the Dolman-Delacato method of learning will present a program to the East Jordan Elementary School gym Saturday, April 22 at 1:30.

Mrs. Althea Johnston and Mrs. Jacqueline Pollack, both of Midland, will handle the program devoted to the development of children's learning abilities.

Both women have applied the new method as described in November's Reader's Digest as teachers. Reportedly they've had remarkable results.

Mrs. Johnston is a first grade teacher and attended the Institute for the Achievement of Human Potential at Philadelphia. Mrs. Pollack works with nursery school children.

The program is sponsored by the East Jordan PTA and everyone is invited to attend.

Style Show to be Here

Fashions—Past, Present and Future will be presented Wednesday, April 26 at 8:00 p.m. in the Charlevoix Elementary School gym.

Sponsored by the Future Homemakers of America, the style show will feature fashions created and modeled by the girls. Fashions will also be loaned by Fays, Lieberman and Yule Spire shop for the event.

The show is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Needed: Rabies Vaccination Law

The time has come for compulsory rabies vaccinations for Charlevoix County dogs.

Three cases of rabies in skunks, dogs and horses have been uncovered in the county in the past year—which is three too many for our money.

In two instances, the skunks had tangled with dogs, which had to be destroyed because of the virulence of the disease. Veterinarians tell us that animals don't actually have to come in contact with each other to spread the disease. If a rabid animal so much as spits at another, the rabies virus may be transmitted.

COMPULSORY vaccination against rabies has been a common practice for years in down-state counties. Dog owners are simply required to show proof that their animals have been vaccinated before they are issued licenses.

Harbor Springs recently passed an ordinance requiring that all dogs in the village be vaccinated. A yearly clinic is set up and dog owners bring their pets in for shots at a cost of $1.50. Office inoculations range up to $5.

Dr. John Pray of Petoskey told the Courier there is no reason why similar clinics couldn't be set up in Charlevoix County, perhaps holding one at Boyne City and one at the county seat.

OF COURSE the city of Charlevoix could go it alone in requiring dog vaccinations. But unfortunately rabid animals are no respecters of municipal boundaries. The problem is county-wide and we believe it should be taken care of on the county level.

This is a problem the County Board of Supervisors might look into at its next meeting.

Reapportionment: Time Wasted

There is something radically wrong in Lansing when the Legislature draws up and passes laws—such as the new defunct reapportionment law—which are obvious infringements upon grass roots democracy.

The law was declared null and void last Monday by the Michigan Supreme Court after thousands of man-hours were wasted on the county level trying to meet its requirements.

PASSED by Legislature last year, the law required counties of 75,000 population and under to realign representation on county boards of supervisors in accordance with the "one man, one vote" principle.

The slogan sounds good. As a democratic people, we believe in equal representation.

The Legislature more sensibly might have asked that low population townships consolidate with each other if it felt that the present form of government is too unwieldy.

Unfortunately it took a decision by the Michigan Supreme Court to destroy a law which might far better have died in committee.

WHILE THE law was on the books, however, county boards throughout the state wrestled with the problem of how to divide their populations into districts which would satisfy the "one man, one vote" principle.

IT SEEMS from here that the August Michigan legislature should have sufficient expert legal opinion on tap to go into proposed legislation more thoroughly.

Surely somewhere in the great city of Lansing there must be a legal mind which could foresee pitfalls in proposed legislation and correct them before such legislation becomes the law of the land.

ANOTHER CASE in point is the law under which the recent annexation of the Ironton School District to Charlevoix was brought about. The election flagrantly violated the right of Irontonians to vote on school matters in their own school district. They were required to vote in Charlevoix and their ballots were lumped in with those of Charlevoixians.

We are confident that annexation passed not because Ironton wanted it, but because Charlevoix didn't object to it.

What bothers us is how such assinine legislation is allowed to get so far before its errors are detected. Our legislators apparently are desperately in need of better legal counsel. We hope they get it—and soon.

Clockwise La Vie en Rose à Montreal

By Bob Clock

I get goosebumps of anticipation every month when Montreal's colorful brochure on Expo '67 arrives in the mail. In fact, it's gotten so I almost feel I know Mayor Jean Drapeau personally. I guess he's the one who sends it to me, because his little cards fall out of every issue. Imprinted with the seal of Montreal and his name.

Unlike most magazines, Mayor Drapeau's attractive little number is printed in two languages, French and English. And the cutlines which go along with the pictures are printed in five—English, French, Spanish, German and what looks like it might be Italian. Needless to say, there's something in it for everybody, no matter what language you parlez.

THE LATEST edition contains a letter from Jean Drapeau himself, assuring me that the magazine has been such a success that he plans to continue it indefinitely, even after the gigantic fair which gave it birth is over. This is good news for everyone who has found his little publication among the highlights of the month's mail.

OF course, was planning to go to Montreal this summer. Being a close friend of the mayor, we could hardly do less. And after a love affair with the city of Montreal which goes back several years, we wouldn't want to miss the biggest thing in its long history.

In case you've never been there, Montreal is unique among the great cities of the world since it successfully combines the culture of Old France with the beat of modern living. Unlike Quebec City, or other communities in Quebec province, Montreal is truly bilingual. Although perhaps more French is spoken than English, street signs are in both languages and the people who serve the public are equally fluent in both tongues.

IT'S DIFFICULT to put your finger on the appeal of Montreal. The downtown section appears to be much like other large cities, with skyscrapers, expressways and — on the surface streets — traffic jams. But there's something which sets Montreal apart from the ordinary run of big cities and I think it's the people, particularly the women. They wouldn't dream of running an errand downtown without donning a pair of heels and dressing to the teeth. And chances are Madam will have a well-groomed French poodle on a leash.

It would be unthinkable for a Montreal housewife to be found dead outdoors with her hair in curlers or her lower extremities bedecked in pants. It's a refreshing change from most American big cities—or small towns for that matter.

OF COURSE, there are huge sections of Montreal which are French, pure and simple. A few years ago, July and August down into Montreal from the south, crossing the St. Lawrence River and landing right in the heart of the old city. The architecture was something right out of a French movie, with the apartment buildings decorated with a filigree of wrought iron balconies and ornamental circular stairways.

The signs above the shops were all in French and an unmistakable aroma of onion soup permeated the area. I've never been to Paris, but I imagine a Parisian would be right at home in that section of Montreal.

THERE'S ANOTHER area where the English live called Mont Royal. It's neat, trim and well-groomed. It might as well be a suburb of London. In between, lies the rest of Montreal, a co-mingling of the two cultures.

DURING my bachelor days, my favorite stopover in Montreal was an ancient rooming house near the heart of the city run by a Mrs. Hartman. It was close to a smoky little basement restaurant called Au Pied de Cochon, or the Pig's Foot, where they'd serve you up a platter of sauteed snails and a bottle of French wine was readily as you could get a hamburger and a cup of coffee in the States. And the French toast was made from thick slices of French bread. You won't find French toast on any menu, however, because they call it by its French name, "pain d'ore."

WHEN WE MADE our reservations last September, we just assumed Mrs. Hartman was booked solid for the 1967 season, so we went further afield. There's a little hotel called Pointe du Rocher on Lac Mont Tremblant—about 60 miles distant which also has won our hearts, and it's there we're heading, come mid-June.

Now that's real French country. A few years ago when we stayed there we were the only English-speaking people in residence and the little waitress patiently wrote out the day's menu for us in English every morning. We just as patiently reversed the process, and ordered our meals in fractured French.

By American standards, our little hotel is somewhat quaint. The sanitary facilities are communal, meaning you share a bath with everyone in your section of the hotel. However, there is "eau courante" (running water) in every room, the management assured us in confirming our reservation. Voilà.

The locale is about as scenic as you can find in North America. It is located on the banks of ice-blue Lac Mont Tremblant high in the Laurentian Mountains. The area is well-known for its skiing, but is equally pleasant in summer.

On our first visit to Pointe du Rocher, I couldn't resist the temptation to take a dip in its mountain-fresh waters. And I couldn't imagine why other vacationers steered clear of its superb bathing area. So I put on my trunk one morning, sauntered out on the dock and dove in. In a second I knew why the natives avoided the water. If it were one degree colder it would have frozen.

A Frenchman was standing on the beach watching. As I returned, spluttering, shivering and covered with goosebumps, he stopped me.

History of Bridge Street and Charlevoix Harbor

Chapter X

The Masonic Temple is on the corner of Mason Street. In the early days a white house stood on the corner. About 1907 the Masonic Lodge took possession and moved the house off. A cement foundation was constructed on which was to be built the Masonic Temple, which is now the best constructed building in town, with the exception of the banks. The Masonic Building Assn. was formed to carry on the construction of the temple. On the building committee were F. G. Hines, A. L. Fleh, S. W. Patton, Mr. Frank Wilkinson, John M. Ackert, S. M. Rose, Orl Nordrum and Bursched Miller. The temple was completed in the summer of 1912 and the lodge moved into the new building. That fall, S. M. Rose was the first Worshipful Master of the F. and A. M. No. 262.

A. E. MASON had the first floor with his grocery and dry goods stores. When he moved out, D. H. Wood and Clarence Wood put in a hardware store called Wood Brothers hardware. They also had the north room as an electric shop for several years. Wood Brothers closed out the electric store and F. J. Fossenden moved in after he burned out in the old Blanchard hardware building. Mr. Fossenden passed away and his son, Bill, ran the store until they sold out to Schroeder and Hovey. Mr. Schroeder bought out Mr. Hovey who was from Harbor Springs and John Schroeder is the present owner of the drug store. Wood Brothers sold out to Max Hosmer who operated the hardware for a couple of years, then sold out to Mr. Kowiel and son, Don. Hosmer named it the Harbor Hardware.

NOW COMES the Benjamin Brown building. In 1907 Ben. Brown purchased a vacant lot south of the Masonic building, which at that time had only the basement or foundation of their present building. Brown built a two-story cement block building with living quarters above. He opened a harness shop with pearl's work clothing and luggage. He made equestrian equipment for years, later going into the bicycle and motorcycle business and then came the automobiles.

THE MASONIC building closed off the windows on the north side of the Brown building and skylights were built. The lot south of Benjamin's harness shop was vacant and then on the next lot was a small wooden building. Benjamin purchased both lots and the building, which at that time was occupied by the Levi Shea harness shop. Later he rented it to Ray Ashdon as a barber shop.

Brown built a two-story brick building on the lots from his harness shop to the See building, and in 1917 completely bricked all the front of his holdings, with apartments above. The present garage and repair shops were put in the rear of the stores on Bridge Street. His original harness shop is now occupied by Fay's Store. Then comes the sales room and office of Brown Motors, Inc. There is a small room next to the sales room that is occupied by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce in the winter months. This small place has been rented for small businesses several times since it was built.

Benjamin Brown first started in business in 1898 across the street where the Parkside Restaurant now stands, before buying and building on the west side of Bridge Street. The first cement work in Charlevoix was in front of that small harness shop. The Macabees built a cement watering trough for horses with money left over from a Fourth of July celebration. Getting back to Brown Motors, the large brick building that stands there today was built by S. M. See & Sons in 1911. It was built for the Charles See furniture store which occupied the whole building except for the north store room which they rented. The Charlevoix mortuary was

THESE THREE photographs give a good illustration of how Bridge Street has changed over the years. All the pictures were taken from the same spot—at the corner of Antrim. Photo above shows how Bridge Street looked in 1898. A heavy rain could turn the road into a quagmire, although pedestrians had plank sidewalks to keep their feet dry.

IN THE EARLY 1920's, you could hang a wash over Bridge Street with all the electrical and telephone wires strung from pole to pole. Many of the buildings on the west side of the street are still standing, but the eastside has changed radically.

THIS PICTURE, taken in 1957, shows Bridge Street much as it appears today. The utility poles which dominated the street in the 1920's have disappeared. In their place are concrete lamp poles. The above photos were donated by Mrs. Laura Courier.

Bill Colla. According to history, a Mr. Newman harvested a crop of oats on the land of this corner when it was open acreage. The large brick building that stands there today was built by S. M. See & Sons in 1911. It was built for the Charles See furniture store which occupied the whole building except for the north store room which they rented. The Charlevoix mortuary was on the second floor until Mr. See made the upper story into an apartment house. Mr. Lou See was also interested in the S. M. See and Sons building. D. H. Wood had an electric shop in the north building and it was the Charles See furniture store which occupied the whole building except for the north store room which they rented. The Charlevoix mortuary was put in an ice cream store back a few years. At present, Junior Heise has a shop there. (Note: This recently became Bob Titman's appliance store.) After the See Furniture store closed out, the U.S. Post Office moved in (1957) and was there until the present building on Mason Street was built in 1956. Mrs. Noble had a restaurant in the north room, 1955. A man from Ellsworth

Wants Courier in Vietnam

Dear Sir:
My parents subscribe to your newspaper (they live in Eastport) and in the past when I was home I really enjoyed reading it.

What I want to know is if it is possible for me to subscribe to the Charlevoix Courier? I do receive a lot of "back home" news through letters from my parents, but there's nothing like a "back home" newspaper where I am—about 15 miles north of Hanoi, the Republic of Vietnam. I would appreciate any information possible at the following address—

Thank you for your time,
I appreciate it.
Sincerely Yours,

Proposed additional teachers include a commercial teacher in the high school and two elementary teachers. Addition of the staff is also hired for the summer program and driver's education.

The proposed budget was sent to the county allocation board this week for approval.

If approved, the school will draw up a final budget.

In other action, the board discussed the results of the three-man survey done on the school last week. The board recommended a student handbook be worked out, and a new athletic director not involved directly in sports be chosen as recommended by the survey team.

Superintendent Max Damoth also said a newsletter was being worked on to be sent to community members. The board said this was an important step in keeping the community informed.

Damoth also brought up the negative publicity the school has been given recently. He emphasized a more positive approach is necessary to improve the school, and a site yet to be decided.

'Save Jordan' Talks Slated

'SAVE JORDAN' -- A series of "Save the Jordan River" meetings will be held here in the coming five weeks.

Edward Jordan, president of the Jordan River Association, will be the main attraction for the meetings.

All meetings will be held in East Jordan. The first will be Tuesday, April 25 at 8 p.m. in the American Legion Hall.

... ..

DR. HOWARD TANNER, Director of the Department of Natural Resources, Michigan State University, will speak at this meeting. His subject, "The Jordan River, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," will cover a history of the river and the Jordan Valley.

Valter Kirkpatrick, Antrim County Extension Agricultural Agent, will speak on problems involved in protecting the valley. The subject is "The Jordan Valley."

Other meetings dates include May 2, May 16, and May 23.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

Expert Defends Tree Tapping

CHARLEVOIX -- A registered forester told the Charlevoix City Council recently that tapping sugar maple trees in no way effects the growth or health of the tree.

John Hodge, a graduate of Michigan State University who is now working in Emmet County's agriculture office was brought to the council meeting by members of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club. The club taps sugar maples in the city every spring as its chief fund-raising project.

Hodge was brought to the meeting to refute rumors around town that tapping is harmful to the trees.

... ..

HODGE SAID there are trees in Vermont and New York state which have been tapped every year for more than 100 years without showing any harmful effects.

Tests in Michigan, he said, have shown that there is no difference in the growth of maples which are tapped and those that are not.

HODGE POINTED out that a maple in full-leaf will transpire up to 120 gallons of moisture a day. He said the same amount of sap is flowing through the tree in the spring without any leaves to nourish. Only a fraction of the total amount is taken by syrup taps.

Co-op Plans Garden Center

CHARLEVOIX -- The Charlevoix Co-op is installing a farm and garden center kiosk in the corner of the present building on Main Street.

DeWickham said the front half of the old poultry processing plant is being renovated at a cost of $12,000. A new front is being put on the building and the ceiling will be dropped.

He said he expects the new store to be open for business about June 1.

Co-op Plans Garden Center

CHARLEVOIX -- The Charlevoix Co-op is installing a farm and garden center kiosk in the corner of the present building on Main Street.

DeWickham said the front half of the old poultry processing plant is being renovated at a cost of $12,000. A new front is being put on the building and the ceiling will be dropped.

He said he expects the new store to be open for business about June 1.

Ellsworth Tots Sign Up May 3

ELLSWORTH -- Ellsworth Community school will hold kindergarten pre-registration for next year's beginners Wednesday, May 3 at 1:30 p.m. Parents are requested to bring birth certificates and medical records.

A vision screening day for 3 to 5 year olds will be held Friday, May 5 from 1 to 4 p.m.

The White House stationery part of the establishment since President Jefferson's day-- gave way to an automobile garage in William Howard Taft's time.

President Truman set up the White House's first and only horseshoe court. President Eisenhower's putting green still reminds visitors that he once practiced golf there.

Handshaking at White House reception was introduced by Thomas Jefferson, in his autobiography, Calvin Coolidge recalls proudly, "On one occasion I shook hands with nineteen hands in thirty-four minutes."

It said that the increase in billings resulted from the inclusion of its newly acquired aggregate company for the first time.

The company predicts that volume and profits during the first half of the year will continue below those of last year, but that an upward trend should develop during the last half.

"OUR FINAL results for the year will also be importantly influenced by the relative ease or difficulty experienced in starting the large Charlevoix plant," the quarterly statement said.

The firm pointed out that its new storage and distribution facility in Detroit was put into operation during the first quarter. The Charlevoix plant is scheduled to go into production July 4. Only modest overruns in cost have been experienced, the company said.

IT WAS A day of "firsts" for students in grades five through eight at the Beaver Island School when they came to the mainland to take part in the regional school festival at Boyne City. It was their first class trip, their first school bus ride, their first school festival, their first lunch in a school cafeteria and the first time they were met on the Charlevoix side by Intermediate School Superintendent Charles Robinson. U. of M. sponsored the program.

Medusa Reports Sharp Profit Dip

CLEVELAND --- Medusa Portland Cement Co. income and profits dropped sharply during the first quarter of 1967, according to the company's quarterly report.

The drop was reported in spite of a $200,000 increase in billings to customers, up from $6,230,000 to $6,537,000.

However, income before taxes came to only $34,000 for the first three months of the year, compared to $45,000 for the comparable period last year.

NET INCOME for the first quarter of 1967 was $19,000, compared to $310,000 in 1966.

Profit per common share for the period just ended was .01, compared to .19 last year.

In its quarterly statement, the company pointed out that first-quarter results "are not of much value in predicting the course of the year as a whole."

It said that the increase in billings resulted from the inclusion of its newly acquired aggregate company for the first time.

The Light Of Understanding

The lighthouse has been a great boon to mariners and seafaring people. Its beacon light dispels the darkness and uncertainty and marks the position of rocks and treacherous shoals. Terrors that accompany the darkness, especially on stormy nights, vanish when the light breaks through.

Fears and superstitions and ignorance are banished by the light of understanding. Knowledge is a great lighthouse and so is the Church. Regular attendance will enable you to throw off the shackles of fear and uncertainty. Your church is the lighthouse that points the way.

Report Favorable

Study Group Praises E.J. School System

EAST JORDAN -- Twelve persons, including seven school principals and two superintendents evaluated the school here last fall. Representing the Michigan North Central Association State Committee, the survey team published the results which were presented to the school board last week.

Following is a summary of the findings.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES - East Jordan is to be commended for its extensive student activities. The total atmosphere of the school is impressive. A student handbook should be published and an expansion of clubs should be looked into.

MATERIALS CENTER - The library collection is adequate and is orderly. Audio-visual material is available to teachers. However, there is a lack of storage space for periodicals and audio-visual equipment.

Guidance - Mrs. Larson, counselor, is well qualified, sincere person who is doing a fine job. Rapport with students, parents, administrators and faculty contribute to the effectiveness of the department. A hard look at the testing program should be taken at the testing program. Some duplications and cups appear here and should be taken care of. More privacy should be arranged for counseling.

HEALTH - Mrs. Robertson, R.N., has a good personal relationship with students and has contributed to the high standard of health services. There is an adequate hearing, sight and dental program. Clerical help is recommended to carry out a follow-up program.

School Plant - The maintenance is excellent, but buildings are used to capacity. Expansion and remodeling should be taken care of.

Staff and Administration - Excellent rapport exists between administration, staff, school board and the community. Present course offerings should be analyzed for content to see if they're meeting the needs of both college and employment oriented students. There appeared to be a number of small classes compared to money available. The monthly staff meeting held usually for one hour is not enough time to evaluate the instructional program.

Business Education - Mrs. Pray, departmental teacher, is well qualified and the subject offerings are good for the size of the school. While small classes here create a good teaching situation, it is economical. General business should be offered and new typewriters purchased. A business machines class should be looked into.

ENGLISH - Professionally oriented teachers are meeting the needs of the students. Student morale is high and little pressure exists. More resource material and teaching aids are needed. Some class loads are heavy.

Foreign Language - Offering two languages (Spanish and French) here seems to be quite ambitious, but the teacher is doing an excellent job. The classes are too small to be economical, but this may be necessary to build up the department. The teacher needs instructional aids (tape recorders, records, etc.) since she has to work with are books. The teacher is a fine grammarian, but is handicapped by lack of materials and the students may have a hard time adjusting to college language classes.

Health Education - It is surprising a school this size has no health education. A program could be developed in connection with the physical education department.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS - Objectives and goals are lacking as are facilities and equipment, especially in metal work. More instructional materials and a departmental budget is needed. There is not enough variety in course offerings. Steps should be taken by the administration and the department to remedy these situations.

Mathematics - The teaching staff is doing a good job although they're handicapped by lack of adequate materials. The 7th and 8th grade programs are inadequate, however. There should be coordination between the junior high and high school programs. Modern math should be continued throughout the grades.

Music - Mr. Uhlinger, music teacher, is competent and is doing a good job of "selling" music to students. Additional storage space and practice rooms are needed. The vocal department should be expanded. A certain degree of casualness was noted in the part of some students.

Science - The staff is well-trained and able, and is equal to other schools of similar size. Teaching space, equipment, supplies and storage space is needed. Perhaps the best possible solution is the construction of new modern science classrooms. Curriculum seems to concern the construction of new modern science classrooms. Curriculum seems to concern the construction of new modern science classrooms.

SOCIAL STUDIES - Rapport between the students and teachers is commendable. Teachers are enthusiastic and well qualified. Economics should be offered. However, junior high social studies and 8th grade U.S. history should be taught by teachers qualified by training. Maps and materials are not available in the 8th grade room. The department should have a central materials center.

Trade and Industry - Auto mechanics is the only course offering. Physical facilities, necessary equipment and instruction materials are lacking. A re-evaluation of the program in relationship to its basic need and financial burden is needed. The money might possibly be used to expand the industrial arts program.

Engaged East Jordan Senior Wins Bentley Award

Miss Linda Donaldson, daughter of Mrs. Howard Donaldson and the late Howard Donaldson, has been named winner of an Alvin M. Bentley Foundation Scholarship for Excellence to Owseno College for 1967-68.

Miss Donaldson's scholarship amounts to $500 and is one of the major awards presented to 59 Michigan colleges and universities by the foundation this year.

SHE ALSO was awarded a scholarship by the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority last week which will cover her tuition and fees at Owseno.

Miss Donaldson ranks fourth in a class of 60 at East Jordan High School. She is presently working for Pacific Telephone Co. as an engineering secretary.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and Michigan Technological University, Houghton.

Miss Suzanne Zeitler, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Zeitler of Charlevoix announce the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nash, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Nash of Minneapolis.

Miss Zeitler will graduate from Charlevoix High School in June.

Her fiancé is a graduate of South High, Minneapolis. He has served with the U.S. Coast Guard for two years and is presently stationed aboard the cutter Seawolf.

A DINNER reception was held afterwards at the Indian River Inn.

Miss Zeitler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Zeitler of Charlevoix. She is a graduate of Central Michigan University and is presently an upper elementary social studies teacher at East Jordan.

The bridegroom is an English teacher at Boyne Falls High School.

For Ladies Only Men Flock to Join Chx. Hospital Guild

by Mrs. William Ratigan

Shortly after our first article appeared in the Courier, 25 men called up, wanting to join the Hospital Guild. This was not surprising, but we hoped to keep them out as long as we could. Miss Baumgartner, our hospital superintendent, says men make very poor baby sitters, because they don't know how to hold a baby.

In any case, men were barred from our sunny morning kickoff membership coffee last Wednesday, held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Freeman. It was, indeed, a sunny morning, and 60 active members and guests met together to visit and get acquainted.

Mrs. Freeman, always the gracious hostess, was graciously assisted by Mrs. Art Skelton, our new president, Mrs. Charles Englund, Mrs. Robert Neff and Mrs. Paul J. Olsen.

School on 'Beer Budget'

PAST JORDAN--A champagne appetite on a beer pocket-book? was the comment made on the citizen's committee's final school report given here Monday night.

Superintendent Max Danahy said the report, which included recommendations proposed in the report, the school would need the maximum funding allowed by law -- 42.

(East Jordanians presently pay 9 mills in school support.)

Recommendations by the committee for the elementary school included adding 10 new rooms and teachers, teaching aids and teachers aids, equipment dressing and washrooms for the gym and special education and counseling staff.

They also urged incorporation of the ungraded system and the Dolman-Delacato exercise method of teaching. High school recommendations included adding rooms for the shop, science and music departments, storage space, teaching aids and science, library, business and shop equipment.

They also called for an expanded curriculum a comprehensive testing program, a tracking method of vocational, college prep, general and business majors, coordination between math and English programs, increased emphasis on junior high classes, and construction of a central library open to both students and community members.

Several lots on Eaton Street will about Hampton Road in the new subdivision, which is being developed by James Hickey.

The Council agreed at the April 17 meeting to form a special assessment district so that the Eaton Street residents will share the cost of the road repairs at the rear of their property, as well as the cost of paving Leonard Street into the property.

The road would make the advantages of annexation for the rear of the long Eaton Street lots to be platted for home development if the owners desire.

MOST VOCAL spokesman for the group was Mrs. Edward Vogler. She and her husband already are living in a house fronting the proposed street.

Mrs. Vogler attended several Planning Commission and City Council meetings last fall at which Hickey presented his plans for the subdivision and admitted he favored the new road.

"I want the street," she told the council flatly, "but I don't want to pay for it."

SHE CHARGED that the Council did not follow the proper procedure for establishing a special assessment district, reading at length from the Fourth Class Cities Manual.

She also asked City Attorney John Michael repeatedly whether he spoke as city attorney or as legal counsel for Hampton Associates, the plat developers.

"Mr. Michael is not on trial here," Mayor William Fochtman told the council. Michael explained that although he represents Hampton Associates, he has disassociated himself from the corporation in all legal matters in which the city is involved.

ROBERT COOK, who also owns property in the area, said he was unaware of Hickey's plans until it was pointed out to him in the last issue of the Courier.

He charged that the adjoining property owners had been kept ill-informed on the project, calling it a "double attempt to keep property owners in the dark."

He said he felt he and his neighbors were being assessed unfairly for the project. He said that the project was a "double attempt to keep property owners in the dark."

Under the assessment plan, owners of the Eaton Street property would be assessed $113 a lot for construction of the road. The assessment could be spread over four years at $29 a year.

Cook suggested that Michael step down as city attorney while the Hampton negotiations are under way and that the city hire another attorney to take his place.

LEWIS JULLIERET, another of the lot owners asked, "Why doesn't Hickey do it himself? Why did he get involved?" Fochtman explained that it is city policy.

EAST JORDAN -- Mrs. William Murray, 73, was fatally burned here Monday afternoon when her clothing reportedly ignited from a stove where she was cooking.

Her daughter, Mrs. Robert Smith who lived next door to Mrs. Murray on Burney Road, said she heard her mother screaming and ran into the house to see what was wrong.

She found her mother alone and called Police Chief Hammond who took her to Charlevoix Hospital in the ambulance. She was admitted at 2:55 p.m. and died later at the hospital from the burns.

FUNERAL for Mrs. Murray will be held today, May 3, at 2 p.m. at the Watson Funeral Home, Rev. Stanley Hayes officiating. Burial will be in Jones Cemetery in South Arm.

Born Carrie Emma Walker, March 21, 1894, in South Arm, she married William Murray in 1912. Mr. Murray preceded her in death five years ago.

Surviving besides her daughter, Mrs. Robert Smith, are three other daughters: Mrs. Roy Heiden and Mrs. Hazel Mathers of Central Lake, Mrs. Glen Dimney of East Jordan, one son, Joseph, of East Jordan, 14 grandchildren, 7 great grandchildren, one sister and two brothers.

CSC to Meet

CHARLEVOIX -- Charlevoix Senior Citizens will meet at the community room of the city hall at 2:30 p.m. Thursday for their regular meeting. A program, as yet unannounced, will be followed by a social hour.

The work bee began at 9 a.m. and continued until 4 p.m. It is estimated that $60,000 worth of equipment was on the farm at one time.

Black was a rural mail carrier for 37 years before his retirement.

A TEAM OF draft horses was used by the stone pickers during a work bee Saturday at the Floyd Black farm. Black used to enter the animals in horse pulling contests.

Marion Centner -- A fleet of tractors and a team of horses turned out Saturday to plow, drag, drill and cultivate 17 acres of oats at the Floyd Black farm here Saturday morning.

Black, who has been in ill health for some time, has a farm at the southwest corner of Black and Ferry Roads.

Showing up at the work bee with tractors were Tom Wieland, Archie Potter, Bill Himebaugh, Clarence Streibach, Charles Killeby, Burr Blanchard, Lawrence Straw, Clyde Cunningham, Russ Dohn, Joe Martineck, Joe Martineck and Carl Smith.

Oliver Johnson used Black's tractor with a drag and Russ Dohn and John Clark did the cultivating.

Black's grandson, Dennis Drenth of Ellsworth, hitched up his grandfather's team of prize-winning draft horses to a wagon to plow up the field. He was assisted by Harold Boss, Rowley Williams and Tom Burns.

Area Builders Fight Construction Codes

CHARLEVOIX -- The City Council Monday night postponed for two weeks final action on building, plumbing and electrical codes after a delegation of area builders argued that they would lose too much time waiting to have their work inspected by the state.

Most of the objections were leveled at the plumbing code which would require all plumbing to be done under the supervision of master plumbers.

CONTRACTOR Ivan Phillips said there just aren't enough master plumbers around to handle the work available.

Glen Kenney of KIL Carson lumber company said the codes would increase the cost of new construction.

"If the right materials are used, and they are installed correctly, it doesn't matter who does the work," he said.

The group seemed to think that the city would be losing local control of building to the state if the codes are adopted.

"When you've lost that, you've lost something," Phillips said. The Council also:

-Told City Superintendent James Taylor to draw up specifications for a new fire engine.

-Sent to committee a proposal by Taylor that Park Avenue be widened three to four feet on each side between State Street and Grand, "I want to know how many trees would have to come down," Mayor Fochtman said.

-Passed a resolution asking that the federal government relinquish its lease on the fish hatchery property so it can be turned over to the Conservation Department as a fish research station. The federal government has a 50-year lease on the property, effective in 1951.

-Discussed increasing docking rates at the municipal dock. Present rates range from $2 a day for boats 20-feet and under to $5.50 for boats over 41-feet long. For the price, boaters receive electricity, water and garbage disposal. The docks and harbor committee will study the problem.

MESSMORE, who returned to the United States recently after being wounded by a hand grenade in Vietnam, voiced the opinion that if the Communists were allowed to overrun South Vietnam, Asia they would soon divide into factions and wind up fighting themselves.

He added that half of the Vietnamese were even unaware of the issues of the war and don't know what the Americans are doing there.

HE ALSO SAID the big businesses which are profiting from the war are the ones who are keeping it going. He charged that some American companies are even supplying the Viet Cong with oil.

Messmore also discussed his training as a Marine and his unit's activities in Vietnam.

He said the military makes it a point to keep troops rotating from the war zones to "secured" areas where they can work with and get to know the civilian population.

Ellsworth Annexation Defeated by 22 Votes

Supporters Pledge to Continue Efforts

ELLSWORTH--Although the annexation proposal was defeated Monday by 22 votes--23 to 217--many residents made it clear they would continue their efforts to annex Charlevoix.

One woman's reaction to the vote was, "We're not through yet."

He said, "The budget called for an additional 14 mills above the estimated allocated millage of 8.5 making a total of 22.5 mills needed for operation."

ELLsworth operated with 11 mills above the allocated millage of 9 for a total of 20 mills last year.

SPOELMAN said that many people were afraid annexation would mean a tax hike for them.

Of the 471 votes cast Monday, 15 votes were spoiled and had to be thrown out.

Supervising Nelson Spoelman credited some of the defeat to a report in the Courier outlining Charlevoix's proposed school budget.

Plans Boathouse on Round Lake
 CHARLEVOIX--D.H. Mudd, 210 Belvedere Club, has applied to the Corps of Engineers for permission to build a boathouse on Round Lake.

The boathouse is planned on the south shore of the lake, off the Belvedere property.

Anyone with objections to the proposed construction should file a written protest with the Corps of Engineers to be received no later than 4:30 p.m. May 8.

PROTESTS should be based on reasons affecting navigation and should be specific.

"The determination as to whether a permit will be issued must rest primarily upon the effect of the proposed work on navigation. However, other pertinent factors, including fish and wildlife conservation aspects, will be considered and made part of the record and will be considered in determining whether it would be in the best public interest to grant a permit," according to the Corps of Engineers.

Protests should be directed to Col. Edward C. Bruce, Department of the Army, Detroit District, Corps of Engineers, P.O. Box 1027, Detroit, Mich. 48231.

Art Wexstaffs Return Home

CHARLEVOIX -- Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wexstaff returned to Charlevoix April 29 after an eight-week research vacation to Miami, Fla. On the return trip, Mrs. Wexstaff collected material for an article she is writing on the former Dixie Highway which ran from Michigan to Florida.

The first time the Wexstaffs made the trip to Florida via the Dixie Highway was in 1925.

Open House

ELLSWORTH -- Open house for the 50th anniversary of Mrs. and Mrs. James Ruts will be held at their home in Ellsworth on Sunday, May 7 from 2 to 5 p.m. Everyone welcome.

Why is everyone so curious about the frenzied activity going on at the Weatherlane Inn? We don't know... but we are deeply appreciative of their interest.

Watch this space for an announcement of the opening plus the plans and changes we've made.

We're looking forward to meeting and serving you.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS LAND SALE

I will accept bids on the property described below, at my home until June 15, 1967, 8 o'clock EST.

The Township of Eveline reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Description of Eveline Township property at Ironton Ferry:

"That part of Lot One (1) of Block One (1) of the Village of Ironton, as platted and dedicated by Thomas C. Bird and Clementine Bird, his wife, and duly recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan, bounded as follows: Commencing at the Northeast corner of said Lot One (1); thence running West on the North line thereof, 150 feet to a stake; thence Southeasterly parallel with the West boundary line of said Lot 75 feet to a stake; thence East parallel with the South line of said Lot 150 feet, more or less to the shore of the South Arm of Pine Lake; thence Northeasterly along said shore of the South Arm of Pine Lake, 75 feet, more or less, to the starting point. The above parcel of land is situated in the Township of Eveline, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan."

The above description was taken from the Deed of Real Estate, from Allan M. Wiklison, Administrator of the Estate of Peter Munson, Deceased, dated June 11, 1912, recorded June 11, 1912, in Liber 64 of Deeds, Page 297, Charlevoix County Records, to the Township of Eveline, a municipal corporation in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan.

Walter Kemp, Clerk
 Route 2
 East Jordan, Michigan.

The Light Of Understanding

The lighthouse has been a great boon to mariners and seafaring people. Its beacon light dispels the darkness and uncertainty and marks the position of rocks and treacherous shoals. Terrors that accompany the darkness, especially on stormy nights, vanish when the light breaks through.

Fears and superstitions and ignorance are banished by the light of understanding. Knowledge is a great lighthouse and so is the Church. Regular attendance will enable you to throw off the shackles of fear and uncertainty. Your church is the lighthouse that points the way.

With the hope that it will, in some measure, foster and help sustain that which is good in family and community life, this feature is sponsored by the business firms and organizations whose names appear in the adjoining columns.

25 Boy Scouts Receive Hunter Safety Awards

CHARLEVOIX -- Twenty-five Charlevoix Boy Scouts have been presented hunter safety certificates by Frank Zednick, president of the Rod and Gun Club.

The certificates were presented after the boys completed a five-week course in hunter safety and passed an exam.

RECEIVING certificates were Randy Gustafson, Gordon Skeel, Peter Hooper, Richard Milikan, Kenneth Wilks, Dave Gill, Joe Jones, Walter Kroush, Dale Foster, Gerald William Fochtman, Joseph Howard Avery and Alan Avery.

Others were David Fochtman, Howard Ols, Larry Edwin Pop, Cletus Person, James A. Moore, Eric Peterson, Gary Allen Moore, Larry Sanford, Ronald Hoffman, Jerry Skippergosh, Thomas Parsons, Randall Wayne Winchester and Brian Goss.

ZEDNICK said it is the second time he has given the course in hunter safety. Forty-five volunteers from throughout the community took the course last year.

He said legislation is pending which would make hunter safety instruction for youths aged 12 to 17 years.

"A rifle fires a single bullet and can be dangerous up to one mile or more," (True or false.)

"A hunter should always point his gun in a safe direction while loading or unloading," (True or false.)

Completion questions included: "Handle every gun... (as if it were loaded.)"

"Never climb over or through... (a fence.)"

"Recognize... (your game.)"

Concert Assn. Seeks Members

PETOSKEY -- The annual membership campaign of the Northern Michigan Community Concert Assn. got under way with a dinner meeting at the Perry-Davis Hotel May 1.

The drive for memberships will close May 6.

Clarence Odmarr, Charlevoix High School band director, is second vice president of the organization this year.

Concerts booked thus far for the 1967-68 season are the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra and the Robert De Cormier Folk Singers.

RESOLUTION
MEDICAL EXAMINER

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, Charlevoix County, Michigan

Members of the Board;

We, the members of the resolutions Committee recommend the adoption of the following resolution.

Whereas, the voters at the General Election in November, 1966, elected to come under the provisions of Act 181 of 1953, to abolish the office of coroner, and create the office of Medical Examiner.

Now therefore, be it resolved that the office of coroner is hereby abolished and the office of County Medical Examiner is hereby created in its place.

Respectfully submitted, Lloyd McDonough, Chairman.

Let's Call In Lighting Experts

Wednesday, May 3, 1967 Page 15

We believe the Charlevoix City Council was either misinformed or it lied when it assured a group of citizens at the Council meeting April 17 that it acted on the advice of a Consumers Power Co. lighting engineer in approving 1,000-watt mercury vapor lamps for Bridge Street.

The lighting expert told the Council that two-foot candles of light on the street would be sufficient, from a standpoint of safety.

He also said that if Charlevoix installed 1,000 watt lamps, they should be mounted on poles from 33 to 35 feet tall, rather than the 30-footers proposed by the City Council.

WE BELIEVE in all fairness to the people of Charlevoix the City Council should hold its Bridge Street lighting plans in abeyance until a complete survey of lighting needs is made.

We are confident that the lighting experts can come up with a more satisfactory plan for lighting our main street, keeping in mind that Charlevoix is a resort town where people come to get away from the glare of big cities and suggesting a type of installation more in keeping with the character of the city.

NURNBERGER says the city told him how much light it wanted on Bridge Street and asked if a proposed lighting plan, drawn up by a lighting supplier, would do the job. (City Superintendent James Taylor said the plan was supposed to provide from four to six foot-candles on the pavement.)

The Consumers engineer surveyed the plan, suggested relocating a few poles, and assured the city that such a plan would indeed provide the amount of light the City Fathers wanted.

NURNBERGER emphasized that Consumers did not make a complete study of Charlevoix's lighting needs, nor was it asked to. Such a service is available from Consumers, however.

The lighting expert told the Council that two-foot candles of light on the street would be sufficient, from a standpoint of safety.

He also said that if Charlevoix installed 1,000 watt lamps, they should be mounted on poles from 33 to 35 feet tall, rather than the 30-footers proposed by the City Council.

WE BELIEVE in all fairness to the people of Charlevoix the City Council should hold its Bridge Street lighting plans in abeyance until a complete survey of lighting needs is made.

We are confident that the lighting experts can come up with a more satisfactory plan for lighting our main street, keeping in mind that Charlevoix is a resort town where people come to get away from the glare of big cities and suggesting a type of installation more in keeping with the character of the city.

NURNBERGER says the city told him how much light it wanted on Bridge Street and asked if a proposed lighting plan, drawn up by a lighting supplier, would do the job. (City Superintendent James Taylor said the plan was supposed to provide from four to six foot-candles on the pavement.)

The Consumers engineer surveyed the plan, suggested relocating a few poles, and assured the city that such a plan would indeed provide the amount of light the City Fathers wanted.

NURNBERGER emphasized that Consumers did not make a complete study of Charlevoix's lighting needs, nor was it asked to. Such a service is available from Consumers, however.

Letters From

Terrorists Shatter Dreams of Young Vietnam Lovers

Wednesday, May 3, 1967 Page 15

(Following is a letter received from SFC Charles R. Pierce who is serving with the U.S. Army in Vietnam. Pierce tells the story of a proud young Vietnamese soldier and the girl he loved -- and what happened to them at the hands of Viet Cong terrorists. SFC Pierce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Weisall of 502 Newman St., Charlevoix.)

My Chalm, Vietnam

My Friends:

April 17, 1967. It is an evening like many past in our base camp. We have American advisors, although of far different backgrounds, do have many subjects of common interest. We have a common interest. We have a common mission. We advise and assist the Vietnamese who are assigned to, within the expected capabilities of our separate ranks. We are first together, relatively isolated from most Americans, by a war.

The subjects we discuss vary, in variety, though one always arises: Our Vietnamese unit. We are proud to serve with this unit. We feel as do many people that they are the finest.

We are particularly proud of the manner and effectiveness with which they are accomplishing their present mission. That is: "To win the hearts and minds" of the local populace to the Vietnamese government's cause. Well executed, it is not a difficult task. The cause is the people's.

To do this, primary effort must be directed toward securing the populace and the V.C. That they've done.

During the last month, these soldiers have engaged major size North Vietnamese army units. Initially in these engagements our soldiers were badly outnumbered. Many died and many more were wounded. The enemy was not destroyed, but he was kept from the people. Captured documents reveal that the mission of these units is to show the people we could protect them. The V.C. must find another way.

Now we hear automatic weapons firing in the vicinity of the base. The enemy is not unusual. We have many ambushes at night, near and far. They often fire for no reason. We have many ambushes at night, near and far. They often fire for no reason.

Several minutes pass. The normal sequence is broken. None of the out-lets report.

Presently inquiries are directed to them via radio. With each the puzzle comes. They've heard what we have, but none of them have fired. After the last one has been contacted, an uneasy silence on the camp. We wait before lights approach our camp. We begin to learn what the dark and distance have secreted.

"FRENCHY" is an uncommon nickname for a Vietnamese. This particular 24-year-old soldier studied for several years in France. His strong French accent when speaking English resulted in his nickname. Vo Van Tran by parentage, he was drafted when he returned to his home country.

There were several reasons our advisors grew to like and know Frenchy well. He was friendly and always friendly. He was being a soldier, however he worked hard at it, putting him into the hands of the knowledge and was ready for his duties. He believed strongly in a Democratic society for his homeland. However, his views were beliefs were mistaken.

Frenchy told us of his love for a girl in the village. To us related her desires in France. His strong French accent when speaking English resulted in his nickname. Vo Van Tran by parentage, he was drafted when he returned to his home country.

City Workers Get Pay Hike

CHARLEVOIX—City hourly employees were voted a pay increase of seven and one-half percent or 15 cents an hour retroactively to March 1, by the Charlevoix City Council Monday.

The increase was the highest of two pay proposals submitted to the Council by City Superintendent James Taylor. The other would have raised salaries five percent or 10 cents an hour.

The new schedule, the lowest rate is that of an unskilled laborer—$1.84. The highest is $2.63 paid an A-1 worker.

Employees also got one sick day per month, six holidays, paid vacations (one year, one week; two years, two weeks; 15 or more years, three weeks). They also receive 100 percent hospitalization insurance for themselves and their families and retirement benefits.

to share the cost of streets and other improvements with home owners.

The lot owners asked Richey if it would be possible to lay out its development in another manner, so that the road would not touch their property.

Richey said it would, but the plot would have to be reworked and the abstracts rewritten.

"I'd like to know who would bear the cost?" he asked.

"It would be cheaper to pay for the road yourself," Mrs. Juller said.

"I certainly would," Mrs. Vogler put in.

She added that she objected to "six people sitting up here on the Council voting money out of my husband's pocket."

THE JULLERETS said they wanted to go on record as opposing the paying projects, but if they must be done they would prefer to be assessed on a postage basis. (Under the proposed assessment, the Eaton Street lot owners would pay one-seventh of the total street development cost.)

At the close of the heated session, the property owners agreed to meet with Richey and members of the Council again next Monday night at the City Hall.

GRAND RAPIDS—East Jordan's variety band won a first division rating at the State Band Festival here last Saturday.

T. Ray Uhlig directed the band in "Cello" by J. S. Bach, "J. S. Bach," and "Chorus Suite."

The band left Friday morning with Mrs. Boswell, Mrs. Cole, Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. Uhlig, Mrs. Vasey, Mr. McPherson and the director. Performance time was at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Uhlig complimented the band saying, "I congratulate the band for the excellent performance and behavior on the trip. These young people are good representatives of our school and community."

The band will travel to Harbor Springs today for the annual Spring Massed Band Festival. Individual performances begin at 12:30 and a parade will follow at 2:45. The massed band evening performance will be at 7:30 p.m.

CHARLEVOIX—The Charlevoix High School Band received a 1 rating for the 12th time out of 20 appearances in the State Band and Orchestra Festival.

The festival was held April 29 in Grand Rapids.

THE CHARLEVOIX Band was rated on concert performance and sight reading by four judges: Dr. Pascho Massed Band Festival, individual performances begin at 12:30 and a parade will follow at 2:45. The massed band evening performance will be at 7:30 p.m. asking for 20 mills in a May 12 vote. With 9 mills anticipated from the allocation board, the total operational millage will be 29.

Two months ago voters turned down a proposal asking for 17 mills 129 to 99.

THE BOARD also learned that four of its 14 teachers will definitely be leaving this year.

Those leaving are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, Miss Dickerson and Miss Hiltunen. In other action principal Paul Willis was reinstated as principal with a salary increase from $6,500 to $8,000.

CHARLEVOIX—Charles Fairbanks, 33, a graduate of Charlevoix High School in 1951, has been named head football coach of the "Stoners" at the University of Oklahoma.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fairbanks, the new head coach played football for the Green Bay Packers and head football coach at Isipeming High School.

HE LATER was assistant football coach at the University of Arizona and Houston University before taking the assistant's job at Oklahoma in January, 1965.

THE HOLY COMMUNION. A NOBLE INSTITUTION

The Holy Communion service is one of the most helpful the Church offers to all who partake of it. Among its helpful influences, to list but a few, are:

It causes us to make a self appraisal, to search out all the thoughts and actions we indulge in that are harmful to ourselves and to others and to try to rid ourselves of these negative thoughts, traits and actions.

It encourages us, even when we may be plunged in deep despair or gloom, for it lifts us above our worries and troubles and inspires noble ambitions when entered into in a truly seeking spirit. It induces a spirit of humility which is of great worth to all, no matter what our achievements might be. It enables us to approach the Creator in a humble spirit, to put ourselves in close harmony with Him. Truly great men are men of humility and the greatest of all those instituted the Holy Communion after washing the feet of His followers.

Great Outdoors Starts in Backyard

An annual two-week vacation is as American as hot dogs and baseball. Today, however, modern families are realizing they don't have to dream about the outdoors between vacations.

In fact, each year millions of Americans discover the great outdoors begins right in their own backyards. In fact, vacationing and waiting right beyond the back door. Stay-at-home vacationists can be found everywhere and often something for every member of the family. There's no time lost reaching them, and best of all they can be enjoyed on a year 'round basis.

Although the annual vacation remains the undisputed leader in family "happenings," the backyards now being looked to as a means of keeping in contact with the great outdoors until vacation time rolls around.

There are many reasons for the housing trend toward all-at-home outdoor living. More leisure time and discretionary income are but a few. However, a walk out of your backdoor will show you the most important ones. You're likely to find some of the very things you and your family treasure on that long-planned, long-awaited, and long-remembered annual trip. The lush greenness of grass and trees, flowers blooming here and there. Perhaps a sturdy tree you once climbed as a child. And, although not all backyards have park-size dimensions, each can offer the thrill and enjoyment of being outdoors.

Still not convinced? Then look at your backyard in a different light and think of the ways it can help you spend more time relaxing in the great outdoors. That expanse of lawn, so formidable when it's time to get the lawnmower going, doesn't look quite as big when it's viewed as a practice putting green. Those trees whose annual deluge of leaves keep you busy throughout the fall season might be the perfect spot to string a hammock or a swing for the children. And how about the patio?

Sure, it may look like an outdoor warehouse right now, but think of the way at-home cookouts and parties you could stage there if you had the right equipment. A permanently installed outdoor grill, some lights, and heaters would do the trick. There are countless ways of looking nature a hand in the backyard and each of them promises more family fun than ever before. Some of the most common activities made to the vest-pocket vacationists are volleyball and badminton.

Gaslight Era Is Back Again

More than 1.6 million gas lights are now in use as patio and walkway lights throughout the country, reports the American Gas Association, in what has been called "a return to elegance."

Today's gas lights come in a variety of shapes and sizes to complement architecture and decor. Modern gaslights are sophisticated, easier to clean and more durable.

One even turns itself on and off.

The Old timer

"If you remember how you acquired your tools you'll never lend them out."

$46.95 Installed

That's the price we've put on our Cabildo Gas light including normal installation on our lines for a limited time only, so better get in touch with us now. Simply call, or if it's more convenient, drop the coupon in the mail. We'll have a representative call on you so you can select the Gas light model which is right for your home—nine models are available. And then we'll install your light and put the cost on your monthly bill. If you like, you can charge it with no money down and with payments as low as $3.00 a month. While he's there, ask him about the SPECIAL on a Gas grill for your patio—$10 off the regular price, if you buy at the same time as your Gas light. Clip the coupon or call now. Gas makes the big difference... costs less, too.

Repairs Cost Billions

The Home Improvement Coordinating Committee predicts that soon—perhaps this year—American families will spend $15 billion on home improvements.

In recent years, there has been a distinct trend toward outdoor living, and this trend is now reflected in some areas of home remodeling. The American Gas Association, Inc. (A.G.A.), reports.

THE MOST common add-on outdoor remodeling project is the patio. It improves property value while providing family fun by creating a vacationland right in your own backyard.

The moderately handy homeowner can build his own patio with a variety of materials that are available. Tasteful gardening and landscaping further enhance the backyard, while outdoor lighting adds a new dimension to property.

Like baseball, outdoor cooking has become a national pastime. A permit favorite for family fun and relaxation. With recent developments in equipment, the advantages of a park can be right in your backyard.

Just as outdoor lighting lengthens the day into evening, gas infra-red patio heaters extend the outdoor season. Infra-red heat warms solid objects but not the air around them, thereby concentrating the heat where it's needed. You and your guests stay warm, yet you aren't forced to heat the whole outdoors!

The best thing about bringing the great outdoors to your own backyard is that you don't have to do it all at once. It's a continuing project in which you assert your individuality while keeping in step with those who enjoy gracious living.

Did you ever stow away a perfectly good half gallon or half quart of paint, only to find it had dried out and become crusty when you went to use it again?

This won't happen if you cut a disc of wax paper the size of the can and place it directly on top of the paint. Then seal the can.

For the next paint job, just remove the paper and your paint will be ready to use after stirring.

Overseas Mail Rates Higher

CHARLEVOIX -- An increase in international rates will not apply to letters, but will apply to all other mail.

The new international rates, however, will not apply to letters, but will apply to all other mail. The rate increases for both surface and airmail -- were first proposed on January 13 and publicly confirmed on March 1. The Department explained at that time that they were needed to help offset a deficit of about $16 million in international mail operations.

This was the first general increase in international rates since July, 1961. Specific information on the new international rates can be obtained from the service window at the post office, Conzett sold.

FARM BUREAU INSURANCE GROUP

A native of Charlevoix, Mr. Halverson died at his home in Flint May 4.

He was a graduate of Charlevoix High School, where he was an outstanding athlete.

An employee of the Chevrolet plant in Flint, Mr. Halverson planned to retire next fall and move to his summer home on the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix.

Surviving are his widow, the former Lillian Pennell, two daughters, Mrs. Don Innes of Troy and Mrs. Bernard Smith of Flint, one son, James, of Flint, a brother, Stanley, of Birmingham, Wash., and six sisters, Mrs. Vaughn Orvis of Ironton, Mrs. Earl Gillett of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Fred DeCastro and Mrs. Wayne Belding of Charlevoix. Five grandchildren also survive.

Edmund G. Bogart

CHARLEVOIX -- Funeral for Edmund G. Bogart, 84, was held at the Winchester Funeral Home May 9, the Rev. Leona Winegard of the First Methodist Church officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mr. Bogart died Saturday at Charlevoix Hospital, where his wife, the former Cora Belle Wright of Kingsley, died just one month ago.

A RETIRED Equitable Assurance Co. agent, Mr. Bogart was born Aug. 14, 1882, at Watt, Ont., moving to Barnard with his family when he was three years old.

He was married in 1909 in Kingsley where the couple lived until moving to East Jordan in 1916. In 1929 they moved to Charlevoix, living at 109 Green Street.

Surviving are two sons, Carl E. and Donald L., and two daughters, Mrs. Richard (Catherine) Farmer and Mrs. Du (Virginia) Helms, all of Charlevoix. Nine grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Effie Box of Alma, and three brothers, Amon of Jackson, Henry of Flint and Ray of Kingsley also survive.

C. Y. Marshall

CHARLEVOIX -- Services for life-time Charlevoix resident C. Y. Marshall, 68, who died Monday at Charlevoix Hospital will be held today (May 10) at the Winchester Funeral Home.

Rev. Jack Harris will officiate at 11 a.m. and burial will be in Little Sister Bay Cemetery in Wisconsin.

Born July 9, 1898, Mr. Marshall married Myrtle Appel in 1925 in Chicago.

A WATER and sewer contractor, he attended the First Baptist Church of Charlevoix. Surviving is his widow, two brothers, C. M. Pleasant and Henry of Grandville, two sisters, Mrs. Beulah Duffey of Barryton and Mrs. John (Frances) Van Zon of Mt. Lake Terrace, Wash.

Vaughan Orvis

Check Your Candidates

Residents of the Charlevoix School District will go to the polls June 12 to elect two members to the Board of Education.

The term of Mrs. Robert Hooper is expiring and Clarence Kotesky has resigned after selling his property in the district. There are two years remaining in his four-year term.

To date, petitions are circulating for three candidates: Mrs. Hooper, Charles Duerr and Mrs. Edward Vogler. The deadline for candidates to file applications is Saturday, May 13.

In light of the "secret" school board meetings which have bothered many Charlevoixians during the past several months, we think it would be wise for voters to sound out their candidates before the election to determine just how they feel about the people's right-to-know.

Tuition: An Out for Ellsworth

The final canvass indicates that the Ellsworth annexation proposal was defeated by a narrow 13-vote margin--shortening news for those who believe Ellsworth youngsters would receive a better, broader education in the Charlevoix system.

If nothing else, the narrow margin indicates that the idea of annexing, consolidating, merging--call it what you will--is catching on the Ellsworth School District.

Supporters of the annexation drive have pledged to continue their efforts, confident that only through merging with a larger district will the children of Ellsworth receive the depth of educational opportunities available to youngsters in other communities.

THERE'S TALK in Ellsworth now of sending their high school youngsters to Charlevoix on a tuition basis.

The idea seems to have some merit, since it would give the youngsters themselves an opportunity to sample the broader curriculum already available to Charlevoix students.

Such a sudden influx of Ellsworth students on a tuition basis might present an unhealthy situation for the Charlevoix system, since additional classrooms would have to be provided and teachers hired. If Ellsworth was unsatisfied with the results, Charlevoix would be left holding the bag.

However, a tuition plan on a limited scale might be feasible, starting one grade a year.

We are confident that after having their youngsters attend Charlevoix High School for a few years, Ellsworthians would come out soundly in favor of annexation.

Clockwise

The GI Who Broke Down and Cried

By Bob Clock

Two articles dealing with the war in Vietnam appeared in last week's Courier. One was a news story on a talk Marine Lance Cpl. Larry Messmore gave before the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club May 1. Messmore said he believes the United States has no business in Vietnam and suggested that we should pull out and leave the country to the Communists. He believes if we do the Communists eventually will annihilate each other.

THE OTHER item was a letter from SFC Charles Pierce who is an advisor to a Vietnamese army unit. Pierce told how a Viet Cong force raided a Vietnamese village late one night, slaughtering innocent civilians and a young Vietnamese soldier as they slept.

The sergeant cited the incident as an example of the Communist treachery we are up against in Vietnam. He appears to believe that the Vietnamese are worthy of all the support we can give them.

Two different points of view by two men well acquainted with the situation in Vietnam.

ALTHOUGH MANY GIs seem to believe that their fellow countrymen back home are indifferent to the war, I am inclined to believe that our involvement in Vietnam concerns most Americans more than they let on, particularly when the headlines of the metropolitan dailies tell us today after day of the high price we are paying in American lives.

To be sure, there has been no threat to American soil. There is a chance that a Communist take-over in Vietnam would mean nothing to America in the long course of history. There are also reasons that if Southeast Asia falls, the Communists would continue to spread their deadly poison throughout the world.

THE QUESTION seems to be just how morally obligated are we to assist the Vietnamese?

We are in Vietnam because we are members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. So are Australia, France, New Zealand, the Philippines, Pakistan, Thailand, South Korea and the United Kingdom. The organization was formed in 1954--the year after the Korean armistice--and amounts to a pledge of mutual protection against communist aggression.

There is not much in the papers on how actively the other SEATO members are supporting the war, but certainly the U.S. has the largest force, next to the Vietnamese themselves.

The situation is similar to Korea, although that war was backed by the United Nations and had at least token support by many other UN members. The Vietnamese conflict, on the other hand, is undoubtedly the most unpopular war we have ever waged, both at home and abroad.

Even the Catholic Church, a traditional foe of Communism, has outmarked a sizeable ban for the relief of North Vietnamese civilians.

History of Bridge Street and Charlevoix Harbor

Chapter XII

Following is another installment of the late P. D. Campbell's memories of Bridge Street (as you pass) by P.D. Campbell

THIS UNUSUAL picture of the backs of Bridge Street business places was taken about 1908 from the ice on Round Lake. The white building at the corner of Mason and Bridge burned in 1909 and the site remained vacant until the Neff building was constructed some 20 years later. The three-story Martha Ayers building next door had a dance hall on the top floor. The late Bill Ripley is with the dog team.

Ed was a dealer in nines and scrap metal as well. The next building was taken by Bill the Hatter, a colored man who was famous for sliding shoes and cleaning hats. Bill was quite a character and well liked about town. He was here quite a few summers and went to Cincinnati for the winter.

THE BARTLETT HOTEL was built next to these small buildings and was put up by Dr. L. D. Bartlett, probably in the 1880's. Dr. Bartlett had the hotel for many years and sold it to J. S. Baker who named it the Hotel Charlevoix. J. A. Auld was the next owner, but in the meantime it was operated by Sam Neff. Dr. Auld made a trade with Dr. Neff for some property in Eaton Rapids. Auld was to take the Eaton Rapids property and Neff the hotel. Dr. Neff operated it until 1905, when it was destroyed by fire in the north half of the first floor.

Mr. Neff had a dry goods store in the south half. It was called Cohen's Cheap Store. The Cohen had quite a family and I think they lived upstairs. Jerome Heath had a stock of furniture in this building at one time. Mr. Meers had a pool room there and so did Oscar Nelson. The second floor was occupied by the Rebecca Lodge for a long time. The third floor was the Ayers Hall dance floor, which was well patronized. Mitt Block had a grocery store in the north half before he built his brick building.

JUST NORTH of the Ayers Building were two small structures. I don't believe anyone knows when they were built or who built them. Ed Goldstick was one of the occupants in this block were removed (except Neff's) to be able to have the lake side park which as been a great improvement. One had to watch his step while walking along the waterfront--formerly a lot of broken-down docks, piles of ashes, turkeys and trash. The PARKSIDE (just north of the white clapboard restaurant) is the only building in this group still standing on the east side of Bridge Street. This photo was taken in 1927 before the Neff building was built.

Letters to the Editor

Issue Explained

Dear Mr. Clock,

I read with interest your editorial in the April 26th Courier, in which, among other things, you discussed the "New Freedom" for Negroes. Unfortunately, for most of us, of all races, it is the small, everyday things that seem to count the most. We, as whites, can't say very much about this fifty freedom until a colored lady comes and sits down comfortably in any restaurant in town, and be served as a matter of course. We can't say too much about freedom until an Italian can sit in the center part of the Palace Theatre--until any non-white family can buy or rent a house they can afford.

Now, as to my own circumstance, I would be very foolish not to admit that a street will enhance the value of our house. We have our house facing the proposed new street. However, when we built, we were well aware of the risk we were taking in facing the house in this direction. We were informed by the city engineer that a street was forthcoming because a private developer had proposed a sub-division and in order for him to have an ingress and an egress to his property, he had to have a street. Here in lies the crux--a private developer wishes to put a street in front of my property, in order to make the land that he purchased more valuable. The street will enhance the value of our house. Dear Mr. Clerk,
Friday, May 12, Ellsworth voters will be asked for an additional 20 mills for school operation. This is what we will actually pay for school purposes.

2 mills allocated 4 mills voted debt retirement 20 mills we are asked to vote for 33 mills

Also we will pay 5 mills voted for Intermediate School District 6 mills allocated for county 5 mills for fire protection 2 mills for Meadow Brook 9 mills

This totals 42 mills on the very much higher evaluation that will be used this year for the first time. These figures were, and can be, verified by the Antrim County Treasurer.

These figures mean that Ellsworth taxpayers will be paying 42 mills or $42 on every $1,000 evaluated.

Annexation failed by only 13 votes and is not dead. Other means can and will be found to educate our children.

We hope this millage breakdown clears up many false ideas people have as to how much money they'll actually be paying.

We also hope voters will consider what they're getting for their money when they go to the polls.

Utility Bldg. Moves Fast

Sometimes it's surprising what you can sell through a classified ad in the Courier.

Joseph Felo of Route 2 sold a six-by-eight foot utility building with a single classified ad.

"I could have sold more than one, with all the calls I received," he reports.

To place your ad, simply dial 547-9627 and ask for Hilda. She'll be happy to help you compose your ad.

Bridge Foes Receive Set-Back at Ellsworth

BELLAIRE -- The Upper Intermediate Chain of Lakes Association received a setback Monday on their fight for a new bridge in Ellsworth.

Appearing before the Antrim County Board of Supervisors, three members of the association requested help in securing bridge specifications and cost estimates.

The board said it could take no action on the request since it needed a letter from the village council asking for help.

Draft to Call Five in June

CHARLEVOIX -- Five men from Charlevoix County will be inducted into the armed forces on the June call, according to Mrs. Ronald Balch, selective service board secretary.

They will be selected at the May 16 meeting of the board and will leave from Charlevoix May 31.

Marathon Racers Due Saturday

The Michigan State Cycling Team, the University of Michigan Cycling Team and groups from other colleges and universities plan to take part.

Kirchoff said the race is not only entertaining from the spectator standpoint, but also provides valuable training for competing in the Olympic games, State try-outs for the Olympics will be held July 2.

MARATHON winners will receive trophies and are practically assured of a berth on the United States Cycling Team for the Pan-American games in Canada later in August.

The road racers will leave Charlevoix at noon via U.S. 31 for Charlevoix via Pellston, arriving about 2 p.m. There, also, local youngsters will participate in Olympic-type events prior to the arrival of the long-distance riders.

About 4 p.m. the racers will leave Charlevoix for Gaylord on U.S. 27, arriving at their destination about 6 p.m. Additional races involving local people and the marathon racers will be held in Gaylord Sunday.

Three From Area Die in Head-on Collision

CHARLEVOIX -- Blodgett Memorial Hospital in Grand Rapids reported Larry McBride, 21, in fair condition Tuesday morning and his wife, Betty, also 21, in good condition following a head-on collision on U.S. 131 Sunday morning in which Larry's parents and Melvin W. Stolt, formerly of Bay Shore, were killed.

Fatal for Carl O. McBride, 69, and his wife, Ruth, 58, will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home today (Wednesday) at 1:30 p.m. with burial in Brookside Cemetery.

Larry is suffering from a concussion, head and face lacerations, a fractured jaw and other injuries.

His wife suffered multiple fractures of an arm and leg and lacerations.

Park Avenue Project Killed by City Council

CHARLEVOIX -- The City Council assured Park Avenue residents Monday night that it has dropped its plans to widen the street.

At the last Council meeting, it was proposed to widen Park Avenue three feet on each side to expedite traffic flow.

Fearing the move would destroy their shade trees, several citizens signed petitions protesting the widening.

The group was represented at the meeting by Attorney Norm Ance and Robert Lieberman.

THE COUNCIL also:

--Increased rates at the city dock. The daily fee for boats 20 feet and under was hiked up from $2 to $2.50, 21 to 30 feet, $2.50 to $3; 31 to 40 feet, $3 to $4.50; 41 to 50 feet, $4.50 to $5; and boats 51 feet and over, $5 to $6. The new rates are effective June 25 and will help defray the cost of the new shower-toilet building.

--Turned down a request by Leonard McRoberts of Boyne City to have Charlevoix's standby fireman act as an emergency ambulance driver.

--Discussed regulations governing the opening of the bridge. Jurisdiction of the bridge recently has passed from the Corps of Engineers to the Coast Guard, under the new Department of Transportation.

--Named James Taylor road maintenance superintendent for dealings with the State Highway Department.

--Approved construction of a Coast Guard radio antenna on the water tower.

--AGREED to set up a special assessment district to pay for the costs of improving the new Hampton Village subdivision east of May Street. Superintendent Taylor was told to go ahead with the installation of water main to the first 15 lots off May.

--Advised for bids on a new fire truck.

Ellsworth Names Top Scholars

ELLSWORTH -- Valdeleitorian and salutatorian for the 1967 senior class of Ellsworth Community School is Richard Ruiz and Susan Petter.

Richard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ruiz, maintained a 3.69 average out of a possible 4.00. Since enrolling at the school in 1964, he has participated in athletics and other activities.

DURING his high school career, Richard played three years of football and four years of basketball. He received honors as an all-conference football, all-conference basketball and all-state basketball player.

He also served as class president for three years, was a representative to the State and district in the junior and senior plays.

Richard will attend Michigan State University this fall.

SUSAN, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Petter, will graduate as salutatorian with a 3.59 average.

Attending Ellsworth since 1954, she served as freshman class vice-president and sophomore class president. She was also a student leader for two years, student play director during her junior year and held a role in the senior play.

Choir Starts Rehearsals

CHARLEVOIX -- The Charlevoix Community Choir has begun rehearsals for the annual Baccalaureate Service June 4, according to C. A. Odmark, choir director.

Rehearsals will be held Tuesday evenings at 8 p.m. at the High School until the Baccalaureate.

Anyone interested in singing with the choir is welcome to take part, Odmark says.

Five Petition for Vacancies

CHARLEVOIX -- Five persons filed petitions for two openings on the Charlevoix School Board by the Saturday deadline.

Mrs. Frances Hooper is running unopposed for a four-year term. She is the incumbent.

Four others have filed to fill the remaining two vacancies of Clarence Koteskey's term. Koteskey resigned last week after selling his property in the school district.

THEY ARE: James Lewis, a Consumers Power Co. engineer; Robert Potter, a Marston Township farmer; Mrs. Edward Vogler, a housewife; and Charles A. Duerr, Michigan United Fund representative for the area.

The school election is June 12.

Scouts Camp Out at Sheeks Place

By Jerry Fochtman
Boy Scout Troop 110 of Charlevoix went on a camping trip May 6 and 7 to Sheeks Place 12 miles east of Traverse City.

The four patrols hiked in two and one-half miles. Each patrol prepared its own meals from dehydrated food. The Eagle patrol won a contest for the best campers.

After breakfast Sunday Catholic boys went into Traverse City for church services while the Protestants had their services in camp.

Before leaving, we had a mass clean-up. At about three we left but we brought back the memory of a fun camping trip.

Attending from the Troop staff were Don Black, Don Currie, Larry Anders, Rick Peterson and Jerry Fochtman. The adults making the trip were Bob Hooper, Lou Edwards, Doug Wilks, Gerald Goss.

Boys making the trip were David Gill, Randy Gustafson, Ken Wilks, Larry Pop, Paul Osterberg, Joe and Al Avery, Walter Kroush, Rick Milligan, Jim Moore, Randy Winchester, Gary Moore, Jerry Schipper, Tom Anders, Tom Farnson, Dale Foster, Bob Hooper, Brian Goss, Pete Hooper, Marty Anders and Cletus Parsons.

A NEW sales and display room for Walker Marine Agency is under construction on Belvedere Avenue.

With Leonard's remarkable new oil-powered water heater, you can let the hot water run all day -- and never run out!

Amazing but true. This is a completely new kind of water heater. It's powered by Leonard's golden Superheat fuel oil. It heats three times faster than gas, five times faster than electricity. The tank is lined with stone, so it's warranted for 25 years. You'll get all the hot water you need -- and, you can cut your water-heating bills in half! Amazing but true. Even if you don't need a water heater right now, it will pay you to stop in and see us. Come in any time!

Next best heat to sunshine!

It's Time to Throw Out That Junk

City trucks are scouring Charlevoix picking up all the debris you have unwittingly accumulated over the winter. Clean-up week is a good time to give the old homestead a thorough cleaning inside and out to put it in shipshape for the summer.

CITY SUPERINTENDENT James Taylor says the trucks are not operating on a set schedule, but if you'll get the junk out by the curb the city will haul it away.

He reminds homeowners that over the winter the city has adopted an anti-blight ordinance which provides penalties for persons who keep unsightly collections of debris around their homes--everything from defunct refrigerators and tattered overstuffed furniture to rattle-trap automobiles which will never run again.

IN CONNECTION WITH clean-up week, almost three dozen Charlevoix business places are sponsoring a home improvement contest this year, with cash prizes and gift certificates for persons making substantial improvements to the exterior appearance of their homes. The contest is sponsored in cooperation with Keop Michigan Beautiful, Inc.

This is the first competition of its kind in Charlevoix, and already it bids fair to become an annual event.

We suggest you clip out the entry blank which appeared in last week's Courier and submit your home improvements for consideration by the judges.

You may end up getting paid for working on your own home.

Farewell But Not Goodbye

The trouble with the Coast Guard is that it keeps moving fellows around. A case in point in CWO James Soldi, deputy commander of Group Charlevoix, who will be leaving the end of the month for a new assignment as chief of operations on Governor's Island in New York Harbor.

During his three years in northern Michigan, Soldi has become a dyed-in-the-wool Charlevoixian, as the turn out at his farewell party last week indicates.

FORTUNATELY, Charlevoix will be seeing more of the Jim Soldis. The family has purchased a lot at North Point and plans to return here to live when Soldi retires from the Coast Guard.

It's a compliment to the city and her people that of all the Coast Guard stations where Soldi has been assigned--including Hawaii and Seattle, Wash.--the Soldis have chosen Charlevoix as their permanent home.

The Courier wishes Soldi well on his new assignment. And whenever he bids farewell to the Coast Guard, Charlevoix will be happy to say "Welcome aboard."

Reigning Cats and Dogs

Guest Editorial From the Christian Science Monitor

Where would you expect to find 9,000, 4,000,000 dogs, 6,000,000 cats, and 20,000,000 people? Why, Britain of course! Twenty-eight publications enter to the welfare of these pets.

Among many fascinating items turned up by Canadian Press, in a random selection from British papers over a three-week period, the following caught our eye: The Bishop of Exeter said he was opposed to dogs taking Communion. It seems that a certain parishioner was sharing Communion with her pet terrier, Pip. The bishop said he would "speak to the vicar about it."

An item from Samundham reports that the Earl of Cranbrook exercises bats in his bathroom. "I keep them for about three months, feed them well and let them go," he stated, he even shared his reepee for an ideal bath-meat the yolk of a hard boiled egg, cream cheese, and banana, in equal proportions.

We just spoke with a Briton who flew his dog to America with him. The total cost of that operation was roughly 70 pounds, or slightly less than his own fare. Our only concern is that this quadruped sidered no better than anybody else. We only hope he won't find the adjustment too difficult.

Clockwise Don't Get Me Wrong

By Bob Clock

DON'T GET ME WRONG. I have nothing against love. It's fine. It's wonderful. It makes the world go round.

Yet in spite of everything I have been taught through the years about love. I've learned a lot. I don't. At least not all the time, and not as overwhelmingly as the unashamed, bearded hippies who staged Detroit's first "Love-In" recently on Belle Isle in the Detroit River.

DON'T GET ME WRONG. The love-in looked like a lot of fun. The papers made a big to-do over it, using many pictures. The most surprising of them was a side view of porky John Sinclair who organized the affair and presided over its festivities as high priest. The surprising thing about the picture was the fact that Mr. Sinclair was wearing a flowered, ankle-length gown, described by reporters as a Hawaiian muu.

This wasn't a costume ball, mind you. It was a full blown love-in staged in broad daylight in the middle of a public park. And there was Mr. Sinclair, as big as life, looking for all the world like Queen Lydia Litvak.

DON'T GET ME WRONG. If Mr. Sinclair wants to wear a dress in public, that's his OK. We, after all, it's a free country and he has as much right to wear a dress as he has to wear a slip or a pair of silk stockings. I mean, he's a grown man with a mustache and it's his business what he wears.

Even columnist Ann Landers tells us that she has received no less than 2,000 letters in recent weeks from women whose husbands insist on going to bed in frilly tights! Really, so I suppose if it's all right for the latter, it's all right for him.

DON'T GET ME WRONG. Mr. Sinclair in his flowered muu didn't look much stranger than some of his friends. They came dressed as Robin Hood, American Indians or Arabian potentates, depending on how they felt when they got up that morning. Most of them wore beads or earrings. Several carried iron crosses suspended from chains around their necks.

The only group which was clearly distinguishable by its dress was the Outlaws Motorcycle Club which likes to make life interesting for the Detroit Police Department. The Outlaws dressed in black leather jackets and tight pants and there was no question as to what gender they belonged. They even did such masculine things as squirting each other with beer.

Other hippies circled sentimentally among the crowd, passing out such tokens of love and affection as balloons, flowers, colored beads, chewing gum and potato chips.

DON'T GET ME WRONG. It was a real nice love-in, as love-in's go. The police didn't have to break up a single free-for-all all afternoon. I don't exactly see what dressing up in a lot of lousy costumes has to do with love, but if that's the way they want it, it's alright with me.

At the workshop, girls pass the time strutting heads and weaving flowers in their hair. Males strum guitars, pound bongos and design posters advocating "Love" and "Peace."

Mr. Sinclair has set himself up as advisor for groups of students interested in publishing their own unedited newspapers, filling the columns with articles which would be strictly perverted in the ordinary run-of-the-mill student newspaper.

One of these newspapers is called "Clod & Pebble" and is edited by Dean Gengler, formerly of Charlevoix. It is published in Lincoln Park. Others are "Yellow", published by Cass Tech students; "Kulchur", Grosse Pointe High; "The Elevator", Mumford High; and "Rook", Thurston High.

The only one I have seen is "Clod & Pebble" which is, at best, an amateurish attempt at pornography.

Mr. Sinclair himself publishes two so-called "underground" newspapers -- "Sun" and "Earth Estate." Both have been banned from the mall from time to time as obscene or pornographic.

DON'T GET ME WRONG. I'd be the last person to say anything against freedom of the press. But I do think that the anguishing search for truth and the quest for love and peace which Mr. Sinclair and his cohorts might be taken more seriously if this literature were raised above the level of obscenity and pornography.

It might also help if the master himself could keep away from marijuana. He has been arrested three times in the past three years for possession of the drug and is presently free on $1,000 bond, pending trial.

All of this, of course, takes a little of the gloss off Detroit's gala love-in. Do the hippies really love each other, or are they merely high on drugs, the victims of a serious social disorder? And just how much of the wamp and woe of society has already joined this unattractive fringe?

DON'T GET ME WRONG. People have a right to be just as crazy as they wish in this country. That's one of the nicest things about it. It's just that I can't see what muu muu's on and colored beads and dirty literature have to do with love, unless the meaning of the word has seriously perverted.

Furthermore, I still can't figure out how anyone--no matter how "hip" he is--can be so stupid as to wear a muu named you two or three people right here in Charlevoix who don't love me.

History of Bridge Street and Charlevoix Harbor

Chapter XII

Following is another installment of the late P.D. Campbell's "History of Bridge Street."

by P.D. Campbell

Just north of the hotel Charlevoix was an alley or road that led down to the back of the hotel. There came a group of buildings, single story and of wood. The first was a feed store named by Bert Mason who had a grocery store next door. Archie Lamont had a barber shop there and Fred Bellinger had his jewelry and watch repair shop there. I think it was right in there somewhere that a Lorenzo Cole had a business. Then comes Bert Mason's grocery. Our present Morris Ackert was his clerk. Bert Mason was there until he moved into the Masonic Temple when it was new.

THEN WE HAVE Fred Carter's shoe shop. Fred made hand-made gaiters and was very popular with the young dudes about town. Fred was also proprietor for the Grand Rapids Press and submitted news of Charlevoix. A man by the name of James C. Conner was the cobbler in that location before Fred Carter took over.

THE OCCUPANT of the next place north was Luther Hannah with a second-hand store. I can recall there being a pool room there before Hannah and no doubt many businesses through the years, as the place seemed to be very old.

Then we have the two story brick building in the corner opposite the Central Drug Store. This was built by Mr. J. Stockman in 1880 and was the Stockman and Idlings Iron and Hardware store. The upper floor was used for surplus stock. H.L. Idlings operated the store and his clerk was Stewart Stevenson who afterwards owned a hardware store in Lansing. This store was at that location for many years until it was moved to the present Geiken Building. There is operated under Charles Gale, a brother of Mrs. Idlings. Mr. Idlings having passed away several years before George Lusk realized the building and put in a stock of dry goods. It was then taken over by Pete Scott with the "Mtn - Eva restaurant."

BACK of the Idlings Hardware was Theodore Erickson's machine shop. Theodore did general machine shop repair work and was considered a very good workman. He had the first Ford Agency in town and my father bought the first Ford touring car in town. Across the street from Erickson's was the Charlevoix Cold Storage Plant. The owner is not known. On the north side of the building was a canteen leading to the lake, up which ice was hauled from the lake for the cold storage. In those days we did not have the present ice-making machines.

NEXT WEEK: The corner of Bridge and Clinton.

THE HOTEL BARTLETT stood on the east side of Bridge Street, approximately in the center of what is now East Park. This photo, taken about the turn of the century, shows a number of summer guests who spent their holidays at the hotel. The tree shaded verandah was a pleasant place to wile away a summer afternoon.

IN JUNE, 1935, the hotel met the fate of so many other Bridge Street buildings. It burned beyond repair and had to be torn down. It must have been a cool June. Note the topcoats and heavy sweaters worn by the spectators. This photo was taken by Bob Miles.

A MONTH LATER, this pioneer stockade and village stood at the site of the Bartlett Hotel. It was constructed for a "Pageantorium", held in connection with Charlevoix's July 4 homecoming. When the stockade was removed, development of East Park began.

"And now somebody's got to make the whole darn bright idea downtown." He laughed and chuckled as he heard what a beautiful he would choose right there.

"So now they say let's take a little piece of this here in the middle of the town. And if nobody fusses about that, why in a couple of years we can make the whole darn park into a beautiful parking lot filled with bright shiny cars, with bright shiny lights and all the right things, two weeks of the year. They'll be constant daylight just like in the Arctic circle!"

"That's what they want to do that?" I begged him to tell me.

Now he was slapping his thigh, laughing all red in his face and choking so I couldn't hear his answer.

Only something that sounded like Charlevoix could be like Charlevoix.

"That's what they want to do that?" I begged him to tell me.

East Jordan Board Asks Two More Mills

EAST JORDAN -- Two more mills for school support will be asked from voters here June 12, the board said. The school board set the millage at 11.5 for the 1967-68 year. Total millage last year came to 20.5 with nine voted for operations, 8.5 allocated and three earmarked for debt retirement.

NEXT YEAR'S proposed budget calls for 11.5 voted for operations and 8.5 allocated for a total of 20.5.

Queen List Selected

CHARLEVOIX--Seven finalists for the title of Venetian Queen have been selected by the Chamber of Commerce nominating committee. They are Dianne Winzell, Janet Pease, Kris Lieberman, Connie Oger, Joy Cullen, Joy Pierce and Betty Brown. The queen will be named at the J-trop the evening of May 27.

Poppy Days Coming Up

CHARLEVOIX--Buddy Poppies will be sold by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Auxiliary in Charlevoix May 18 through 20, according to Mrs. Harley Warner. Businesses will be contacted Thursday, with street sales scheduled for Friday afternoon and Saturday. Proceeds will benefit needy veterans and their families.

THE AMERICAN LEGION Poppy drive has been set for May 25 through 27. All of the poppies sold in both drives are made by disabled veterans.

EJ to Mark State Week

EAST JORDAN--Special programs for Michigan Week will begin here Sunday, May 21 and will continue through Saturday, May 27. According to Jack Zoules, co-ordinator of Michigan Week activities, various groups and industries such as the Old Timer's, the Garden Club, and East Jordan Tool and Die will set up displays in the City Hall. Displays will be open all week for the public on the main floor.

Norwood Plans Cemetery Bee

CHARLEVOIX -- A work bee will be held at the Norwood Cemetery this Saturday (May 20), beginning at 9 a.m. Workers are asked to bring their own tools. A potluck lunch will be served at the Friendship Hall.

Award Given

BELLAIRE -- The Bert Smith family of Clam Lake near here has received an All-Electric Building Award of Merit from Consumer Power Co. The Smiths built an all-electric motel-hotel last summer.

Meet Breaks Two Records

CHARLEVOIX -- Two records were broken -- both by Gaylord -- at an All-Conference track meet in Charlevoix Monday afternoon, but Charlevoix won the meet with a total of 64.75 points. Gaylord's Norfor won the mile-run in 4:37.5, a new conference record, and the Blue Devils' Flemming won the 800-yard-run in 2:05.5, also a new record. Another Gaylord runner, Dave Davis, took the two mile race, the first time it has been run locally. His time was 11:04.5.

Council OKs City Budgets

CHARLEVOIX -- City budgets totaling $662,553 were approved Monday by the City Council. The Council earmarked $200,243 for the general fund, $309,615 for the electrical fund, $42,585 for the water fund and $20,110 for the sewage fund.

The general fund budget will be raised by an assessment of eight mills on an assessed valuation of $75,623,20 plus revenue from other governmental agencies and public service enterprises.

Kill Millage

ELLSWORTH -- The millage increase proposed by the school board was defeated at the polls here 257 to 225 Friday.

The second millage vote to be defeated in three months, board members said they would try again June 12.

Voters rejected a proposed six mill increase Feb. 6, 129 to 99.

Brrrr! Cold Weather Mars Annual Bike Races

CHARLEVOIX -- Unseasonably cold weather took the edge off the second annual Tour of Michigan bicycle race Saturday.

The turn-out for the local Olympic style races was down sharply from last year, both in the number of participants and spectators.

Promoters of the tour are now wondering whether they should schedule next year's race later in the season, rather than hold it in connection with Michigan Week. Main objection to a later date is the increased tourist traffic on the highways, according to Harvey Kirschoff, tour co-ordinator.

THE START of the marathon race from Gaylord to Charlevoix was delayed 45 minutes until a blanket of heavy, wet snow had a chance to melt. When the shivering riders reached Charlevoix about 11:30 a.m., the temperature hovered around 40 degrees.

Winner of the first lap of the marathon race was Little Dave Blotter, 19, of Lapeer. Blotter made the 43 mile stretch from Gaylord to Charlevoix in one hour, 53 minutes and 39 seconds, and went on to win the race.

JUST A SPOKE behind him were Mike Carman of St. Louis, Mo., and Herman Kroy of Chaska, Minn., who were given the same time. The trio broke away from the rest of the field about mid-way and had the road pretty much to themselves coming into Charlevoix.

WINNERS of the Olympic events among the visitors were Paul Meier of Kenosha, Wis.; Joe Varisco of Buffalo, N.Y.; Kathy Fitzpatrick of Granada Hills, Calif.; John Van Laeken of Detroit; Chris Wetters of Detroit; Judith Less of Detroit and Paul Sweet of Detroit. The races consisted of one and five-mile events.

Boat Trip Planned 'If Lansing Can Do It, So Can Charlevoix'

CHARLEVOIX -- Taking his cue from the Greater Lansing Chamber of Commerce, Charlevoix's C of C Secretary-Manager Archie Dayton has reserved the motor launch Beaver Islander for a "Chamber of Commerce cruise to Boyne City and back June 11.

Approximately 150 members of the Lansing C of C visited Charlevoix May 10 on a four-day cruise from Gaylord to Charlevoix. In one hour, 53 minutes and 39 seconds, and went on to win the race.

"MANY of the larger chambers of commerce throughout the state hold annual cruises for their members," Dayton said, "in keeping with this procedure, The Charlevoix C of C will hold its first annual cruise on Sunday, June 11, starting at 3:30 p.m. from the Beaver Island boat dock."

Dayton said the boat will visit Boyne City and possibly make the Beaver Islander for a "Chamber of Commerce cruise to Boyne City and back June 11.

A RAND WILL be on hand to keep the passengers entertained and refreshments will be served.

He said the boat will be able to take 200 passengers and tickets will cost $3. They will go on sale June 1 at the Chamber of Commerce office on Bridge Street on a first-come, first-served basis.

"If the Greater Chamber of Commerce of Lansing can do this," so can Charlevoix," he pointed out.

UNKNOWN specimens were sent to the participating laboratories for analysis. Tests were run in Charlevoix and the results returned to the examiner for comparison with known answers.

Charlevoix hospital laboratory results were among the best reported in the survey, Miss Baumgartner said.

"The laboratory in the hospital plays a vital role in patient care by performing tests ordered by the physicians on blood samples and other body fluids. Results of these tests are used as an aid to diagnosis and treatment of disease," she explained.

Smith Faces Trial on Morals Charges

Board Cuts Debt Levy by Half Mill

CHARLEVOIX--The Board of Education Monday pared a half-mill from the original 3.0 mills it had planned to ask for debt retirement.

This means that at the June 12 election, voters will be asked to approve 2.5 mills for debt retirement, 8.5 for operation, 5 for library operation, and 1.75 for site acquisition.

THE new debt retirement figure will allow the board to meet its bonded indebtedness obligation of $585,850 next year.

THE BOARD also narrowed the field of school insurance bidders to two--Hartwig and Hawley of Charlevoix and Lusk of Petoskey. The carrier will be selected after more information is obtained on deductible provisions.

Superintendent Rex M. Hagan was authorized to order new classroom furniture and was permitted to borrow up to $25,000 to meet the June payroll.

THE BOARD also saw a presentation on portable classrooms by a representative of National Homes.

Draft Claims Five May 31

CHARLEVOIX--Five men from Charlevoix County are on the June draft call, according to Mrs. Ronald Isch, secretary of Selective Service Board No. 15.

They are Jack A. Snyder, 20, of East Jordan; Gerald L. Cosler, 20, of Boyne City; Ernest F. Martin, 19, of St. James; Charles F. Hamey, 19, of East Jordan; and Robert D. Padgett, 19, of Lansing.

The men are scheduled to leave Charlevoix by bus on May 31.

TEN OTHERS will report for pre-induction physical examinations June 19. They are:

Earl E. McBride, 24, Charlevoix; James G. Daniels, 24, Charlevoix; Melvin D. Holborn, 22, Charlevoix; David E. Rader, 21, Charlevoix; John E. Gee, 22, East Jordan; Harold F. Snyder, 21, East Jordan; Paul L. Lambert, Jr., 21, Charlevoix; Henry R. Erber, 21, Boyne City; John E. Vronsdan, 20, East Jordan; and Kenneth L. Brooks, 21, Boyne City.

Three from the county will be inducted in July and 14 will take physicals. No dates have been set for the latter, which will be held at the June 20 board meeting.

Early Deadline

Because of the Memorial Day holiday, the Courier will have an earlier deadline for next week's edition. Deadline for both advertising and news is noon Saturday, May 27.

Hospital Lab Among Best

CHARLEVOIX--Hay Welch and Larry Cutler, laboratory technicians at Charlevoix Hospital, have received high ratings on proficiency tests sponsored by the College of American Pathologists, according to Miss Anne Baumgartner, hospital administrator.

Unknown specimens samples were sent to the participating laboratories for analysis. Tests were run in Charlevoix and the results returned to the examiner for comparison with known answers.

Charlevoix hospital laboratory results were among the best reported in the survey, Miss Baumgartner said.

"The laboratory in the hospital plays a vital role in patient care by performing tests ordered by the physicians on blood samples and other body fluids. Results of these tests are used as an aid to diagnosis and treatment of disease," she explained.

Probable Cause Found at Preliminary Exam

CHARLEVOIX--Motel owner Frank Smith, 52, was bound over to the August term of the Circuit Court Tuesday afternoon on two morals counts.

Charlevoix Justice of the Peace John Connolly found probable cause against Smith on charges of gross indecency and making and possessing lewd and immoral tape recordings. Bond was continued.

A third charge against Smith -- pandering -- was dismissed.

You May Win an Albert Pick Vacation

CHARLEVOIX--The Coast to coast Albert Pick Motel and hotel chain, in cooperation with the Charlevoix Courier and participating business firms in Charlevoix, announce the start of a ten-week contest in which local area families may win a fun-filled "Albert Pick Weekend Vacation".

Winning families may choose to take their weekend at the following Albert Pick Motel and hotels: Detroit, Pick Fort Shelby; Chicago, Pick Congress; Lansing, Albert Pick Motel; Cleveland, Pick Fort Erie; Flint, Albert Pick Motel; Louisville, Albert Pick Motel; and Columbus, Pick Fort Hayes.

THE ALBERT PICK Weekend Vacation includes luxury accommodations Friday and Saturday nights. Complete meals for the entire family are included, starting with breakfast Saturday through Sunday dinner.

Meal allowances for each member of a winning family are $1.50 for breakfasts, $2.50 for lunches and $4.00 for dinners. Since Hartwig is deceased, the card, postmarked Nov. 16, 1932, was returned to Miles--almost 30 years later.

Miles, a retired letter carrier, noted that although he mailed the card in 1932 for a prony, the post office had to pay four cents to return it.

THE UNDELIVERED mail cache was discovered last week when the building was being torn down. Post Office officials delivered it if addresses could be found. If not, they returned it to the senders.

Once each week each participating firm will hold a drawing, the winner of which will be its entry into the main drawing for the vacation.

Preliminary winners will be announced each week on a special page, with each firm listing its entry in its ad space. One entry will be the eventual winner for that week.

No purchases are required to register. See Page 2 for a list of participating business places.

THE SECOND witness was Miss Yell, who was accompanied to the courtroom in the Charlevoix City Hall by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Yell of Petoskey. Miss Yell wore a fitted navy blue robe dress with white lace cuffs and collar and high-heeled black pumps.

Other witnesses called during the morning session were Miss Yell's father, Abe Yell; Gary Smith, son of the defendant; Robert Wise, son-in-law of the defendant; Robert Mueller of the Michigan State Police; Mrs. Frank Smith and Sam Kelly, the defendant's father-in-law.

DRESSED in a light grey suit, Smith showed the effects of the long hospitalization following the shooting. He was a patient in Charlevoix Hospital from Feb. 27 until April 19 when he was released from the hospital and posted $1,350 bond.

In addition to the morals charges, Smith has been accused by Miss Yell of serving her alcoholic beverages. Miss Yell is a minor.

Lofty Thoughts - High Ideals

The eagle, because of its flying and perching habits, is a bird we associate with lofty places. It soars when it flies and seeks pinnacles upon which to perch.

There is a lesson in these habits of the eagle, namely, the keeping of our thinking upon a lofty plane. People whose thoughts are constantly lifted up are less likely to need the services of a psychiatrist than those whose thoughts are of self, or low, or ignoble. This in no way implies that we should shut our eyes to facts or, to use an old expression, not "keep our feet on the ground." But lofty thoughts materialize in lofty deeds and build high and stable character.

Good thoughts, like good deeds, are more likely to flow when our surroundings and associations are good. The "lofty thought habit" can best be aided by attendance at the church of one's choice.

A-Plant Center Open Every Day

CHARLEVOIX -- The public information center at Consumers Power Company's Big Rock Point Nuclear electric generating station just north of Charlevoix went on extended summer hours May 6.

The information center will be open seven days a week, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., each day, continuing on this schedule through Oct. 30.

IT IS AMONG Northern Michigan's outstanding tourist attractions. Since it was opened at the time the Big Rock point plant was under construction, in 1961, it has attracted more than 150,000 visitors.

Information Center Coordinator Charles R. England, of Consumers Power, said that tours of the plant, itself, cannot be offered except by special arrangement with the plant superintendent.

HOWEVER, the information center will receive as many individuals and groups as care to visit. The center features exhibits and displays on nuclear energy and on the Big Rock Point plant project itself. It has a small theatre where visitors hear a brief lecture on the project and see a film on nuclear power.

Two Area Sailors End Boot Training

Two Charlevoix area men have been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center here.

They are Seaman Recruit Robert Foster, 18, USN, son of Morris Foster of 310 Prospect, Charlevoix, and Seaman Recruit Richard A. Beck, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Beck of Bay Shore.

In making the transition from civilian life to naval service, they received instruction under veteran Navy petty officers, studying seamanship, survival techniques, military drill and other subjects.

EUGENE FARKAS shows oldest coin in his collection - a 1738 penny minted in Great Britain. Many of the coins date back 100 years or longer.

Jingle of Old Coins Keep Him Happy

CHARLEVOIX -- At least one Charlevoix High School student would rather have coins jingling in his pocket than crisp bills in his billfold.

He is 16-year-old Eugene Farkas, who has been collecting old coins for the past two and one-half years. He hasn't checked lately, but at last count there were 350 coins of various denominations in his collection.

His pride is a 1738 "old-head" penny minted in Great Britain. Eugene has no idea how much the coin is worth, but he intends to have it examined in the near future by an expert numismatist.

He does know the value of one 1870 Indianhead penny. It is rated in "excellent fine" condition and is worth $25.

Why Do Our Schools Need More Money?

Here Is What Charlevoix Needs

The Charlevoix Board of Education has asked voters to approve a sizeable increase in school operating funds for the coming school year. The proposed levy is 8.5 mills, compared to 2.5 mills last year.

It also is asking voters to continue their half-mill support of the public library and to approve another 1.75 mills to buy a site for a new elementary school.

It also expects the amount needed for debt retirement to drop about three-quarters of a mill next year, from 3.25 to 2.5.

All of which means voters will be asked to approve an additional .7 mills above their 1966-67 taxes at the June 12 election.

The total amount for school operation, library, building and site, and debt retirement comes to 13.25 mills above the county allocation of 8.4 mills.

Why Won't Medusa Reduce Our Taxes?

With the increased property valuation due to construction of the Medusa Cement Plant in Charlevoix Township, why is all this extra millage needed? There are many reasons:

FIRST, although Medusa construction has increased our property valuation, the company is bringing in an estimated 38 school-age children from Manitowoc, Wisc., alone.

Combined with the arrival of 26 children from Ironton, if Ironton joins the district, the anticipated elimination of the 7th and 8th grades from St. Marys School (26 students), the normal influx of St. Marys' 9th graders (nine students), and the natural growth of the area (75 students), the amount of money behind each child in school will remain almost the same -- $17,611 in 1966-'67, compared to an estimated $17,978 in 1967-'68.

In all, the district expects 174 new students for a total of 1,474.

Of course, the district will receive money in state aid for the new students, but the rate per student may drop, depending on what the State Legislature does in Lansing. This probably won't be known until the end of the present term of the Legislature.

Here Is the Millage the School Board Wants

Item	1966-67 (S.E.V. $23,000,000)	1967-68 (S.E.V. $26,500,000)	Increase
Operating	2.5 ($ 57,500)	8.5 ($225,250)	6.0 ($167,750)
Library	.5 ($ 11,500)	.5 ($ 13,250)	.0 ($ 1,750)
Bldg. & Site	.0	1.75 ($ 46,375)	1.75 ($ 46,375)
Debt Ret.	3.25 ($ 74,750)	2.5 ($ 66,250)	-.25
Total	6.25 ($143,750)	13.25 ($351,125)	7.5 Mills

Here Is What It Means to the Individual Taxpayer

Property	Fair Value	S.E.V.	Cost in Taxes
A	$ 4,000	$ 2,000	$14
B	8,000	4,000	$28
C	12,000	6,000	$42
D	16,000	8,000	$56
E	20,000	10,000	$70

Here Is What The Additional Operational Millage Will Buy

Five teachers for new students	$ 35,000	Business machines, typewriters (Office and Classroom)	13,760
Two teachers to improve program	14,000	Furniture	5,552
School Buses	10,000	Return to reserve fund	35,000

GERTRUDE STEIN WROTE
"A ROSE IS A ROSE, IS A ROSE"

At first glance we might take such a statement as the nonsensical chit-chat of a demented parrot, but upon sober consideration we are apt to realize that it is much more. It was in reality her unique way of saying that a rose is by all odds the most beautiful flower that grows. Whether she was thinking only of the beauty and fragrance of the flower is a matter of conjecture. Perhaps she was thinking of the entire Rose Family, which yields valuable fruits, such as the apple and plum and many other economic products, among them the almond, wild cherry and oil of Rose.

Why is it that the Rose Family should yield such a wide variety of flowers and fruits? Environment, Mendelism and cultivation the botanist and biologist will say. They mean that the condition of the soil and the prevailing climatic conditions determine the manner and rapidity of growth; that principles of heredity will produce changes in the plant's nature and of course cultivation will promote its growth and yield.

In this respect, then, man is like a plant. In a healthful climate; in a pleasant environment there is ample opportunity for moral and mental uplift. The Church should play an important part in everyone's life and wellbeing. Attend the church of your choice regularly. Set a good example for your family and they will eventually follow in your footsteps.

City's Share $12,312

County Gets $158,908 in State Highway Funds

CHARLEVOIX -- The Department of State Highways has started distributing Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections for the first quarter of 1967 to Michigan counties and incorporated cities and villages. State Highway Director Howard L. Hills said gross collections for the quarter amounting to $158,908, with an increase of $2,191,000 over revenues distributed for the same period in 1966.

All state gasoline and diesel fuel taxes, license plate fees and a small amount of miscellaneous fees are deposited in the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund.

AFTER DEDUCTIONS, the money is distributed under provisions of state law which provide that 47 percent goes to the Department of State Highways for use on state highways, 35 percent to the state's 43 counties for use on county roads, and 18 percent to 522 incorporated cities and villages for their roads and streets.

Under this formula, the Department of State Highways will receive $46,912,203 as its share of the collections, while the counties will receive $34,934,610 and the incorporated cities and villages will get $17,066,076.

A & W Opens on S. Bridge

CHARLEVOIX--The A & W drive-in restaurant on south Bridge Street opened for the season May 27. The restaurant is operated by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Withers of Traverse City. Hours are 4 p.m. until 11 p.m., weekdays and from 11 a.m. until 11 p.m., Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

THE RESTAURANT features ground beef and barbecue sandwiches, Coney Island, fishwiches, shrimp and chicken baskets, dairy cones, milkshakes, shakes and, of course, A & W root beer.

Times have changed. Today a man pays a quarter to park his car so he won't find two dollars while spending a dime for a nickel cup of coffee.

Philo Sumner---The 'Miracle' Man

Sometimes examples of devoted public service go unnoticed--or at least unheralded--in the week's news.

A case in point is the quick thinking of Charlevoix Sheriff Phil Sumner following an accident on U.S. 31 and the Boyne City Road May 10.

A car driven by Dana H. Honeysette turned south onto U.S. 31 from the Boyne City Road and was hit from behind by a car driven by Larry Lynn Jewell of Petoskey.

The Honeysette car spun around, landing on its wheels in a ditch filled with approximately 18 inches of water.

THE HONEYSETTE family suffered assorted injuries, but the main concern immediately after the accident was the whereabouts of nine-month-old Brian who was a passenger in the car.

Something told Honeysette that the child was under the car, and with the help of sheriff's deputies and passersby he managed to lift the car. There was Brian, face down in the water and not breathing.

ALTHOUGH SAVING the boy's life appeared hopeless, Sheriff Sumner administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to the baby gasped for air and after a few more minutes of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was breathing normally.

ALTHOUGH the child was in the water an estimated eight to ten minutes, he appears to have survived his ordeal with no ill-effects.

"Daddy" when I come home from work at night," says Honeysette, who has gained a new respect for "miracles" since the accident.

Charlevoix County is lucky to have such a man as Sheriff Sumner on hand to help in the "miracle" business.

Letters to the Editor

From John Q. Public

Gives Views on Vietnam

To the Editor:

The May 12 issue of the Courier contains views by two American servicemen on the Vietnamese War. "Using the Communists' own techniques, at times they found up peasants at gunpoint for propaganda lectures, at other times slip into a village to kill sleeping V.C. cadres."

At least these forms of murder are most discriminating than mortar or bombing operations.

Sgt. Pierce's letter ended with, "Against what people, what cause, what effort, what society did these men, women and children commit their crimes? What price must we pay to live as human beings?"

When people realize that just as military force is an extension of political policy, politics is also an extension of military policy, that conflict strengthens national military establishments, and military establishments can be as great a threat to domestic populations as they are to foreign forces, the seeds of change may start germinating.

AS EVIDENCE of these principles witness the Civil War in Vietnam, the domination of Chinese politics by the Chinese military establishment, and the increasing domination of American politics by the "military-industrial complex" as Eisenhower warned against in his Farewell Address.

Our national military establishment is now the most influential political and economic bloc in the nation, absorbing 10% of the gross national product, $75,000,000,000, and growing.

Shelved, Ray E. Pelz, Charlevoix, Mich.

Clockwise How's Your African Geography?

By Bob Clock

The official guide to Expo '67 is on the newsstands, and even if you're not going to Montreal's big World's Fair, you might find it interesting to browse through.

For one thing, you might find out quite a bit about a lot of countries you never knew existed. I did. For instance, let's have a show of hands of everyone who knows the meets and bounds of a country called Chad (or Tchad, if you prefer the French spelling).

HMMAH. NOT MANY. All right, Chad, according to the Guide, has a population in excess of 2,675,000 persons (2,700,000 if you read the French section) and is located somewhere in the heart of darkest Africa.

"It is a land of contrasts, including the greater part of the Sahel basin... with the capital Fort Lamy standing on the banks of the River Shari... and the Ubangi region," the Guide reports. "Here cotton growing, and mining are important and groundnuts are a major crop."

The French part of the Guide (which is printed in two languages in case you don't read English) goes on to tell how Chad received her independence in 1960 and is a great place for raising cattle and sheep. It doesn't mention the cotton or mining.

It's a fascinating country if you ask me, and I've never even heard of it. Chad's pavilion at Expo will suggest the idea of a trip across the Sahara desert.

WHAT ABOUT a country called Rwanda? Did you ever hear of that one? I hadn't. Rwanda has a population of close to three million and since it isn't very large it is one of the most crowded countries on earth. It has a population density of 236 to the square mile.

Rwanda has been a sovereign state since July 1, 1962, and as its neighbors Burundi, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Tanzania and Uganda," the Guide explains.

Rwanda's economy is primarily agricultural and pastoral, as the national exhibit shows, with maize, sweet potatoes, groundnuts and beans as important crops for home consumption, and coffee the principal export.

"Cattle production is important in Rwanda, and hides form another important export, together with cotton, bananas and cassiterite, which is the chief source of malleable tin.

"Most of the people of Rwanda are of the Walutu race, with the tall and slender Watutsi race representing about a fifth of the population.

"Rwanda was formerly administered by Belgium with neighboring Burundi as trust territories for the United Nations." Burundi--now there's another one I've never heard of, but apparently they don't intend to set up show at Expo. At least I can't find them listed.

THE UNITED STATES, as you might imagine, has a whopping big exhibit at Expo, entitled "Creative America." It consists of a huge gothic building 29 stories high which changes color by day and at night appears as a huge golden globe.

Inside is a multi-level system of exhibit platforms interconnected by escalators, elevators and bridges. Each platform features a display of America's technological and artistic inventiveness ranging from fine arts and motion pictures to science and technology.

Highlight of the exhibit is a display of our space achievements, reached by means of a 135-foot escalator, the longest in the world. The landscape is strictly lunar, with a display of the vehicles we expect to use to reach the moon.

The U.S. will also have a 300-seat theater on the grounds featuring a toupie in color projected on three screens.

History of Bridge Street and Charlevoix Harbor

Chapter XIV

by P.D. Campbell

The next building along Bridge Street -- the Gilp's Appliance Store -- is probably the oldest building downtown. The building was constructed by Dr. G. W. Crocker, a dentist of early days. The first telephone company was upstairs and Dr. J. A. Auld had a dental office upstairs. Dr. Crocker -- besides being manager of the telephone company -- had a drug store on the main floor. Crocker and Warner had a drug business there, followed by Verne Cook. Also a drugist. In front of the building years ago was a large cast iron ornamental post with an eagle on the top. Over the years this building has been occupied by Charles Gandy, clothing; Elton Fowles, plumbing; a pin ball bowling alley; McIntosh, bakery; Ron Fairbanks, bakery; Meyer Cohen, clothing; and Gilp's Appliance Store. (Ed's note: This store has been purchased by Bob Timms and is now located next to the liquor store in the next block south.)

THIS PHOTO of Bridge Street taken in 1921 shows some of the buildings discussed by P.D. Campbell in this week's installment of his memories. All of the buildings north of the present Polly-Kay Shop have since been torn down to make room for city park.

GEORGE BURNS LIVERY was one of the most popular stables in town, according to Mr. Campbell. It was nothing in by-gone days to rent a rig to drive to East Jordan or Boyne City. The bus (left) was replaced by an enclosed sleigh for winter travel. The aroma on Bridge Street wasn't too pleasant when the wind was from the East, Campbell recalls.

ONE OFF-BRIDGE Street industry was the Enterprise Manufacturing Co., located on the corner of Antrim and State Streets. The firm made floats for fish nets and other turned wood products. It stood west of where Olsson's Shopping Center is now located.

ANOTHER BUSINESS just off Bridge Street before the turn of the century was this innumerable shop owned by O.W. Smith. The building later was covered by sheet metal and was the home of Novotny Plumbing until recently. The building will soon be dismantled to make room for library parking.

Church Ordains J. Mort

LANSING -- James H. Mort of Charlevoix was ordained a minister of the Church of Christ June 1.
The son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Mort, Rev. Mort will begin his ministry at Millington.
He received his bachelor of sacred literature degree from the Great Lakes Bible College.
Rev. Mort and his wife, the former Alice Crutcher of Petoskey, have three children.
The senior Mort attended graduation exercises and a luncheon honoring the graduates at Lansing. Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Don Mort and children of Kalamazoo and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mort of East Lansing.
Attending the baccalaureate services May 29 were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mort and Scott Mort of Charlevoix, Mr. and Mrs. William Mort of Grand Haven, Mich. Grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Rice of Bloomington, Ind. Their great-grandmother is Mrs. W. H. Supernaw of Charlevoix.

EJ Fire Truck Is Due Shortly

EAST JORDAN -- Fire Chief Leonard H. Mort said the town's new $22,000 fire truck should arrive here late this Friday night or Saturday morning.
Three other firemen along with Hammond are attending a three-day school in Indiana to arrive there to take the truck. The three are Guy Valance, Don Bowers and Roy Goken.
Hammond said the city will sell the old truck to Elsworth.

GERTRUDE STEIN WROTE
"A ROSE IS A ROSE, IS A ROSE"

At first glance we might take such a statement as the nonsensical chit-chat of a demented parrot, but upon sober consideration we are apt to realize that it is much more. It was in reality her unique way of saying that a rose is by all odds the most beautiful flower that grows. Whether she was thinking only of the beauty and fragrance of the flower is a matter of conjecture. Perhaps she was thinking of the entire Rose Family, which yields valuable fruits, such as the apple and plum and many other economic products, among them, the almond, wild cherry and oil of Rose.

Why is it that the Rose Family should yield such a wide variety of flowers and fruits? Environment, Mendelism and cultivation the botanist and biologist will say. They mean that the condition of the soil and the prevailing climatic conditions determine the manner and rapidity of growth; that principles of heredity will produce changes in the plant's nature and of course cultivation will promote its growth and yield.

In this respect, then, man is like a plant. In a healthful climate; in a pleasant environment there is ample opportunity for moral and mental uplift. The Church should play an important part in everyone's life and wellbeing. Attend the church of your choice regularly. Set a good example for your family and they will eventually follow in your footsteps.

East Jordan's teachers gathered for the last time Thursday afternoon in the school's elementary gym. Teachers leaving the system were given small gifts and refreshments were served.

Jordan Teachers Bid Farewell To Colleagues at Coffee Hour

Eleven teachers leaving the school system here were gathered at a coffee hour given by other teachers at the school Thursday afternoon.

Those leaving include Mrs. Pat Flett, first grade; Mrs. Alta Branson, junior high English; Miss Nancy Anderson, home economics; Mrs. Marcus Krake, fourth grade; Mrs. Wilmer Wilhelms, science and math; Mrs. Dan Parks, math; Dave Parks, math and English; Jim Everett, social studies; and basketball coach, Gerald Lott. Social studies, Irvin Smith, fourth grade and football coach, Lott, were also present.

MRS. CARL Rothenberger's third graders in East Jordan planted a tree Wednesday morning in Memorial Park. After learning of soil conservation efforts in class, the children decided to try their hand at it.

In The Good Old Summer Time

Along with the hot, sunny days of summer comes that dubious enjoyment of the family reunion.

To attend one of these occasions, one must possess a cast from stomach and a sense of humor. Without these prerequisites, one may find himself quite dead within two hours after arrival.

A collection of kids show up at these gatherings which are equalled only by some of the characters in the Huckleberry Finn novels.

TOPS ON the list is Uncle Brian wearing his 10 year old navy suit with white pin stripes, white socks, sunglasses, and smoking a cigar. Brian always has something to say about the family reunion.

UNCLE JAKE is a big, fat, balding man with a big, fat, balding head. He is the only one who is not a relative.

Fem-Levity Life With the Rare Ones

Now, about our cats, it's really quite a sad story and I'm not sure I can get through it all without breaking down. Sorry all you cat-lovers, but all this emotion isn't for real. I was brought up with multitudes of them hanging around the back door and I've always taken them pretty much for granted.

When I think of my childhood and the cats we owned I see a picture of my mother with a broom in her hand chasing two or three of our many friends out of her warm kitchen. We loved them so much we gave them all the same original, endearing name of Tuff. It's strange really how profane a name can be.

I GUESS ENOUGH years had passed and I forgot because it was during a trip when home we decided it would be nice if our children had a cat to enjoy. Besides, good old Aunt Beverly had a new pile of kittens she was getting rid of. So, every once of a while she would come and visit. Most of these had multiple toes and "They're pretty rare you know, a real novelty."

We made our way home, all two hundred and fifty miles, with this great, rare animal secure in a rug padded box. It was full and the last half of the trip was pretty chilly with all the windows down. We knew it was a female but decided with a name like Tuff the gods might smile on us. Evidently they didn't think it was very funny because great, rare, multi-toed Tuff, with all the toes, gave birth to six of her kind. I wandered into her basement one day and was overjoyed that it was done and we didn't have to observe the deed. A few days later they had complete run of the basement and it was time to make a list of our most treasured friends. We ended up with a pretty little list and decided we two would have to depend on our salesmanship. This only relieved us of three kittens and our lease continued to look like a small animal clinic.

IT'S HERE that I can't stand to give you all the hairy details but we ended up with two male (I think) kittens. Our son went beyond the realm of originality and named them Leeborn (another multiple word rarity) and (are you ready?) Tiger Baseball, and that's it. It was a temptation to let this one starve rather than lower myself to calling him home at dinner time. Poor old T.B. and B. and his fair one day when he made the mistake of coming into the house. The lone survivor, continued to run our household until he was nearly full grown. We could never break him of his fear of the great outdoors and found it necessary to pump him with a drugging litter box. Seems he had a fear of this too because he preferred the privacy of our closets and the comfort of the carpeting. I spent a good share of my days cleaning up with one hand and holding my nose with the other.

FINALLY, realizing he had to go or I was going to die of suffocation, the final blow came one night just before guests were to arrive. So, I was struggling in front of the mirror and Leeborn decided to share the bathroom with me. He made a fine article about the cleanliness and sent me running with my hand over my nose again. It's often been a comfort to me to know he was relieved before his sleep.

I'll try not to take up any more of your time with my animal stories unless you indicate a definite interest in crayfish or water beetles.

Only 7 Kids for Head Start

CHARLEVOIX--To date the Charlevoix School District has been able to locate only seven children in the area eligible for a Head Start program, according to School Superintendent Rex Milligan.

In order to qualify for federal Head Start funds, a school district must have at least 10 children enrolled in the program.

Under terms of the program, pre-school youngsters are accepted if they are the only child in a family whose yearly income is $3,000 or less. Another $500 is added to the income figure for each additional child in the family.

World Traveler Roving Mail Bag Pays Visit to City

CHARLEVOIX--Every once in a while someone in the sprawling U.S. Post Office Department autographs a mail bag and his colleagues at post offices across the country follow suit.

One such mail bag arrived at the Charlevoix Post Office last week with autographs and post stamps from such far-flung outposts of civilization as Subic Bay in the Philippine Islands and Nome, Alaska.

Marion, Ohio DeKalb, Ill.; Lehigh Valley, Pa.; McBride, S.D.; Mitchell, S.D.; Selma, Calif.; Moorhead, Minn.; and Spokane, Wash.

Other stops included Oklahoma City, Okla.; Jackson, Miss.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Redlands, Calif.; Canton, Ohio; Indianapolis, Ind.; Millport, N.Y.; Dismark, N.D.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Beaver Creek, Minn.; Duarte, Calif.; and Seattle, Wash.

Dozens of other autographs and postmarks have become too faint to read over the years, what with snow, sleet, rain and everything else the Post Office Department must endure.

However, one legend across the bottom -- apparently added many years ago -- still remains legible. It says "Kilroy Was Here."

From Bahamas Big Mamoo Sails on to Windy City

CHARLEVOIX -- The Big Mamoo, a 52-foot yawl with a 38 foot mast, stopped over-night in Charlevoix recently on the last leg of a trip from the Bahamas Islands to Chicago.

Piloting the big sailing vessel were Cecil R. Lockhart and Bernard E. Wilson, natives of Ragged Island in the Bahamas.

They were delivering the yawl to Chicago for the owner, George Stephen.

Lockhart will stay with the boat all summer, returning it to the Bahamas in the fall via the Mississippi River.

THE TRIP NORTH took Lockhart and Wilson up the Atlantic seacoast to New York, through the Hudson River to Albany and then westward on the Erie Canal to Lake Erie.

Lockhart said the tall spar had to be removed by a crane before entering the Erie Canal famous for its low bridges.

While in Charlevoix, they had their radio equipment changed from the kind used on the ocean to those used on the lakes.

Owner Stephen and his family are frequent summer visitors to Charlevoix aboard the Big Mamoo.

Lockhart said he used the ship's auxiliary engine on the ocean, but prefers to run up the ELLSWORTH--Commencement exercises were high-lighted here Thursday evening by speaker L. Howard Platter, assistant superintendent of Kettering Schools. Twelve of 17 graduating seniors took part in the exercises.

Platter's address called "The American Package" was concerned with telling the graduates their responsibilities.

He said carrying on the American tradition was the greatest responsibility. Platter listed the need for working religion including faith in themselves and in others, and an understanding of the Declaration of Independence, Constitution and America's educational system as some of the elements involved in becoming an asset to America.

SUSAN PETTER, who gave the Salutatory address, was awarded the Salutatory Trophy by Principal Paul Bliss.

Others recognized for scholastic achievement were Kathleen Wieland and Judith Van Stedum who both received grants from Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority.

Seniors participating in the commencement included Roy De Vries, Donna Harbison, Josephine McConnelly, Susan Petter, Jade Rood, Sally Smith, Carole Vandenberg, Kenneth Vander Heide, Judith Van Stedum, Susan Waller, Robert Wallick and Kathleen Wieland.

SUPERINTENDENT Nelson Spoonman presented the class and School Board Trustee Ray Wallick gave the didjonnas.

Rev. V. Guerkink gave the invocation and benediction, and Miss Artis Drenth played the organ.

Rev. R. Vander Worp and Mrs. Eloise Klooster sang a duet.

Karen Inman Rutgers Grad

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J.--Miss Karen Suzanne Inman was graduated by Rutgers University here May 31.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Evangeline W. Inman and the late Harry F. Inman, formerly of Baltimore, Md. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stale, of Charlevoix, where she will spend the summer.

Miss Inman will receive her M.A. degree in European history and has accepted an assistantship at Rutgers next year. She plans to begin work on her Ph. D. degree.

Fire Levels Barn on Addis Farm

Mrs. J. J. Addis, owner of the barn, said the barn was destroyed by fire.

EAST JORDAN—Fire broke out twice Thursday afternoon on the property of Mrs. J. J. Addis on the Ellisworth road. The second fire filled the barn with black smoke and destroyed a barn.

Called to a grass fire at 12:32 at the Addis farm, fire forces were returning to East Jordan when a second call came from the Addis farm where a barn was burning.

Mrs. J. J. Addis said she didn't know how the fire started. She said she saw the barn burning and saw the smoke coming out of the barn. She said she saw the smoke coming out of the barn and saw the smoke coming out of the barn.

The barn was not insured, but it was fairly new. It was built in 1964. It was a two-story barn. It was a two-story barn. It was a two-story barn.

The fire was so high and intense, and the wind was so strong that the fire could have easily spread over the area, she said.

It is not known how the fire started, but it is believed that it was caused by a spark from a piece of machinery.

Mrs. Addis lives with her daughter, Mary Jane Addis, and her grandson, Robert Addis, on the farm.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS LAND SALE

I will accept bids on the property described below, at my home until June 15, 1967, 8 o'clock EST.

The Township of Eveline reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Description of Eveline Township property at Ironton Ferry:

That part of Lot One (1) of Block One (1) of the Village of Ironton, as platted and dedicated by Thomas C. Bird and Clementine Bird, his wife, and duly recorded in the Office of the Registrar of Deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan, bounded as follows: Commencing at the Northeast corner of said Lot One (1); thence running West on the North line thereof, 150 feet to a stake; thence Southeasterly parallel with the West boundary line of said Lot 75 feet to a stake; thence East parallel with the South line of said Lot 150 feet, more or less to the shore of the South Arm of Pine Lake; thence Northwesterly along said shore of the South Arm of Pine Lake, 75 feet, more or less, to the starting point. The above parcel of land is situated in the Township of Eveline, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan.

The above description was taken from the Deed of Real Estate, from Allan M. Wilkinson, Administrator of the Estate of Peter Munson, Deceased, dated June 11, 1912, recorded June 11, 1912, in Liber 64 of Deeds, Page 297, Charlevoix County Records, -to- The Township of Eveline, a municipal corporation in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan.

Babst Gifts to Benefit Library

CHARLEVOIX — A fund in memory of Earl Babst, long time summer visitor of the Charlevoix Club, has been organized by Mrs. John P. Wilson. All donations will go toward the purchase of new books for the Charlevoix Library.

This is "exactly what he would have wanted," as Babst was so interested in the Charlevoix Library for so many years, writes his daughter, Mrs. Alice Babst, from Greenfield, Conn.

Each book purchased through the Earl Babst Memorial fund will have a special designed book plate which will be affixed to each book as a permanent record in his memory.

"Please express to my father's friends at Charlevoix the deep gratitude of both my sister and myself for their generosity and appreciation of him."

ALL DONATIONS are tax deductible and may be sent to Mrs. Julius Gilbert, Fund Raising Chairman for the Charlevoix Library, 510 Michigan Ave., Charlevoix, 49720.

Gifts have been received so far from the Women of Christ Episcopal Church, Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart, Mrs. John P. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart S. Dixon, Solomon Byron Smith and Edward Byron Smith.

Mr. Babst, 66, died April 26 in New York City. He spent 73 summers in the Charlevoix Club.

Additional contributions have come from Mr. and Mrs. George A. Poole Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Hall Adams III, Mr. Gordon Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Wilson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George S. Chappel Jr., Mrs. M. Scott Brownell and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Poole.

Recent contributions have boosted the Library Fund to more than $12,000.

EJ Graduates 68 Seniors

EAST JORDAN—Outstanding graduating seniors were honored Wednesday evening at commencement ceremonies here.

Of a total of 68 graduates eight won 11 scholarships. Four of these eight also won educational grants and another six also won grants.

Principal Keith Amner presented these students to the public at that time and also read a list of those seniors honored by individual departments.

91 Graduate Here Tonight

CHARLEVOIX—Ninety-one Charlevoix High School seniors will receive diplomas at commencement exercises here tonight (June 7) at the High School gymnasium.

The class is the largest in history. Speaker will be Gordon A. Sabine, vice president for special projects at Michigan State University.

SUNDAY the seniors and their parents heard an address by the Rev. Alfred Mause, pastor of the Community Reformed Church, at Baccalaureate services. The Rev. Lawrence Tenhagen of the Congregational Church, the Rev. Leona Winegard of the Methodist Church, the Rev. Don Schorsch of the Assembly of God Church and the Rev. Jack Harris of the Baptist also took part.

The Community Chorus under the direction of Clarence Olsank sang several selections.

Senior girls were entertained at a Dickens Club tea Saturday at the home of Mrs. Clark Cloutier.

Grids Offer Easy Parking

CHARLEVOIX — City workers have completed the marking of parking places in the downtown area.

On Bridge Street, a grid has been placed between each two parking spaces to allow for maneuvering.

Police Chief Joe Smith said the maneuvering areas will help relieve congestion downtown during the summer. He said only eight parking spaces have been sacrificed.

THE CITY also has been installing parking meters, which will go into use June 15. The meters and poles are removed every fall to assist in snow removal. June 15 is also the date for the beginning of one-way traffic only on Dixon Avenue. Vehicles are permitted to travel east only during the summer.

Buyers Beat Path to Door

Used articles usually find ready buyers on the Courier's classified pages.

Mrs. Edith Pearl had more call than she wanted when she advertised a 9 x 12 foot rug for sale.

If you have used furniture or furnishings for sale, simply pick up the phone, dial 6558 and ask for Hilth.

Or if you're in the market for good buys, check the classified page. You'll be glad you did.

School Election

CHARLEVOIX—Charlevoix School District voters will go to the polls Monday, June 12, to elect two members to the Board of Education and vote on millage for school operation, building and site, debt, retirement and library operation. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Boat Tickets Still Available

CHARLEVOIX—Tickets are still available for the Lake Charlevoix Boat Cruise June 13, according to Archie Dayton, secretary - manager of the Chamber of Commerce. They are available at the C of C office.

Rev. Joseph Malinowski gave the invocation and benediction.

Lot Size Set by St. James

CHARLEVOIX—St. James Township has passed a plat ordinance setting forth minimum sizes of residential lots in plat developments.

A new township ordinance sets forth the minimum size of lots at 12,000 square feet, with a minimum front footage of 75 feet.

American Central Land Co. of Lansing is in the process of platting several large tracts in St. James Township for resort development.

RECREATION director Deano Davenport shows sportsmanship trophy which will be awarded to the ball player in the Men's League best exemplifying the qualities of the late Larry McBride.

Sportsmanship Award Is Named for McBride

CHARLEVOIX — A Sportsmanship trophy in memory of the late Larry McBride will be awarded to a member of the Charlevoix Men's League this summer, according to City Recreation Director Deano Davenport.

Larry, 21, died last Wednesday in a head-on collision with a car in Grand Rapids. He was driving a 1964 Buick Wildcat when the accident occurred. He was killed instantly.

Larry was a student at Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City.

EJ Spurs Pick Up of Trash, Junk Cars

EAST JORDAN—City council renewed its efforts Tuesday night to see that unsightly trash and cars be removed from resident's yards.

In response to a statement from City Attorney Robert Klevorn that certain persons were being "picked on," Mayor Betty Robertson said everyone who is in violation of the nuisance ordinance will be cited.

Police Chief Joe Hammond was instructed to contact all violators for a 30 day warning. If the violator does not comply, their cases will be cited to Justice Charles Landers.

Mrs. Robertson said the council isn't seeking out one individual to blame everything on but is trying to contact all violators.

Pope Elevates Beaver Sons

GRAND RAPIDS — Two Catholic priests — both natives of Beaver Island — have been elevated by Pope Paul VI to the rank of Monsignor.

They are Monsignor Victor P. Gallagher and Monsignor Joseph Walter Grillo, both of whom have many relatives in Charlevoix and on Beaver Island.

The elevation to the new rank was announced last week in Grand Rapids by Bishop Allen J. Babcock, bishop of the Grand Rapids Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church.

THE TWO BEAVER Island sons were among 10 priests of the diocese elevated to the rank of Monsignor.

There will be no investiture ceremony for the new appointees as a group. Each prelate will select his own date and place for the ceremony when he appears for the first time in the purple robes of a domestic prelate.

Mons. Grillo was born Nov. 9, 1910, at St. James. He attended McKinley Elementary School and after one year at St. James High School, enrolled at St. Joseph's Seminary, from which he was graduated. He studied philosophy at St. Louis Preparatory Seminary in St. Louis, Mo., and theology at St. Mary's in Ohio.

He was ordained at St. Andrew's Cathedral April 21, 1938.

Chx. Kills Op. Millage Hike;

East Jordan Passes 14 Mills

James Lewis Elected Robert Prebble Wins a Four-Year Term

CHARLEVOIX — School District voters undoubtedly will be asked to return to the polls later this summer to vote again on school operational millage after turning down a School Board request for eight and one-half mills in May's election. The millage was defeated by a vote of 461 to 305.

Other millage requests, however, passed easily. Voters approved one and three-quarters mills for a building and site fund by a vote of 443 to 378 and passed a half-mill for the library by a vote of 502 to 312.

They also voted to establish the building and site fund by a vote of 458 to 363.

JAMES LEWIS, an engineer for Consumers Power Co., won a two-year term on the Board of Education hands down, garnering 216 votes, compared to 94 for Robert Potter, 30 for Mrs. Edward Viegler and 70 for Charles Daerr.

Mrs. Frances Hooper, who ran unopposed for a five-year term, received 336 votes.

James Lewis

THE BALLOTING was fairly heavy for a School Board election, according to Superintendent of Schools Rex Milligan. Of 2,200 voters registered in the district, 825 turned out at the polls.

A telephone campaign conducted by the Charlevoix Parent-Teachers Association helped swell the total in the final hours.

THE SCHOOL Board held its regular meeting at the school Monday night and approved a budget for the coming year. The operational millage was defeated.

Mosquitoes Rout Pair After 100 MPH Chase

CHARLEVOIX — Mosquitoes acted as police dogs Sunday night in routing two young men from the dense woods south of Big Rock Point following a 100-mile-per-hour chase with Charlevoix police.

Clarence D. Riter, 16, of Battle Creek and Cole C. Evans, 20, of Grand Rapids emerged from the woods near the Consumers Power Company's entrance drive where they had abandoned their late model Buick an hour earlier. They were covered with mosquito bites.

The Buick had been reported stolen in Battle Creek, according to sheriff's deputies.

Rotisserie Sold With Single Ad

Now is the time you'll find a ready market for picnic equipment and other outdoor gear on the classified ad pages of the Charlevoix Courier.

Just ask Judge John Maki of Belvedere Avenue, Judge Maki sold a complete outdoor rotisserie outfit with one of the Courier last week.

If you have good camping equipment or patio furnishings to sell, just dial 547-6228 and ask for Hilth. She'll help compose your ad.

Or if you're in the market for outdoor supplies, why not check the classified page? You'll be glad you did.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Grillo

EAST JORDAN—Voters here approved 14 mills for operation by 451 to 269 Monday.

The 14 mills will replace nine mills of expired operational millage and three mills used for debt retirement.

ROBERT Prebble was elected for a four-year term on the School Board. Prebble, a life-time resident of East Jordan, will succeed Dr. John Kewey who did not run.

Prebble was elected with 531 votes. His opponent, Verne Roth, polled 140 votes.

Inn Planning Grand Opening

CHARLEVOIX—Grand opening of the Western Inn, under new ownership will be Saturday, June 17.

A special cocktail hour will be held from 4 to 6 p.m.; and there will be gifts for the ladies.

Every diner on Saturday will receive a free plate of barbecued ribs with each meal.

The inn is now serving breakfast every morning beginning at 7:30 a.m.

Ellsworth Tries Again to Join Charlevoix

CHARLEVOIX—The citizens of Ellsworth made another formal attempt to join the Charlevoix School District when trustees Marvin Elzing and Don Way presented petitions to the Charlevoix board signed by more than 50 percent of the voters in their district.

The Charlevoix Board said it would study the request and come up with an answer, possibly within a week or two.

HOWEVER, some board members made it clear a vote of Charlevoix voters would be in order. The board has the power to pass on the petitions without a vote, but some members said they would prefer to sound out the electorate on the issue.

The board also said action on the petitions would depend on the outcome of the millage vote.

At that time, the millage vote was not in. As it developed, both Charlevoix and Ellsworth turned down operational millage requests.

Charlevoix Superintendent Rex Milligan said he thought it was too late for annexation for the 1967-68 school year, but suggested that a vote be taken in November for possible annexation in the 1968-69 school year.

In other action the board:

- Approved contracts for a junior high social teacher and an elementary teacher to handle Type A monthly handicapped children.
- Approved $300 salaries for summer school teachers.
- Board plans for a county-wide adult education program.

RESIDENTS who rushed to the bridge to see the Wyandotte enter Round Lake last week were surprised to find a ten-foot chicken, an eight-foot brown bear and a lowly turtle crowded in among the vehicles waiting for the ship to pass. The animals were fiberglass models made by Nu-Products of Traverse City, mounted on a trailer for delivery to a customer.

CARPET IN THE KITCHEN?
VIKING MAKES IT PRACTICAL!

Now don't let the word "carpet" fool you. A Viking carpet is the most practical, most comfortable, most economical and most fashionable way to cover your kitchen floor. Why? Because it's especially designed for heavy kitchen duty. Its thickly twisted, superdense, nylon pile holds dust to the surface, for quick vacuuming. No stains, no heel marks. Everything wipes clean on the spot. No need never have to scrub or wax again.

Why Did Charlevoix Vote 'No'?

Why did Charlevoix School District's proposed eight and one-half mill levy for operating expenses go down to defeat? This was the soul-searching question members of the Charlevoix Board of Education asked themselves time and time again Monday night after the election commission reported that the proposed levy had been defeated 464 to 348.

ONE OF the suggested answers was a "lack of communication" between the School Board and the voters. "Why don't they come up to our meetings and see why the money is needed?" complained Mrs. Frances Hooper.

Someone else said the public was confused as to why the district's operational levy should jump so high (from two and one-half mills to eight and one-half mills) when the district's assessed valuation has grown more than two million dollars in the past year.

Another offered the opinion that the average workingman in Charlevoix feels teachers' salaries are eating out-of-line with salaries paid other working people in the area.

At this point it appears the Charlevoix Board of Education may have tried to accomplish too many objectives at one time. Certainly blacktopping the high school parking lot is desirable, but it is not absolutely essential when compared with the hiring of new teachers for new students.

Like a computer certainly would ease the workload in the superintendent's office and make the entire school operation more efficient, but the school system isn't going to wither and die without it.

ALTHOUGH NO ELECTION date has been set, Charlevoix voters undoubtedly will be asked to return to the polls later this summer to vote on operational millage. We are confident when some of the water is squeezed out of the millage package, Charlevoix voters will be happy to support it.

In the meantime, it seems a policy of complete candor in dealing with the public might be in order.

Youth's New Image

Reprinted from the Christian Science Monitor

In considering the state of the younger generation today, how tempting it is to those over thirty to make hasty and overly broad generalizations. And how often do these sweeping judgements fail to apply to the great majority of the 90 million Americans who are under thirty!

It is just a bit too easy to point to the turned on and tuned out, to hippies and Hell's Angels, to psychodemics, dropouts and delinquents, to the rebellious, the protesters, and the sex-obsessed. And how easy it is to lump them all together indiscriminately, as here, and then to see them all as equally bad. And, what's more, to assume that the unconscionable among these more attention-getting types actually epitomize the ongoing generation.

DO THOSE above thirty really believe they have made such a mess of things that what they have left the world is a whole generation of irresponsible, amoral, wrong-headed youth?

William I. Nichols, publisher and editorial director of This Week magazine, refers to some fascinating findings of an advertising agency research project. The report states: "We predict that soon one of the most powerful images in the world will be the image of the ability of youth. Tomorrow's image is a picture of high purpose—the higher the better." And Mr. Nichols cites other estimates tending to confirm this judgment.

Chapter XV

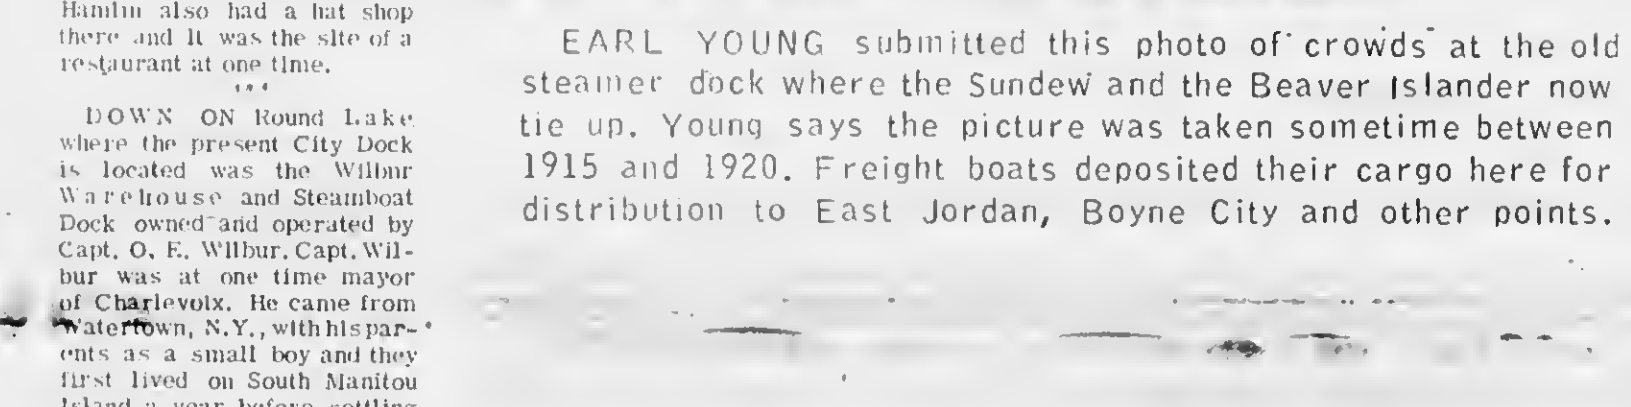

(Following is the final installment of the late Dr. D. (Don) Campbell's "History of Bridge Street," the start with the buildings at the foot of Park Avenue on the east side of Bridge Street.

EARL YOUNG submitted this photo of 'crowds' at the old steamer dock where the Sunview and the Beaver Islander now tie up. Young says the picture was taken sometime between 1915 and 1920. Freight boats deposited their cargo here for distribution to East Jordan, Boyne City and other points.

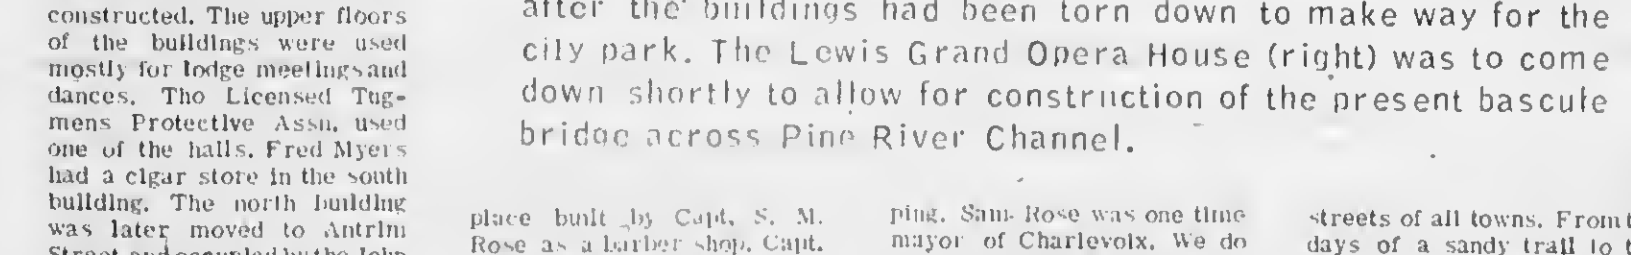

A LATER VIEW of the dock -- this one taken in the 1930's -- shows the yacht Eleanor tied to the city dock. The present Beaver Islander freight shed (right) and the sewage treatment plant (behind the Eleanor) were both relatively new buildings when this picture was taken.

TAKEN IN 1940, this photo shows the same section of town after the buildings had been torn down to make way for the city park. The Lewis Grand Opera House (right) was to come down shortly to allow for construction of the present bascule bridge across Pine River Channel.

place built by Capt. S. M. Rose as a harbor shop. Capt. Rose was a marine man, as he had been captain of boats around here and was also a marine diver. He did lots of diving for the city when the water under the bridge was put across the river. He was an interesting man to talk to as he had many diving experiences. He was also a diver in the work also. While you were having a hot gut it was a good idea to have a couple of cold ones to cool the heat of the day.

THE LAST BUILDING next to the bridge was a small building built by Capt. S. M. Rose as a harbor shop. Capt. Rose was a marine man, as he had been captain of boats around here and was also a marine diver. He did lots of diving for the city when the water under the bridge was put across the river. He was an interesting man to talk to as he had many diving experiences. He was also a diver in the work also. While you were having a hot gut it was a good idea to have a couple of cold ones to cool the heat of the day.

MRS. ROBERTSON asked Attorney Klevorn if the city could receive payment from Consumers Power Company for the swan that was killed when it flew into their power lines.

Klevorn said he believed the birds are state owned since they are migratory and the city couldn't collect.

The swan broke its neck last month when it hit the line.

City Asks for Bids on East Park Bldg.

CHARLEVOIX--The City Council Monday night agreed to advertise for bids on construction of the city's new shower-toilet facility in East Park.

Election

MOST OF THE evening was spent in discussion ways in which the millage request could be trimmed when the issue is again placed before the public.

Possibilities include eliminating proposed blacktopping of the High School parking lot ($10,000), doing without a computer in the superintendent's office ($8,000) and not trying to replace a reserve fund deficit of $37,000 incurred this year.

"We're willing to make cuts, so long as they do not effect our academic program," Milligan said.

STATE LAW requires a time lapse of at least 45 days between the time a millage vote is called and the election. Since the board did not call for a new vote Monday night, the next election probably will take place sometime in mid-August. The next board meeting is June 19.

Unless voters approve at least 11 mills (including 8.4 mills allocated to the county) the school district will lose its state aid, Milligan said.

This would mean a millage request of at least 2.6 mills, although a six or six and one-half mill request seems more likely in view of school needs for the coming year.

Beaver Elects Three to Board

ST. JAMES--Beaver Islanders elected three members to the Board of Education and approved the purchase of two lots adjacent to the school as a playground in Monday's election.

Elected to the board were Rita Gillespie, 71 votes; Marion Martin, 70 votes; and Lillian Gallagher, 65 votes.

Also running were Archie LaFreniere, 51 votes; Perry E. Crawford, 50 votes; and Margaret Wagner, 38 votes.

WHAT A WAY to start the summer! Third Graders at Charlevoix Elementary School wound up their school year with a picnic at Kennedy Park. A batch of new-born pollywogs in the beach puddles kept these youngsters busy.

Terry Stewart Hurt by Vietcong Grenade

CHARLEVOIX--Ward has been received here that Marine Cpl. Terry Stewart, 20, of Charlevoix was wounded June 12 by a Viet Cong grenade lobby trap in Vietnam.

His mother, Mrs. Dale Meredith of 216 Upright St., said she first received word of Terry's injuries in a telegram from the War Department and a visit from the marine recruiting officer in the area.

Monday a letter arrived from Terry telling how it happened.

IT SEEMS he was crossing a dike when he inadvertently tripped a wire leading to an M-26 grenade. He suffered shrapnel wounds on his left arm, legs, neck and ankle.

Terry said his left knee and ankle are the most severely injured and will require further surgery.

He said he was at a field hospital in Da Nang, but expected to be moved to a larger hospital at Cameron Bay.

Terry enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1965 and was sent to Vietnam early in 1966. He arrived home last Christmas Day for a 30-day re-enlistment leave, returned to Vietnam the end of January.

At that time he expected to spend eight months in Vietnam before returning to the United States for reassignment. He is a member of the 3rd Battalion, 1st Marine Division.

CHARLEVOIX--Two men have demanded examination on a charge of breaking and entering at P.M. Martin's service station on U.S. 31 North early June 16.

They are Alex Cornstark Jr., of Charlevoix and Elmer Allen Keshish of Grand Rapids, both are 26.

Charlevoix Police Chief Joseph Smith says city patrolmen and sheriffs deputies arrested the men inside the service station after Al Bergman who lives nearby reported hearing the sound of breaking glass at the station.

THE MEN WERE lodged in Charlevoix County Jail pending examination June 26. They were unable to post $500 bond each when they appeared before Charlevoix Justice of the Peace John Connolly.

Smith says the pair has admitted two break-ins in East Jordan last week and one in Petoskey.

The main store of the East Jordan Co-op and the Co-op service station both reported break-ins last week, as did Al Thompson's Lumber Co.

A THIRD MAN has been charged with possessing stolen goods in connection with the East Jordan break-ins.

John Wallace Keshish, 34, of rural Charlevoix pleaded not guilty to a charge of possessing goods taken from the East Jordan Co-op. He was unable to post $500 bond when he appeared before Judge Connolly and also was lodged in the County Jail pending trial June 26.

Police officers said entry to Martin's service station was gained by breaking the front door.

CHARLEVOIX--A new Charlevoix majorette group, will also participate in the parade, about 25 girls from five to 14 years old will make their first appearance.

Mrs. Alex Moore of Charlevoix is in charge of the twirlers and may be contacted for further information.

Earlier that evening the twirlers will attend the Queen's Buffet Luncheon at the Jordan Inn.

All floats are welcome to the parade and anyone wishing to enter should contact Wilkins at 536-2326.

A fly-over from Kinchloe Air Force base is anticipated to arrive about 6:30 p.m.

Jordanian Survives Air Crash in Water

EAST JORDAN--Leon Peterson, personnel director of East Jordan Mt. Clemens Metal Products, almost drowned when the plane he was in crashed into Lake Morrison in Canada.

Peterson was enroute to the lake 70 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie for a week's fishing Saturday, June 6, when the accident happened.

He was accompanied by his son Jack, 22, a friend, Barry Hanson, 24, of Lansing and an unidentified pilot.

Peterson said the twin engine 180 Cessna was preparing to land when it touched the water. It then rose and finally plunged into the lake tearing a wing off as it hit. It landed upside down in 35 feet of water.

THE PILOT and his son escaped and swam to the surface but he was trapped with Hanson in the plane. Peterson was unable to undo his seat belt and Hanson got stuck in a window he was trying to escape through.

He added that after struggling with it awhile, the belt finally snapped open and he swam out.

"I found my way through an unlocked door even though it was hard to figure out where to go since I was upside down," he said.

Peterson then swam to the top just as his son was going down after him.

They were all picked up by a Wisconsin couple who were fishing on the lake at the time.

Peterson sustained possible vertebral injuries and is wearing a neck brace. His son, Hanson and the pilot all escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Charlevoix School Board Trims Millage Request

Miss Wojan Remains in Hospital

PETOSKEY--Karen Wojan, 18, remains in serious condition after the one car accident June 14 on US 31 south of Petoskey.

Little Traverse Hospital reported that although she has improved somewhat, she is still on the serious list.

Miss Wojan was operated on for fractured ribs and internal injuries following the accident which also injured two other persons.

THE TWO, driver Marie Lyn Edwards, 18, and Rubie McDermott, 19, suffered cuts and bruises. They were treated and released from the hospital earlier this week.

The accident happened early Wednesday morning when the 1967 Ford Econoline apparently went out of control on the right side of the lane, crossed to the left shoulder and flipped over into a ditch.

The van, owned by Edwards IGA, was a total loss.

Michigan State Police said the accident is still under investigation since they haven't had an opportunity to question the driver.

EJ Maps Big 4th

EAST JORDAN--Joe Wilkins, coordinator of Fourth July activities here, announced plans for a big week-end July 2nd & 3rd.

Sunday, July 2, the First Annual Lake Charlevoix Outboard Marathon will leave East Jordan's city docks at 3 p.m. for a 70 mile two lap trip around the lake.

The annual kiddie parades will be held Monday at 10:30 a.m. All children will gather at the fire hall to march down Main Street with their costumes.

Mrs. Albert Giacomelli is chairman of the parade planning committee. Water sports and baseball games are tentatively scheduled for Monday afternoon.

THAT EVENING at 6:30 p.m. all floats and Jordan Valley Festival Parade personnel will gather at the high school. The parade is scheduled to move at 7 p.m. through town along Main Street.

Twelve queens including the Jordan Valley Festival Queen, the Venetian Night Queen, the Boone City Queen, the Alpine Queen (Gaylord), the National Cherry Queen, the Belaire Queen, the Michigan Bear Queen, the Michigan Apple Queen, the National Trout Queen, the National Bass Festival Queen (Mancelona) and the Queen of City Queen will take part in the parade.

The Charlevoix, a new Charlevoix majorette group, will also participate in the parade.

Mrs. Alex Moore of Charlevoix is in charge of the twirlers and may be contacted for further information.

Earlier that evening the twirlers will attend the Queen's Buffet Luncheon at the Jordan Inn.

All floats are welcome to the parade and anyone wishing to enter should contact Wilkins at 536-2326.

A fly-over from Kinchloe Air Force base is anticipated to arrive about 6:30 p.m.

State Police Go to Island

ST. JAMES--A garage for a State Police car has been completed at the Beaver Island Airport and a police squad car has been stationed on the island, according to Erwin Martin, St. James Township clerk.

State troopers will be assigned to duty on the island from time to time throughout the summer, Martin said.

Until now, the only law enforcement officers on the island were special deputies designated by the Sheriff's office.

Parkside Starts 33rd Season
CHARLEVOIX--The Parkside Dining Room on Bridge Street opened for its 33rd season last weekend.

Operated by Mr. and Mrs. William West, the restaurant has installed a catwalk along the north side of the building which permits patrons to enter the main dining room from Bridge Street.

Mrs. West also has made all new driveway for the dining room and the kitchen in the basement has been completely tiled.

Clarence Bartlett and Windmill

Model Dutch Windmill Moves to East Park

CHARLEVOIX--Something new has been added to East Park.

A scale - model windmill built by Clarence Bartlett, 75, of 313 Mason St., has been placed on the island in the dog park area.

A widower, Bartlett retired six years ago as custodian of the Elementary School, he placed the windmill in the front yard of his home and it caused so much comment the city asked if it could be placed in East Park.

The windmill is the property of an electric motor and decorated with colored outdoor lights.

Bartlett has three children: Mrs. Marion Arthick of Charlevoix; Norman L. Bartlett, a tech sergeant stationed at Wilkita, Kan.; and Robert B. Bartlett, a schoolteacher at Truxton, Mich. A granddaughter, Mrs. Dale Glass, lives at North Point.

Planners OK $2,500 Study

CHARLEVOIX--The Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission agreed Thursday night to go ahead with $2,500 of its proposed planning program, although the federal government has turned down the group's application for funds.

The unanimous decision came at the end of a special meeting with Everett Thompson, planning consultant for Wilkins and Works.

IN ADDITION to regular commission meetings, the session was attended by Mayor William Fochtmann of Charlevoix and supervisors Clyde Cunningham of Marlon Township and Clarence Ratach of Charlevoix Township.

Insurance Firms Will Merge

CHARLEVOIX--Two Charlevoix insurance firms have announced plans to merge on July 1.

They are the William Carey Agency and the Bridge and Hawley Agency, managed by E. D. Hawley.

The combined company will be known as Charlevoix Insurance, Inc., with Carey as manager.

Carey said all policies written by the two firms will remain in effect without change. He added that initially the new firm will continue to represent all the insurance carriers now represented by the two firms.

HAWLEY has been a member of Bridge and Hawley since 1940 when he went into partnership with the late Robert Bridge. Mr. Bridge had been in the insurance business since the early 1920's.

Carey has had his agency in Charlevoix for nine years.

The new firm will occupy offices in the Charlevoix County State Bank Building on the corner of Bridge and Clinton Streets. The telephone number is 547-9780.

INSURANCE men Bill Carey (left) and E. D. (Pat) Hawley look over terms of agreement which will merge their two insurance companies July 1. Carey owns the Bill Carey Agency and Hawley is manager of Bridge and Hawley Agency. The new firm will be called Charlevoix Insurance, Inc.

Chest Budget

CHARLEVOIX--The Charlevoix Community Chest held its annual budget and admissions meeting at the County Building Tuesday, June 20.

The Campaign will get underway in August with the special Gifts Division drive being headed by A.L. Livingston and E.D. Hawley. Commercial, Industrial and Professional Divisions will start their drives next. It is chaired by Glen Kennedy, John Lachman and James Williams.

CHARLEVOIX -- The Men's baseball season got started in exciting fashion. A double elimination tournament has been planned to kick off the summer campaign and at the present American Mold and Lake Construction are the only two undefeated teams. They played last night (Tuesday) however, so now only one remains unbeaten.

Mold opened the season defeating the Air Force in a hard fought battle 4-2. Despite gathering only three hits off the slants of Sonny Wright, Mold used three unearned runs in the fifth for the margin of victory. The losers got to see Nate Boss for nine base hits but the veteran hurler was tough in the clutch and held the service men at bay. Mold had a much easier time with Medusa, new league entry, winning 11-1. Dave Smith and Nate Boss picked up five hits between them and drove in five runs for the winners. Dennis Goss got the only hit off winning hurler, Jeff Luckman. The Cards looked sharp in wiggling the Astros 12-2 behind the hurling of Larry Potter. Vince Left had two hits for the winners while Les Simpson pounded a long home run.

The Dodgers' had little trouble with the Lions winning 13-3 behind the bats of Paul Klosser, Gary Novelly, Ralph Doan, and Bob Olson, who all collected two safeties. Randy Goss got the only hit off winning hurler, Jeff Luckman. The Cards looked sharp in wiggling the Astros 12-2 behind the hurling of Larry Potter. Vince Left had two hits for the winners while Les Simpson pounded a long home run.

PEANUT LEAGUE OPENS
The Cubs held off a desperate last inning rally by the Tigers to post a narrow 6-5 win. Rich Himmlich's double scored two to make it close but the Cubs got the final out to preserve the win. Jim and Tom Moore had two hits apiece for the winners while Les Simpson pounded a long home run.

The Dodgers' had little trouble with the Lions winning 13-3 behind the bats of Paul Klosser, Gary Novelly, Ralph Doan, and Bob Olson, who all collected two safeties. Randy Goss got the only hit off winning hurler, Jeff Luckman. The Cards looked sharp in wiggling the Astros 12-2 behind the hurling of Larry Potter. Vince Left had two hits for the winners while Les Simpson pounded a long home run.

GERTRUDE STEIN WROTE
"A ROSE IS A ROSE, IS A ROSE"

At first glance we might take such a statement as the nonsensical chit-chat of a demented parrot, but upon sober consideration we are apt to realize that it is much more. It was in reality her unique way of saying that a rose is by all odds the most beautiful flower that grows. Whether she was thinking only of the beauty and fragrance of the flower is a matter of conjecture. Perhaps she was thinking of the entire Rose Family, which yields valuable fruits, such as the apple and plum and many other economic products, among them the almond, wild cherry and oil of Rose.

Why is it that the Rose Family should yield such a wide variety of flowers and fruits? Environment, Mendelism and cultivation of the botanist and biologist will say. They mean that the condition of the soil and the prevailing climatic conditions determine the manner and rapidity of growth; that principles of heredity will produce changes in the plant's nature and of course cultivation will promote its growth and yield.

In this respect, then, man is like a plant. In a healthful climate; in a pleasant environment there is ample opportunity for moral and mental uplift. The Church should play an important part in everyone's life and wellbeing. Attend the church of your choice regularly. Set a good example for your family and they will eventually follow in your footsteps.

With the hope that it will, in some measure, foster and help sustain that which is good in family and community life, this feature is sponsored by the business firms and organizations whose names appear in the adjoining columns.

AT LEAST THREE East Jordan students are taking advantage of summer vacation. The fishermen--and fisherwomen--on the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix are Carey Kitson, Charles Gothro and Stan Kitson.

EJ Board Supports County Adult Ed Plan

EAST JORDAN -- School board members here enthusiastically supported a proposed county wide adult education program. At their meeting Tuesday night, the board was told the Mott Foundation of Flint offered to supply about half the money for the program.

Superintendent Max Danoh told the board he visited the Flint schools where he saw their extensive adult education program in action. "The schools there almost never close their doors, certainly everyone is welcome to participate in education and the community feels the schools belong to them," he said.

THE BOARD agreed that such a program, operating through East Jordan, Charlevoix and Boyne City schools would broaden adult class offerings. They also said the program would allow many high school drop outs to finish their education. Trustees said courses would range from basic reading and writing skills to advanced high school courses along with non-academic courses such as cake decorating.

IN OTHER action, the board moved to request bids on the sale of their school bus No. 6, 1955 International, 60 passengers. They also agreed to pay off a $6,100 athletic debt.

It's Wedding Time for Charlevoixans

Mrs. Raymond Bruce

Mr. and Mrs. John VanDamm

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Keiser

Boss-Bruce Rites Held in California

Miss Patricia Ann Breaker, daughter of Raymond Bruce, was married to John VanDamm, son of John VanDamm, at the First Methodist Church of Charlevoix, Mich., June 19.

Miss Breaker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bruce, formerly of Charlevoix, now living in Garden Grove, Calif. The groom is the son of Deane Bruce and the late Mrs. Bruce of Charlevoix.

About 120 guests witnessed the double ring ceremony officiated by Rev. Harold Lusting, and Jack J. Boss, sister of the bride, decorated the pews and flowers arrangements of pink gladioli and mums with green ivy adorned the church.

Ann Marie (nee "Penny" Love), "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer" as given.

Engaged

Miss Catherine Schenck

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Schenck of East Jordan announced the engagement of their daughter, Catherine Schenck, to Christian A. Parfitt, son of Dr. and Mrs. Conrad Parfitt, formerly of Boston now living in Berkeley, Calif.

Miss Schenck graduated from East Jordan High School and attended Western Michigan University where she was affiliated with Sigma Sigma Sorority. She is presently a hostess with United Airlines based in San Francisco.

Her fiancé prepared at New Hampton, New Hampshire and received his bachelor of science degree in public relations at Boston University. He is currently employed by the Campbell Soup Company in Berkeley.

The couple is planning a Sept. 23 wedding.

Baby Shower

A pink and blue shower for Mrs. Martin Smith was given on Saturday evening by Mrs. James Whitely and her daughter, Nancy. Mrs. Smith received a variety of lovely gifts and refreshments were served.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. James Whitely and other relatives, Mr. and Mrs. James Whitely, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Christensen from Jewell, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wentzel and their three grandchildren from Austin, Minn.

Shirley Anne Stoel Married Saturday

Miss Shirley Anne Stoel married John Craig VanDamm, son of John VanDamm, at the First Methodist Church of Charlevoix, Mich., June 19.

Miss Stoel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hayes of Barab, Wis., and the late Arthur Stoel. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton VanDamm.

Given in marriage to her uncle, Clayton Smith, the bride wore a white gown with a long train and a full-length cape. The groom wore a white suit with a red tie and a white shirt.

The ceremony was officiated by Rev. Stanley Hayes, assisted by Rev. Harold Lusting. The bride and groom were escorted by their parents.

After the ceremony, the bride and groom were seated at a table with their parents. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

B. A. Granted At Hartford

Donna Lee Friedberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Friedberg of Charlevoix, was awarded a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Hartford, Conn., June 11.

Miss Friedberg attended the University of Michigan for three years before studying at Hartford. She was among 700 to receive degrees at the tenth anniversary commencement exercises.

Chancellor Vincent Coffin, the university's chief executive officer since 1959, presided at the ceremony.

Bridal Shower

A delightful and successful shower was given for Joan Cran of Barab, Wis., by Mrs. M. J. DeVries, Mrs. John DeVries, Mrs. Jim Veenstra and Mrs. Tom Veenstra.

Games were played and refreshments served. Mrs. Cran also opened many lovely gifts.

Ensign Gerald Keiser Married in Petoskey

Miss Kay Herer was married to Gerald Keiser, son of John Keiser, at the Assembly of God Church in Petoskey, Mich., June 19.

Miss Herer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton VanDamm. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton VanDamm.

Given in marriage to her father, the bride wore a white gown with a long train and a full-length cape. The groom wore a white suit with a red tie and a white shirt.

The ceremony was officiated by Rev. Stanley Hayes, assisted by Rev. Harold Lusting. The bride and groom were escorted by their parents.

After the ceremony, the bride and groom were seated at a table with their parents. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Charlevoix Housemother Retires from MSU

Charlevoix's "Dean of Housemothers," Miss Helen Webster, is retiring from her position as Sigma Chi fraternity housemother this year.

Miss Webster is a native Charlevoixian and is a sister to Mrs. Ella Fiedman.

She was housemother for seven years at the Alpha Chi Sigma fraternity house before accepting the position eight years ago at the Sigma Chi house.

She is called the "Dean of LOCAL."

Mrs. Ernest Smith and grandson, Michael Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clark, left June 17 for La Mesa, Calif., to visit Ernest Smith and his family. Mr. Smith is the son of Mrs. Ernest Smith.

Patricia Breaker Weds Hugh Lambert In East Jordan

Miss Patricia Ann Breaker, daughter of Raymond Bruce, was married to Hugh Lambert, son of John Lambert, at the First Methodist Church of Charlevoix, Mich., June 19.

Miss Breaker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bruce, formerly of Charlevoix, now living in Garden Grove, Calif. The groom is the son of Deane Bruce and the late Mrs. Bruce of Charlevoix.

About 120 guests witnessed the double ring ceremony officiated by Rev. Harold Lusting, and Jack J. Boss, sister of the bride, decorated the pews and flowers arrangements of pink gladioli and mums with green ivy adorned the church.

Ann Marie (nee "Penny" Love), "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer" as given.

After the ceremony, the bride and groom were seated at a table with their parents. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Women

Women's activities were highlighted by a variety of events, including a dance and a picnic.

Cabbages & Things

by Carole Walasky

I was looking through a rather strange book last week called "The Williamsburg Art of Cookery" or "The Accomplish'd Gentlewoman's Companion: Being a Collection of Upwards of 600 of the Most Ancient and Approved Receipts in Virginia Cookery."

The inside proved to be as cozy and strange as the title promised. Not only was there a section on "The Observation Upon Soups," -- a handy chapter if you have nothing better to do than sit and look at soup all day -- but also a "Moral and Physical" thermometer. The moral thermometer was a little more exciting.

It was a chart devised to help the reader discover what sorts of sins and evil deeds is neighbor was hiding in his big black heart. The chart was divided into three columns -- vice, disease and punishment. To have an inside track on the gossip all the reader had to do was locate the disease which was a result of the vice. The punishment then could be looked up on the chart and carried out. For example, sore legs (disease) is a sure sign of lying (vice) and will be punished with hunger.

WHAT'S REALLY fun is to check out the diseases and match them up with your friends to find out their vices. For instance, if you know any who are always fighting, they are a burglar and will get the bulks. Anyone with jaundice is a thief and will be punished by being in the hospital. People who are always fighting and will meet their demise in the rap.

The one vice I couldn't quite figure out was suicide. They got the disease all right -- death -- but the punishment doesn't get it. It says in that chart suicide victims end up on the gallows.

I don't know how they measured that one unless they went along strapping up suicide victims then strung them up. It does seem like a waste of time though.

I've included a recipe below I dug out of the book. It's a simple little thing calling for a bushel of flour and a turkey, a goose, a fowl, a partridge, a pigeon and an assortment of other items found in every kitchen.

First make a good standing crust (below) for the walls and bottom be very thick. Bone a turkey, a goose, a fowl, a partridge and a pigeon. Season them all very well with salt, pepper, and a pinch of nutmeg, 1 ounce cloves, 1 ounce black pepper and two large spoons of salt mixed together well.

Open the fowls down the back and bone them; first the pigeon, then the partridge, then the turkey -- which must be large. Lay them in the crust so it will look only like a whole turkey.

Then have a hare ready cooked and wiped clean with a cloth. Cut it in pieces, that is joint it, season it and lay it close as you can on one side.

On the other side lay woodcocks, Moor game and what sort of wild fowl you can get. Season them well and lay them close.

Put at least four pounds of butter into the pie. Then lay on your lid, which must be a very thick one, and let it be well baked. It must be a very hot oven and will take at least four hours.

The crust will take a bushel of flour (about 130 cups). Sift together the flour and 32 teaspoons of salt. Cut into this with silver knives 32 cups of chilled lard. Add just enough ice water to hold together, handle lightly and roll out on a board.

THIS RECIPE serves two -- if one of them is me.
